Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

There is no service in the Presbyterian church next Sunday, on account of Mr. Andrews having communion services at Westwood.

Rev. F. Johnston is away at conference.

Mr. McCartney and wife of B. Bay, is here on a visit to friends.

Dr. Glover of Lachine, Que., paid a visit to his cousin, Mr. John Glover, Allandale, last week.

The take of fish in the river and lake are not very lively so far this season.

The steamer Whitelawing came up the river with 300 sawlogs in tow, for Mr. John Dickson.

The Grange picnic from Hastings and other parts, to Idyl Wild last week was largely patronized. The day was rather wet however in more ways than one, as we had three drunks in Keene as a consequence.

This village and locality are much exercised over the marriage of Mr. Wm. Read of Westwood, to Miss Nellie Cummings of Burnley. Everyone wishes them happiness and long life.

Also Mr. Will H. Lock, who was a popular resident of our village during the building of the Presbyterian church, has taken to himself a wife, Miss Nettie Eley of Campbellford.

WEATHER NOTES.

May has been rather a cold dry and ungenial month, with nothing of any consequence to note, with nearly a uniform temperature, the coldest being on the morning of the 5th at 37° and the hottest on the evening of the 22nd and 29th at 70°, respectively, with an average temperature for the month of 45° 23-31. Rain fell on 11 days, but only to the depth of 1 inch and 9 4-100 of an inch, being considerably below the average for May. We had thunder on the 13th, the 21st and 29th. We had white frost on six mornings, retarding, although not seriously injuring the spring crops, fog on two days. The first yellow birds made their appearance on the 1st, swallows on the 4th, and whip-poor-wills on the 5th, and no snow, being a great contrast to 1885, when we had considerable in May. During the month at sunrise, the wind was blowing from the different points respectively, namely: south-west 4 days, west 2 days, north-west 9 days, north-east 4 days, east 4 days, south-east 3 days, south 1 day, south-west 2 days, and north 2 days.

Sunday Desecration.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I feel it my duty to inform you of the shameful manner in which the Sabbath is spent by some of the younger residents of the town. I live just north of the town and have been accustomed to take a quiet walk on Sundays. Recently I was very much surprised to see young fellas, and especially girls, playing cards in a grove outside the town limits and not far distant from my residence. I write this in hope that such a flagrant breach of the Sabbath will be discontinued.

Yours truly,
SABBATARIAN.

Cheese Market.

The Fortnightly Market Meeting of the Cheese Board.

The second fortnightly market of the Peterborough and Victoria County Cheese Board was held in the Old Music Hall, yesterday afternoon. Mr. J. M. Drummond, President, and Mr. W. Taylor, Secretary, acted in their official capacities.

The make of nineteen factories for the month of May, with the exception of that sold at the first market was offered, in all 1486 boxes. The contributions from the different factories were as follows:

FACTORY.	QUALITY.	BOXES.
Keene	Coloured	225
Warminster	"	140
Westwood	"	125
South Dummer	"	100
Norwood	"	115
Pine Grove	"	70
Trowerne	"	120
Glenthorn	"	30
Normanhurst	"	22
North Smith	"	75

Cherry Grove	"	24
Lakefield	"	60
South Douro	"	30
Star, Victoria County	"	40
Bobcaygeon	"	35
Downeyville	"	45

The buyers who were present were Messrs. W. Clarton, J. W. Flavelle, W. H. Wrightman and E. Green of town, and Mr. Cook of Belleville.

The bidding was especially lively, Mr. Green making the first offer at 6½ for the whole offerings of the Board. Mr. Cook offered 6¾c. for the entire lot which was not accepted. The offerings of Warminster, South Dummer, Trowerne, North Smith, Otonabee Union, Warnaw, and Cherry Grove were sold to Mr. W. Clarton, at 7c.; and the offerings of the Keene, Westwood, Norwood, Pine Grove, Glenthorn, Normanhurst, Lakefield and South Douro factories were all sold to Mr. Cook, of Belleville, at 6¾c. The Victoria County factories would not sell at 6¾ and held their stock for a raise. The cheese bought by Mr. Clarton, was all of the last half of May make.

Keene Comments.

From an Observant Correspondent.

All evil things die hard, whether of the vegetable, the animal, or the moral world. Everyone knows how hard it is to kill the plant known as yellow-weed, or quack-grass, or the Canada thistle, or many other noxious weeds. They may be put down and apparently killed again and again they will reappear. So with the low forms of animal life. An angle worm will live though divided. A tape worm will live and reproduce, if, only the head is left. A snake if cut into two will not die readily, the head part will wriggle and disappear, while the tail half will squirm, if trod upon the following morning. An eel is much more tenacious of life than are the higher forms of fish existence. A cat is harder to kill than a dog, and a dog than a hare or a deer.

The moral world is no exception to this law. Bad things are more easily learned than good things; it comes natural, we say. It is easier to make a good boy had than a bad boy good. Evil habits are hard to shake off. Good principles and habits are much more easily contaminated and destroyed. It is easier for a young man to become gambler and a drunkard, than for a drunkard and a gambler to become a sober and exemplary citizen. So it is with all low forms and evil things. The drinking habits of society are both low and evil, and so whiskey dies hard. It struggles for existence as a viper, and again and again raises its hydra head [illegible] apparently dead. Several times since the 1st of May, the citizens of our quiet little village have been disturbed by its [illegible] contortions; notably last Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning, some of the [illegible]thisers of the whiskey cause entered the premises of Dr. Massie, took his sign off the office and nailed it high up on a flag pole [illegible]'s store on the corner. The most [illegible] part of the performance is, that [illegible] a whiskey bottle by the neck, by means of a string, from the end of the sign. It contained some liquid, meant no doubt to represent whiskey. The doctor was one of, if not the most active and aggressive worker for the Scott Act here, and so his name truly represents the Scott Act people and the cause in this township. It is not because he is Dr. Massie, but because of the course which he took in the premises, that they are bitter and try to annoy and cast slights upon him. We do not, however, take it as such, but rather as a great compliment, for such it really is, even if not so intended. It is a true representation of the case as it stands at present. Whiskey, in the shape of a whiskey bottle, dead; hung by the neck like a malefactor, and exposed to the public gaze. Our victory was great, and not only great as a victory, but great morally in behalf of the best interests of humanity; and we can well afford to smile at the futile efforts of the enemies of law and order. No doubt it will [illegible] fiend before the evil thing is completely dead, perhaps a few years yet, but die it must, although we may expect it to give a few more spasmodic struggles are its final departure. Since penning the above we see they have taken the thing (bottle) down for interment.

Young's Point.

(From our own Correspondent.)

BALL.

A ball was held in Mr. D. Costello's hotel Monday night and resulted very satisfactorily both to Mr. Costello and his guests. A large number were present. Excellent music was furnished, and dancing was kept up till a late hour in the morning.

ROADWORK.

Pathmaster Mr. Wm. A. Graham has commenced roadwork operations by filling up the low portion of our front street. The villagers will do their statute labor in the village this year instead of outside, it as is generally the case.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

A Millionaire's Home.

A Baltimore correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat writes: The palatial residence of Mr. Robert Garrett, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, on Mount Vernon place in this city, which has been in course of construction since the early part of 1884, will be ready for occupancy some time next February. It is undoubtedly the most expensive dwelling ever erected here, as its entire cost, including furnishings, will amount to over $1,000,000. Like Mr. Vanderbilt's Fifth avenue mansion in New York, it is built in the most aristocratic section of the city. With the further advantage of a magnificently arranged square before it, in which are the celebrated Bayre statues, donated to the city by Mr. William T. Walters. Not very far to the right of the building are the Washington monument, with its shaft of 183 feet stretching into the air, and the Peabody institute, one of the architectural beauties of the city. Across the square to the northwest and north are the residences of some of Baltimore's richest bankers, lawyers, and merchants. During Mr. Garrett's late visit to Europe he purchased in Paris and London unique designs of bric-a-brac and other decorative goods, such as are rarely seen on this side of the water. It is said he paid $1,500 a pair for curtains for the parlor and library, and for carpets almost phenomenal prices. The furniture and decorations for the parlor and bedrooms is to be of the most original pattern, luxuriously upholstered and handsomely gilded and bronzed. In the chambers modern art predominates, as well as in the lobby, the tiling of which resembles some fairy checkerboard. The walls are white-coated in imitation of basket-work, with here and there a rosette of some simple design intended to relieve the monotonous interlacing of straws. The ceiling of the main hallway is made in cherry panels of octagonal shape, extending back to the grand special stairway, also finished in cherry, with ebony trimmings. Overlooking the area is an atlas-shaped skylight made of cathedral stained glass in delicate tints blended together in the most perfect harmony. The most extravagantly finished apartment is the ball-room adjoining the parlor. In it are little niches for statuary, and at regular intervals massive columns support a ceiling elaborately worked in plaster and then bronzed. The flooring is of solid polished mahogany, while the walls, except the lower portion, which is wainscoted in Italian marble, are snow white. The conservatory, immediately in the rear, is already filled with plants and shrubbery, and spaces have been reserved for Mr. Garrett's fine collection of orchids. Majestic chandeliers and electric jets in tinted globes, by special contrivance made to shed soft, luminous rays, are plentifully scattered throughout the house, and will serve to make time one continuous day. The most striking adornment of all the apartments are the antique mantels, selected by Mr. Garrett himself while abroad. They are mostly made of mahogany, upon which are carved characters of the mediæval age. The one in the library is perhaps the oddest. Its shelf is supported on either side by a girl child scantily clad and frowning under her heavy load. Above the shelf the space is occupied by a large panel bearing the inscription: "A little place called Paradise:" over which is a brass network, with spears for a finish. Bath-pools are conveniently placed on the upper floors, with sides of Tennessee marble and nickelplated lining, and furnished with water through solid brass pipes and goldplated fixtures. Down on the basement floor are Mr. Garrett's private office, laundry, drying-rooms, servants' dining-hall, kitchen with nickel-plated boiler and water fixtures, pantries, coal and wood cellars, and other necessary apartments. The top floor with its large and airy rooms and bath, will be occupied by a chef and a corps of assistants, as well as the other domestics. Many of the ideas used in the construction of the building were those of Mrs. Garrett, whose good taste in such matters is well known.

Arizona as a Live-Stock Country.

Although possessing the necessary elements for raising live stock of all classes, cattle predominate in our territory, says a Prescott paper, over all other kinds. This will no doubt be the case for some time to come, but while the cattle are multiplying very fast, there can be no question that the horse, sheep, and hog industry is receiving more attention daily and gaining ground with the same, if not more, speed than other branches of commerce. However, the production of live stock of the latter description does not attract the attention which the favorable sources Arizona extends should receive. For raising blooded horses or hogs no more favorable place could be found in any state or territory in the union than the Salt river valley. Here feed of all kinds can be raised at little expense, and the climate is such as to warrant the health of stock. Alfalfa, the grass of which so much has been written lately, grows with almost unprecedented rapidity, and as fodder for hogs its equal can not be found, these animals subsisting entirely on this, and growing fat. Arizona as a shipper of cattle is yet in her infancy compared with the outlook of the future. The major portion of the cattlemen of this territory are men who started in business with comparatively nothing, but by economy, industry, and enduring great hardships they are fast reaching the top round of the ladder of success, and as a consequence Arizona may from now on be counted among the beef producers of the world.

A novel method for raising funds is to be resorted to at a church entertainment shortly to be held in Dayton, Ga. Each lady attending will be wrapped in a gossamer waterproof, and veiled, and carry a lunch-basket filled. They will be "sold" at auction to the highest bidder, and the purchaser will secure the lady's company as a partner for the rest of the evening and a share of the contents of her lunch-basket.

GOVERNMENT EXTRAVAGANCE.

Our present rulers seem to have the idea that Canada is made of money—judging by the liberal manner in which they spend it. The one redeeming feature, as the Hamilton Times points out, in the prorogation of Parliament is the fact that there is a temporary cessation to the wasteful expenditure of the public funds. The people should stand aghast at contemplation of the money voted away during the period of three months. The following figures are startling in their magnitude:

Supplementary estimates for the year ending June 30th, 1886	$3,461,881
Estimates, capital and ordinary, for year ending June 30th, 1887	39,446,000
Supplementary estimates for ditto	1,000,000
For Cape Breton Railway	2,500,000
Paid Canadian Pacific to release lands	15 000 000
Subsidies to local railways	4,000,000
Land grants to railways	10,000,000
	$76,166,880

Over thirteen millions a month. Think for a moment what the above sum means. It means $15 for every man woman and child in Canada. People may treat such a matter lightly, but they have to foot the bill all the same. Every cent collected, of the forty millions to be raised in taxes this year has to be paid out of the pockets of the people and they are also responsible for the thirty millions that will remain saddled on them as a debt. The tax is paid by an impost on almost every article of domestic, personal, or industrial consumption and is none the less real, than a direct tax, though more distributed and less felt. Nor is this the only evil resulting from such ruinously extravagant expenditure. The money is frittered away on enterprises, not immediately bearing on the general prosperity of the country. Sectional railway subsidies are voted by millions to roads which are of only local importance, but at the same time potent agents in promoting the accummulation of the political capital of the party now in power, and the result is, the excuse is made that there is no public money available in enterprises like the Trent Valley Canal, which is an all important factor in the development of the trade of the North west. It is a complement to the C. P. R., only second in importance to that line. Yet while millions upon millions have been lavished on that road, including free grant of ten millions the last session, a contemptuous $58,000 only is devoted to the T. V. C. A state of affairs like this should set the people to thinking. The fact is the present Tory Government is completing the ruin of the country whose debt is now three hundred million dollars—and thirty millions are added this year, The electors must look to this matter. Thousands of them take no interest in politics except at election times and then their interest is confined to voting the straight Tory ticket and thus perpetuating the peril that grows more imminent with every hour of Tory rule.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Reformers of this riding should not be caught napping. Everything points to the fact of the general election taking place this fall. Let the party organization be closely looked to, and especially look to the voters' lists. The Franchise Act was passed to give the Tory party an overwhelming advantage at the elections. But if Liberals are wide awake, its power for evil can be greatly lessened. But what can be done must be done between now and the 21st of June. Leave no stone unturned. See that every name available is on the lists.

The Mail sneeringly makes the allusion that secession is the Reform policy in Nova Scotia. Not quite so ambitious as the Mail's policy—to "smash confederation into its original fragments" and to sacrifice British connection to high taxation.

To the Gentlemen.

We have just received and opened an elegant stock of Boys' and Man's Straw Hats in the latest styles and shapes, the whole of which was bought very low for cash, and will be sold accordingly. See our fine Macinaws. R. FAIR.

Judge Dugas returned to Montreal Saturday from Chateauguay, where he had gone to investigate cases of catching bass out of season. The whole of the prisoners, eight altogether, including a doctor and a lawyer, were fined, two $5 and the rest $2 each. The actions were instigated by the Montreal Fish and Game Society.

Whats the Use?

Why suffer a single moment, when you can get immediate relief from internal or external pain by the use of Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure? Nervilline has never been known to fail. Try a 10 cent sample bottle. You will find it just as recommended. Neuralgia, toothache, cramps, headache, and all similar complaints disappear as if by magic when Nervilline is used. Large bottles 25 cents. Test bottles 10 cents at druggists and country dealers. d123-64-w22

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. H. Y. Milburn is making extensive improvements on his place at present. He has had all of his old outbuildings torn down, re-framed and set up on a more convenient position in a more suitable position than they formerly occupied. The new buildings consist of one stretch of roof 96 feet long by 36 feet at one end and 42-at the other; a very suitable drill shed in appearance. The foundation is itself no inconsiderable undertaking and reflects credit on the builder, Wm. Geakin, of Peterborough. The carpenter-work is under the supervision of the veteran framer of this place, G. J. Jopling. Mr. Milburn also intends to have stables for the accommodation of horses and cattle erected under his colossal barn which leads one to infer that he intends going extensively into stock-raising in the future.

The Union and Oak Leaf lodges of Good Templars have made arrangements for paying their Indian brethren, of Petaubbee, a visit. Mr. Kelly's boat and crew have been engaged for the occasion. I hope they will meet with the enjoyment which they have every reason to expect will be theirs on that occasion.

The Good Templars of Oak Leaf Temple have announced their intention of giving an open-temple on the evening of the 26th of June. I am certain that the Templars will not fail to entertain, in a pleasing manner, all who may feel inclined to visit them on that night. All are cordially invited to be present. Gordon, Selwyn, and Union Temples also please take notice.

A "Pointer."

When Col. Sellers gives you a "pointer" in stocks, my friend, leave them severely alone, but when your own feelings tell you that you have palpitation of the heart, asthma, bronchitis or catarrh which unless checked are apt to run into consumption, heed the admonition before it is too late. As the diseases enumerated, and others, arise from impure blood. Put the liver in action the largest gland in the human body, and you will speedily regain your lost health, and your bad feelings will disappear. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will accomplish the work speedily and certainly. Of your druggist. d128-6t-w22

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure;" but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

Senator Evarts' library in his house in New York is full of costly books, engravings, pictures, and works of art. He had a visit there some time ago from one of his law-clients, who had always supposed the Senator to be not only too luxuriously supplied with this world's goods. He looked the room over with a critical eye and remarked that he did not see how the Senator could afford so many fine and costly things. The Senator mentioned the remark to a lawyer friend a day or two afterward, with this dry comment: "He will know when I send him my bill."

A writer in the English Illustrated Magazine says that there is no such thing as dullness in the House of Lords in the sense that it exists in the Commons. The number of peers who are successful in making themselves heard might be counted on the fingers of both hands, but these, happily, are the members whose opinions are looked for. When Lord Salisbury and Granville and perhaps a couple of others not sitting on the front benches have spoken members just leave the house, and if any outsider wants to speak he finds himself without an audience, and so desists.

Free Music.

The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance at the Y. M. C. A. open-air festival on the evening of June 24th. The band boys, with characteristic liberality, have offered their services gratuitously.

Cheap Groceries.

Mr. George Pope has purchased the bankrupt stock of groceries of Mr. S. Young. The stock must be cleared within a week and the goods must be sold at any sacrifice. Now is the time for the public to secure bargains.

Y.M.C.A. Notes.

The Young Men's Christian Association, aided by their lady friends, are arranging for an open air strawberry festival on Thursday, 24th June, at Mr. G. M. Roger's beautiful grounds. New members to the number of 23 were elected this month. The members of the Association will have a social business meeting on Monday next. Mr. Geo. A. Kuhring, secretary of the Ottawa Association will be present. It is likely there will be a large turn-out of members.

Court of Revision Continued.

The adjourned meeting of the Court of Revision was held in the Council Chamber yesterday evening, all the members being present. The appeals of Messrs. Croft, Cavanagh, John Sullivan, Wm. Clancy, T. Giroux and Daly Bros., against the assessment of their real estate and income, were heard and allowed to stand over. On application, three changes in assessment were made. Two or three minor matters were confirmed. Other appeals were partly considered and allowed to stand over for further consideration.

Lacrosse and Baseball.

The local lacrosse and baseball teams were practicing in the Riverside Park yesterday evening, both training for coming matches. The result of the practice was not as satisfactory as it might have been for several reasons. The baseballists batted across the lacrosse goals while the lacrossers played across the baseball diamond, causing considerable consternation and preventing successful play. The park was also damp and muddy, making footing poor for either game, but especially so for lacrosse.

Always Ahead.

Others may follow, but Fitzgerald & Stanger assuredly lead the carriage trade in the quality and quantity of work turned out of their extensive factory. Since 1st March they have painted 90 wheeled rigs—hacks, express waggons, village carts, carriages and buggies. From the large number of vehicles in and around their premises, one would imagine that they had a daily "grand opening." They have a superior stock of the latest and best styles of buggies on hand and in process of manufacture. Call and inspect their stock before purchasing.

Graceless School Pupils.

Teachers complain that there is an epidemic of forgery of a mild kind prevalent among school children. The young scamps and scampesses, some of them, are in the habit of forging the names of parents to their excuses for tardiness or absence from school. In other cases the excuses are written without parental authority by obliging sisters, cousins and aunts. Other children neglect or omit to present their monthly reports, which contain, besides a record of their standing, a full report of their absences and tite-comings. Every parent should demand from his child the report at the beginning of each month. If the report is not voluntarily produced there is something the pupil desires to conceal, and consequently something wrong.

City Battalion and Northwest Medals.

There will be a meeting of the officers of the 57th battalion, "Peterborough Rangers," in the drill shed this evening, to consider the organization of the city battalion. The battalion band will be present, it and the officers parading in uniform. Capt. Burke of "G" Company of the late Midland Battalion will be present and will distribute the Northwest war medals to such of the members of "G" Company as may attend. The medals due other members of the company will be sent to them. Owing to the apathy of the local military authorities and leading citizens the proposal to have the medals presented in connection with a becoming military demonstration, such as took place at Campbellford Belleville, Toronto, Montreal and other places, was abandoned. The people of Peterborough are willing to have our brave boys turn out to fight, but don't feel inclined to spoil them by any unnecessary display of "fuss and feathers." Keep the boys always at "'tion'!"—no "stand easy."

Company "G" Asbestos.

All members of company "G" are requested to be at the drill shed this evening, where they will be presented with their medals for service in the suppression of the Northwest rebellion of 1885.

Thanks.

The ladies of the Peterborough Protestant Home gratefully return thanks for the following donations for May, not previously acknowledged:—Miss Clarkson, parcel of clothing; Mr. Calcutt, 16 loaves; Mrs. Wallace, mantle.

Market Matters.

The outside market this morning was almost a blank, with the butter and egg market was below the average. Prices remain about the same as on Saturday and were quoted as follows:—Butter, in prints, 12c. to 13c.; eggs, 10c. for shipment and 11c. for local use; chickens, 60c.; veal, 4c. to 6c.; potatoes, 50c. per bag; green garden truck, 5c. per bunch; hay, $7.00 to $9.50 per ton.

Social Gathering.

The ladies of the Murray Street Baptist Church gave a social entertainment in the basement of the church yesterday evening to members of the church, but especially to the new members. A splendid tea was partaken of at which all enjoyed themselves for a time. After tea a social chat was indulged in, which was agreeably interrupted occasionally by musical selections by the choir. Rev. A. H. Munro, the genial pastor of the congregation, in a short address welcomed the new members to the church and encouraged them in the stand which they had taken. The social throughout was a most happy one and no doubt will have a beneficial result.

Spill in Dishes.

Yesterday afternoon as Geo. Fadie, driver for China Hall, was delivering a load of dishes, at the Baptist Church, the horse became frightened at some wood and shied, upsetting the waggon, dumping the dishes, 40 dozen pieces, cups, saucers and plates, pell mell out of the vehicle. The horse was thrown on its side by the overturning of the waggon and the driver violently thrown to the ground. A number of persons came to the rescue and succeeded in getting the horse and vehicle in an upright position. The driver and dishes were also gathered up It was found that only six dozen pieces of crockery were broken, while the boy's injuries amounted to some severe bruises. One of the shafts of the vehicle was broken and the gearing slightly distorted.

Band in the Park.

The Fire Brigade Band gave their usual open air concert in the park last night. The music rendered was of the most delightful and charming character and was listened to by thousands, allured by the sweet strains of the music and the attractions of the park. The scene was most enchanting from a distance and as the distance decreased became more so. Thousands of persons young and old romped around, paraded the paths or seated themselves as comfortably as possible, and apparently enjoyed themselves immensely. The band was repeatedly applauded, and deservedly so. The boys who provide such excellent music so generously should have a substantial reward, and the public who profit by their labors no doubt will contribute generously towards providing new uniforms for the band.

No One Need be Bald.

Dr. Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic will produce a luxuriant growth of hair on bald heads, provided the roots are not entirely extinct. It will restore gray hair to its original color, prevent all falling of the hair, and remove all traces of dandruff. It is not oily, is a most elegant dressing, and keeps the hair and scalp in a clean, healthy condition. Ask for Dr. Dorenwend's Hair Magic and take nothing else. A. MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—Try them. Exceptionally fine. Superior to any Imported Cigar in the market

It is a well-known fact that the CABLE and EL PADRE brands of cigars are the oldest, most reliable, and best value in the market. For the last quarter of a century the demand for these brands has steadily increased, necessitating the employing of close on to one thousand operatives. Smokers will find it to their advantage to insist upon having the above-mentioned brands, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to palm off inferior goods for the sake of additional gain. The Home Rule Crisis.

Gladstone Decides on Dissolution.

LONDON, June 8.—The Cabinet at their meeting by unanimous vote resolved to appeal to the country. They held that by resigning they would only prolong and complicate the acute dispute, which will be terminated by the speedy dissolution of Parliament. Mr. Gladstone will send a special messenger to the Queen to-night with a letter recommending that Her Majesty dissolve Parliament as the only means to secure a stable government. If the Queen does not exercise her prerogative and summon Lord Hartington to form a new Ministry, Mr. Gladstone on Thursday will ask the House of Commons to proceed with the Supply Bill and will indicate the Queen's intention to dissolve Parliament at an early date.

NOTES.

The result of the division was telegraphed to the Queen the instant it was known.

The largeness of the majority against the bill caused great astonishment among the people.

The general opinion is that Mr. Gladstone will dissolve Parliament on the 28th inst.

It is expected that the elections will occupy a month, and the new House will assemble in the second week of August.

DUBLIN, June 8.—There is the wildest enthusiasm among the Loyalists in the North of Ireland over the defeat of the Home Rule Bill.

The City Battalion.

Mustering of Military Men in the Drill shed—Organization of the City Battalion—Presentation of Medals to the Veterans of Company "G."

The drill shed yesterday evening was the scene of a most enthusiastic military mustering. About eight o'clock the 57th Battalion Band marched to the shed accompanied by a large number of intending recruits to the City Battalion. The drill shed was crowded with hundreds of military inclined young men and—boys. Several recruiting officers worked their way amongst the throng soliciting recruits for the several companies.

RECRUITING.

Shortly after eight o'clock the Major Bell announced that the meeting had been called for the organizing of the City Battalion and called on those wishing to become members of it to communicate immediately with the Captain of the company in which they wished to enlist, who would place their names on the roll. The captains of the several companies who were stationed at the armories along the west side of the building were soon besieged by intending recruits, who plied questions with regard to the services required of them, and in most instances signed their names to the roll.

No. 2 Company, commanded by Capt. Langford, had the required number of men signed before Major Bell made his announcement, and No. 6 Company, Capt. Cooper's, booked the names of sixty men shortly after, mostly raw recruits. The other companies, not having commenced the recruiting campaign at as early an hour, were not so successful, but each received the names of about enough men for half a company.

The officers of the City Battalion will be, as far as can be ascertained as follows:

STAFF OFFICERS.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. Z. Rogers, Major, T. M. Grover, Major and Adjutant, Dr. R. W. Bell, Quartermaster, W. Millar, Surgeon, Dr. Kincaid.

No. 1 Company.—Captain, E. B. Edwards, Lieutenant, M. Dennistoun.

No. 2 Company.—Captain, W. Langford, Lieutenant, R. G. Lee.

No. 3 Company.—Captain, E. B. Rogers, Lieutenant, E. A. Peak.

No. 4 Company.—Captain, R. Birdsall, Lieutenant, W. H. Hill.

No. 5 Company.—Captain, Burke, Lieutenant, Dr. Brennan.

No. 6 Company.—Captain, W. H. Cooper, Lieutenant, H. A. Hammond.

As soon as the required number of men have enlisted, which the officers anticipate will be in a few days, new clothing and accoutrements will be provided, when drill will be commenced.

PRESENTATION OF WAR MEDALS.

About nine o'clock a number of the members of "G" Company of the Midland Battalion assembled in the orderly room in the drill shed, where they were presented by Capt. Burke, who commanded them in the Northwest, with the medals given by the government as a token of the appreciation of their services in quelling the Northwest rebellion. Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers presented Capt. Burke with the medal due him. Those who received their medals were:—Captain Burke, Lieut. Brennan, Sergt. Tyler, R. Cook, Corp. T. Graham, Bugler Beech, Privates James Hesmer, C. Parks and T. Billings. The medals due the other members of the company will be sent to them. There was no demonstration, and very few were aware that the presentation had been made, until the recipients stepped out of the room wearing the silver marks of distinction.

We have just received and opened an elegant stock of Boys' and Men's Straw Hats in the latest styles and shapes, the whole of which was bought very low for cash, and will be sold accordingly. Give our line a call.

Spirited Running Race

Between "Maggie Rouch" and "Greybird"—"Maggie Rouch" the Winner.

The matched running race between Mr. Alex. Elliott's bay mare "Maggie Rouch" and Mr. J. R. McIntyre's grey mare "Greybird," for a purse of $200—$100 a side, came off in the Driving Park yesterday afternoon and was a spirited and well contested race. The result was a surprise to many, "Maggie Rouch" winning the race in three consecutive heats. Over a hundred spectators a number of whom were ladies, assembled at the grounds to witness the race.

At the time appointed 2.30 p.m., the judges rang the bell and the horses were brought on to the track. "Greybird" mounted by "Oscar" O'Donnell and "Maggie Rouch" by Charlie Stapleton. At the first score the horses got off well together, "Maggie Rouch" having the slightest advantage and the outside track. At about one hundred yards she led by a length which she maintained until the home stretch, when "Greybird" decreased the lead slightly. Passing under the wire "Maggie Rouch" was half a length in advance, in 56, 4-5 seconds.

The second heat was a repetition of the first, and was won by "Maggie Rouch" by a neck in 56 2-5 seconds.

In the third heat "Greybird" had slightly the advantage in the start, but lost the lead before going 25 yards. This heat was the fastest of the three, 55 2-5 seconds, "Maggie Rouch" passing under the wire fully three lengths ahead of "Greybird."

This ended the contest, the judges declaring "Maggie Rouch" the winner by three straight heats.

The judges were Messrs. James McLaren, of Port Hope, and H. Winch, of town, who performed the duties devolving upon them with impartiality and to the satisfaction of parties concerned. Mr R. W. Manchester acted as timer, and surprised the spectators by the accuracy with which he caught the time. Richard Smith collected the checkels at the gate, which were not overburdensome.

Betting was even and limited, with "Greybird" the favorite. The money which changed hands had been up for some days. Both horses were in the pink of condition, while the track was never better.

The hurdle race and exhibition of speed did not take place, there being no entries for the former event, and "Young Tariff" not being well, the latter fell through.

Police Court

The cases against James Condon and John Condon and John McFarlane, for violation of the Scott Act, enlarged from Monday, were called for hearing.

Mr. James Condon appeared in court, but John Condon and John McFarlane, not having been served on account of absence from town, did not.

Mr. O'Meara appeared for Mr. James Condon and asked the court to consider the charge against him.

Mr. Edwards, not agreeing to this proposal, the magistrate enlarged the Condon case till Thursday, June 17th.

Mr. Alex. Patterson, of Norwood, was arraigned before the court charged by his daughter with using threatening language toward her. The court room was cleared of spectators and the magistrate heard the evidence offered.

The magistrate, after summing up the evidence, dismissed the parties, reserving his decision.

THE CALCUTT CASE.

Mr. Edwards, counsel for the prosecution in the case of Rossiter vs. Calcutt, for selling liquor on board the "Golden Eye" on May 24th, allowed the charge to be amended to read as a first charge, and the magistrate imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

Road Improvement.

There are many factors which enter into this problem. Some of them are peculiar to our State (Illinois), some to the various localities, while others become complex by reason of the ever capricious public mind in different sections. Public opinion is perhaps the most fickle and uncertain of all these factors; in short, it is the variable quantity in road improvement mathematics. Good roads come under the class of universal wants of, at least, a large portion of mankind. Some do not know how to supply this want, others know how but are not willing to pay the price, while still others have visionary schemes by which our much-abused country thoroughfares can be made to take upon themselves the completeness of city boulevards.

The way to obtain good roads is to improve the old ones, rather than to supplant them with something entirely new; to use what we already have as a step to something better, rather than to discard the whole. We must use the material we have at hand, and the public funds that can be obtained for this purpose, in such a way that our roads, even if not made perfect, will be permanently improved. Whatever is done should be so done that it can be built upon and added to, thus making each successive step an improvement.

The basis of all road improvement in our soil is drainage, both surface and subsoil. It is now no longer doubted by those who have tried it that the best plan for obtaining a good road base, or foundation, is by under drainage. The road surface may possess different degrees of excellence, but it is always better with an under-drained base than without one. To obtain this first excellence, please note the following manual: If an embankment or grade does not already exist, one should be made, the crown of which should be two feet higher than the bottoms of the broad ditches at the sides. This embankment should be twenty feet wide, and eight inches crowning. The ditches at the sides should be so graded as readily to carry all flood water into the nearest water course. This base, as now constructed, should be supplemented by under-drains made of first-class drain tile. When the surface ditches have removed all of the water which will readily flow away through them, the soil will still be sufficiently saturated to make a spongy and unstable base for our embankment. Place parallel lines of tile about three feet below the bottom of the surface ditches along the base of the embankment, and they will thoroughly drain the lower stratum of soil for the entire road to a depth of nearly five feet below the road surface. So far as the subgrade of the road is concerned, this plan, when well carried out, leaves nothing to be desired. The surface, however, which has absorbed water from the rainfall, and retained it by reason of its puddled condition, is faulty, and can only be made complete by adding a dressing, or covering, which shall be both durable and impervious to water.

The under-drainage of a road will ordinarily cost about $400 per mile, and, for the amount expended, no better improvement can be devised for ordinary roads than this. No smaller than four-inch tile should be used, and as much larger as the locality and length of the lines will require.—The Sanitary News.

Two Robust Lies.

Whenever a Mississippian tells a lie it is generally robust and healthy and can walk; but the moment a Georgian hears of it, so great is the rivalry between the two States, he girds up his loins and unloads a "whopper" that is so strong it has ribs and backbone, and breathes. Not long ago a man living near Ellisville, Miss., said that the cold wave in January swept over that State so quickly that the ponds in the swamps were frozen stiff before the snakes living in them could duck their heads under the water. He further remarked that he amused himself for a whole day by walking on the ponds and kicking off the heads of the snakes which stuck up out of the ice. This story traveled from one place to another until it reached Georgia, where for a time it, to use the language of the prize ring, knocked out everything it met, but finally a noble Georgian invented a muscular lie that climbed on the collar of the Mississippi prodigy, and literally pulverized and mashed it into the earth.

The Georgia man said that while chasing a fox across an abandoned cotton field his horse and himself fell into an old well about seventy feet deep. The fall killed the horse instantly, but he escaped without injury, and at once commenced looking around for a way to reach the surface of the ground. To his dismay he discovered that it was impossible for him to get out by climbing the steep walls of earth that shut him in, and he commenced howling for help at the top of his voice, but none came. On the morning of the second day the stench from the carcass of his horse was stifling, and he made up his mind to suffer a horrible death, when he noticed a number of buzzards hovering about the top of the well. Finally the birds alighted in the well, and a bright idea flashed through his brain, and he determined to make the buzzards bear him up to the ground above. As they settled on the carcass of the horse he seized them by the legs until he had three of the buzzards firmly grasped in each hand, when he gave them a violent "shew," and they flew up, carrying him with them, but they did not stop when they got out of the well, but continued to soar upward until he was horrified to find that he was fifty yards above the surface of the earth. Suddenly, however, it occurred to him to release one buzzard from each hand. This he did, and to his great joy his weight dragged the remaining buzzards slowly down until he was safely landed on terra firma, when he at once dropped on his knees and returned thanks in prayer.

When the story of the Georgia fox-hunter reached the ears of the Mississippi man, who launched the cold weather lie, it made him feel so utterly mean and worthless that he sold out and went to Texas.—N. O. States.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Advices from Ottawa state that immense quantities of Tory campaign literature are being sent out from the various public departments. The Tory members not only get their speeches printed as immigration pamphlets, but get them circulated free of postage after the session has been prorogued.

It is alleged that one of the reasons why the Government propose to dissolve Parliament this year is that they fear some damaging disclosures in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway and the relations of some members of the Ministry with the Syndicate. Should the latter make some demand which Parliament cannot grant, an exposure might be made that would throw the Pacific scandal, the Beatty-Woodworth job, and all other scandals entirely in the shade.

The Toronto News propounds this conundrum: "What is the difference between the "the epithet applied by Hon. Frank Smith, "of the Dominion Government, to his strik- "ing employe and the Prince Albert Col- "onization Company? One was 'a lot of "thieves,' the other is a thief of lots." The holders of "blind" shares will see the point.

The government has applied Spartan methods to the "Boy" Beaty—it has taken from him his contract for building the North-west Central Railway, in punishment for being found out, and given it to Onderdonk.

Reform in the Ascendant.

(London Advertiser.)

The public opinion of the various Provinces will be accurately gauged by the local elections which are taking place in Nova Scotia, in Quebec, in Prince Edward Island and in Manitoba.

The elections in New Brunswick are already over. They have gone overwhelmingly in favor of the Reform party, and there is very little room to doubt that the elections in the other provinces are pointing in the same direction. The tendency is decidedly in favor of Reform, and not more from the mistake made by the Tories in the Local Legislatures than from what is regarded as the misconduct of the Federal Administration. Several of the Reform journals have published an estimate made of the probable result for the House of Commons should an election take place. That result is given as follows:

	Liberals.	Tories.
Ontario	48	40
Quebec	40	25
Nova Scotia	10	11
New Brunswick	11	5
Prince Edward Island	4	2
Manitoba	3	2
British Columbia		6
Northwest Territories	1	3
Total	121	94
Majority for Liberals	27

This is, we believe, decidedly below the real figures. Ontario will do better than is here represented, and so will Nova Scotia and British Columbia.

The Home Rule Crisis.

Gladstone's Forthcoming Manifesto—Preparing for the Elections.

LONDON, June 8.—Gladstone, after announcing the dissolution of Parliament, will issue a manifesto to his Midlothian constituents, which will serve as a general appeal to the country. He will visit Midlothian to inaugurate the electoral campaign. Lord Hartington's address to his electors will be used as a counterblast to Gladstone's manifesto. The manifesto from Sir Michael Hicks-Beach or Lord Salisbury is expected to refer to Parnell's disclosure. The conference of Chamberlain's followers will probably be held on Thursday, and their manifesto will follow. The Whigs have virtually decided to oppose Gladstone in Midlothian. The lists of Government candidates have been almost completed.

JUNE, 9.—A telegraphic message was received this afternoon from the Queen by Mr. Gladstone. It is understood to contain Her Majesty's sanction for the dissolution of Parliament. Parliament will probably dissolve on June 24th, if the necessary routine business can be got through with by that time.

"Baptism Concessions," Not Conceded But Confuted.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—In your issue of Tuesday, you insert an article, by request, on the subject of baptism under the cognomen of "Baptism Concessions."

By these concessions the attempt is made to produce the unwarranted inference that proper mode of baptism is by immersion, and therefore baptize children by sprinkling. They who think and write, and ask otherwise, are represented as either disinclined or lacking in scholarly attainments, and their treatises attributable to "unfruitful ignorance."

The author of the article has thought it better to conceal himself behind the editorial chair, an adroit manœuvre, per parenthesis, as neatly as it is strange. It may, and for the information of those whom it may concern, I just write to say that God's word is designed not for the instruction of the scholarly merely, but for men in general. And by referring to that word they will find the following truths:

First, that our Saviour himself never baptized with water at all, "for Jesus baptized not," says St. John, "but his disciples." See John 4, 2.

Secondly, that when he did baptize, it was with the Holy Ghost, and that he did so not by immersion, but by shedding it upon them, and causing it to fall on them. This is so plainly and distinctly affirmed that it needs no scholarship to understand it: any man can see and read it for himself. See Acts 2, 33. St. Peter is here speaking of this baptism of the Holy Ghost by the risen and exalted Saviour, and he says, "He hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear." See also Acts 11, 15-16. In these verses St. Peter refers again to the baptism of the Holy Ghost by Christ, with respect to Cornelius and his family, and how will it fulfil "by immersion?" He "remembered the word of the Lord, how that he said, John indeed baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost."

Now, Mr. Editor, if Christ baptized in this way, by shedding, pouring out, and causing the Holy Ghost to fall upon the people, are we to believe, learned and profoundly scholarly men say so, that Christ did not properly perform this duty? If Christ baptized with the Holy Ghost and with fire causing it to descend upon them and the fire to rest upon their heads, is it a "senseless assertion" to say, that this is the proper Christian mode of baptism? John baptized with water in like manner in the river of Jordan, applying the element to the person, pouring it, or shedding it upon their heads, as they stood in the river, or on the bank. The supposition that he baptized the promiscuous multitudes of men and women that attended his ministry in any other way, or by immersion, is to the writer, incredible. For, if so, he must have immersed them with their clothes on or off. To suppose that he immersed them in a state of nudity, as some up west have done, is shocking. And to think of multitudes of men and women being immersed together with their clothes on, in the wilderness or desert place where they were, and going about in their wet and dripping apparel, seems almost too ridiculously absurd for credence.

It has taken the Rev. Mr. Munro, of this town five or six Sabbaths to immerse with due decency and proper care some thirty-two persons. And yet we are asked to believe that the Apostles, on the day of Pentecost baptized by immersion, a vast multitude of men and women numbering three thousand, in the City of Jerusalem, where there was no river and no previous preparation made. Scholarly men and others who would have us swallow such an astounding assumption as this, must do something worse than charge us with "nameless ignorance."

God has given to men reason and common sense and these when unprejudiciously and candidly exercised, in unison with the word of God and the example of Jesus Christ, are a preventive of such credulity.

As to children, since Christ affirmed, that of "such is the kingdom of God," it seems to us, they have as indubitable a right to admission into his visible kingdom, the church, as believing adults; and, consequently, to the initiatory rite of admission, viz. Baptism.

We can assure our friends who believe in immersion, &c., we could adduce as many extracts from scholarly divines against their theories, if time and space permitted, as would be more than satisfactory.

Only let us secure the real Baptism by Christ, of the Holy Ghost, and the outward sign of water baptism, in whatever form the water be applied, is of such minor importance that St. Paul thanked God, he baptised none: see I Cor. 1 14.

Yours respectfully,
G. H. DAVIS.

The Beginning of Consumption.

Blotches, pimples, eruptions, "fever-sores," ulcers and enlarged glands, are but so many outward manifestations of poisonous and scrofulous humors in the blood, which sooner or later are apt to attack the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing ulceration and consumption of these organs. The Drawer referred some time ago to the young man who is one day to be President of the United States, and the desirability of his fitting himself for this position. But on reflection the subject assumes a graver aspect. What the young man ought to be thinking of is his ability to become an ex-President. Anybody can be President who gets votes enough; the ability to get the votes is quite distinct from the qualifications [illegible] and, even if he succeeds, thanks to the excellence of our machinery, he cannot do much injury in four years, except to himself and his party. Moderate ability will carry him through respectably. But it requires a great man to be a successful ex-President. The office of President is a very exalted one. And when [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] left, he must have very large proportions to stand the comparison. This aspect of the case has not been enough considered. Men are very anxious to get the office, and their friends push them for it, without thinking of the figure the successful man may make when his term is over. The fact is that in the contrast he may appear much more insignificant than if he had remained in private life. There has been a great deal of talk lately about giving the ex-Presidents a pension in order to place them in a position of dignity, and enable them to maintain something of the state the people have been accustomed to see them in. It has been often [illegible] that [illegible] ought to be [illegible] he has invested money in foreign funds. Nothing but the possession of great [illegible] can [illegible] it is to with an ex-President. The practical suggestion to be made, therefore, is that the young man, to whom we have alluded should fit himself to be an ex-President. If he can not attain the character and the qualities needed for that, he may be sure that the office of President will be but a hollow satisfaction.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Harper's Magazine for April.

"I ain't gwine tar stay in dis hyar country no longer den I kin he'p, said an old negro whose general good humor and satisfied condition rendered his observation significant.

The girl of the period now carries her hands in her overcoat pocket just like a man—partly because it's English, and partly, doubtless, because there are holes in her gloves.—Irowell Citizen.

One of the pitiful sights of the world is to see a poor, little, pinched, penniless fellow staggering along under a great family name made by some one ahead of him.—New Orleans Picayune.

A politician says he does not believe that a party is strengthened by a navy-yard. Inasmuch as a navy is not strengthened by a navy-yard, either, the concern might as well be abolished.—Norristown Herald.

The other day a Santa Cruz minister was rowed into the ocean in company with an eloping couple whom he was to marry without the formality of a license. He turned to the boatman and asked if he could swim. Pistola Perez answered, "O, yes." For a moment the man of God was lost in reverie, but shortly he reached over and whispered to Pistola: "In case this boat should upset, my dear man, will you save me first? I cannot swim."—San Francisco Alta.

A little boy in Warrenton visited his aunt in the country not long since. One day, at the dinner table, the lady complained that a jar of favorite preserves had mysteriously disappeared from the pantry. Each one present disclaimed any knowledge of the fact, except the little boy, who remained studiously silent. At length he was asked if he knew what had become of the missing fruit, when he replied: "My pa don't allow me to talk at the table."—Warrenton (Ga.) Clipper.

Thoughtful Boston young lady, intensely interested in ancient history (to Harvard junior)—"Ah, Mr. B—d—, when you think of the old Egyptians do you not feel impressed with the sense of our indebtedness to the great Rosetta Stone?" Harvard junior (slightly discomposed, but coming gallantly forward)—"Yes, yes, indeed; but then her reign only gives us a further proof of woman's influence you know." Enthusiastic young lady descends to a lower level.

They were talking about Julie and the French season. "Well," said a lady, "I want to go badly, but I'm afraid." "Why? There's nothing to be afraid of. I'm going." "But I understand French." "O, that's different." "What are you going to do? You'll be set down as wicked if you enjoy the queer things." "O, I'm all right. I'm going to get my eyes on a Frenchman. Whenever he laughs very loudly I'll shrug my shoulders and look displeased."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Butte City, M. T., has a population of 18,000, 4,600 to 5,000 of whom are employed in the mines at $4.50 per day, while fully as many men are idle. The town supports five daily newspapers, five brass and string bands, and fifteen gambling establishments, four variety theatres and one opera house, which are doing a rushing business every night.

The Andre monument affair has had the effect of putting Mr. Field before the British public in a light he may not relish. The London Echo writes of him as "an able, pushing man of business, not too scrupulous to jeopardise success, but, on the other hand, exceedingly vain and fond of associating his name with persons of eminence and rank, more especially in this country."

The English royal family are afflicted with [illegible] means an excessive allowance of food. Even at 5 o'clock tea the water-like bread and butter that customarily accompany the gummy doughnuts or dingy sponge Fekoe is supplemented by beautifully cut sandwiches, pate de foi gras, and other tempting delicacies, and every justice is done to them by the illustrious ones without in any way "spoiling" the elaborate dinner that is to follow hours on.

Consumption, or "decline" [illegible] has been assumed from its metaphysical exclusiveness and is to be studied as a nervous disease. A patient suffering from it is described by Dr. Vance in the Medical Review as believing that "the power of the world is a power of evil, and existence a frenzied carnival." He is troubled with "irritability on that part of the physical mechanism concerned in the elaboration of intellectuo-emotional ideas," and is generally out of joint with the world, temperamental predisposition being a prime factor in the trouble.

Wellington Guernsey, soldier, war-correspondent, composer, novelist, and journalist, who died suddenly of paralysis in London a few days ago, loved to tell the curious history of his most celebrated song, "Ah! Where Art Thou?" It was offered to half the music-publishers in London for $25 down, but the [illegible] declined it. [illegible] Guernsey [illegible] it [illegible] ing terms. During recent years [illegible] song several years ago [illegible] of 250,000 copies. [illegible] fered for $50, ultimately paid its composer. Mr. Maybrick [illegible] $5,000.

It used to be a humor of Sarah Bernhardt, when she felt particularly hopeful and sure of acting, to get in a coffin and pretend to take a nap. But Bernhardt's playfulness seems trifling, indeed, in view of the dreadful misadventure of Miss Natalie, an actress of the French stage. While [illegible] was playing [illegible] Dames aux Camelias, she swooned and passed into the state of rigidity that marks one who is dead. So they put the poor girl in a coffin. But [illegible] at the next act of the drama [illegible] Natalie awoke and [illegible] the amazement and terror of all at the grave. Mme. Natalie had been in a trance. That was in 1886. She reappeared upon the stage in 1838, and acted for thirty years, retiring then on a pension of 6,475 francs. A few days ago the dead woman was again placed in a coffin, nor did she start when the lid, with melodramatic solemnity, was tapped three times.

Mr. Hurley begs to notify his friends that he has some good sugar-coated plums in the way of bargains in real estate to be plucked by some lucky person this month. Eight properties sold recently and more wanted; bring in description of property if you want to sell quickly.

Banker's Eleven.

The following eleven will comprise the banker's team which will play against a team picked from the P. A. A. A. cricket club on Saturday next on the association grounds:—C. A. Lawford, J. Morris, C. H. Geale, P. E. S. Cooper, A. St. A. Smith, C. McGill, G. Orde, E. H. Retallack, A. E. Austin, H. St. Geo. Slight, H. A. Hammond.

Joy to Housewives

Mr. H. Rush has been appointed local agent for "Dunn's Fruit Salt Baking Powder," a new invention, guaranteed to make sweet nutritious food, to correct acidity and promote digestion. The article is a boon to housekeepers, and its intrinsic excellence is guaranteed by the reliability of the local agent, whom the manufacturers have appointed for Peterborough.

Loyal and Influential.

The Methodist ministers of Peterborough are both loyal to the town and influential in the Conference. Rev. Messrs. Wallace, Tovell and McAmmond have secured the appointment of Peterborough as the place of meeting of the next Bay of Quinte annual Conference—in June, 1887. The Peterborough ministers, are also, together with the President of the Conference, to arrange the programme of public services during the conference. A report was adopted to levy an assessment of $1 per each member of conference, payment to be optional, with laymen, but those members not paying, to provide their own billets. Conference closed at 2 o'clock, on Wednesday.

An Important Visit.

Mr. George A. Morrison, local agent of the New York Mutual Reserve, has returned to town from a five weeks' visit to Auburn, N. Y. Mr. Morrison visited the head office of the Mutual Reserve, and was astonished at the immense amount of business done, the office having over 100 clerks, book-keepers, etc., in its employ, and the amount of new business amounts to over a quarter of a million per day. The old line companies have organized a crusade against the Mutual Reserve, and are distributing circulars containing slanderous assertions by the million.

Complimentary Address.

The members of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, Sons of England, at their last regular meeting, adopted an address to be sent to Bro. John S. Hall, a late member of the Lodge now a resident of Toronto. Their address was a very handsome one, engrossed by Mr. H. Grundy, with gold border, bearing the name of the lodge in carmine lettering at the top. The address read as follows:—

John S. Hall:

DEAR BROTHER,—We take this opportunity of expressing the very deep regret we feel at your removal from our midst. Your services have been of decided advantage to the Order, and being one of our charter members, and always have taken an active part in the work of the lodge, your loss will be sorely felt. Our high appreciation of your valuable work to the Lansdowne Lodge elicits our heartfelt gratitude, and our best wishes for the future welfare and happiness of yourself and your family.

And having every confidence in your experience and ability to promote the great principles for which our Order is constituted, we trust that you may be long spared to further the good work, and enjoy the honors you so greatly and deservedly merit. And may the all-loving eye of the Almighty and Great God watch over and guide you in the right path.

Signed on behalf of the Lansdowne Lodge,

W. BROWNSBURY, President.
F. BROWNCOMBE, Secretary.

The Town Pays the Costs.

It has been definitely ascertained that the town will have to pay the entire costs in the Whiteman bigamy case. Judge Weller issued an order on the [illegible] day, for $41.95, the costs incurred at the present session of the County Court in this case. The law provides for the action taken, as shown by the following extract from the Statute, 39 Vic., Cap 13, Section 6:—

"Or if such offence was committed in, or was supposed to have been committed in a city, or in a town separated for municipal purposes from the county, the order shall be directed to the Treasurer of the said county town."

A Substantial Send-off.

Mr. F. R. Jennings, who has occupied the position of station-master at the C.P.R. station in town since the opening of the road, and who left on Tuesday evening to occupy a similar position at the North Station, Toronto, was surprised at the station a few minutes before his train moved off, by a number of the merchants and manufacturers of the town, who hustled him into a corner of the station. Mr. P. Hamilton, representing the deputation, read a highly complimentary address and handed Mr. Jennings a well filled purse. Mr. Jennings made a brief and appropriate reply, and was about to get on board when those employed at the station took the opportunity of presenting him with a handsomely engraved address accompanied by a beautiful gold headed ebony cane. Mr. Jennings' reply to his late associates was brief, as he had to make a break for the train, which soon whirled him away, filled with pleasant recollections of the place he was leaving. Mr. Jennings sent a written reply to the station men. Mr. Jennings has always been a most obliging and efficient servant of the company and richly deserves the handsome send-off he received, as well his promotion.

County Court

And General Sessions of the Peace.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

STICKEL VS. WHITE.—An action brought by the plaintiff of the township of Percy for breach of covenant not to cut trees, and for trespass in destroying apple trees by cattle, under which the plaintiff sought to prove that the tapping of maple trees in an old sugar bush was a breach of contract. The apple trees were planted in the plaintiff's reserve parcel which was badly fenced. The jury found that the tapping of maple trees was by the leave and license of the plaintiff and that the apple trees were destroyed by the bad care of the plaintiff owing to cultivation and bad fencing. Verdict for the defendant. E. B. Stone for plaintiff and D. W. Dumble for the defendant.

TRUE BILLS.

The grand jury brought in the following true bills:—

QUEEN VS. WHITEMAN.—Charging Joseph Whiteman with bigamy.

QUEEN VS. GRAND TRUNK R. R. Co.—charging the railway with obstructing Bethune Street, by allowing cars, etc., to remain on the track on Bethune Street, contrary to the statute.

QUEEN VS. MIDLAND R. R. Co.—Charging the railway with placing the rails of the track on Bethune Street, much higher than the statute allows.

The cases against the railways refer to the alleged obstruction of Bethune street. The grand jury visited the street in a body and examined the condition of the railway at that point.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.

The grand jury made the following presentment:—

To His Honor Judge Weller.

The grand jurors of our Sovereign Lady, the Queen, in making their presentment, desire to congratulate your honor upon your elevation to the bench, a position which your legal attainments, well known to every adult resident of the county, and your high sense of justice, eminently fit your honor to fill, with both credit to yourself and to the county; and to hope that you may be spared to a long life of public usefulness. While we have to congratulate ourselves upon the lightness of our duties, we have also to congratulate yourself and the county upon the freedom from crime thus indicated, and to regard it as a pleasing mark of the sobriety and industry of a law abiding people.

We have made the customary examination of the Court House and jail premises and found everything in a good state of repair and in a state of cleanliness creditable to both officials having charge thereof.

In conclusion it may not be out of place to remark upon the great success achieved by the Horticultural Society of Peterborough in beautifying the grounds of the Court House Park, thereby adding greatly to the beauty and value of the county property in the county town, and justifying the course of the County Council in making a grant for such a purpose.

All of which is respectfully presented.

JOHN FINLAY, Foreman.

HIS HONOR'S REPLY.

Judge Weller replied thanking the jury for the kind expressions toward himself, contained in their presentment, and stated that such ability as he possessed would be employed in administering the business of the court in the interest of the people. He was pleased to state that he fully agreed with the expressions of the presentment with regard to the Court House Park. He then dismissed the jury.

ADJOURNED CASES.

Joseph Whiteman, charged with bigamy, pleaded not guilty. Mr. C. W. Sawers applied for an adjournment, the defendant not being ready for trial. The application was granted and the case was enlarged until the next sittings of the court.

The hearing of the cases against the railway companies was also held over till the next assizes.

Our Brave Volunteers

Endured the severe marching of the Northwest campaign with admirable fortitude. The Government should have supplied them with a quantity of celebrated Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It never fails to remove corns painlessly, and the volunteers and everybody else should have it. Beware of substitutes. Get Putnam's Extractor and take no other. d194-86-w22.

On Tuesday evening last a complimentary concert was given him by the choral society of the church. Between the first and second parts Mr. Seward was presented with an address expressing the feelings of esteem of the members of the church for a "talented musician and worthy member of the community." In earnest of the sincerity of the sentiments of the address, it was accompanied by the gift of a purse of $100.

Bread Riots Threatened.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 9th.—Bread riots are threatened in Conception Bay. Crowds of unemployed men are parading the streets. The police, with rifles and fixed bayonets, so far have prevented looting. The British war ship Lily has been ordered to Conception Bay.

Irish Rioting.

Several Persons Killed.

BELFAST, June 9.—Last night a mob of Orangemen made an attack upon a tavern kept by a Catholic named Duffy. The police were promptly on the scene, and after a stubborn contest, during which they used their carbines, drove the mob away in disorder. The rioters reassembled with increased strength and again attacked Duffy's, this time overpowering the police and driving them from the place.

The mob increased in size and began throwing stones at the police. The latter fired, killing four persons, one of whom was a barmaid, who was looking out of a tavern window at the fighting. The mob returned the fire and a brisk fusillade was kept up for twenty minutes. Soldiers are now parading the streets to assist the police in case of necessity.

The mob subsequently drove a force of 150 policemen into the barracks and then attacked the building, firing revolvers and throwing stones at the doors and windows. The police fired, killing five persons.

COURT OF REVISION.

The Cavan Council met in the council chamber on Wednesday, May 26th, as a Court of Revision. All the members were present, the Reeve in the chair.

The appeal of Mr. Josiah Ball against real estate assessment, was allowed and the assessment reduced $200.

The assessment of Stephen Jeffery on appeal was also reduced $100.

On application Mr. John Trotter was entered on the roll as tenant for part of lot 13, 12th concession, with Robert Mills as owner.

The east half of lot No. 4, concession 8, entered on the non-resident roll, was assessed to John Gillespie as tenant and Wm. Turney as owner.

The roll, as revised, was confirmed.

COUNCIL MEETING.

At the conclusion of the Court of Revision the Council met for ordinary business.

After routine a number of communications were read and laid on the table.

The Reeve reported that complaint had been made to him of the dangerous condition of the bridge on the east boundary line, opposite the 6th concession. Together with the Reeve of Monaghan, he had visited the bridge and found it as reported.

Councillor Tallis reported having examined the pond-hole on the fifth concession, and recommended filling it.

Councillor Shields reported having let a number of jobs.

Deputy-Reeve Thorndyke reported having examined the washout on the diverted road, which he had temporarily repaired, the ground being too wet to permit of permanent repairs.

On motion, Mrs. Merriam, whose husband has been confined in Cobourg jail as a dangerous lunatic for some months past, was heard. She applied to the Council for support.

On motion of Councillor Boyd, a grant of $4 per month for three months was given.

Mr. Evans complained to the Council of the bad state of third concession line road, and asked the Council to repair the road as soon as possible.

Councillor Fallis was appointed a committee to examine and repair the road if necessary.

John Hannah was allowed the sum of $6 dollars for keeping the culvert on the west boundary line open and for a [illegible] to cross his premises in the [illegible] when the roads were blocked," the township of Manvers to pay half of the said sum.

Deputy-Reeve Thompson was appointed with a committee to act in conjunction with a committee appointed by Hope Council, in letting jobs and doing necessary repairs on the boundary between Hope and Cavan.

On motion of Mr. Thorndyke, seconded by Councillor Boyd, the Council was appointed a committee to examine the last quarter line, eighth concession, in reference to the position of W. J. Fisher and others, and also the diverted road across lot three, ninth concession, as petitioned by W. M. Williamson and others and report at the next regular meeting.

The Reeve and Councillor McNeil were appointed a committee to meet a committee of the South Monaghan Council with reference to repairing the boundary line between Cavan and South Monaghan and also to let the job of building a culvert on said boundary.

The Reeve and Councillor Fallis were authorized to fill in the pond hole on the 5th concession.

Councillor Fallis was authorized to repair several places of road.

The Clerk was instructed to sign an order for Alex. Brown, for $13.62, for cedar timbers; and the sum of $10 was ordered to be paid the Assessor over and above his salary for extras.

A number of orders were also issued on the Treasurer.

The Council then adjourned.

The English Episcopal Church Army.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—A few months since, I wrote a letter for your columns in defence to a certain extent, of the Salvation Army, and in doing so I remarked that the English Church to-day had also their Army and adopted similar modes of operation &c.

Some of our English friends, at the time, were a little annoyed and disposed to question the accuracy of my statement. For the information of such and others whom it may concern, will you please insert the enclosed, taken from yesterday's Mail, Toronto, and oblige

Yours, respectfully,
G. H. DAVIS.

The Church Army.

The Church Army, a Church of England organization, will probably commence work in two parishes in Toronto some time during next fall. The question at once arises, What is the Church Army? Rev. W. Carlile, in a paper read before the Church Congress at Portsmouth, held in October last, says it is "a work in connection with the Church, and to do always most anxious to be the Church's active handmaiden, having its basis as wide as the Church of England." It is thus a new method of drawing working men into the Church, and [illegible] secured them, to set them to work to bring others in also. The army with its [illegible] officers, things remain [illegible] its originators that the Church could do the rough work on her own lines as well, and in some respects far better than other organizations. The system is really the employment of a body of workingmen as lay [illegible], acting under orders from headquarters, but always by the sanction of the bishop of the diocese, and under the direction of the clergyman of the parish. The control is exercised by an Executive Committee at headquarters, composed of five laymen and two clergymen—archbishops and bishops who are patrons forming a council to whom the committee look for guidance. Great care is taken in the selection.

OF THE OUTDOOR EVANGELISTS,

as the workers are also called. Every candidate has a most rigorous search made as to his antecedents, and he has to give proof in writing of a fair knowledge of Holy Scripture and Church doctrine. He is put through a course of training at the Army Training home in London. His uniform is a black tunic and cap. In his campaign in a parish he holds open air and other meetings at which he delivers addresses, and in this way gathers soldiers about him. These receive the red card, the army badge, which is taken as an undertaking for confirmation. The officers [illegible], moving from place to place as they receive orders from headquarters. The work in England has been most successful, and the Archbishops of Canterbury and York and a large number of the bishops have spoken in most hearty approval of it. In September last there were forty-nine officers engaged, in addition to the headquarters' staff, and it was then estimated that over 30,000 indoor and outdoor meetings were held annually, with an attendance of 3,000,000 persons. These thousand persons had professed conversion and been confirmed, and 1,000 more were waiting to be confirmed. It is expected that in September next Rev. Mr. Webster, who has charge of the training home, and Mr. H. Marshall, both members of the Executive Committee, will visit Canada and explain the working of the army in several cities. After that time it is probable that two officers will commence work in St. George's and St. Stephen's parishes.

An Answer Asked For.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR.—I should like to inquire through your columns, of the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, why the stand pipe agreed by the Council to be put on Charlotte street, west of the railway is not yet in position. The driver of the street watering cart says he cannot water Charlotte street till such a stand pipe is put up. The rails of the track stick up like an aching tooth and will not admit of his crossing. Charlotte street being a main thoroughfare, is one of the most used streets in town and the residents are smothered with dust both inside and outside their houses, while the streets of the ward, in which the Chairman lives, are kept well watered and cool as the contempt of the Chairman for the rights of the residents of Charlotte street among whom is

Two College Stories.

Some interesting situations have come up at Harvard apropos of the enforcement of "involuntary prayers." The other day a party of four young men, with dark hair and slightly aquiline noses, picked fellows among the students, waited upon the dean of the faculty and asked to be excused from chapel in the morning, on the ground that they were Jews and had religious scruples against attending Christian services. The good doctor knew the applying students by sight only, and, as he made a memorandum of their request, casually asked their names. After he had put them "down," his tablet run something like this: Solomon Isaac Lowe, Abram Greenbaum, Moses J. Stern, [illegible] it occurred to the conservator of moral discipline that it was a little extraordinary that he had not heard of this Hebrew quartet: so, though he granted them the required leave of absence from prayers, he looked into the matter, and found, of course, that this was only another expedient of godless youth to "cut chapel."

This reminds the historian of a story of his juvenage. A young collegian of his acquaintance was called up for a reprimand before his college president. He had made up a concatenation of words to explain away the misdemeanor for which he was reproved, but his statement had not the desired effect on the president. "Don't [illegible] ever [illegible]

The Needed Reformation of Charity.

The theory upon which society has heretofore treated human suffering or degradation has been very simple. There were two classes of misery: the one produced, as the old underwriters would express it, "by the hand of God," and the other by depravity bearing fruit. This distinction lies patent upon the surface of the Elizabethan poor-laws, and reappears in the workhouse test of Earl Grey. The whole scheme of legislation has aimed at some means to separate those who ought to be punished from those whose undeserved calamities constitute a title to sympathy. The claim of the last has been held by British courts to be a right to participate in the parish poor relief virtually enforceable by law. But such a classification is impracticable in the present conditions of society, if it has not always been so. Chalmers demonstrated not only by his experiment at St. John's Church in Glasgow, but by his appeal to the history of the Scottish peasantry, that natural affection was a sufficient motive and the generosity of the poor one to another was a sufficient resource for the sick, the aged, the orphan, the widow, the halt, the blind, the wayfarer, and the imbecile of all Caledonia. He insisted that the springs of this lowly beneficence were congealed by the interference of strangers, and he arraigned compulsory relief because it relaxed natural ties and dissolved the amenities of kinship and affection. The progress of state relief has been marked by the abandonment of wives and children, by the increase of illegitimacy, by the turning of tottering age to the almshouse, and by the consequent degradation of those in whom motives of family affection ceased. Professor Fawcett has shown that the legal provisions for foundlings in England is no superior, in amount and in the associations created for the child, to what a farm hand can supply as to be an enticement for fathers to abandon their offspring—an enticement which in the stronger as the father is more reflective, disinterested, and ambitious for his children. It has been abundantly shown that the poor-rate operates to depress wages, by handicapping the self-supporting in their labor contest with state-aided workmen, and that the work-house is incompatible with family relations and with the innocence of childhood. Thus society can corrupt its humble members.—D. O. Kellogg, in Atlantic for April.

Some young and enterprising dry goods men of New York have pooled their financial issues, and have invested their savings in a steam snow-shovel company, whose object is to fight the western blizzard or any other kind of a storm which covers railroad tracks with snow. The machine for railroad business costs $15,000 and weighs forty tons. It rests on a heavy truck and is propelled by locomotives. A ten-foot square iron case, with open mouth, projects from the front end; in this are set four steel knives, which cut the hardest snow to pieces, and at the same time throw it back into shovels which, by their rotary movement hurl it 200 feet away.

INJUSTICE TO SETTLERS.

In a country like Canada, it should be the policy of the Government to encourage settlement by every means consistent with the available resources of the country. And the Dominion Government profess to act according to this principle. In 1885 there was spent on immigration over $300,000, and millions have been devoted to railway extension, with the settlement of the North-west as one of the chief objects in view. Yet the course of the Government, in its treatment of settlers, largely defeats this aim. We all know how Government incompetence, injustice, and oppression by producing the Northwest rebellion retarded the settlement of the Northwest. Yet the lesson learned at a cost of some two hundred lives and some ten millions of money is entirely lost on the government at Ottawa. The latest issue of the Calgary Tribune gives the particulars of the most flagrant breach of faith, cruelty and injustice practiced towards old settlers. The Tribune says:—

Years before there was any survey whatever of the lands in this district, some daring spirits pushed their way in from the coast and took up parcels of land patiently cultivating the soil and waiting till the opening of the country would render their farms valuable. Some, too, of those who came up with the first outfit of the Mounted Police, having faithfully served out their terms, "squatted" upon lands and made homes for the families that were growing up about them. After the survey was made they were led to believe, and they had every reason to expect as an indisputable right, that they would not be disturbed in the possession of the lands upon which they had settled. They made formal application for entry to their homesteads about three years ago, but up to a few days ago they have received no conclusive reply to their applications.

Wednesday's mail, however, adds our contemporary, brought letters from the secretary of the Dominion Lands Commissioner Winnipeg, refusing the applicants entries for their lands. An outrageous breach of faith like this will inflict untold harm upon immigration and settlement in the Northwest. The Tribune continues:

It turned out, after the survey had been made and the bargain between the Dominion Government and the Syndicate had been effected, that a number of the old time settlers had squatted upon sections which, according to the plan adopted, formed part of the land subsidy of the Canadian Pacific Railway. These pioneer settlers did not dream that their claims would be disputed. They continued to hold and improve their places. Now, however, they find that they are to be placed on precisely the same footing as if they had come into the country yesterday.

* * * * * *

The Dominion Government in this matter, of course, is wholly responsible. The C. P. R. Company is simply acting in its own interests in a business matter of which they are entitled to all the advantage they can legally secure. The question of right to these settlers is not a thing the railway has to consider at all; that is a matter which citizens have a claim on the Government to support and protect them in. But instead of protecting them it appears to have sold them out root and branch. We can see absolutely no excuse for the act, which, in effect at least, is one simply of Governmental spoliation."

After giving the names of the victims of Government injustice, the Tribune concludes:

"All these men are well known to the community, and if the Government think they are going to tamely submit to robbery they make a huge mistake. It is the duty of the Government, if no other means is at their disposal, either to fully indemnify the settlers, or to purchase the land back from the C.P.R. and hand it over to the rightful owners."

This is only a sample of the course which the Dominion Government is pursuing towards Northwest settlers, and is of a piece with the treatment bestowed on the half-breeds, which drive them to rebellion.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The general tone of the Tory newspapers of Canada is one of rejoicing that Gladstone's Home Rule Bill has been defeated. It goes against the Tory grain to give representative institutions to any people, especially to the Irish.

A despatch from Ottawa states that a person high in the confidence of Sir John Macdonald says that the Dominion general elections will come on early in the fall, and that Tuesday, September 7, has been named as a possible date.

The Ottawa Free Press presents the following nut for protectionists to crack:—"Thirty years ago the population of England was half agricultural and half manufacturing; but now manufacturing employs twice as many hands as agriculture. Will the protectionists who hold that England's industrial powers are declining under free trade, explain this?

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada commenced its twelfth annual meeting Wednesday evening in Hamilton, Rev. J. K. Smith, of Galt, was unanimously elected Moderator for the ensuing year.

The annual commencement of the University of Toronto for the conferring of degrees was held on Wednesday. The chancellor, Hon. Edward Blake, in his address, gave statistics showing the progress of the institution, and expounded his views on the question of federation of colleges.

The Mail thinks it an outrage that, as it asserts, Roman Catholic charitable institutions receive some 60 per cent. more from the Ontario Government than Protestant institutions of the same class, but it neglects to show that these institutions do not admit Protestants as well as Roman Catholics as inmates.

The N. P. politicians are never tired of telling us that high taxation is the groundwork of commercial prosperity. However, Mr. Smithers, president of the Bank of Montreal, perhaps as good an authority as a ward politician, is of a different opinion. In his address at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the bank, he gave utterance to the true cause of national prosperity—good crops. With this view accepted as the correct one, can it be urged with any degree of force that a protective policy, that cuts off farmers from access to the best and nearest market, is in the interest of the country?

Bellicose Belfast.

Continued Riots—Eight Persons Killed—Scores Wounded—Orangemen Arrested.

BELFAST, June 10.—The people here have been wrought to a state of great excitement by the riotous demonstrations of the Orangemen during the past two days. All work is stopped. The stores are closed, and many residences are barricaded. There are mobs in every street prepared for further deeds of violence. The Orangemen are greatly incensed at the constabulary for firing upon them, and threaten to sack their barracks.

Detachments of soldiers from Dublin and other cities are being forwarded to Belfast to assist the authorities in restoring order.

At midnight a mob of Orangemen raided a public house kept by a Catholic, named O'Hare and, after sacking it, set it on fire. The police charged the rioters a dozen times with bayonets, but each time they were forced to take refuge in the barracks, where they fired upon the mob from the second story windows. The mob, however, held their ground twenty minutes longer, although the firing of the police was heavy and incessant. Scores of rioters were wounded. It is known positively that six men and two women were killed. A great many wounded persons were carried away by friends. Whether their injuries are fatal is not known. Twenty rioters who received bullets wounds are lying in one infirmary. A large number of Orangemen who took part in the riots were arrested to-day. An inquest on the bodies of three killed will be opened this afternoon.

The Coming Electoral Struggle in Great Britain—Prospects of a Hard and Bitter Struggle.

LONDON, June 10.—The approaching general elections will probably involve a greater amount of expense than any that have occurred since bribery was abolished. Most of the increased expenditure will fall upon the Tories. Their offer to pay the election expenses of Liberals who voted against the Home Rule Bill will cause a large drain upon the Treasurery, and there are many constituencies which they propose to contest which were not contested last year. The Ulster Tories propose to contest every seat in Ulster in the effort to show that Ulster is not divided. The ordinary expenses of the campaign will also be largely increased.

The election committees of both parties are preparing to send out more speakers and more literary matter than ever. In the matter of campaign literature, the Tories are taking lessons from enemies and printing thousands of copies of the speeches of their most prominent men for widespread distribution among the electors of both parties. The trouble with them is that they are oratorically far weaker than their opponents. Some of the addresses, indeed, are actually damaging, such as the famous speech of Lord Salisbury, which practically prescribed coercion and emigration as the cure for Ireland's wrongs, and which the Tory Committee has made the mistake of printing for free distribution. The speeches of Messrs. Gladstone and Parnell are alone worth all the oratory issued from the Tory camp. The advantages in point of money is said to rest with the Tories, but there are many rich men among the Liberals, and Liberal electors are more inclined than their opponents to pay the cost of local elections.

Mr. Gladstone insists that every constituency shall be provided with a Home Rule candidate, and relies upon the Radical workingmen and Radical clubs and societies to supply zealous volunteers as workers during campaign at the polls.

Female Orange lodges are being formed in England, in view of the coming elections. It is the intention of the promoters of the organizations that their members shall lend their personal influence at the polls to secure votes for Tory candidates.

An Unpleasant Affair.

The following is the text of the address, as mentioned in a personal paragraph in yesterday's issue, presented to Mr. L. Seward, on the occasion of his resigning the position of organist of the First Presbyterian Church Brockville:

To Louis Seward, Esq.:

DEAR SIR,—Learning that you have decided not to accept the position as organist of the first Presbyterian Church of Brockville, but have accepted a similar position in Peterborough, the undersigned members and adherents of the First Presbyterian Church desire to express to you the great regret they feel at losing your services. They also wish to convey to you their esteem for you as a man, a talented musician, and worthy member of the community, on your departure from Brockville. Our loss will be Peterborough's gain. Wherever your lot may be cast, we may always be glad to hear of your success in life, and hope that God will bless you, your wife and family, and surround you with every earthly comfort to the end of your sojourn in this world, and a happy home in Heaven at last, where all earthly troubles will be at an end. At the same time we desire you to accept the accompanying purse as a memento of the sincerity of the feelings we have expressed in this address.

We have the honor to remain,
Yours, in all sincerity,

The Beginning of Consumption.

Blotches, pimples, eruptions, "fever-sores," ulcers, and enlarged glands, are but so many outward manifestations of poisonous and scrofulous humors in the blood, which sooner or later are apt to attack the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing ulceration and consumption of the worst forms. Be wise in time and use Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest blood-purifier, pectoral and strength-giver yet known to medical science. It cures all these dangerous maladies having their origin in the blood, if taken in time.

A KENTUCKY CHARACTER.

Anecdotes of an Old Brigadier Congressman.

One of the characters in the house is Gen. Wolford, of Kentucky. When he is at home he wears an old flannel shirt and pants strapped about his waist. When he came here he found he had to change his costume and put on a "biled" shirt and black clothes. At first he was averse to this, but some friends bought him a black suit. He has worn it ever since, and this is his second term. But he would not dare go home dressed as he is now, for his constituents would think he had become effeminate. Several good stories are told of his first campaign, when he took the stump against Gen. Fry. When he was first nominated by the democrats for congress Gen. Fry asked him to unite with him and make several speeches together. Wolford accepted the invitation. The first meeting was enough for Gen. Fry. Gen. Wolford commanded the 1st Kentucky cavalry in the union army, and the regiment was known as the "critterbacks." He had several of his men on the platform with him when he made his speech. He opened most brilliantly, but suddenly startled Gen. Fry by asking the assemblage if they knew what the union had done with Gen. Lee after he surrendered at Appomattox. "Why, gentlemen—will you believe it?—when he was out walking under an apple-tree near the very house where he surrendered, they grabbed him. Yes, the men who had granted him a parole seized him, and, sir, they not only did that, but they hung Gen. Lee to the very apple-tree under which he was walking! Hung him dead!" Gen. Fry at first was so surprised he could not speak, but, jumping to his feet he said, "Gen. Wolford, you know that is not so. Gen. Lee was never hung."

"But, sir," exclaimed Gen. Wolford, "I was there, and I know it is so. Wasn't it John?" and he turned to one of his "critterbacks." The man nodded his head, as did the others who sat near him. Gen. Fry sank back in his chair overcome.

"This is not all," said Gen. Wolford, turning to the crowd in front of him. "The union men locked Jeff Davis up in Fortress Monroe, and one beautiful moonlight night when the tide was low, they took him out and tied him to a stake on the beach. The sea came in gradually, the waves swept over him, and he was drowned, and they stood and heard his cries."

This was too much for Gen. Fry. Again he protested, and said that Jeff Davis was alive still, but the "critterbacks" indorsed Gen. Wolford, and seeing that his opponent intended to keep the thing up, Gen. Fry withdrew, and Gen. Wolford was elected by a rousing majority.

Another story is told of Gen. Wolford when he was trying a case in his native town in Adair county, Kentucky. His client had been charged with poisoning someone. The chemist for the state had testified to finding arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, and then Gen. Wolford took the witness in hand.

"Did you find any flies' wings in the stomach?" asked the General.

"No, sir; for I did not look for any. I found arsenic," answered the chemist.

"Could you swear that there were no flies' wings in the stomach?" he asked.

"No, sir; because I did not look for them."

"How did you know they were not there?"

"I don't say they were not."

"That's funny. You say you found arsenic, but no fly wings. Yet you are not certain as to their not being there," said Gen. Wolford. The witness in vain tried to explain, the lawyer had twisted the witness up, and so he addressed the jury. "Gentlemen, I demand the acquittal of my client. The chemist says he found arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, but no fly wings. Yet everybody knows that when anyone swallows one or two flies they turn to arsenic in the stomach, yet no fly wings were found, therefore I doubt if there was any arsenic there either." The man was acquitted.—Minneapolis Tribune.

How a Dude Sprouts.

"But to hurry on. Sow parties and reap balls; sow balls and reap germans; sow germans and reap spider-legged dudes. [Loud laughter and applause.] Sow spider-legged dudes and reap a half thimbleful of calves' foot jelly. [Renewed laughter and applause.] A little dude! Looks as though he had been melted and poured into his pants. [Loud laughter.] A dude! In all the economy of God has the world any place for a dude? [Laughter and applause.] All a dude is fit for is to bring humiliation to some mothers in this town. [Applause.] The greatest monstrosities of the world to-day are the natural product of society—the dude and the dudene. [Loud Laughter.] But you never catch a dude and dudene marrying each other. They'd spoil two homes. [Laughter.]"—Sam Jones.

Grass For the Lawn.

We will suppose that the spring plantings of trees have been made with open spaces reserved for the favorite grasses. Now the ground can be prepared for grass seed, for it need not be trampled over any more. If certain parts have become packed and hard, they should be dug or ploughed deeply again, then harrowed and raked perfectly smooth, and all stones, big or little, taken from the surface. The seed may now be sown, and it should be of thick, fine growing varieties, such as are employed in Central Park and other pleasure grounds. Mr. Samuel Parsons, Jun., Superintendent of Central Park, writes me: "The best grass seeds for ordinary lawns are a mixture of red-top and Kentucky blue-grass, in equal parts, with perhaps a small amount of white clover. On very sandy ground I prefer the Kentucky blue-grass, as it is very hardy and vigorous under adverse circumstances." Having sown and raked in the seed very lightly, a great advantage will be gained in passing a lawn roller over the ground. I have succeeded well in getting a good "catch" of grass by sowing the seed with oats, which were cut and cured as hay as soon as the grain was what is termed "in the milk." The strong and quickly growing oats make the ground green in a few days and shelter the slower-maturing grass roots. Mr. Parsons says, "I prefer to sow the grass seed alone." As soon as the grass begins to grow with some vigor, cut it often, for this tends to thicken it and produce the velvety effect that is so beautiful. From the very first the lawn will need weeding. The ground contains seeds of strong-growing plants, such as dock, plantain, etc., which should be taken out as fast as they appear. To some the dandelion is a weed, but not to me, unless it takes more than its share of space, for I always miss these little earth stars when they are absent. They intensify the sunshine shimmering on the lawn, making one smile involuntarily when seeing them. Moreover, they awaken pleasant memories, for a childhood in which dandelions had no part is a defective experience.

In late autumn the fallen leaves should be raked carefully away, as they tend to smother the grass if permitted to lie until spring. Now comes the chief opportunity of the year, in the form of a liberal top-dressing of manure from the stable. If this is spread evenly and not too thickly in November, and the coarser remains of it raked off early in April, the results will be astonishing. A deep emerald hue will be imparted to the grass, and the frequent cuttings required will soon produce a turf that yields to the foot like a Persian rug. If the stable manure can be composted and left till thoroughly decayed, fine, and friable, all the better. If stable manure can not be obtained, Mr. Parsons recommends Mapes's fertilizer for lawns.—E. P. Roe, in Harper's Magazine for April.

The Kanismore Pic-nic.

The annual pic-nic in connection with the Kanismore E. C. Church, which is always one of the chief attractions of the pic-nic season, will be held at Bridgenorth on Thursday of next week, June 17th, and promises to be the grandest success. Active preparations are being made this year for a pic-nic that will excell others given under the same auspices. Besides the usual attractions of a pic-nic at Bridgenorth, there will be games and sports of all kinds, baseball and lacrosse matches, and a grand regatta. A special feature of the event will be a free dinner, served in the hospitable manner in which the ladies of Kanismore are particularly proficient. The pic-nic cannot fail to be a grand success.

Presentation.

A happy party composed of the members of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Bible class, conducted by Mr. Isaac Richardson, assembled in the Charlotte street church school room yesterday evening and proceeded in a body to the residence of Mr. E. Pratt, who received the class, of which he and his wife are members, with a hearty welcome. When the company had become seated the object of the visit was made known. Mr. Henry Cross, on behalf of this class read and presented the subjoined congratulatory address, while Miss Emily Miller and Mr. A. Tebb, presented Mr. and Mrs. Pratt with a handsome parlor hanging lamp and a beautiful silver pitcher. The address read as follows:—

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pratt:

We, the undersigned members of the Charlotte street Methodist Sunday School Bible class, conducted by Mr. Isaac Richardson, beg to convey our hearty congratulations to you on the event of your marriage, and to show the high esteem you are held in by us. While appreciating the great interest you took in the promotion and welfare of our class, we respectfully ask you to accept the accompanying presents as a slight token of our regard and that our Heavenly Father will watch over and guide you both with his all seeing eye. And that you may be long spared to further the interest, not only of the class of which you have been so long member, but in every good work in which you may be engaged, are the prayers of yours most faithfully.

Mr. Pratt replied for himself and wife, thanking their friends for their kind wishes and the substantial tokens of their esteem. After spending a very pleasant evening during which the host and hostess did their utmost to promote the happiness of their visitors, the party separated after singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

Alive Again.

There has been an awakening among the dry bones of the veteran members of the Lacrosse Club, and nine of last year's team have signified their intention of going into practice immediately, to play in the coming match with the Orillias. This evening a grand rally will be held at Riverside Park. A selection will be made from the following players, who have entered into a solemn agreement to fight for the championship: M. Halpin, W. J. Scott, J. Canning, W. Walsh, F. Traynor, M. Tierney, W. McAvella, J. Henderson, W. Redtrim, A. Ross, C. Rutherford, R. H. Fartpe, R. Farrell, Ed. Brennan, J. J. Sheehy. There are others who may add their assistance when the game is rightly started.

Personal.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox received a cablegram yesterday stating that his family had arrived safely in London, and that they would visit Paris on Tuesday.

Rev. George Wilson, of the Port Hope Guide, accompanied by his wife and son Mr. G. H. Wilson, of Bowmanville, and Mr. Ald. Gilpin, left on Tuesday last on a trip to the Old Country. It's a happy and, it is to be hoped, honest editor that can afford to take trans-Atlantic trips. THE EXAMINER wishes Mr. Wilson and party a pleasant journey and would, if it did not fear to startle its readers with an original phrase, also wish them bon voyage.

TALMAGE ON MONOPOLY

FOURTH OF THE LABOR SERMONS IN THE TABERNACLE.

The All-Devouring, Avaricious Fiend Monopoly Denounced by the Eloquent Divine — Beware of Nihilism, Do to Not to be the Groom.

BROOKLYN, June 6.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., preached to-day in the Brooklyn Tabernacle, the fourth of his series of sermons on The Labor Question. His subject was: "Monopoly and Communism Struggling for the Possession of this Country." Before beginning his sermon he announced that the congregation would make a trip to the Thousand Isles on the 26th inst.

The text was Isaiah, lxii, 4: "The Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall be married." Following is the sermon in full:

As the greater includes the less, so does the circle of future joy around our entire world include the epicycle of our own republic. Bold, exhilarant, unique, divine imagery of the text! So many are depressed by the labor agitation and think everything in this country is going to pieces, I preach this morning a sermon of good cheer and anticipate the time when the Prince of Peace and the Heir of Universal Dominion shall take possession of this nation and "Thy land shall be married."

In discussing the final destiny of this nation it makes all the difference in the world whether we are on the way to a funeral or a wedding. The Bible leaves no doub on this subject. In pulpits, and on platforms, and in places of public concourse I hear so many of the muffled drums of evil prophecy sounded, as though we were on the way to national interment, and beside Thebes, and Babylon, and Tyre, in the cemetery of dead nations our republic was to be entombed. that I wish you to understand it is not to be obsequies but nuptials; not mausoleum but carpeted altar; not cypress but orange blossoms; not requiem, but wedding march, for "Thy land shall be married."

I propose to name some of the suitors who are claiming the hand of this republic. This land is so fair, so beautiful, so affluent, that it has many suitors, and it will depend much upon your advice whether this or that shall be accepted or rejected.

In the first place, I remark: There is a greedy, all-grasping monster who comes in as suitor seeking the hand of this republic, and that monster is known by the name of Monopoly. His scepter is made out of the iron of the rail track and the wire of telegraphy. He does everything for his own advantage and for the robbery of the people. Things have gone on from bad to worse, until in the three legislatures of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, for the most part, Monopoly decides everything. If Monopoly favor a law it passes. If Monopoly oppose a law it is rejected.

Monopoly stands in this railroad depot, putting into his pockets in one year $300,000,000 in excess of all reasonable charges for service. Monopoly holds in his one hand the steam power of locomotives, and in the other the electricity of swift communication. Monopoly decides nominations and elections—city elections, state elections, national elections. With bribes he secures the votes of legislators, giving them free passes, giving appointments to needy relatives to lucrative positions; employing them as attorneys if they are lawyers; carrying their goods 75 per cent. less if they are merchants, and if he finds a case very stubborn, as well as very important, puts down before him the hard cash of bribery.

But Monopoly is not so easily dazzled now as when during the term of Mr. Buchanan, the legislative committee in one of our states empowered and enjoined the manager in which a certain railway company procured a donation of public land. It was found out that thirteen of the members of that state received $175,000 among them, sixty members of the lower house of that state received $5,000 and $10,000 each, the governor of the state received $50,000, his clerk received $5,000, the lieutenant governor received $10,000, and the clerks of the legislature received $5,000 each, while $50 000 [illegible] avoid the lobby agents.

That thing on a larger or smaller scale is all the time going on in some of the states of the Union, but it is not so blundering as it used to be, and therefore not so easily exposed or arrested.

I tell you that the overshadowing curse of the United States to-day is Monopoly. He puts his hand upon every bushel of wheat, upon every pack of salt, upon every ton of coal; and every man, woman and child in the United States [illegible] the measure of exposition.

I rejoice that in twenty-four states of the Union already anti-monopoly leagues have been established. God speed them in the work of liberation! I wish that this question might be the question of our presidential elections, and that we compel the political parties to segregate it on their platforms.

I have nothing to say against capitalists. A man has a right to all the money he can make honestly. There is not a laborer in the land that would not be worth $1,000,000 if he could. I have nothing to say against corporations as such—without them no great enterprise could be possible; but what I do say is that the same principles are to be applied to capitalists and corporations that are applied to the poorest man and the plainest laborer. What is wrong for me is wrong for great corporations. If I take from you your property without adequate compensation I am a thief, and if a railway damage the property of the people without any adequate compensation that is a plausible thief. What is wrong on a small scale is wrong on a large scale. Monopoly in England has created hundreds and thousands of her best people into semi-starvation, and in Ireland has driven multitudinous tenants almost to madness.

Five hundred acres in this country make an immense farm. When you read that in Dakota territory Mr. Cass has a farm of 15,000 acres, and Mr. Grandon 25,000 acres, and Mr. Dalrymple 40 000 acres, your eyes dilate, even though these farms are in great regions thinly inhabited. But what do you think of this, which I take from the Doomsday book, showing what monopoly is on the other side of the sea? I give it as a warning of what is wrought do on this side of the sea if in some lawful way the tendency is not validated. In Scotland, J. G. M. Biddle owns 50,000 acres; Earl of Wemyss, 82,000 acres; Sir J. Riddell, 54,000 acres; Sir C. W. A. R. 55,000 acres; R. H. Sprot, 50,700 acres; Mr. S. Baird, 65,000 acres; Man of Dunbarre, 60,000 acres; Duke of Roxburgh, 60,000 acres; Earl of Moray, 61,700 acres; Countess of Sutherland, 68,000 acres; Lord Macdonald, 80,000 acres; Earl of Aberdeen, 63,000 acres; Mackenzie, of Dundonnell, 54,000 acres; Mr. J. J. H. Johnstone, 54,000 acres; Earl of Airlie, 65,000 acres; Mr. J. Colquhoun, 67,000 acres; C. Morrison, 67,000 acres; Duke of Montrose, 85,000 acres; Meyrick Bankes, 70 000 acres; Grant, of Grantchester, 74,000 acres; Marquis of Ailsa, 65,000 acres; Baroness Willoughby d'Eresby, 76 000 acres; Mr. J. Malcolm, 50,000 acres; Marquis of Huntly, 80,000 acres; Balfour of Whittinghame, 51,000 acres; Sir J. C. Orde, 51,000 acres; Marquis of Bute, 98,000 acres; the Chisholm, 94,000 acres; Mr. E. Hilton, 92,000 acres; Sir G. M. Grant, 168,000 acres; Duke of Portland, 183,000 acres; Cameron of Lochiel, 108,000 acres; Sir C. W. Ross, 130,000 acres; Earl of Fife, 113,000 acres; the Macintoshs, 124,000 acres; Lord Macdonald, 120,000 acres; Earl of Dalhousie, 120,000 acres; Macleod of Macleod, 164,000 acres; Sir K. Mackenzie, of Gairloch, 100,000 acres; Duke of Argyle, 175,000 acres; Duke of Hamilton, 120,000 acres; Duke of Athole, 194,000 acres; Duke of Richmond, 286,000 acres; Earl of Stair, 270,000 acres; Mr. Evan Baillie, 200,000 acres; Earl of Seafield, 295,000 acres; Duke of Buccleugh, 460,183 acres; Earl of Breadalbane, 497,000 acres; Mr. A. Matheson, 220,423 acres, and Sir J. Matheson, 420,070 acres; Duchess of Sutherland, 1,29 270 acres, and Duke of Sutherland, 1,176,345 acres.

Such monopolies imply an infinite acreage of wretchedness. There is no poverty in the United States like that in England, Ireland and Scotland, for the simple reason that in those lands Monopoly has longer and larger sway. Last summer in Edinburgh, Scotland, after preaching in Synod hall, I stood on a chair in front of the hall and preached to an audience of 20,000 people, standing in one of the most prosperous parts of the city, and reaching out toward the castle—as fine an array of strength and health and beauty as one ever sees. Three hours after I preached in the Grass market and to the wretched inhabitants of the Cowgate and Canongate, the audience exhibiting the squalor and sleeplessness and despair that remains in one's mind like one of the visions of Dante's Inferno.

Great monopolies in any land imply great privation. The time will come when our government will have to limit the amount of accumulation of property. Unconstitutional, do you say? Then constitutions will have to be changed until they allow such limitation. Otherwise the work of absorption will go on, and the large fishes will eat up the small fishes, and the shad will swallow the minnows, and the porpoise swallow the shad, and the whale swallow the porpoise, and a thousand greedy men will own all the world, and 200 of these will eat up the other 800, and 100 eat up the other 400, and finally there will be only 50 left, and then 40, and then 30, and then 20, and then 10, and then 2, and then 1.

But would a law of limitation of wealth be unrighteous? If I dig as near my neighbors foundations, in order to build my house, that I endanger his the law grabs me. If I have a tannery or a chemical factory, the malodors of which injure residents in the neighborhood, the law says, "Stop that." If I drain off a river from its bed and divert it to turn my mill wheel, leaving the bed of the river a breeding place for malaria, the law says, "Quit that outrage." And has not a good government a right to say that a few men shall not gorge themselves on the comfort and health and life of generations! Your rights end where my rights begin.

Monopoly—bronze-faced and iron-fingered, vulture-hearted monopoly—offers his hand to this republic. He stretches it out over the lakes, and up the Pennsylvania, and the Erie, and the New York Central railroads, and over the telegraph poles of the continent, and says: "Here is my heart and hand; go mine forever." Let the millions of the people, north, south, east and west, forbid the banns of that marriage—forbid them at the ballot box, forbid them on the platform, forbid them by great organizations, forbid them by the overwhelming sentiments of an outraged nation, forbid them by the protest of the Church of God, forbid them by prayer to high heaven. That Herod shall not have this Abigail. It shall not be to all-devouring Monopoly that this land is to be married.

Another suitor claiming the hand of this republic is Nihilism. He owns nothing but lands for universal blood-letting, and a nitro-glycerine bomb for universal explosion. His throne is no God, no government, no heaven and no hell, except what he can make on earth. He obeys the edict of Russia, heaps Emperor William of Germany practically imprisoned, killed Abraham Lincoln, would put to death every king and president on earth, and, if he had the power, would climb up until he could drive the God of heaven from His throne and take it himself—the universal butcher. In France it is called Communism; in the United States it is called Socialism; in Russia it is called Nihilism. That last is the most graphic and descriptive term. It means complete and eternal smash-up. It would make the holding of property a crime, and it would drive a dagger through your heart and apply a torch to your dwelling, and turn over this whole land into the possession of theft and lust and rapine and murder.

Where does this monster live? In St. Louis, in Chicago, in Brooklyn, in New York and in all the villages and cities of this land. The devil of destruction! is an old devil, and he is to be seen at every great fire where there is anything to steal, and at every shipwreck where there is anything to steal, and at every railroad accident where there are overcoats and watches to be purloined. On a small scale Lester Ball my college chum with me in our Mooney victory in New York university; we had an exquisite and darkly hair of Bishop [illegible] and one morning we found a hole bored into the leg of the bar he and a cigar inserted. There has not for the last century been a fine picture in your art gallery or a graceful statue in your parks, or a fine fresco on your wall, or a richly bound volume in your library, but would have been despoiled if the hand of ruffianism could have got at it without peril of incarceration. Sometimes the evil spirit shows itself by throwing vitriol into a beautiful face; sometimes by pitifully emptying a dram with a colorophobe; sometimes by crushing the cart wheel against a carriage.

The philosophy of the whole business is, that there is a large number of people who either, through their laziness or their crimes, gain nothing and are mad at those who, through industry and wit of their own, or their ancestors, are in possession of large resources. The honest laboring classes never had anything to do with such murderous enterprises. It is the vile loose classes, who would not work if they had plenty of work offered them at large wages. If any of these suppose that by the demolition of law and order they would be advantaged, and the parting of the ship of state would allow them, as wreckers, to carry off the cargo, it offers its hand to this fair republic. It proposes to tear to pieces the ballot box, the indicative ball, the congressional assembly. It would take this land and divide it up, or, rather, divide it down. It would give as much to the idler as to the worker, to the bad as to the good. Nihilism! this panther having prowled across other lands has not its paws on our soil, and it is only waiting for the time in which to spring upon its prey. It was Nihilism that massacred the Greek policemen of Chicago and St. Louis a few days ago, and that burned the railroad property at Pittsburg during the great riots: it was Nihilism that slew black people in our northern cities during the war; it was Nihilism that again and again in San Francisco and in New York went on to death the Chinese; it is Nihilism that glares out of the windows of the drunkeries upon sober people as they go by. Ah! its power has never yet been tested. It would, if it had the power, leave every church, chapel, cathedral, schoolhouse, college and home in ashes.

Let me say, it is the worst enemy of the laboring classes in any country. The honest cry for reform lifted by the oppressed laboring man is drowned out by the vociferations for Anarchy. The criminals and the vagabonds who range through our cities talking about their rights, when their first right is the penitentiary—if they could be hushed up, and the down-trodden laboring men of this country could be heard, there would be more bread for hungry children. In this land riot and bloodshed never gained any wages for the people, or gathered up any prosperity. In this land the best weapon is not the club, not the shillalah, not firearms, but the ballot. Let not our oppressed laboring men be beguiled to coming under the bloody banner of Nihilism. It will make your taxes heavier, your wages smaller, your table scantier, your children hungrier, your suffering greater.

Yet this Nihilism, with foot red of slaughter, comes forth and offers its hand for the republic. Shall the banns be proclaimed? If so, where shall the marriage altar be? and who will be the officiating priest? And what will be the music? That altar will have to be white with bleached skulls, the officiating priest must be a dripping assassin, the music must be the smothered groan of multitudinous victims, the garlands must be twined of nightshade, the fruit must be apples of Sodom, the wine must be the blood of St. Bartholomew's massacre. No, it is not to Nihilism, the sanguinital monster, that this land is to be married.

Another suitor for the hand of this nation is Infidelity. Mark you that all Anarchists are infidels. Not one of them believes in the Bible and very rarely any of them believe in a God. Their most conspicuous leader was the other day pulled by the leg from under a cot in a house of infamy, cursing and blaspheming. The police of Chicago, exploring the dens of the Anarchists, found dynamite, and vitriol, and Tom Paine's "Age of Reason," and obscene pictures, and complimentary biographies of thugs and assassins; but not one Testament, not one of Wesley's hymn books, not one Roman Catholic breviary. There are two wings to Infidelity. The one calls itself Liberalism, and appears in highly literary magazines, and in for the educated and refined; the other wing is in the form of Anarchy, and is for the vulgar. But both wings belong to the same old filthy vulture, Infidelity! Elegant Infidelity proposes to conquer this land to itself by the pen; Anarchy proposes to conquer it by the bludgeon and torch.

When the midnight ruffians despoiled the grave of A. T. Stewart, in St. Mark's churchyard, everybody was shocked; but Infidelity proposes something worse than that—the rousing of all the graves of christendom of the hope of a resurrection. It proposes to chisel out from the tombstones of your Christian dead the words, "Asleep in Jesus," and to substitute the words, 'Obliteration—annihilation." Infidelity proposes to take the letter from the world's Father, inviting the nations to virtue and happiness, and tear it up into fragments so small that you cannot read a word of it. It proposes to take the consolation from the broken hearted, and the soothing pillow from the dying. Infidelity proposes to swear in the president of the United States and the supreme court and the governors of states and the witnesses in the court room, with their right hand on Paine's "Age of Reason," or Voltaire's "Philosophy of History." It proposes to take away from this country the book that makes the difference between the United States and the United Kingdom of Dahomey, between American civilization and Bornesian cannibalism. If infidelity could destroy the scriptures it would in 200 years turn the civilized nations back to semi-barbarism, and then from semi-barbarism into midnight savagery, until the morals of a menagerie of tigers, rattlesnakes and chimpanzees would be better than the morals of the shipwrecked human race.

The only impulse in the right direction that that this world has ever had has come from the Bible. It was the mother of Roman law and of healthful jurisprudence. That book has been the mother of all reforms and all charities—mother of English Magna Charta and American Declaration of Independence. Benjamin Franklin, holding that holy book in his hand, stood before an infidel club at Paris and read to them out of the prophecies of Habakkuk, and the infidels, not knowing what book it was, declared it was the best poetry they had ever heard. That book brought George Washington down on his knees in the snow at Valley Forge, and led the dying prince consort to ask some one to sing "Rock of Ages."

I tell you that the worst attempted crime of the century is the attempt to destroy this book; yet Infidelity, loathsome, stanchful, leprous, pestiferous, rotten monster, stretches out its hand, tenorous with the second death.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Brockville Recorder does a cash business on the cash principle. It did not give the EXAMINER credit for a paragraph clipped from its columns and the result was that the Globe copied the paragraph and credited it to the Recorder.

The Dominion Government spends some million and a half dollars per year in food for the Northwest Indians, but such is the waste and theft of it by rascally contractors and agents that the Indians are, to a large extent, robbed of the food the people of Canada pay for. In the case of the Indian Head Reserve, ten per cent. of the Indians, composing it, died of starvation, through the rascality of agents in the employ of the Dominion Government.

There have been contributed in Canada by way of Dominion and Provincial subsidies, one hundred and eighty-seven million dollars of the people's money to build railways. The Mail congratulates the workingman on the advantages, the railway facilities this sum represents, give to the workingman, in enabling him to move from place to place in search of a job. This is a decided advantage, for, under the N. P., a workingman has to skirmish around pretty lively, not only to get a job, but to provide the taxes he has to pay for building the railways. The Mail man has a great head.

The chief Toronto Tory organ calls the defeat of the Home Rule Bill a "triumph of the grandest type"—yes, it is a triumph, temporary though it be, of oppression and prejudice over justice and political freedom. The Mail may rejoice that the "calamity of Home Rule has been averted" but it must remember that the triumph of evil over good cannot be enduring; that the Irish race is loyal to clamber and vilify will strive for their rights till they emerge into the full light of the freedom which enlightened Liberalism, as opposed to tyranical Toryism, is bound, as a matter of right, to give them.

The Tories are making a dead set to capture the Province of Quebec at the next general elections, and mean to succeed, if wholesale bribery will bring success. The local Tory government working in accord with the party at Ottawa, proposes to "convert land grants to railways, some of which have and some have not, fulfilled the conditions on which the subsidies were granted, amounting to $5,967,500, into cash bonuses, at the rate of 70 cents per acre, thus adding millions to the debt of a province which has, already, under Tory rule, piled up a debt of eighteen millions. But, no doubt, these subsidies may help elect Tory candidates, and after all, what is the ruin of the country or of one province, if the Tory party is thereby kept in power?

The Government and Workingmen.

(Toronto News.)

The party press are indulging in forecasts of the result of the coming Dominion elections, each party, of course, predicting victory for his own side. In enumerating the various factors which make for a change in the present complexion of the House, there is one which both Grits and Tories have so far left out of the account. Hon. Frank Smith continues to hold a seat in the Dominion Cabinet. He recently applied the epithet, "a lot of thieves," to the organization of the Knights of Labor, a powerful body, the members of which cast many thousand votes, and influence many thousands more. While Smith remains in the Government, the latter will justly be held responsible for his parliamentary utterances. The Government may be assured that they will take the first opportunity to resent the aspersion.

Our party contemporaries will be able to arrive at a more correct basis for estimating political probabilities by taking this item into account. From present aspects, Sir John intends to retain Hon. Frank Smith, in the Ministry, and the party must be prepared to suffer the consequences.

The Beginning of Consumption.

Blotches, pimples, eruptions, "fever-sores," ulcers and enlarged glands, are but so many outward manifestations of poisonous and scrofulous humors in the blood, which sooner or later are apt to attack the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing ulceration and consumption of those organs. Be wise in time and use Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest blood-purifier, restorative and strength-giver yet known to medical science. It cures all those dangerous maladies having their origin in the blood, if taken in time.

Canned Meats.

The Metropolitan Grocery Company a Thriving Industry.

The consumption of canned and spiced meats has become enormous and general throughout Canada during the past few years. The local consumption of meats thus prepared is surprisingly large, especially during the summer months, serving as it does a great deal of cooking on the part of housekeepers. The impression that the productions of foreign countries are not always to be relied upon is also prevalent. The Metropolitan Grocery Company, having premises suitable for the preparing of such goods, (at one time used as a packing house) with a view of supplying the local trade, engaged Mr. B. Lapsenick, an expert in the art of preparing fancy meats ready for table use, and during the past month have been carrying on a limited canning business with gratifying success.

THE GARDENS.

A reporter of the EXAMINER, in company with Mr. T. W. Robinson, took a walk through the cool and clean cannery yesterday afternoon.

The second flat of the large stone warehouse, immediately in the rear of the store on Hunter street, is used as the canning room. The water service is extended throughout the building supplying water wherever required. A ten horse power engine has been put in to run the necessary machinery, consisting of a large chopping machine, sausage machines, etc. Two boilers heating, of ample steam for the engine, is also utilized in cooking the meats which is done in several large boilers. An ingenious hoist facilitates the handling of large quantities of meats. It carries a wheeled box truck of half a ton capacity from the cellar to the canned fish and spice room. Slightly raised iron rails running the entire length of each flat aid the running of the truck to whatever designed. The cellar is used as a pickling and a cooling room and it would be hard to find a more appetite place. The preparations of the meats are allowed to be very superior. The specialties are canned corned beef, put up in 1 lb. tins, spiced roast beef, put up in 1 lb. open cans and minkies, resembling in size and appearance potted cheese, and very toothsome; also bologna sausage, pork sausage, corned beef, pickled tongues, etc.

Should the demand for these articles increase, as it is probable it will, the Metropolitan Grocery and Canning Company will go into this branch of business more extensively.

Police Court.

John Taylor, a dusky resident of the Indian village at Chemong lake was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by James Whetung, son of the chief of the tribe, with assault.

John pleaded not guilty and Whetung on oath explained the circumstances of the assault. He stated that while he and Taylor were jumping, they disagreed over the marking. Taylor told him he was angry which he denied, and on Taylor repeating his assertion, he called him a liar. Taylor promptly struck him over the eye, knocking him down. Whetung did not retaliate, but informed Taylor that he would have him fined.

William Taylor, brother of the defendant, testified that Whetung called John a liar three times.

John Irons and Jacob McHugh gave evidence corroborating that of Whetung.

John Taylor, the defendant, in rebuttal stated that he had apologized after striking Whetung, telling him he was sorry for what he had done. This Whetung admitted.

James Whetung, sr., the venerable chief of the tribe, was called.

The magistrate asked the chief how it was he had not settled the matter, and requested him to use his influence in restoring friendship among the boys.

The chief launched out into a lengthy oration in Indian, evidently giving John Taylor to understand that he must not strike his son again, and telling James that he must not call John unparliamentary names.

The magistrate asked John and James to shake hands and renew friendship, which they did, when he gave them both a sound lecturing.

He then dismissed the charge, on payment of costs by defendant.

The tribe left the court room, not in Indian file, evidently satisfied with the decision of the magistrate, and will probably bury the hatchet and smoke the peace pipe when they get home to-night.

...e take the hand of this republic. It stretches it out through seductive magazines and through caricatures of religion. It asks for all that part of the continent already fully settled, and the two-thirds not yet occupied. It says: "Give me all east of the Mississippi with the keys of the church and the Christian printing presses; then give me Wyoming, give me Alaska, give me Montana ... I will take Ontario ... those places I can occupy by right of possession, long before the Gospel can be fully entrenched."

And this suitor presses his case appallingly. Shall the banns of that marriage be proclaimed? "No!" say the home missionaries of the west—a martyr band of the world is not worthy, toiling amid fatigues that ... starvation. "Shall not if perhaps ... suffered we forbid the banns of that marriage!" "No!" say all patriotic voices: "our institutions were bought at too dear a price, and were defended at too great a sacrifice, to be so cheaply surrendered." "No!" says the God of Bunker Hill and Independence hall and Gettysburg: "I did not start this nation for such a farce." "No," cry ten thousand voices; "to Infidelity this land shall not be married!"

But there is another suitor that presents his hand for the hand of this republic. He is mentioned in the verse following my text, where it says: "As the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee." It is not my figure, it is the figure of the Bible. Christ is so desirous to have this world love Him that He stops at no humiliation of simile. He compares His grace to spittle on the eyes of the blind man. He compares Himself to a hen gathering the chickens, and in my text He compares Himself to a suitor begging a hand in marriage. Does this Christ, the king, deserve this land? Behold Pilate's hall and the insulting expectoration on the face of Christ. Behold the Calvarean massacre and the awful hemorrhage of five wounds. Jacob served fourteen years for Rachel, but Christ my Lord, the king, suffered in torture thirty-three years to win the love of this world. As often princesses at their very birth are pledged in treaty of marriage to princes or kings of earth, so this nation at its birth was pledged to Christ for divine marriage. Before Columbus and his 120 men embarked on the Santa Maria, the Pinta and the Nina for their wonderful voyage, what was the last thing they did? They kneeled down and took the holy sacrament of the Lord Jesus Christ. After they caught the first glimpse of this country and the gun of one ship had announced it to the other vessels that land had been discovered, what was the song that went up from all the three decks? "Gloria in Excelsis." After Columbus and his 120 men had stepped from the ships' decks to the solid ground, what did they do? They all knelt and consecrated the New World to God. What did the Huguenots do after they landed in the Carolinas? What did the Holland refugees do after they landed in New England? With bended knee and uplifted face and heaven besieging prayer they took possession of this country for God. How was the first American congress opened? By prayer in the name of Jesus Christ. From its birth this nation was pledged for holy marriage with Christ.

But where shall the marriage altar be? Let it be the Rocky mountains, when through artificial and mighty irrigation the...shall be covered, as they will be, with vineyards and orchards and grain fields. Then let the Bostons and the New Yorks at the Charlestons of the Pacific coast come to the marriage altar on the one side, and then let the Bostons and the New Yorks and the Charlestons of the Atlantic coast come to the marriage altar on the other side, and there [illegible] thunders of the Andes on the one side, or [illegible] on the other side, shall open full [illegible] thunders could not drown the voice of Him who should take the hand of the [illegible] nations, saying: "As a bridegroom rejoiceth over a bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee." And the marriage banquet the [illegible] shall be of Nevada silver, and the [illegible] of California gold, and the fruits of northern orchards, and the spices of southern groves, and the tapestry of American manufacture, and the congratulations from all the free nations of earth and from all the triumphant armies of heaven. "And so thy land shall be married."

Those who Have Tried it Say

The best proof of the great power of Polson's NERVILINE over every kind of pain is obtained by the use of a 10 cent bottle. Nerviline requires no puffing; every bottle tells its own story. It cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain-subduing remedies known to medical science. Nerviline is equally useful in external or in internal pains. Try the great remedy. Ten cent bottle at any drug store. Large bottles only 25 cents. d134-6t-w23.

A Sensation.

An unparalleled sensation is being created all over Ontario by the wonderful and unequalled manner in which Neuralgia, Toothache, Rheumatism, Backache, Headache, is removed by but one application of Fluid Lightning. He refused this arrangement. Subsequently he has consented to accept a similar one. After a full consideration of the subject, the church has approved of the action of the Advisory Committee and placed the matter entirely in their hands for final settlement. In all that has been said on this subject, by members of the church in private, on the committee, or at the business meeting of the church, I have not heard one word in objection to the Scott Act. Several of the members of the Advisory Committee are very liberal subscribers to the fund out of which Mr. Rossiter's salary, as prosecutor, is paid. And probably no church in Peterborough has in its larger proportion of supporters of the Scott Act than the Murray street church.

Yours respectfully,
H. H. MUNRO.

A Rumor Denied.

We have been requested to give publication to the following letter, which carries its explanation with it.

E. B. Edwards, Esq.

DEAR SIR,—The absurd statement is being circulated through the town that an arrangement has been made with me by the Scott Act Association by which I am not to be interfered with in selling from my brewery. I certainly wish that I could carry on my business as heretofore, but that I could expect that those supporting the Scott Act would permit it or sanction it, is a stretch of the imagination which I am not capable.

As you ask me if such a statement is made by me, I say that I certainly never made it, and that no such arrangement was ever made.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. CALCUTT.

A Trivial Difference on the Topic.

A married couple, living in town, are exceedingly unhappy in their domestic relations, and the breach is widening every day, a disruption is threatened. The husband has abundant means, but, while he dresses in the height of fashion, wearing the most expensive attire, and cuts quite a dash among the ladies, he allows his wife, who, by the way, is trifle older, than he is and not in the slightest danger of being indicted for her beauty, to go positively shabby and the latter has the best of reasons for believing that the husband spends his money freely in another quarter, where greater youth and beauty form a greater attraction. The husband has been taxed with his perfidy and promised amendment, and the wife, to avoid a public scandal is willing to compromise. She says if he will provide her with a suitable wardrobe and retrench his personal and paramourous expenses, she will submit, but on the other hand, she will apply for a divorce, unless he shews an earnest of his intentions of retrenchment by buying his clothing of Gough the Wonderful Cheap Man, whose ready-made clothing is fit, in style and material (and O, so cheap) for any husband having a wife who has reached the age of—of—who is old old enough to be respected. Arcade buildings, Opera House block, Peterborough.

Belleville Deputation.

The Belleville deputation appointed to pay a visit of inspection to Peterborough and Lindsay Agricultural Societies' grounds and buildings, arrived in town yesterday afternoon. The deputation was composed of Mr. James St. Charles, president of the West Hastings Agricultural Society, Alderman Thomas Hanley, and P. J. Shannon, of the Board of Trade. Alderman Smeaton was also in town during the morning. The deputation visited the Agricultural grounds, conducted thither by Councillor Cahill, and inspected the sheds, both of which were admired. It is altogether likely the Belleville Society will build sheds similar to those erected by the local society. The sheds of the Lindsay Society were also highly spoken of. The Belleville Society propose holding a monster four day exhibition this year, and will extend their grounds and make several additions to their buildings. The Belleville City Council gave $1,500 to aid the Society, the County Council $500, while the sum of $1,500 will be raised by subscription.

The members of the deputation were very much impressed with the air of business activity that permeates the town, also with the large number of handsome buildings being erected in all parts of the town.

The Extinguisher Exhibition.

At 3 30 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the fire alarm called the Fire Brigade together for the purpose of exhibiting the fire extinguishing apparatus before the civic Fire, Water and Light Committee. The brigade responded promptly to the call and in a few minutes hose reels were run out, the tubes attached to the hydrants and a stream spouted from several nozzles at different points. The committee assembled at the market square and for a time surveyed the actions of the firemen in throwing a stream on the top of the Opera House block and in washing the bills off the sides of the buildings. The antique hook and ladder apparatus on wheels was trundled out for inspection. After being thoroughly soused with water it was finally passed and carried back to the hall. An inspection of the engine and fire hall followed, the brigade showing the use of the machinery, at the same time giving gentle reminders as to what was required. It was suggested by the firemen that the committee, or a couple of members of the committee should be appointed a deputation to visit several of the cities to inspect their apparatus before making any further purchases for the town. It is probable this committee will report at the next meeting of the Council, when the matter may be dealt with.

The "Flower Queen" cantata, so successfully presented on May 24th, in the Opera House, will be repeated in that place on Friday, June 18th, for the benefit of the funds of the Peterborough Protestant Home, with the full chorus and an efficient orchestra. Tickets to all parts of the hall, 25 cents, to be had at the bookstores.

A Birthday Notice.

The Lindsay Post says:—"The Daily Examiner of Peterborough has completed its first year of issue, and enters on its second year very well supported by an extensive subscription list, an advertising patronage that provokes the envy of the journals of Port Hope, and the prospects of additional improvements in the way of support and patronage."

Market Notes.

The market was bright and brisk this morning. Produce was offered in large quantities and sold readily. Prices were quoted: Butter, 12 c to 14 c; eggs, 10 c for shipment and 11 c for local use; chickens, 50 c to 60 c; veal, 4 c to 5 c per lb.; lamb, 7 c to 10 c; potatoes, 55 c per bag; onions, lettuce, radishes, rhubarb, etc., 5 c per bunch; hay, $7 to $8.50 per ton.

The following are the dates of opening and closing of school terms, as prescribed by law: Public schools open 3rd January and close first Friday of July; re-open third Monday in August, close 22rd December. High schools open 7th January and close Thursday before Easter; re-open first Tuesday after Easter and close first Friday of July; re-open last Monday of August, close 22nd December.

A Great Company.

Attention is directed to the advertisement in another column of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York. Mr. S. F. Grist, the able general agent of the company, has settled in Peterborough, making it his headquarters. This is claimed to be the largest life insurance company in the world, and the oldest active life insurance company on this continent. Its financial standing is shown by the fact that its declared assets on Jan. 1st, 1886, were nearly 109 millions of dollars. It presents, in the matter of liberality to policy-holders, terms of insurance and other vital matters, advantages that make it worthy of the attention of intending insurers.

It is a well-known fact that the Cable and El Padre brands of cigars are the oldest, most reliable, and best value in the market. For the last quarter of a century the demand for these brands has steadily increased, necessitating the employing of close on to one thousand operatives. Smokers will find it to their advantage to insist upon having the above-mentioned brands, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to palm off inferior goods for the sake of additional gain. S. Davis & Sons, Montreal and Toronto.

Regina vs. Glass, et al.

Yesterday Mr. W. A. Stratton applied at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, for writs of certiorari to bring up the convictions and proceedings against the members of the Salvation Army at Lakefield. The orders were granted.

Night Telephone Service.

Mr. W. H. Kent, the energetic manager of the Bell Telephone Company office town, who has by good management and careful attention to business, advanced the Peterborough office to the front rank outside of the large cities, announces a further advance which no doubt will be of great advantage to patrons, viz: night service. On and after Tuesday next, the central office and entire system will be open night and day for the convenience of those who may require to use the telephone. A competent manipulator of the switches, Mr. H. Brown, will act as night operator, while Mr. Kent with an efficient and obliging (might say good looking, too) staff of assistants will take charge of the system during the day. All the club and lodge rooms in town should be supplied with telephones, so that wives may ascertain at what time the meetings may adjourn, and other particulars. The doctors will realize the beauties of the telephone to their profit.

The Pushing Porter Bros.

Messrs. Porter Bros., carriage builders, this morning turned out for Mr. James Stothart, dairyman, Smith, a neat and nobby vehicle for the delivery of milk. It has a platform gear painted in carmine, and the box, beautifully lettered with the name of the new owner, is painted a dark green. The seat and door are at the rear end, which is also provided with a wide step. About a dozen standards support the leather top, which is provided also with canvas blinds. The whole turn-out is a neat one and is just what might be expected from this firm, which makes a specialty of work of this kind, which, with their other work keeps them busy. Though Messrs. Porter & Bros. employ a large staff of workmen, their warerooms and yards are not crowded with vehicles. Their chief run is on ordered work, and so this is taken away when completed, there is no surplus of stock left behind begging for purchasers. It would seem that their claim to lead the trade is not unfounded.

MONDAY, JUNE 14, 1886.

Revered by Labor.

LONDON, June 13.—Joseph Arch and Joseph Leicester, Liberal members of Parliament, on behalf of the labor element in the House, have signed a manifesto addressed to "the sons of toil and artisans of England." The document denounces the unholy coalition between their Tory foes and the so-called Radical seceders and implores workingmen to support Mr. Gladstone and those Conservatives who are not in favor of coercion. The adherents of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Hartington have each a different plan, and if they are returned to power they will jointly attempt to legislate for Ireland, the result of which would be pandemonium.

Funeral of the Victims.

Affecting Scenes in the Streets of Belfast.

BELFAST, June 12.—The scenes attending the burial of the victims of the recent riots were very affecting. Women wailed and men sobbed. The crowds along the funeral routes were the largest seen here for many years. There was no disorder. The police and military stood in pretty close file all the way with loaded rifles. The public have subscribed liberally to defray the expenses of the funerals. The money raised has already proved sufficient to buy the graves needed by each family and leave a handsome balance, which will be divided among the needy relatives of the dead. A number of the rioters have already been convicted and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment, one to seven months at hard labor. It is rumored here the government intends to disarm the people of Belfast. Troops continue to arrive in large numbers. Their presence indicates that the authorities fear more troublous times are ahead.

The coroner's jury in the case of Mary Reilly, one of the victims of the recent riots, to-day returned a verdict of wilful murder against the police who fired into the mob at the Bowers Hill station.

The taverns in the city were closed at 2 o'clock to-day and will not be re opened till Monday. The city is quiet. Three interments of those killed during the rioting are yet to take place.

The Orange lodges in Belfast have been instructed to suspend drilling during the excitement in Belfast.

Unnoticed Dangers.

Some years ago the whole country was startled by the sudden death of a prominent man in New York. He had moved into a new and beautiful home only a year or two before. He was engaged in literary work, occupying a study on the lower story in front, apparently the most desirable part of the house. The attendant physician early charged the trouble to sewer gas, but no defect in the pipes could be found. After his death a more thorough examination revealed a pool of stagnant water under his study. No wonder that he died. The mysterious providence which removed him was a mystery no longer.

One of the professors of Harvard College has lately been seriously ill, manifesting all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning. For some time his recovery was in doubt. But when out of danger a most careful search after the source of the poison resulted in finding the arsenic in the paper-hangings. The beauty of the finish and the fine green were produced by arsenic. No wonder that that State is aroused, and that the citizens demand a law which will prohibit the sale of all such dangerous hangings.

These two cases are typical. Far too many houses, both in city and country, are positively dangerous. Many city houses stand on made land, or at least that which was formerly swampy. The foundation walls, when there are any—for houses often stand on posts alone—are built of solid masonry, but with no cement either outside or in. Such walls are porous, and soak up water nearly as rapidly as a sponge. Then it slowly trickles down the inside, emitting malaria, forming a fine soil in which all manner of fungoid growths flourish. The rooms over such places are first-class disease breeders, and every home should be frequently examined to see that this source of danger does not exist.

Then, drain pipes often leak in the cellar and basement. This adds to the danger to the rooms above. The two fiends, stagnant water from the sewers and the water filtering slowly in through the walls, work in concert to sap the life of the little ones, and to fit them to the first disease.

The walls of the rooms themselves in far too many houses are disease breeders. A neat and tasty paper upon the wall makes a room inviting, and adds to the home comfort. But, unfortunately, even when the paper is made free from poison, and good paper can be so made, the paste with which it is attached is just the home for the minute organisms which produce certain diseases. This is bad enough where there is only a single layer of paper; but, when, as is often the case, several layers of paper and paste are spread upon the same wall, outside of one another, the danger is multiplied many times. Such walls are really masses of festering filth. The best wall is undoubtedly the plain plastered wall.

All cases like these demand caution. Those who are responsible for the homes cannot be too careful. The health, often the life, of loved ones, children particularly, depends upon rigid exclusion of all these lurking places of disease and breeders of death. Beauty should be, and is, consistent with perfect safety in the home.—Le Roy F. Griffin, in The Current.

Stoddard's Mule.

Many years ago down in Idaho, during a gold excitement, a good many men went into the country to make money outside the gold-hunting industry. Their idea was to make the other fellows delve for the gold while they appropriated it afterward. Rollin Daggett, afterward Nevada's Congressman, established a ferry-boat on a small creek and named the place "Death's Ford," at the same time inventing a musty legend to the effect that it was thus named because so many lives had been lost in the attempt to cross it. The stream was not over a dozen yards wide, and the water nowhere over two feet deep, but he rigged up a flatboat and pulled it back and forth by a rope contrivance. Whenever the prospectors crossed he regaled them with horrible tales of the treachery of the stream, and the remorseless quicksands which had drawn so many men and mules to terrible deaths.

In the night when he ferried people over he would caution them not to get too near the edge of the boat, as a fall overboard was certain death. By letting the dim old lantern go out and making slow time he frequently impressed the passengers with the idea that the stream was half a mile wide. For night trips he charged $5, but if the wind was high and the weather bad he struck sanguine prospectors for much larger sums. In the daytime $1 was his modest charge.

He went along in this way for several months, the men who rushed to the hills looking upon him as a benefactor to his race by this conquering of so formidable an obstacle to travel as "Death's Ford." One day Charlie Stoddard, the promoter, appeared on the bank with a mule and boarded the flatboat to cross. In the midst of the stream, just when the ferry-man was telling how dangerous the place was, the mule grew restive and fell overboard. One leg caught on a rope, and he got his head under water, and, unable to extricate himself, was drowned. When he was cut loose he lay there in the middle of "Death's Ford," half out of water, so that all who came along saw what a miserable sham the ferry was, and that any four footed animal could walk across. Daggett tried to get the mule away, but he was too heavy to budge, and so he lay there in plain sight for weeks, until Daggett's business as a ferryman was ruined. That's the reason old Dag hardly ever speaks to Charlie Stoddard when he meets him.—Carson (Nev.) Appeal.

HOME RULE RIOTS.

There is something wrong in the loyalty that becomes so excessive in its fervour that it breaks out into open rebellion against the authority of the Queen. The spectacle presented in Ulster is a strange political anomoly, and it would be pleasant to believe that it is not a spontaneous expression of public or party feeling, but the outcome of party political appeals to the prejudices and passions of an impulsive, passionate people. There is no doubt that the incendiary appeals of Lord Randolph Churchill, the Tory sub-leader, who in a recent visit to Ulster, openly advised the course that has been pursued with such unfortunate results, is the prime cause of the fatal rioting that has disgraced the north of Ireland. The opponents of Home Rule, seeing that it is hopeless to stem the flood of popular opinion in favor of the principle of Home Rule, resort to violence and bloodshed —opposing a constitutional measure with the weapons of the Anarchist. A despatch informs us that "Major Sanderson, M.P., leader of the Orangemen, continually howled for the blood of the Parnellites, and has urged Ulstermen to arm themselves and take the law in their own hands by exterminating the Catholics in their province." This is a serious state of things, and in view of it, the police, instead of firing on the mob, would restore order more quickly by shooting the fire-brands that cause all the trouble. Whatever difference of opinion may exist in regard to the wisdom of Home Rule for Ireland, the measure to that effect must be opposed or carried by constitutional means. At all hazards law and authority must be upheld, and rebellious Ulsterites must learn that they who use the sword must perish by the sword. All opposition to Home Rule must be constitutionally expressed or not at all, if it can find no other form than rebelling against the lawful authority of the Queen.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The fiscal year of the Dominion will close on June 30th. Up to the end of May the revenue amounted to $29,685,856 and the expenditure to $32,018,874, showing a deficit of $2,333,018 for the eleven months. At the end of May, 1885, there was a surplus of $1,912,542, which was converted into a deficit by the end of June. The deficit this year is now estimated at $5,000,000. What has become, asks the Hamilton Times, of the N.P. promise that there should be no more deficits?

At a convention of the Liberals of Muskoka and Parry Sound, held in Rosseau Friday, Mr. W. B. McMurrich, of Toronto, was elected as candidate for the representation of the constituency in the House of Commons. The seat is now held by the Tories, Mr. O'Brien having been elected over the Liberal candidate at last election by a few votes. Mr. O'Brien is the gentleman, who avowed his intention of voting (and did vote) on Mr. Costigan's amendment to Hon. Mr. Blake's Home Rule Resolution in the Canadian House of Commons, on the ingenuous grounds that they would do the least harm in strengthening the hands of Mr. Gladstone in his efforts to do justice to Ireland.

Sir Adolphe Caron, our ornamental member of Militia, says an Ottawa despatch, proposes going off on a holiday trip to British Columbia at the public expense in a week or so. The excuse for this junketing trip is that he wants to inspect a site for military defences on the Pacific coast. Now, what does the gentle Sir Adolphe know about fortifications? Why does he not send General Middleton or somebody that knows something of such matters to make the inspection, if any inspection is necessary? The Minister, will of course, travel in state in a palace car, attended by a retinue of servants and parasites, and his trip will cost the country probably five or six thousand dollars.

The Home Rule Question.

Thanks.

BELFAST, June 12.—The Loyalist Union of this city has adopted resolutions thanking Lord Hartington, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Goschen for having averted Home Rule.

Chamberlain Rebuked.

The Daily News referring to the complaint made by Mr. Chamberlain says it comes with ill grace from the former Cabinet minister. The Parliament of 1880 was elected to deal with a series of questions that were never the subject of contention. Mr. Chamberlain knows that the Irish difficulty has been a first duty imposed upon every recent Government.

BELFAST, June 12.—The Mayor has issued a proclamation declaring that all persons refusing to disperse are liable to arrest and also being charged upon as riotous mobs. The Mayor presided at a meeting of Magistrates last night, at which it was decided to take summary steps to stop the riots.

A private in the Irish Fusiliers, named Murphy, was shot in Monaghan and has since died. A man named Girvan is charged with the shooting and will be examined to-day. Ten Fusiliers have been arrested on Girvan's information. In the Coroner's inquest it was proved in one case that the police had fired before the Riot Act was read, and a verdict of manslaughter returned.

Another Brakeman Killed.

Samuel Smith, a brakeman on the Whitby Division of the G. T. R. was killed at Brooklin, on Saturdy night. While turning the brake wheel the connecting chain broke, the jar throwing him between the cars. One truck ran over him, breaking both legs near the body. He died two hours after the accident. He was about 24 years of ag and unmarried.

C. P. and G. T. Earnings.

The earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ended June 7th, were:

1886	$201,000
1885	159,000
Increase for 1886	$42,000

The earnings of the Grand Trunk Railway for the week ended June 6th, were:

	1886	1885
Passenger train earnings	$169,200	$ 97,140
Freight train earnings	215,200	176,948
Total	$384,200	$274,088

An increase of $42,120 for this year. The earnings for the same week in 1884 were $247,455, and in 1883 $266,202.

The Beginning of Consumption.

Blotches, pimples, eruptions, "fever-sores," ulcers and enlarged glands, are but so many outward manifestations of poisonous and scrofulous humors in the blood, which sooner or later are apt to attack the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing ulceration and consumption of these organs. Be wise in time and use Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest blood-purifier, pectoral and strength-giver yet known to medical science. It cures all these dangerous maladies having their origin in the blood, if taken in time.

Jay Gould's Sensible Daughter.

Miss Gould has lately been given an allowance of $5,000 a year for her wardrobe, but last year did not spend over two-thirds of that amount. She is very fond of pretty dresses, made in a simple, girlish fashion, and has fewer silk or satin gowns than one would suppose. In summer she dresses in white most of the time, wearing linen and flannels in the morning, muslin and embroidered dresses in the afternoon, and on special occasions white silk or lace. A dress made entirely of Valenciennes lace over surah silk is the favorite, and although very simple looking cost the neat sum of $580. A brown corduroy, trimmed with silver-fox fur, with a cap and muff to match, was her favorite walking-suit last winter, and on Sundays she wore a dark blue velvet, with beaver trimmings. She is fond of bronze shoes and always keeps four or five pairs on hand, and always dresses her own hair, which is long, dark and naturally curly.—New York Morning Journal.

Bring up Young Men.

Some three years ago, in an editorial, we advised our manufacturers to select one or more boys from good and tried families—boys that bid well to become staid, energetic business men. Send them to some institute where they can get the training you desire to fit them for your work. Open an account with them; when you send them away, charge the expense to them as you pay it out; and when they graduate, and you put them in the mill, give them to understand that if they prove themselves worthy of the trust, you will make them sharers of the profits. You will get a blank once in a while, but as a rule you will get young men who will help to carry your burden, while you do the thinking. And your business secrets will be kept. Besides, to have half a dozen young men coming home in this way will elevate the tone of your works. Instead of one owner going through the mill once or twice a day, there will be an owner somewhere in sight all the time. You can then use your skill and experience where it will produce the most money.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.

Jersey Weather-Lore.

That which I have heard, and have recorded from time to time, appears to have originated where now, or where it lately was, in use. To a great extent, I believe it to be original with the descendants of the immigrants that settled Central New Jersey and the country generally about Philadelphia; but a portion of it, very possibly, was derived from the Indians.

At present, a portion of this weather-lore is repeated as nursery rhymes, and it is due to this that it has been preserved to the present time; and, so far as I have been able to determine, not one of the rhymes or sayings has ever been published. That among the earliest papers and almanacs of the country there may be found some of them, or slightly different versions of the same, is probable, but my searchings therefor, in the larger libraries, have not resulted in any such discoveries.

The main interest, however, in connection with weather-lore, is to determine whether they do or do not correctly represent the relationship of the animals mentioned to the given condition of the weather. In other words, is the zoology of the weather-lore misrepresented or not? I am forced to declare that, as a rule, those who by virtue of their ingenuity framed these rhymes and brief sayings did not correctly interpret nature.

Very many of the early English settlers were, no doubt, excellent observers; but they appear, at times, to have more desired to be looked upon as weather-prophets than as naturalists, and strove to have glib nonsense-sayings pass current as evidence of their wisdom, instead of taking pains to correctly interpret the course of nature and determine the relation of animal life to its environment.

Often, during my rambles in the neighborhood, I have questioned the few remaining descendants of the original settlers concerning the local weather-proverbs, and I find the impression is still prevalent that the purport of all these saying is substantially correct, and therefore, to a great degree, that my neighbors are laboring under erroneous impressions. "Is there not wisdom in a multitude of counselors?" they ask; and I, standing alone, am voted the fool, while they pose as sages.

Let us consider this weather-lore, bit by bit, as I have gathered it from time to time, and discuss its merits, if it has any, and also its absurdities.—Dr. C. C. Abbott, in Popular Science Monthly for March.

A plan for rendering paper as tough as wood or leather has been devised in Europe. It consists in mixing chloride of zinc with the pulp in the course of manufacture. It has been found that the greater the degree of concentration of the zinc solution the greater will be the toughness of the paper, which can be used for roofing and for making boxes and other articles.

Our Brave Volunteers

Endured the severe marching of the North-west campaign with admirable fortitude. The Government should have supplied them with a quantity of celebrated Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It never fails to remove corns promptly, and the volunteers and everybody else should have it. Beware of substitutes. Get Putnam's Extractor and take no other. d134-6t-w23.

Those who Have Tried it Say

The best proof of the great power of Polson's NERVILINE over every kind of pain is obtained by the use of a 10 cent bottle. Nerviline requires no puffing; every bottle tells its own story. It cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain-subduing remedies known to medical science. Nerviline is equally useful in external or in internal pains. Try the great remedy. Ten cent bottle at any drug store. Large bottles only 25 cents. d134-6t-w23.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

The management of the George Street Methodist Church Sunday School has decided to hold their annual pic-nic excursion in connection with the Sunday School, on July 8th, to Hutton's Grove, Lindsay. Evading the Scott Act.

A son of toil, who lately felt that he needed a little usquebah to rally his worn energies, had a couple of gallons ordered from a distant city. When it arrived, the jar had a leak—and the whiskey was wanting. It is needless to say that the honest man used expressive words towards the railway for the careless waste of his "dhrap o' dhrink."

Boys Will Bathe.

Boys will bathe and boys will swim every day, but they won't wear a suit while they do it, so they say. The police and police magistrate may also have something to say in the matter, and as some of the boys don't wear regulation suits when bathing they may be sent up to Court House castle, where they will be required to wear regulation suits, hats, boots and trousers too.

Remember To-Morrow's Excursion.

The probabilities are that to-morrow will be a fine day and that the Fire Brigade Band excursion to Idyl Wild, by steamer Golden Eye and palace scow, will be well attended. The band orchestra will furnish select music for dancing on the scow and at the pavillion at the grounds. The grounds are at their loveliest and all who wish a pleasant day's outing should attend the band excursion. An energetic an attentive committee will look after the wants of excursionists. Lindsay Amateurs Threatened With an Action for Performing the "Mikado."

During last week a company of Lindsay amateurs, under the direction of Mrs. E. R. Roberts, presented in the Opera House in that town Gilbert & Sullivan's famous operetta, "The Mikado." The presentation is said to have been very fair, although given in advance of the date intended. Since the performances, the director of the company and the principal performers have each been the recipients of a legal letter from the lawyer of a Montreal firm who claims to own the copyright for Canada of the operetta, claiming $50 damages from each, for infringing the copyright. The performers are in a sorry plight and may have to pawn their voices to raise the spondoulix. Some say they will go to jail before they will pay, while others say that they will allow their suits to go as distrem. Some of the residents of the burgh who were at the Opera House on the evening the Operetta was presented advise the amateurs to allow the case to be proceeded with, commencing until auditors as witnesses, who say they will solemnly swear that the Operetta of "The Mikado" was not given on the evenings in question. It will no doubt annoy very much, Mikado Koko, Poo Bah, NanKipoah, Katisha and Yum Yum, to exchange the garb of the Orient for that of the common jail. The threatening letters have caused no little amusement and speculation in musical and legal circles.

Town Council.

Communications from Manufacturers Desiring to Locate in Town—Fire and Water Apparatus Discussed—A Batch of By-laws—The Scott Act Again.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber yesterday evening. Present, the Mayor in the chair, and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, McNeil, Yelland, Moore, Rutherford, Menzies, Hartley and Keadry.

After routine the following communications were read:

PROPOSED NEW INDUSTRIES.

From Jeffrey H. Burland, of Montreal, asking for information with regard to the population of Peterborough, railway and shipping facilities, water privileges, etc., with a view of locating a factory in town; also asking what bonus, exemption or other inducements would be offered, also a second communication from the same party giving dimensions of factory proposed to be built, placing the number of employees at 50 at start.

From Krugg & Hibner, of Berlin, with regard to locating a branch of their furniture factory in Peterborough, stating that they would require a bonus of about $3,000, and a loan of $2,000 for which they would give security.

The above communications were referred to the Finance Committee to consider immediately and report to the Council, a special meeting of the Council to be called for that purpose.

From the secretary of the Protestant Home, asking the Council to pay the balance of a grant made by it for the support of Wm. Manning, sent to the Toronto hospital. The town treasurer was authorized to pay the secretary of the Home $75, the amount asked, and the Charity Committee were ordered to inquire into the case.

From Mr. E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor, giving it as his opinion that the town could compel the G. T. R. Company to plank between the rails of the track through town and also to place their rails on a level with the road, and advised the town to take action against the company.—On motion of Mr. Moore, the Town Solicitor was instructed to communicate with the General Manager of the road, asking him to make the required changes.

From Chas. E. Gilmour, Secretary of the Legislative Assembly, with regard to new Acts relating to roads and bridges.—Referred to joint committee of the town and County Councils.

From F. J. Lewis with regard to nuisance caused by the use of his private drain by the town, and threatening an action for damages if immediate steps were not taken to remedy the evil complained of.—Referred to the Property Committee.

From Wm. B. Ferguson and others asking for sidewalk improvements.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

From David Menzies asking for charity.—Referred to Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

Chas. Chambean, burrying dogs	0 50
W. H. Banfield, dog tags	26 62
Canadian Rubber Co.	7 20
J. Braden	23 00
W. Stock	3 60
Ormond & Walsh	50
E. Mansel	3 75

The first two accounts were ordered to be paid and the remainder referred to the Finance Committee.

ON DOG TAGS.

Mr. Moore called attention to the fact that a large number of persons who wanted to get dog tags were unable to do so, as Mr. Beavis had not attended to his duty.

In corroboration of this statement Mr. Davidson cited a case of several days standing.

On motion Mr. Beavis was heard and explained that during the past few days he had been ill and unable to do his duty, and before that time the books were not ready.

RATING HOUSE LICENSES.

Mr. Keadry asked Mr. Beavis if all the hotels had taken out eating house licenses.

Mr. Beavis informed him all the late hotel keepers had with the exception of Mr. Croft, Mr. Roddy and Mr. Chamberlain. These he would attend to without instructions.

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS, ETC.

Mr. Rutherford, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committe, reported verbally. He referred to the exhibition of the fire extinguishing appliances made by the fire brigade on Friday last, which was attended by a majority of the councillors. It was thought by the majority present that such steps should be taken towards providing better apparatus for the brigade. Among the new appliances required would be a hook and ladder waggon, buckets, axes, an extra team for ladder waggon, and new sleigh harness, for both teams. The rooms also required fitting up to provide accommodation for four or five men. It was found that the town pumped 5,000 feet of spark wood hose, besides 400 feet that could be depended on in a long stretch. He moved that the matter be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to act upon immediately.

Mr. Keadry suggested adding to the apparatus a new hose waggon to replace the hose reels, and further that a committee be appointed to visit other places where they have good apparatus. He referred to the system employed by Chatham as a model, which he considered equal, if not better, than Toronto or Barton, both of which he had inspected.

Mr. McNeil said he had inspected the fire system of Chatham, and found it as Mr. Keadry had said, and added that it cost the city $9,000 a year. He suggested that the chairman of the committee should bring in a written report of the requirements of the brigade.

DISTRIBUTION OF HYDRANTS.

Mr. Rutherford read a communication from the secretary of the Waterworks Company with regard to the placing of hydrants. It inferred that the hydrants asked for on Charlotte and Reid streets would be placed. Others which the company had been asked to place were not referred to.

Mr. Moore suggested that the town should come to an understanding with the company in this matter.

Mr. Yelland advocated compelling the company to place hydrants 300 feet apart as required by the by-law.

The Mayor intimated that he had a conversation with Mr. John Burnham, of the Waterworks Company, who was quite willing that the hydrants should be placed where the town wished them, an extra allowance to be made where the company were compelled to deviate from the lines laid down in the by-law. He stated that it was proposed to place hydrants as follows: One on Loudon street, one near Mr. Richard Hall's residence, and one in front of Judge Dennistoun's residence.

Mr. Cahill objected to this distribution and claimed that if the town had more hydrants to place them it was expedient to have within the stipulated limits, that they should be placed where they would do most good, as on King street, noted for its freedom from gas, light and water.

Mr. Keadry agreed with Mr. Cahill, but held that the portion of the North Ward referred to was as much in need of fire protection as King street.

The matter was allowed to stand with the understanding that the committee should present a written report.

BY-LAWS.

Mr. Hartley introduced a by-law to grant aid in the sum of $300 to the Peterborough Horticultural Society, which received its first reading, and after routine was finally passed.

BY-LAW TO PRESERVE THE STREETS.

Mr. Moore introduced a by-law for the purpose of preserving the streets, squares, bridges, and other communications of the town, by preventing the removal of any sod, soil, mud, stone or other material. It received its several readings and was formally passed.

ON CIRCUS LICENSES.

On motion Mr. E. C. Hill was heard. He asked the Council to rescind the by-law imposing a license of $100 on circuses.

He was satisfied when the Mayor informed him that the town instead of removing the license would provide a lot free of charge.

BILLIARD BY-LAW AMENDED.

Mr. McNeil introduced a by-law to amend by-law 508, as far as relating to the regulating of billiard and bagatelle tables, extending the time of closing on Saturday night to 11 o'clock.

On the second reading Mr. Rutherford spoke strongly opposing the proposed amendment, denouncing the billiard rooms as hell holes, etc.

Mr. McNeil replied briefly in favor of the amendment, also objecting to the inference of Mr. Rutherford's remarks.

Mr. Yelland opposed the by-law and advocated shutting stores up at an early hour.

On motion of Mr. Davidson the amending by-law was amended by changing the closing hour on Saturday night to 10 o'clock. The amendment was carried, Mr. McNeil agreeing to the change.

On the third reading of the by-law Mr. Rutherford moved, seconded by Mr. Yelland,—That the by-law be not now read a third time, but this day nine months.—Lost.

YEAS.—Messrs. Rutherford, Yelland, Keadry and Hartley.

NAYS.—Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, McNeil, Moore and Menzies.

PUBLIC PARKS' ACT BY-LAW.

Mr. Moore introduced a by-law to adopt the Public Park's Act in the town of Peterborough, which was read a first time and allowed to stand over.

VICIOUS DOG BY-LAW.

Mr. Moore introduced a by-law to prevent damage from vicious dogs and to provide for the killing of such. The by-law received its first reading and after routine was finally passed.

THE RATE.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson,—That the Finance Committee be requested to have the rate for the current year struck at as early a date as possible, in order that the collection of taxes may take place as soon as possible.—Carried.

HAND ENGINES CALLED IN.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McNaughton,—Resolved,—That the Fire, Water and Light Committee be directed to call in all hand engines with a view of offering them for sale or otherwise disposing of them, as may be directed by the Council.—Carried.

DEBENTURES TO BE ISSUED.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That the commissioners be requested to issue the debentures for town buildings at once.—Carried.

TO INSPECT AND REPORT.

Moved by Mr. McNeil, seconded by Mr. Davidson,—That the Fire, Water and Light Committee make a thorough inspection of the fire appliances and to report to this Council, giving a detailed statement of the brigade's requirements with the probable cost of same.—Carried.

SCOTT ACT.

Mr. Rutherford asked the Mayor if it was understood that the police force were to enforce the Scott Act.

The Mayor replied, certainly, the same as all other laws.

Mr. Keadry said there was no use of discussing the subject as it was finally decided at the last meeting of the Council.

Mr. McNaughton complained that there was only one acting policeman in town, the others being employed in serving Scott Act subpœnaes. He also inquired how it was that the chief did not report on one of the members of the force who had been intoxicated.

Chief Cooper was called and stated that he had heard a report that one of the men had been intoxicated, but on diligent inquiry he found no evidence to support the statement. He had reported to the Mayor, but did not think it necessary to report to the committee without proof in support of the report.

OPEN DOORS.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. McNeil,—That the doors of the engine house be left open during the summer months.—Carried.

While a motion with regard to the Scott Act was being discussed the council adjourned.

County Council.

June Session of Our County Legislature—Warden's Address.

The Council of the county of Peterborough convened for the June session at the Court House to-day at 2 o'clock, Mr. A. R. Kidd, warden, in the chair, and all the members present. After routine was read as follows:

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS

GENTLEMEN,—In meeting you again at this session, I feel pleasure in being able to congratulate you and the county at large on the bright prospects which greet us on every hand of an abundant harvest.

Your first and most important duty at this session will be to carefully equalize the assessment rolls of the several municipalities, so that the burden of county taxation will be, as nearly as possible, equitable.

The remarkably high water which prevailed last spring, for a time placed some of the older county bridges in imminent danger, and at the same time furnished the severest and most satisfactory test of the solidity and stability of the iron bridges recently erected. The prompt action taken by the County Engineer in seeing to the bridges threatened, averted any serious loss or damage, Buckhorn bridge only being slightly injured. Fuller details as to the bridges will appear in the engineer's report.

Shortly after the January session I was waited upon by Mr. Fairbairn, Reeve of Verulam, who informed me that a committee had been appointed by the Council of the county of Victoria to act in conjunction with the representatives of this Council in repairing the Pidgeon Creek bridge. I accordingly called upon Mr. Edwards, the County Solicitor, to whom this Council had at the last session referred it, to take action as he deemed advisable with reference to this bridge, and Mr. Sanderson, Chairman of the Property Committee, and, by appointment met the committee from Victoria, when it was agreed that the bridge should be put in repair at the joint expense of the two counties, the cost not to exceed $200. The joint committee subsequently met at the bridge and let the contract to Mr. John Flood, who has already almost completed his work, having been somewhat delayed by unfavorable weather. The total expenditure will be $300, or $150 for each county. A detailed report will be submitted. I think the Council may be congratulated on the satisfactory termination of what promised to be a source of difficulty between the two counties.

Since the January session the suit of the Grand Junction Railway Company against the county of Peterborough has been argued in the Court of Appeal and it now stands for judgment. As it is distinctly asserted by the opposite party that they intend in case of an adverse decision to appeal directly to the Privy Council, and, and as judgment will probably be given before the January session, it will be well for the Council to instruct the County Solicitor as to the course to be taken by him with regard to the case.

My attention having been called to the fact that amongst the bills before the Legislature dealing with municipal affairs, one at least contained a provision that appeared to be so framed that it would in effect if it became law, hold this county responsible for the Kinmount bridge. A deputation consisting of ex-Wardens Sanderson and Lang the County Solicitor and myself proceeded to Toronto to oppose the bills before the Municipal Committee of the Legislature. After considerable discussion the bills were withdrawn, the minister intimating that a comprehensive Bill dealing with the whole matter would be prepared by him before the next session of Parliament.

Your committee representing this council met a large and influential deputation from the Midland district interested in the construction of the Trent Valley Canal on the 10th day of February, in the Music Hall, Peterborough. A resolution was unanimously passed setting forth claims and benefits likely to be realised by the construction of the canal, and asking the Dominion Government to place three sections under contract, one of which was that section lying between Lakefield and Peterborough. After a full and free expression of opinion by leading gentlemen present, it was resolved that as large a deputation as possible from the several municipalities interested, should proceed to Ottawa in order, if possible, to impress on the Government the importance of the early construction of this important highway. It was said that the deputation was of no particular political completion, and one of the largest that ever visited the capital of our country. Their prayer was duly presented and ably supported by our members of parliament and others. The Minister of Railways and Canals gave such promises as satisfied the most skeptical. I regret, however, to report that in the estimates of 1886-87, no provision is made for the commencement of another section of this national work, while projects of a local character have received substantial assistance from the Government. Certainly, viewed in the light of recent events, our expensive deputation etc., have been so far unfruitful in exerting that influence with the Government so essential to the successful prosecution of this most important Dominion as well as Provincial work.

Mr. George Cochrane having been appointed Government Inspector, resigned his position as Inspector appointed by this Council, for the enforcement of the Scott Act, and I appointed Mr. Robert Weir in his place, subject to the approval of the Council at the present session.

I desire to call your attention to the act passed at the last session of the Ontario Parliament, authorizing County Councils to assist in constructing wire fences along highways to prevent the drifting of snow.

I observe by the papers that you will be waited upon by deputations from the Agricultural Societies of the East and West Ridings for a grant to enable them to erect permanent agricultural buildings in the village of Norwood and town of Peterborough. In this Canada of ours agriculture may be said to lie at the root of our national prosperity, and it involves interests of such magnitude and importance that a reasonable expenditure might well be incurred, provided the results were likely to add to the profits of the farmer save the farmer from losses incident to lack of knowledge or experience in his calling. That good results have been achieved through the operation of our annual exhibitions none will, I am persuaded, have the hardihood to deny; and while recognizing

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Our local Tory contemporary spoils three columns of its issue to defend Sir John's reputation and apparently didn't half try. Mr. M. C. Cameron in the House made charges that Messrs. Macdonald and Tupper, sons of Sir John and Sir Charles respectively, made money out of their connection—by virtue of being sons of their fathers, and furnished ample proof of his statements. The defence made by Sir John and repeated by the Review is a simple denial. On the floor of Parliament Sir John's word or that of the most insignificant member is bound to be accepted, but only in a Parliamentary sense. If the charges had been investigated and proven false, then the Premier's shirts would have been clear. But in a political matter Sir John's simple assertion is not exactly all-sufficient. Sir John, in respect to the Pacific scandal charges, swore that "these hands are clean," yet a Royal commission found him guilty—the country found him guilty and drove him from home. The whole world knows how well he keeps his promises—that he will promise anything—trusting to his sharpness to get him out of the dilemma, his facility in giving pledges has placed him. Regarding the relations to his son and Sir Charles Tupper's son, Sir John denies with the pettifogging spirit characteristic of him, that either of "these young men ever addressed me"—on the subject treated of in the charges in question, but he was careful not to say that they had not addressed any of his twelve cabinet colleagues, whom the wily Premier knows well how to train as scapegoats for his political sins. Sir John may not be, as his admirers swear, personally corrupt—only by proxy. When a statesman accepts valuable presents from a railway corporation for himself, and when valuable presents, far exceeding in value the most regal ideas of courteous recognition of the claims of friendship, are made to members of his family, there are grave grounds for inferring that the said statesman is not unaffected by such benefactions.

From the Far North-west.

Mr. George B. Shields, a former resident of this county, now in Alberta Territory, in renewing his subscription to the EXAMINER, and sending that of a new subscriber, has the following to say respecting the North-west, under date of May 22nd:

OKOTOKS, May 22, 1886.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

I like this country well, it is more hilly, and the spring growth more backward than I expected. But as I am writing to you, I have a bouquet of flowers that I picked on the open fields, they are three or four different kinds of flowers, and the grass is five or six inches high, and more in some places. The settlers around here and my own boy, John, says this is a backward spring, as more snow fell in April and May than did all winter. But they said it was better than rain for the crops and grass. The weather here differs from Lakefield, as the heat in the middle of the day is as high as 90°, and at night it is chilly, and blankets and quilts are in request. I like this country and I think I will make my future home here; and men living here say they like to live here though it is rougher than living in Ontario, where they were more comfortably situated. A great many who knew me in younger days wanted to hear from me and get my opinion of the country. Well, I must say it is a stock country, fine for raising cattle, sheep and horses; as there are not more than two months in the year that they need shelter. But, mind, not many of them get it. Thousands of head of cattle run here all winter without feed or shelter; but they need it, and I think it cruel to have them out through some of the storms. They do stay out, however, and do well, but I must have some feed and shelter for mine. I was going to give you an account of my trip out here, and perhaps I may when writing again. Oats, wheat and barley grow well here, and potatoes yield as high as 75 bushels to the acre; so that it is not bad land, black loam, easily worked, and no stone-picking. Good-bye, from your old friend,

GEORGE B. SHIELDS.

The Beginning of Consumption.

Blotches, pimples, eruptions, "fever-sores," ulcers and enlarged glands, are but so many outward manifestations of poisonous and scrofulous humors in the blood, which sooner or later are apt to attack the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing ulceration and consumption of these organs. Be wise in time and use Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest blood-purifier, pectoral and strength-giver yet known to medical science. It cures all these dangerous maladies having their origin in the blood, if taken in time.

the importance of a strict regard to economy in every branch of our municipal government, I cannot refrain from expressing the opinion that a liberal grant to each of the societies, would be more in keeping with the spirit as well as the letter of our municipal law than some of the grants that have heretofore been made by our County Council.

I trust that the Allwise Governor of the universe may so direct you in your deliberations that they may be conducive to the prosperity and happiness of all classes in the community.

Napoleon's Liberality.

Napoleon I. was a great admirer of Mlle. Georges, but by no means lavish in his ideas of liberality. One day, however, after alluding in terms of satisfaction to her performance on the preceding evening, he signified his intention of bestowing on her a mark of his approval, and asked her what she would like to have.

"Sire," she replied, "my great ambition is to possess a portrait of your majesty."

"Your wish is easily gratified," said the emperor, with a smile, and putting his hand in his pocket, he presented her with the desired effigy in the shape of —not, as she probably expected, a miniature enriched with diamonds, but —a 5-franc piece!—All the Year Round.

A Placid Fraud Exposed.

The most placid fraud in the world is the man whose taste in wine is infallible. Most of them rely almost entirely on the label and the bottle to tell the brand, and it is a well-known fact that the restaurants who affect the expensive luxuries of cabinet life make piles of money out of the gullibility of the young man who knows all about wines. I suppose that in the business there are plenty of men whose palates have to be learned on the subject, but there is hardly one man out of a thousand professing wine experts who can not be caught. As for spirits, I judge it is even worse. They had a dispute about two brands of whisky in one of the clubs here the other day. An expert who had been growling about the quality of the club's stock was asked to decide for himself between the two. He tasted and decided.

"That's all right," said a club man. "That's the whisky you've been growling about."

"Well, the other's worse," was the way the growler got out of it. "I don't say that's good."

"Well, the other isn't whisky at all. It's brandy."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Perils of the City Baby.

The question arises, What is it in cities that is so hostile to infant life?

The subject is a complex one, and in its analysis we must consider the varying conditions surrounding the different classes. Distinctions of rank are as definitely marked among infants as among adults. There is none of the democracy which obtains in the country. We have the infant of aristocracy, the infant of the middle classes, the infant of the poor, the infant dependent upon charity. Each of these inherits an environment peculiar to itself; its house, its nursery and sleeping apartment, its nurses and attendants, who solve the problems of its food and raiment. Take the matter of inheritance, not of money or lands, but of constitution. The extreme classes found in the city and not in the country, the very wealthy and the very poor, are likely to bestow on their offspring a latent tendency to disease. The ultra-fashionable mother, the self-indulgent father, hand down to their children overwrought nervous systems and weak physical powers, which result in early death, or more often a life of protracted feebleness. In the lowest classes the untoward effects upon the children of poverty, intemperance, and moral obliquity are incalculable.

The city infants belonging to the middle classes often suffer because of the struggle of their parents to maintain a foothold in society, and to mount the steps in social life which will bring them to distinction. It would be a long discussion to enter into all the questions of heredity which influence the fate of a child. They are vital questions, however, which require the utmost delicacy in handling, but which are of transcendent importance to the individual and to the race. Very little of the common sense which prevails in preserving and rearing choice stock exists in relation to the human animal. If by chance the infant is well-born—that is, has the germ of a constitution which will unfold untainted by scrofula or epilepsy, or any other foul disease which will rob it of a healthy mental and physical development as life unrolls before it—such inheritance is unequaled. Dr. Ireland has shown the effects of heredity as seen in tracing through three hundred and fifty years the health history of the house of Spain. The children, though born to a kingdom and a crown, were cursed with an hereditary nervous taint which sometimes passed over a generation only to appear again in various forms and intensities as epilepsy, hypochondria, melancholia, mania and imbecility, till at length it extinguished the direct royal line.—Grace Peckham, in Popular Science Monthly for March.

The famous diamond, the Kohinoor, which Queen Victoria wears on great occasions, belonged to an Indian prince, but was appropriated by the English during the Indian mutiny of 1857. Dhaleep Singh, whose property the Kohinoor was before the English seized it, now demands its restoration. He wrote to Lord Salisbury on the matter shortly before the latter's resignation from office, and received in reply a note in which Salisbury "refused to discuss such chimerical nonsense."

Those who Have Tried it Say

The best proof of the great power of Polson's Nervuline over every kind of pain is obtained by the use of a 10 cent bottle. Nervuline requires no puffing; deeds talk, tells its own story. It cannot fail, for it is a combination of the most powerful pain-subduing remedies known to medical science. Nervuline is equally useful in external or in internal pains. Try the great remedy. Ten cent bottle at any druggists. Large bottles only 25 cents.

The police patrol which has been established along the boundary between the Canadian North-west and American territory, is reported to be doing good service in preventing horse stealing and other crimes of a similar character.

There is much excitement at the Cayoosh Creek, B.C., mines. Two hundred Chinese are on the ground, and every day adds to their number. Within ten days 109 claims were recorded, and only ten of them were for whites.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable," "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

The Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1886.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

Carpets.

New Carpets, New Floor Oil Cloths, this week, Ex. S. S. "Arizona." Choice patterns. Moderate prices. R. FAIR.

The Charge Dismissed.

The charges against Creighton Flynn of Norwood, for violating of the Scott Act, was heard by County Police Magistrate Dumble at Norwood yesterday. The charge was dismissed, no evidence being offered in support of it.

A Corpulent Strawberry.

Mr. Joseph Sawdye has left with the EXAMINER a ripe strawberry, plucked June 14th, which measures in circumference six inches. This monster fragarian was grown on Mr. Sawdye's property on Sherbrooke street, west, and there are several more like it in the plot.

Circuses Coming.

Mr. E. C. Hill has had communication, with the agents of several circuses which propose exhibiting in town this year Among the number is Forepaugh's colossal circus, etc. At last night's meeting of the Council Mr. Hill was authorised to inform the agents that the town would provide a free show field for them—the circus ground—but would not allow them to exhibit without paying $100 license.

Protestant Home Benefit.

The beautiful cantata "The Flower Queen," will be repeated in the Opera House on Friday evening next, in aid of the Protestant Home. Several new and attractive features will be added to the entertainment. Lovers of music and those desiring to help the Home should purchase their tickets immediately, which may be had at the bookstores. Admission to all parts of the hall, 25c., children two for a quarter.

"Baptism Concessions."

We have received several letters on the subject originated by the publication of the article under the above heading. As before stated, we cannot afford the space for the long letters received, and must adhere to our decision, not to publish any more upon the subject. Some of the writers speak of Rev. Mr. Munro as requesting the publication of "Baptism Concessions," but he had nothing to do with the matter and, as far as we are aware, did not know that anything of the kind was to appear in our columns.

"Three for 10 Cents."

A Charlotte street grocer is cruel to the public whose mouths water for strawberries. Last night he had exposed, arranged in sloping position, a crate of fine strawberries in boxes. Above the berries hung the placard "Three for Ten Cents." Many a passer-by on seeing this plunged his hand in his pocket and resolved to have strawberries for tea, but when he went inside to order the luscious fruit, he found to his disgust that the label applied to a bunch of despondent bananas hanging above the strawberries.

A Fine Walk.

The work of laying the new slat walk in Court House Park, from the stone steps at the fountain to the head of the park, is being rapidly pushed forward, by Mr. John Irwin, who has the contract in hand. The walk will be neat and novel in design, being composed of a flight of eighteen sloping steps, each about eleven feet long and ten wide, with a rise of six inches slope and seven inches abrupt, or thirteen inches in each step. The slats are of pine, two inches square laid diagonally on cedar sleepers. When completed the wood work will be painted. It will be boulevarded on each side to a distance of ten feet, thus making the walk practically thirty feet wide, which should allow three couples to pass without any inconvenience.

Toronto Musical Festival.

Toronto has won the reputation of doing big things well, and her "First Musical Festival" which takes place on June 15th, 16th and 17th in the Mutual Rink street building, (the only building large enough to contain the multitude it will attract) is to be the grandest of the Queen City's great efforts. The programme consists of Gonoud's great sacred trilogy Mors et Vita, a miscellaneous matinee, introducing solo artists, orchestra, organ, &c., Handel's Oratorio, "Israel in Egypt," children's jubilee festival and chorus concert. The leading soloists and musicians of the continent, United States and Canada will be represented among the performers. A large number of our citizens intend we believe, visiting this great festival and we are sure that none will regret taking the journey. It is by all odds the greatest musical event ever brought out in Canada—an adult chorus of 1000 voices, children's chorus of 1200 voices and grand orchestra of 100 pieces and a grand festival organ.

Examinations.

The non-professional examinations for teachers begin June 29th at 9 o'clock, and the entrance examinations begin July 5th at the same hour.

Young Men's Bible Study.

The Y.M.C.A. Bible Class will meet this evening at 8 o'clock, under the charge of the Rev. F. H. Wallace, the subject to be considered being "Repentance." Mr. G. A. Kuhring of Ottawa will be present.

Cheap Groceries.

Mr. George Pope has purchased the bankrupt stock of groceries of Mr. S. Young. The stock must be cleared within a week and the goods must be sold at any sacrifice. Now is the time for the public to secure bargains.

Asks the Town to Pay.

Mr. E. Mansell, whose windows were broken over a week ago by a party of roughs, has applied to the town for payment of the cost of damages, $6.75. The account was referred to the Finance Committee to consider and report.

Billiard By-law.

The Council passed a by-law yesterday evening by which the time for closing billiard and bagatelle rooms on Saturday evening is extended from 7 till 10 o'clock. Mr. Beavis notified the proprietors of billiard rooms of the change this morning.

The Band in the Park.

As announced, the Fire Brigade Band performed in the park yesterday evening, instead of this evening. The music provided was delightful, while the attendants at the park were more numerous than last week. Everybody enjoyed themselves.

Thermometer Readings.

The registrations of the thermometer today, as supplied by Mr. Geo. A. Schofield, druggist, were as follows:

Time.	In the shade.	In the Sun.
9 a. m.	75	99
12 m.	78	82
2.30 p. m.	90	94

The Gun Club.

The following are the scores made by the members of the Gun Club who engaged in Monday's pop:—

H Calcutt	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1—9
C. A. Weller	0 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 0 1—6
C. H. Geale	1 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 0—6
H. Neil	1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1—8
E. Hartley	1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1 0 1—6
H. W. Kent	0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0 1—7

The weather was fine and the scores are the best on the average made at any meet yet held.

Because it Has so Large a Circulation.

"Try Canada," such was the direction on the wrapper of the Peterborough EXAMINER, dated May 12, which, says the Cobourg Sentinel-Star, got here on Monday morning. It had evidently spent all the intervening time travelling. We would not have wondered at this had it been addressed to Port Hope or Grafton, but why they should have to "try Canada," when Cobourg was the address, in a Scott Act county too, puzzles us.

To-Night.

The last and what promises to be the grandest concert of the season will be given in the Opera House, to-night, under the direction of Mr. J. S. Parker. Mrs. Agnes Corlett Thomson, Toronto favorite soprano; Mrs. R. H. Dennistoun and Mr. Geale, will be the soloists, while a choir of sixteen select voices will provide choruses. Several delightful duets, trios and quartettes will also be given. Remember to-night is the date, and 8 o'clock the hour of opening.

Preserving the Streets.

At last night's meeting of the Council Mr. W. H. Moore introduced a by-law for the purpose of preserving the streets, which no doubt will have the desired effect. The statute only makes the removal of sand or gravel punishable, and several parties around town were removing soil and sod with impunity. This by-law will overcome the defect in the statute, prohibiting, as it does, the removal of sod, soil, stone, or other material from streets, squares, bridges or other communications of the town.

A Cuffed Cat.

A half grown Maltese cat cantered down the sunny side of George street this morning, attired in an odd outfit. Around its slender waist was sewed a cuff, the stitching on which indicated the work was done by an inexperienced sewist. This cuff was lettered "Dude" in large plain letters. Around the kitten's neck and tail ribbons of an antiquated appearance fluttered, while its contralto voice floated on the air a sad and plaintiff wail. A good Samaritan enticed the over-clad kitten into a shop and in short order dismantled it. It purred its thanks and waltzed away.

Young Men's Social.

The Young Men's Christian Association had a social gathering of members last night at their rooms. The president, Mr. J. W. Flavelle, occupied the chair. Mr. G. A. Kuhring, secretary of the Ottawa Y.M.C.A. was present, and gave points as to some of the latest developments of the Y. M. C. A. work as brought up at the recent Secretaries' Conference at Harrisburg. Mr. D. B. Gardner presented a statement of the financial position of the Association, and the members present contracted to raise the amount of the deficit. Music by a male choir and Mr. A. D. Browne, and ice cream and cake added to the social attractions of the evening.

Personal.

Messrs. John McClelland and J. R. Stratton are made members of the Poultry Committee of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, to be held in that city from Sept. 6th to 20th, inclusive.

It is a well-known fact that the CABLE and EL PADRE brands of cigars are the oldest, most reliable, and best value in the market. For the last quarter of a century the demand for these brands has steadily increased, necessitating the employnig of close on to one thousand operatives. Smokers will find it to their advantage to insist upon having the above-mentioned brands, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to palm off inferior goods for the sake of additional gain. Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:
ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, assuring me that Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.
This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child rupture; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. Helping Home Rule.

Enthusiastic Meeting in the Murray Street Separate School—Three Rousing Speeches—Liberal Contributions to the Irish Parliamentary Fund—Amount of Donations.

At the Murray street Separate School rooms last evening, in spite of the excessive heat of the evening, a large and enthusiastic meeting of Irishmen convened to give practical expressions of sympathy with Gladstone and Parnell in their efforts to secure the blessings of Home Rule for Ireland.

Among those present were Rev. Father Conway, John Hackett, vice-president of the local branch of the League, John Corkery, T. Cahill, T. Dolan, C. McGrath, E. Phelan, M. Quinlan, T. Hurley, Thos. Henry, Dr. Brennan, J. D. McIlmoyle, John Moloney, Dr. Kincaid and others.

Mr. John Hackett, vice-president of the Peterborough branch of the Irish National League, occupied the chair.

Mr. O'Meara, secretary, said the object of the meeting was to take into consideration the stand that had been taken by Gladstone and Parnell in regard to Home Rule, which he was sure the meeting heartily agreed with. The appeal of Rev. Father Conway on Sunday, showed that Irishmen were in sympathy with the sentiments expressed in favor of Home Rule—if they were not they were, as the Rev. Father had said, not Irishmen. (Applause.)

Dr. O'Sullivan, president of the League, entered at this time and took the chair.

Dr. O'Sullivan, in the course of a splendid address, said he was glad to see so many present, in spite of the great heat, to sympathize with the objects of the meeting. Canada was first our home—our native and adopted country—and as such it deserved our best appreciation. It has been an asylum and refuge to those who were obliged to leave their native home. It has given a home, under a free constitution and just laws, where creed and color made no difference. It was a glorious prototype of what the true Irishman desired to see his own land. We felt deeply for the oppressed of any land. We contributed to their relief by way of missions and Great Britain, to her honor be it said, had sent forth fleets and armies to rescue the oppressed. Great Britain had been foremost, with the cross in one hand and freedom's shield in the other. While she has won glory in these respects—she had overlooked a third deserving cause, one essentially more pressing—at her own door. It was unfortunate that she had done so. But she has produced many men who have striven to wipe the one blot from her escutcheon. If there is one thing that detracts from the glory of Great Britain and her great achievements, it is Ireland. Past legislative efforts had been rather physical than mental in their direction and result. Not more than 40 years ago there were acts if not passed at that time, then in force, in Ireland, that were a disgrace to any civilized people. Happily many of them were effaced from the statute book, but much remained to be done and much to be undone. The Grand Old Man, Gladstone, the noblest statesman the world ever saw, (cheers) made herculean efforts for the good of Ireland.

If he never did any good than the bad deeds his name would be cherished as long as Irish history lasted. (Cheers.) It might seem that the speaker, a Canadian, whose home was in a land whose educational privileges offered a boy the best chance of education in the world, (cheers) whose political freedom was equal to that of any other land, should take such an interest in Ireland. But he had abundant reasons for the interest he took. Apart from the feeling of sympathy with the oppressed, it would be vain to deny that he in common with every Irish Canadian had drunk in with his mother's milk and learned at his mother's knee, the dark and sad story of the wrongs of Ireland. Few Irishmen there were who had not seen their mothers shed bitter tears over the wrongs of their native land, and the sufferings experienced there by her forefathers through evil legislation which had resulted many times more from ignorance and indifference than from malice. Most English legislators knew little and cared less for the conditions for which they legislated. They cared little if they only collected their rents. To illustrate the condition of Ireland, the speaker supposed the case of an Otonabee farmer, who raised abundant crops of all kinds year after year by hard toil, and year after year had to send over to the United States every dollar he could skake of his farm produce, save enough to barely keep soul and body together, save what would furnish potatoes and salt to his family. How long, under such a state of things, would Otonabee farmers be content? How long would they stand such a state of things? Many of them wondered to see Highland land in Canada in as deplorable a condition, but it was the result of Victorian legislation. (Cheers.) The system under which Ireland was governed placed a premium on frigs and dirt and idleness. The men in Ireland that kept quiet, exercise and industry, made very shoddy—a small sum to lay by—though he paid an exorbitant rent, became a marked man—the rent was at once raised and there was found some one, the competition was so keen, to take his farm and try to pay the rent. If a man dressed decently it was a sign that he did not pay enough rent, and up went the rent again. (Cheers.) Another bitter injustice lay in the fact that the man who improved his farm and made it more productive was practically punished for the offence. Not only did he get nothing allowed for such improvements, but it was made a pretext for further extortion—the rent was raised. One thing sought was the amendment of the land laws—to make the tenant secure in his holding and place him in a position to realize the benefits of his industry; in a condition where honest industry would meet with due reward, and honest efforts for elevation and improvement would not be a crime to be visited with a penalty. As things were now it paid a tenant to look as forlorn and ragged and dirty as possible—no danger of having the rent raised. Allusion was made to the great work done in waste places in Ireland by way of reclamation by the Irish tenants who had received no benefit—only had their rent raised—for the improvements made. These facts were among the reasons that made him, (the chairman) an Irish Canadian, take such a warm interest in the welfare of Ireland. He sympathized with every effort made to promote the welfare of Ireland. At the present moment the greatest political contest the world ever saw was going on. It was a critical period, parties were pretty evenly balanced, and the Irish parties of those favoring Home Rule were not rich, and as such candidates had to largely meet the expenses of the election, they were in need of assistance. Many of the best men, noble souls and great minds, were poor in purse, and it would be a great pity that for lack of a few paltry pounds their services should be lost to the country. The speaker regretted that there were not more Irishmen of all creeds that took an interest in the matter. Father Conway had come to him on Saturday and said that now was the time for action—the time to show practical sympathy. He had said that five dollars in hard cash was worth a cartload of formal resolutions. (Cheers.) The speaker continued, saying that it would be a pity and a shame not to second the efforts of Gladstone, than whom a nobler, greater, better, or more honest statesman never lived (cheers), and the efforts of such heroic men as Parnell, Sexton, McCarthy, etc. We were poor, but we had been made poor by a foreign government, for as Gladstone held, the present rule exercised over Ireland by England was practically by a foreign government, and any taunt as to poverty came with bad grace from a party that had oppressed them for 700 years. But the dawn of a better day had come, and it might be that condition would be reversed, and it would then be seen if the proud aristocrats could, when forced to toil would by the pick and the spade like Irishmen, and dignify labor as the Irish had done (cheers).

The Chairman explained the meeting was to arrange for giving material aid to those fighting the battle of Ireland's freedom. This was the critical time, now or never for the friends of Ireland to [illegible]. He believed the cup of freedom had come, and he believed Mr. Gladstone, old as he is, would be spared to give Ireland a parliament of her own. (Cheers.) God would prolong his life, God would fight for Ireland. We should be recreant to our trust if, at this critical juncture we did not contribute additional funds to help on a good cause. He believed in British connection but at the same time he held that to live under the British flag in slavery was a curse. (Cheers.) The Irish would not have been submitted so long to oppression but for the good offices of bishops and priests in maintaining loyalty and order. He believed that Home Rule would consolidate and not disrupt the empire, as had been shown with other nations. It would produce a union of affection and not one of fear or hate. The Irish have not been disloyal, they have been seeking to free themselves. They were an easily governed people if treated justly. He was not disloyal himself, and he had shown evidence of his loyalty by going out to fight against misguided Irishmen, who had invaded Canada and he would do so again if need came. God had given him $10 to give towards the cause of Irish freedom sometime since, and he had another $10 now. (Prolonged cheers.)

Mr. O'Meara stated that as secretary he was prepared to receive contributions. Bonqueses had had its reward, for the eloquent appeal made by Rev. Father Conway to his flock on Sunday had resulted in this large and enthusiastic meeting. The Peterborough branch of the League had before contributed $400 to the Irish Parliamentary Fund and that sum would probably be repeated.

Dr. Kincaid, being called on said the time for action had come and speeches were out of place after the eloquent speech of Dr. O'Sullivan in allusion to Dr. O. Sullivan's comparison of the Otonabee farmer to the Irish tenant farmer Dr. Kincaid, said he might have asked in addition if the Otonabee farmer would have kept as loyal as the Irish have done under worse conditions. He believed that Home Rule would make Ireland one of the most loyal portions of the British Empire. (Cheers.) The present movement was the result of the wave of intellectual force that had swept over to Ireland from Canada and the States. After eulogizing Gladstone and Parnell, he said that when the Queen signed a Home Rule Bill she would be doing a grander act than Lincoln did when he signed the Emancipation proclamation. (Cheers.) He believed the elections would result in giving Home Rule to Ireland. (Cheers.)

Rev. Father Conway said they all had frequently heard his sentiments expressed. When he spoke on Sunday, in expression of gratitude to Gladstone and Parnell, he did not exclude the idea of more substantial aid. He had given $5 before and he would give $10 now. When they gave before they were in doubt of the result. Now they had an instalment of honest intentions and they were encouraged to give. He was proud to have heard the speeches of the Chairman and Dr. Kincaid whom he honored as a man who would not allow his religion interfere with his advocacy of a noble cause. (Cheers.) He never felt prouder of his Peterborough people than in seeing them present and taking such a deep interest in the welfare of Ireland, in response to his appeal to them. He eloquently urged the people to give liberally. We had to fight the foes of Irish liberty with their own weapons and, to meet them on equal terms, we must be prepared to put down dollar for dollar. (Cheers.)

Opportunity was then made for contributions, and bank bills, teas, [illegible], etc., filled the air and fluttered on the chairman's desk, till, on the spot, in a very few minutes, the sum of $250 was placed in the treasurer's hands, the sum of contributions ranging from one to one dollar. The meeting adjourned for one week, when it is probable the treasurer will have a large increase of the fund to report.

County Council.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

The Council was occupied the whole of this morning in committee work.

The Special Committee on the Warden's address beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee hope that the expectations of the Warden of an abundant harvest will be fully realized and that the season, which has opened so brightly and prosperously will be an auspicious throughout.

2. Your committee are pleased with the assurance of the Warden that the unusual high water of this spring inflicted no little damage upon the works and bridges of the county. This county must feel flattered that their bridges latterly built have so well withstood so severe a test and have justified the wisdom of this Council in building them so strong, permanent and substantial.

3. Your committee approve of the action of the warden in reference to repairing the Pigeon Creek bridge in conjunction with the County Council of Victoria; your committee understand that the County Council of Victoria admit their joint liability to keep this bridge in repair and it is satisfactory to note that the friendly relations between these two counties are still maintained and that this matter has been so amicably settled without resort to litigation.

4. Your committee recommend that the clause in the Warden's address referring to the suit of the Grand Junction Railway vs. Peterborough, be referred to the Finance Committee.

5. Your committee cannot agree with the Warden in his assertion that the deputations in reference to the Trent Valley Canal, have been so far unfruitful in their results. A large amount of money has certainly been voted and expended by the Dominion Government on this undertaking and whilst our anticipations that the Government would commence the section between Lakefield and Peterborough, have not been fulfilled, yet we are of opinion that by continued exertions and agitation we will be able to accomplish the objects for which such deputations were formed.

6. Your committee are of opinion that before the matter of the appointment of Robert Weir, as Inspector under the Scott Act, should be discussed, the liability of this county for the enforcement of the Act should be more fully inquired into, and would prefer that the whole matter be dealt with in open Council.

7. Your committee are unwilling to express any opinion as to the advisability of making grants to the Agricultural Societies of the East and West Ridings of Peterborough, before hearing the views of the deputations which are about to wait upon this Council, but consider it desirable that the matter should be referred to the whole Council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
June 16th, 1886.

The Closing Concert.

A Fitting Finale to a Brilliant Season.

As was anticipated, the concert given in the Opera House yesterday evening, under the direction of Prof. Parker, was musically a decided success. A select but not very large audience occupied the seats. The concert opened with a glee "Hail, Smiling Morn" by the glee party, which was most successful in the several selections assigned to it, all the parts being well sustained, while the style and expression were exceptionally good. The party was composed as follows:—Miss Vair, Miss Denniston, Miss Roper, Mrs. Sanderson, Miss Dickson, Miss Davidson, Miss Smith, Miss Haultain and Miss Strickland, and Messrs. Manning, Chambers, McDonald, Geale, Newbald and Budden. The second number on the programme was taken by Mrs. Agnes Corlett Thomson, who sang prettily "She Haunts Me Like a Happy Dream," her sweet and sympathetic voice and easy manner charming her hearers. Mr. Parker followed, giving a stirring piano solo. Mrs. R. H. Denniston sang beautifully "Waiting," which brought forth a hearty applause from the auditors, who insisted on an encore. The beautiful quartette "Come Where the Lilies Bloom," was repeated by request, Mrs. Sanderson, Miss Strickland and Messrs. Manning and Budden taking the several parts. This also received an encore. Miss Hall and Prof. Parker performed on the piano the difficult duet, "Caliph de Bagdad," with particular acceptance. Mr. Geale concluded the first part of the programme, singing with success "Will o' the Wisp," and was encored. The second part was opened with the charming glee "Oh, Slumber My Darling," by the glee party. Mrs. Agnes Corlett Thomson followed, singing "Roberto tu che adoro" beautifully. In response to an encore she sang "Comin' Through the Rye." Each song seemed to add new charms to her voice and style, and a second encore followed, to which the charming singer graciously responded. The laughable trio "Dame Dugden," by Messrs. Manning, Geale and Budden, was given in capital style, and called forth an encore. Mrs. R. H. Denniston sang sweetly and expressively "Hearts are Trumps," delighting the audience, and was again encored. Mr. P. E. S. Cooper, made his debut as a solo violinist, and was successful in his selection and in pleasing the audience. Mr. Agnes Corlett Thompson's rendition of "Edinboro Town" was beautiful, and called for an emphatic encore. "Good Night, Beloved," by the glee party, and "God Save the Queen" by the company, and audience, Mrs. Thomson taking the solo, brought the programme to a conclusion. The accompaniments throughout were played by Mr. Parker in his usual masterly style.

It is a well-known fact that the CABLE and EL PADRE brands of cigars are the oldest, most reliable, and best value in the market. For the last quarter of a century the demand for these brands has steadily increased, necessitating the employing of close on to one thousand operatives. Smokers will find it to their advantage to insist upon having the above-mentioned brands, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to palm off inferior goods for the sake of additional gain. GLADSTONE'S MANIFESTO.

Hon. William Ewart Gladstone in his manifesto, issued to the electors of Midlothian, sets forth, in a few simple and pathetic words, his reason for seeking re-election: "It is only a sense of the gravity of this issue which induces me, at a period of life which nature cries aloud for repose, to seek, after sitting in thirteen Parliaments, a seat in the fourteenth, and with this view to solicit for the fifth time the honour of your confidence." Mr. Gladstone's address is practically an appeal to the whole country and pithily sets forth his views as to the proper course to to settle "the gravest and likewise the simplest issue that has been presented the country in half a century." In a few simple words the contrast between Gladstone's policy and that of Salisbury are pointed out. The former reduced to a few words, is to give Ireland, under well considered conditions, the legislative and executive management of her own affairs. The plan of Lord Salisbury is to enact repressive and coercive laws and enforce them rigorously for twenty years. At the end of that time he hopes that the Irish will be tanned enough to submit to anything. Gladstone's plan represents the advanced freedom of the highest civilization, while Salisbury's is merely a refined form of brute force; in other words, one is the application of the principles of Liberalism, and the other the application of the principles of Toryism. As to which will be ultimately, if not immediately, successful, there can be no doubt. The decision of the matter is in the hands of the free electorate of Great Britain and Ireland.

Mr. Gladstone further shows that if his plan be adopted the Union between Great Britain and Ireland will be stronger than ever, and that the present Union is only one in name. The grand old man closes his admirable address with a forecast of the benefits to be divided from the settlement of the question, which his plan, if adopted, will bring, which he anticipates will be:—

"The consolidation of the United Empire and great addition to its strength; the stoppage of the heavy, constant and demoralizing waste of the public treasure; the abatement and gradual extinction of ignoble feuds in Ireland, and that development of her resources which experience shows to be a natural consequence of free and orderly government; the redemption of the honor of Great Britain from the stigma fastened upon her almost from time immemorial in respect to Ireland by the judgment of the whole civilized world; and, lastly, the restoration of Parliament to its dignity and efficiency and he regular progress of the business of the country. Well, gentlemen, the first question I now put to you is, how shall Ireland be governed? There is another question behind it and involved in it: How are England and Scotland to be governed? You know how, for the last six years especially, the affairs of England and Scotland have been impeded, and your Imperial Parliament discredited and disabled. All this happened while the Nationalists were but a small minority of the Irish members, without support from so much as a handful of members not Irish. Now they approach ninety, and are entitled to say, "We are speaking the views of the Irish nation." It is impossible to deal with this subject by half measures. They are strong in their numbers, strong in British support, which brought 313 members to vote for their country, strongest of all in the sense of being right, but, gentlemen, we have done our part; the rest remains for you. Electors of the country, may you be enabled to see through and cast away all delusions, refuse evil and choose good."

It is the duty of every lover of liberty, every one who desires to see an important portion of the empire admitted to its true place in the imperial economy, to aid Gladstone by word and deed in his struggle for the accomplishment of so grand an end.

The Beginning of Consumption.

Blotches, pimples, eruptions, "fever-sores," ulcers and enlarged glands, are but so many outward manifestations of poisonous and scrofulous humors in the blood, which sooner or later are apt to attack the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing ulceration and consumption of these organs. Be wise in time and use Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest blood-purifier, pectoral and strength-giver yet known to medical science. It cures all these dangerous maladies having their origin in the blood, if taken in time.

A Horse's Intelligence.

A Stroudsburg, Pa., correspondent writes: A horse which has been in possession of the Peters family, in Bushkill, Pa., for twenty years, and which was famous for the almost human intelligence he frequently displayed, died recently. During the last few years of the horse's life he had been permitted to run at liberty, but was frequently hitched to haul the dead bodies of cattle or horses that died on the farm to a place near the Delaware river, where the carcasses were buried. The old horse always stood near and watched the burials with great interest and attention.

Some time ago this horse fell sick. One day he was missed from his enclosure where he was being cared for. A search was made for him, and he was finally found lying dead on the spot where he had hauled the dead bodies of so many of his kind. As the place was out of the way of the old horse's usual haunts, and as he had never been known to go there except when driven there with some dead animal, no one who knew the horse believes that he did not seek the spot feeling that he was about to die, and to save the trouble of hauling his dead body there to be buried.

Among the instances told of his intelligence are the following: Late one night members of the family that owned him were awakened by a great noise on a piazza of the house. There was the loud neighing of a horse and the heavy stamping on the piazza floor. One of the inmates of the house went to the door. There was the old horse stamping and kicking and neighing with all his power. The discovery was made that an out-house near the dwelling was on fire. The old horse had given the alarm, and a disastrous fire was prevented.

One spring there was a flood in a stream on the place. A blind horse belonging to a neighbor got out of its pasture, and, wandering down to the swollen stream, in some way got into the water. It swam about in a circle and was unable to reach either shore. No one could render any aid to the poor animal, and there seemed no escape for it from drowning. The old Peters horse came along while the blind horse was straggling in the water, and, after a moment's survey of the situation, plunged in. He swam out to the blind horse and headed it off as it turned to make its usual circle, thus keeping its head pointed straight for shore as it swam. By heading the blind horse first on one side and then on the other he guided it safely to shore.

A Commission on Drinks.

A tall man with a sad, drooping mustache led several young men into a liquor shop on Baltimore street one Saturday night. The party braced up in front of the bar, and the tall man looked knowingly at his companions, and then bestowed a sly wink at the party in the white knit jacket.

"What are we going to have?" asked the tall man.

All hands took whisky. The tall man drank his with an air of satisfaction. As the party was leaving the tall man lingered.

"This is one whisky on the slate for me," he said to the barkeeper. "I'll drop in on Monday and get it."

The barkeeper nodded assent and marked up something on a slate. After all had gone out an habitue of the place asked the barkeeper what the tall man meant.

"Oh! him," he replied, "he's a capper, a stool-pigeon. He's in with the house. He's well known about town, and he makes a business of steering his friends in here. We pay him a commission on drinks. The size of his commission depends on what his friends drink. For that reason he never goes any lower than whisky. There's not enough profit in beer to allow much commission.

"Did you notice his ears," the barkeeper continued, "how they sit out from his head? This is because he is always listening for an invitation to take a drink."—Baltimore Herald.

Brother-in-Law.

He—It was natural, you know, that I should be attracted to you.

She (shyly)—Indeed! Why?

He—Well, you know, that your brother studied law in the same office with me, and we were admitted to the bar together.

She—But what has that got to do with me?

He—Why, don't you see, I looked upon him as a brother in law?

She (blushing)—Oh! I see.

He—Yes, a brother in law de jure as it were. Now I propose that he shall be a brother-in-law de facto as well.

Then he slipped the engagement ring on her finger and their heads came close together, and the parian Cupid on the mantel looked as if he was about to clap his wings and crow.—Boston Courier.

The milleanium is due, according to Prince Krapotkine, in fourteen years. "Before 1900 we shall be delivered from the fleecing capitalists and monopolists, from State despotism and sophistry."

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Correction.

Our report of the council proceedings reads as if Mr. McNaughton was the Councillor who brought the matter of alleged misconduct of a policeman before the council. The fact is that Mr. Rutherford introduced the matter and not Mr. McNaughton. Mr. McNaughton is anxious to only receive credit where credit is due.

Change of Place.

Messrs. Flaherty & Clark, merchant tailors, to-day occupied their new and finely fitted up premises on George street, next door north of Fortye & Phelan's hardware store. The public, when in need of first-class ordered clothing or gents' furnishings, should make a note of this change.

Toronto Industrial Fair.

We have received a copy of the Prize List for the next Industrial Fair, to be held at Toronto from the 6th to the 18th September. The book is very tastily gotten up, and contains cuts of different breeds of animals for which prizes are offered, and also views of the city of Toronto and its public buildings. Any of our readers desiring a copy can obtain the same by dropping a post card to Mr. Hill, the secretary, at Toronto.

A Bridge on Fire.

On Monday some person threw a lighted cigar stump on the Hunter street bridge, and it falling between the crevices of two planks of the floor, set them on fire, and a space about two feet in length was burned. Although dozens of person's passed while a little blaze was going on, no one attempted to put it out, till a passer told Mr. E. B. Wilson, of the adjoining Woolen Mills, and he soon put a stop to the fire, which, if it had taken in the night, would have done much damage. Residents east of Water street complain that they are neglected by the Street Committee, but now the bridge has its claim of neglect.

Cupidity.

Cupidity continues to thrive and furnish interesting events and probably will to the end of the chapter. Yesterday evening Mr. George E. Williams, the energetic secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in town, was united in marriage to Miss Anna M. Stewart, daughter of the late Wm. Stewart, Esq. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dr. Hay, Rev. E. F. Torrence officiating. The wedding was quiet and unostentatious, only a few friends of the contracting parties being present. The groom is one of Peterborough's most exemplary young men, and, of course, succeeded in winning a most worthy and amiable bride. The wedding presents were both beautiful and numerous. The happy couple left by the evening train for Toronto, en route for Niagara and other points of interest. They will take in the Toronto musical festival while in the city. The many friends of the bride and groom join in wishing them all happiness and a long married life.

The Firemen's Excursion.

The Firemen's excursion to the beautiful pic-nic park, Idyl Wild, by the steamer Golden Eye, was in every way successful. The party, numbering about two hundred, who boarded the steamer in the morning enjoyed a pleasant sail down the river, the cool breeze from the water, the excellent accommodation provided and the delightful music furnished by the band orchestra, adding to the pleasure of the excursion. Capt Carson and crew and the members of of the brigade did all in their power to please and succeeded admirably. On arriving at the island those who had brought baskets hied away to a suitable spot to appease their appetites. After dinner, dancing on the pavilion, boating, fishing, croquet and other games were participated in. On the return trip the steamer collided with a sawdust bank at the mouth of the lake, but with no more seriousness that a short delay. The wharf was reached about 10 o'clock. Everything passed off merrily and all who attended were delighted with their day's outing. The proceeds, which were very satisfactory, will go towards paying for the band uniform.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is now in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. Thos. Maunzies book store or Messrs. Taylor and McDonald's drug store.

Clothing for the City Battalion.

The clothing for the City Battalion has arrived and is being marked at the drill shed, Ashburnham. There are in all about 260 suits—Scotch caps, tunics and trousers. No. 1, 2, 3 and 4 companies will meet in the drill shed this evening and probably the whole battalion.

Thermometer Readings.

The registrations of the thermometer today, as supplied by Mr. Geo. A. Schofield, druggist, were as follows:

Time.	In the shade.	In the Sun.
9 a. m.	72	90
12 m.	80	99
2.30 p. m.	80	92

Lacrosse.

The field forces of the Peterborough and Orillia lacrosse clubs meet at the P. A. A. A. Park to-morrow to do battle. The following will compose the Peterborough team:—Messrs. Scott, Endkins, Welch, Dr. Brennan, Henderson, Simpson, Halpin, Traynor, Rose, McAvelia, Tierney, Canning and Sheehy. An old timer says he is confident the above team can take the match. A meeting will be held to-night to complete arrangements.

Market Items.

The market was very dull this morning and very little offering. Prices remain about the same as last week. Quotations were: Butter, 12c. to 15c.; eggs, for shipment, 10c., for local use 11c.; chickens 50c. per pair; turkeys $1.00; lettuce, onions, radishes, rhubarb, etc., 5c. per bunch. Mr. Payne of town and Mr. E. Wilkinson of Millbrook, offered strawberries at 15c. per box, the first offered on the market this year.

Flowers for Decoration Day.

Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F., will feel greatly obliged to the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity if they will kindly send any flowers they can spare to the shop of Mr. Harry Long, early on Tuesday forenoon, 22nd inst. Their kindness in donating flowers for "Decoration" during the past three years is a guarantee, we think, that their liberality in this respect will be continued to us this year.

Personal.

Dr. Carrol, of Toronto, formerly a Peterborough boy, was in town to-day visiting friends. His father was at one time—about 20 years ago—pastor of the Methodist church here.

Police Court.

John Ketely, a seemingly half-witted person who has put up at the castle on the hill for several months, and who was released yesterday, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by P. C. Adams with vagrancy. He admitted the charge and was given a term of six months in jail.

Mr. Alfred Webster, charged by Mr. John Byers with keeping a vicious dog. He denied the charge.

Evidence showed that the dog owned by Mr. Webster had bitten a little boy of Mr. Byers'. The boy showed the magistrate where the dog had bitten him on the calf of the leg. The limb was scratched slightly.

Mr. Webster explained that the dog was a valuable animal of the coach breed and only a pup. Boys going to and from school teased it, which naturally made it cross.

The magistrate held that the dog's usefulness was gone, and ordered that it be removed within 24 hours, in default of which it should be killed.

Reports from Yale, B.C., represent the Fraser River to be higher than ever before at this date. It is only ten feet below the highest point reached in the great freshet of 1885, and old settlers predict that the high water mark of that year will be exceeded.

A young man has been arrested at Montreal for stealing half a ton of iron from the Canadian Pacific Railway yards. He and a companion, who is still at large, are alleged to have succeeded in stealing this large amount in small quantities before they were detected.

While Mr. O. E. Howell, of Jerseyville, was teaming logs into the mill yard of Mr. Obed Hrwell's in some way one of the logs he had on the trucks slid and caught him. When found the log was laying on his breast and he was unconscious. It is thought he will recover.

The Calgary Tribune says that among the men hired in Toronto recently for work on the Canadian Pacific Railway in the mountains, was to all appearances a boy of about eighteen years of age, who found employment in the cooking establishment. It was soon discovered, however, that the supposed boy was a female, and she assumed her proper clothing, announced herself to be a member of the Salvation Army, and in addition to retaining her place and discharging her usual duties, she now conducts Salvation Army services in the evenings.

Novia Scotia Elections.

Death's Sudden Summons.

An Unknown Man Drops Dead on the C. P. R. Track Near the Station.

About six o'clock yesterday evening, word was telephoned to the central office that a man had dropped dead near the C. P. R. station. Chief Cooper was notified and proceeded to the spot indicated, where a large crowd had gathered. In the centre of the group and on the track about fifty yards west of the station lay the prostrate form of a man evidently cold in death. Dr. Kincaid was summoned and on examining the body, gave it as his opinion that the man had died from exhaustion.

The deceased had been seen around town by numbers of persons but none can tell who he is, or anything definite with regard to his past history. From the statements of several it would appear that the man arrived in town on Monday, having walked here from Toronto. He sent some of his clothing affects to Smith's Falls by express on Monday and was on his way to Havelock, where he claimed to have friends who would assist him to Smith's Falls. Yesterday morning he obtained employment shoving lumber, but had to quit work owing to weakness. He had been resting at the station for some time and started to walk up the track, when a person living near by noticed him stagger and fall, where he lay when the message was sent up street.

It was not considered necessary to hold an inquest and Mr. Comstock took charge of the body for the town, which he coffined almost ready for interment, leaving the body on view in case some of the deceased friends might turn up.

In the pockets of the deceased, only a pipe and tobacco and a handkerchief were found, nothing by which he could be identified. He was well advanced in life, probably 50 years of age, about 5 ft. 9 inches tall, with hair and moustache of an iron gray color, his whisker being apparently about a week's growth. He wore a blue coat, grey tweed pants and a slouch hat. His boots were laced and extremely heavy, being covered with rows of large Hungarian shoe nails.

Inquiries were made at Toronto and Havelock, but no word as to his identity has been received. He was buried this afternoon at the Little Lake Cemetery.

A party of forty police have left Battleford by the Cypress trail with a month's forage and provisions for patrol duty.

Battleford has an exhibition of Dewdney's beef in the raw. Last week a herd of cattle, alleged to be milch cows, intended for the Indian Department, were delivered at that place, but the agent refused to receive them, and the men in charge turned them loose to take their chances on the prairie.

It is estimated that five miles of shedding will have to be built on the C.P.R. in the Selkirks, that the cost will be about $1,200,000, and that the sheds will be completed by the first of December. A great number of men are now employed in taking out square timber, driving piles, and running the lumber mills.

Mr. Andrew Stapleton, of Jerseyville, had been missing since Wednesday, and his wife becoming alarmed about him proceeded on Friday with her son over the path he usually takes to his work at Abram Vanschickle's, and found him lying against a tree dead. He was taken to a house and buried the same evening. It is supposed he had a fit.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances with no success, among others, recently, two expensive trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1886.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

June Session of Our County Legislature.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At 2 p.m. the Council went into session, the Warden in the chair.

On motion the joint deputation of the East and West Riding Agricultural Societies, consisting of about twenty persons was heard.

Mr. T. Blezard, M. P. P., said he appeared on behalf of the East Riding society particularly, though the interest of the two deputations was a common one. Peterborough was a fine flourishing town in a splendid agricultural country and it was time that the town was furnished with buildings worthy of the constituency it represented, so that it might be adequately prepared for the accommodation of the Provincial Exhibition. The East Riding society had settled down permanently in Norwood and also wanted suitable buildings of a permanent character. He referred to the beneficial tendency and effect of agricultural societies, and argued that poor farmers received proportionate advantages with wealthy ones—an indirect if not a direct advantage, in the way of improved stock, etc., etc. He thought the proposition of granting $750 and $500 respectfully to West and East Riding societies, as had been agreed upon, was a moderate request and should be complied with by the Council.

Mr. J. R. Stratton appeared for the West Riding society and urged its claims to a liberal grant. The sum asked, $750 would enable the society to erect suitable buildings which would be a benefit to the town and also to the county, for what benefit might arise in the premises would be mutual. The society were aiming at putting up buildings, not only suitable for the purpose of the society from year to year, but also for the holding of the Provincial Exhibition, which it was confidently expected would be secured for Peterborough at no distant date. The sum asked by both societies was not a large one and would fall very lightly on the tax payers. The assessed value of the property in the county was over eight millions and ½ of a mill on the dollar would realise some $1,050, and one-seventh of a mill, $1,252.42—equal to about fourteen cents on every thousand dollars of assessment. The society felt that something should be done by the county, as it was more interested than the town—it was a mere matter of dollars and cents—the dollars for the county and the cents for the town. The speaker referred to the prospect of the society as to permanence, pointing out that there was no danger of the property reverting to the present lessor, for the terms of payment were easy and the rental only equivalent to about 1 per cent. per annum. The Council should have no difficulty in deciding to make the grants as requested.

Mr. R. Vance, representative of the Agricultural and Arts Association, in urging the grant, said there was little doubt the Provincial Exhibition could be got for Peterborough if suitable buildings were provided—he knew the feeling of the Board on the subject. The contest for the next exhibition was between Ottawa and Peterborough, but the latter place had no chance unless suitable buildings were erected. The vice-president of the Agricultural and Arts Association had visited the grounds here and was delighted with them. The speaker was surprised at the small amount asked and hoped it would be granted.

Mr. Hugh Davidson had little more to say than he had said last January. But they came now with greater confidence, because the importance of the subject was better understood and appreciated; the project was then in an experimental stage, and the society had shown an earnest of its intention to succeed. Suitable buildings would put the society permanently on its feet. The Council should not be too much guided by the electors. They should act as educators of the people and leaders of public opinion. The Council should, like governments, take the initiative in projects for the good of the people, and should make this grant.

Mr. Frank Birdsall thought public opinion was in favor of giving the proposed grants. The tax they represented would not be felt—about 20 cents per every hundred acres of land. This was the only grant the farmers asked, and it should be given them. Peterborough had plans for a large building, capable of accommodating the Provincial Exhibition, which would be an advantage to the whole county.

Mr. Hugh Davidson stated that the society had no connection with the Driving Park Association, except the latter allowed the use of its track on very reasonable conditions.

Mr. John Riddell, reeve of South Monaghan, though outside the county applauded the energy and enterprise of the directors of the West Riding Society. This portion of the province had, in some respects, been overlooked and felt sure if proper buildings were provided, there would be no difficulty in securing the Provincial Exhibition, which would be a benefit both to town and county.

Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald referred to the decline of the merchants of Lakefield for a grant to the L. N. M. & R. Society, which he had showed them was out of the question.

Mr. Joseph Tully said he had conversed with many of the electors and all were in favor of giving the grant. He did not think any councillor should fear to displease his constituents by voting for the grant. If any township rejected its representative for this reason, such a township doesn't deserve a decent representative.

Mr. Brackenridge was in favor of the grant, but though something should be done for the County Plowing Association. Plowing was worthy of being encouraged. He had seen the Warden himself draw three of the best furrows ever made in the county.

Mr. H. Strickland thought the sum requested a remarkably smallone. Individually he would prefer a grant to one amalgamated society but till that were practicable, he would favor the request of the deputation.

Mr. Burgess, of Belmont, thought both societies were deserving of aid. He hoped that farmers would be liberally dealt with by a council composed of farmers.

Mr. Wm. Collins said the deputation did not come to beg, they only came to ask on behalf of the farmers a portion of the taxes they themselves had paid.

Mr. Patterson heartily endorsed what had been said. He hoped the Council would do its duty in the matter.

Mr. Stratton, on behalf of the deputation, thanked the Council for the patient and courteous hearing the Council had given them.

Mr. Foley moved, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the matter of the grant to the Agricultural Societies be referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Moloney was opposed to splitting the grant between the two societies, unless in case of amalgamation. As it was proposed to divide the grant, neither society would be able to erect proper buildings. He was in favor of making a grant of $1,200 to the West Riding Society.

Mr. Burnham proposed to have the Council decide the principle of the grant and refer the matter of amount to the committee.

The Warden explained that amalgamation was made impracticable by the financial loss it would entail. At present there was a government grant of $700 to each of the societies. If they were united in one society the grant would be reduced to $700. There was no difficulty about amalgamation for exhibition purposes, in case of the Provincial being held here.

In answer to Mr. Moloney, Mr. Vance stated the proposed new West Riding buildings would cost over $3,000, and Mr. Stratton explained that if the Council would give a $1000 grant, the society would put up buildings costing $4000. With the $700, the buildings would cost about $2500, and they would be extended as the finances of society admitted.

The motion was carried.

Mr. M. Sanderson, Chairman, and not Mr. Burnham as printed erroneously in yesterday's issue, presented the report of the Special Committee on the Warden's address.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Burnham presented and read the report of the Special Committee to consider and report upon the wention of

STATIONERY FOR COURT OFFICERS.

The committee to which was referred the question of the liability of the county to supply stationery to public offices, beg leave to report:

That the inquiry was decided on in consequence of the application of the Clerk of the Division Court of Peterborough for stationery for the Division Court.

The duties of the Council in respect of such matters appears to be regulated by section 465 of the Municipal Act of 1883, by which the Council is required to provide all proper and necessary accommodations, fuel, light and furniture, for all offices connected with such courts, but the Council is not required to furnish anything for Division Courts.

It appears to your committee that whatever is required for the holding of the courts of justice during their sittings, the Council must provide, and that there is no obligation to provide the officers of the courts with anything beyond what is mentioned in the said section. This will not include stationery and similar supplies.

Although your committee were not charged with reporting on the matter of offices for the officials, yet since a change has taken place in the County Judgeship, a question of providing offices has arisen. The present judge being also local master, requires much more extensive office accommodation than his predecessor, and has already declined to use the judge's chamber and has requested the county to give him proper and convenient offices, or pay his rent. The Clerk of the Peace also requires an allowance in lieu of rent.

Your committee suggest that such an arrangement of the old jail and the rooms in the court house, south of the entrance might afford proper and suitable offices for the County Judge and Clerk of the Peace and would be cheaper than paying rent of offices in the town.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

JOHN BURNHAM.

June 16th, 1886.

The report was adopted and Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, that the portion of the report referring to the matter of office accommodation be referred to the Property Committee.—Carried.

The Council adjourned.

The Last Days of Slavery.

Recurring to the landing of the Wanderer, the last American slave-ship, at Jekyll's Island on our coast in 1854, Judge Henry Tompkins says: "I met an old negro in Chatham county, where I was holding court, who was brought over on the Wanderer. He said to me: 'Dee got us wid lasses. Dee gib us lasses, we lick um up. Dee spil um on plank—we crall up 'co plank and lick um lasses lack 'co tolf hog with co'n.' Which goes to show that even in its primitive shape taffy is very taking."

Judge Tompkins, continuing the casual conversation, said: "It would be interesting to know if any southern slaves were spirited away over to Cuba at the close of the war or thereabout and sold in Cuban markets. There was some talk of it at the time. A few determined men might have easily bunched a hundred negroes on the Florida coast and shipped over in sailing vessels to where each slave would have brought good prices in gold.

"I know a man," he went on to say, "who actually saw a few years since the slaves in the possession of Tiger-Tail, the Seminole Chief, who lives in the Florida swamps. It was Judge Faulkner of New York. He and a party of friends were in an unexplored lake one day, when they saw a long dugout, holding four Indians and three negroes, issue from an inlet and skirt along the lake. The negroes were rowing, and the Indians lying lazily on skins, which they were carrying to market. They accosted the chief, who told them frankly they were his 'niggers.' He was told with particularity the story of emancipation. He replied:

"'Ugh! Injun nigger no free!' and, motioning to his slaves, they bended to the oars, and the dugout glided into another inlet and was lost to view.

Tiger-Tail seems to be quite an original old Seminole. A sewing-machine agent drifted into his dominion one day and set up a machine in Tiger-Tail's tent. The old chief, with great deliberation, watched him put it through its paces. He then arose, brushed the agent one side, and seating himself, adjusted his feet in the treadle. He started the wheel and found that he could make it go. He sewed up one piece of cloth and down another and then gravely and critically examined his work. At last he appeared to be satisfied that it was all right. He then turned quietly to his wives, who had watched the proceedings with interest, and kicked them, one after the other, out of his tent."—Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

Pruning.

One of our chief aims is to form an evenly balanced, open, symmetrical head, and this can often be accomplished better by a little watchfulness during the season of growth than at any other time. If for instance, two branches start so closely together that one or the other must be removed in the spring pruning, why let the superfluous one grow at all? It is just so much wasted effort. By rubbing off the pushing bud or tender shoot the strength of the tree is thrown into the branches that we wish to remain. Thus the eye and hand of the master become to the young tree what instruction, counsel and admonition are to a growing boy, with the difference that the tree is easily and certainly managed when taken in time.

Trees left to themselves tend to form too much wood, like the grape-vine. Of course fine fruit is impossible when the head of a tree is like a thicket. The growth of unchecked branches follows the terminal bud, thus producing long naked reaches of wood devoid of fruit spurs. Therefore the need of shortening in, so that side branches may be developed. When the reader remembers that every dormant bud in early spring is a possible branch, and that even the immature buds at the axil of the leaves in early summer can be forced into immediate growth by pinching back the leading shoot, he will see how entirely the young tree is under his control. These simple facts and principles are worth far more to the intelligent man than any number of arbitrary rules as to the pruning. Reason and observation soon guide his hand in summer, or his knife in March, the season when trees are usually trimmed.

Beyond shortening in leading branches and cutting out crossing and interfering boughs, so as to keep the head symmetrical and open to light and air, the cherry does not need very much pruning. If with the lapse of years it becomes necessary to take off large limbs from any fruit-tree, the authorities recommend early June as the best season for the operation.—E. P. Roe, in Harper's Magazine for April.

Clerical Error.

Jim Webster was on his way home one day last week, when he met his friend, Sam Johnsing.

"Whar's you gwine, Sam?"

"Nowhar's in perticklar, Jim."

"Come home wid me and habe some dinner. We has got some yeller legged chicken for dinner."

Arriving at Jim Webster's house, they failed to find Mrs. Webster in, but on looking out the back door they perceived her hanging some clothes on a line to dry. She was not alone. Standing in front of her, with a heavenly smile on his features, casting admiring glances at her, and patting her gently on her saddle colored cheeks was Rev. Whangdoodle Baxter, pastor of the Austin Blue Light tabernacle. Sam Johnsing nudged his friend in the side, and asked:

"I say, Jim, I hopes you ain't sufferin' from de green-eyed monstrum; yer has pufice confidence in yer wife, hasn't yer?"

"You bet I has pufice confidence in Berlindy. She's all right, but I don't quite trust dat sainted pasture, Whangdoodle Baxter. He's de one I hasn't got no confidence in."—Texas Siftings.

THE NOVA SCOTIA ELECTIONS.

The Hamilton Times thus discourses upon the result and lessons of the elections in Nova Scotia:—

The Liberal Government has been sustained in Nova Scotia on the Repeal issue. The Province has elected 29 members out of 38 to support Mr. Fielding. We do not expect that this decision of the electors of Nova Scotia will result in an immediate rending of Confederation. It is an announcement that the people are tired of being overtaxed and then bribed with a portion of their own money. It is protest against the Macdonald system of government by corruption. It is a declaration in favor of free trade. The protected manufacturers in Nova Scotia did all they could to help the Tories. Two Dominion Ministers lent the weight of their influence and eloquence against the Liberal party. But the Nova Scotians by an overwhelming majority have announced their dissatisfaction with their condition. They have one more step to take. By taking as firm a stand in the Dominion elections as they have taken in the Provincial elections, they can co-operate with the liberals of the other Provinces to secure the overthrow of the Macdonald system and the reduction of needless taxation. Let them refuse Macdonald's bribes, and they can obtain an opportunity to raise their revenues and spend their own money for their own good, while at the same time helping the other Provinces to the same valuable privileges.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Liberalism scored an important victory in the Nova Scotia local elections. Out of a House of thirty-eight, twenty-nine Liberals and eight Conservatives have been elected. Toryism is evidently at discount down by the sounding sea. This result furnishes interesting material for forecasting the issue of the Dominion Elections, for in the recent local contest the Dominion was represented by two cabinet ministers who strove to turn the struggle on Dominion issues. Prince Edward Island is the next scene of conflict. The local elections are to take place within the next three weeks.

Police Court.

Scott Act Cases Again Before the Court.

Francis Anthony, charged by Inspector Cochrane with keeping liquor for sale between the 24th of May and June 16th, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning.

Mr. O'Meara asked for an adjournment on the ground that important witnesses for the defence had not been subpœnaed.

Inspector Cochrane was called and testified that he searched Anthony's premises yesterday under warrant and found about a quart of liquor—rye whiskey—in a jug on the premises.

Nelson Vickery testified that he got a drink of whiskey from Anthony at his shop on Aylmer street, two weeks ago Sunday. Edward Bongald drank with him. He paid 10 cents for the drinks.

To Mr. O'Meara the witness stated that he was not married; and that he did not board at Martigny's or Anthony's; Mrs. McDonald lived at Martigny's and he went there occasionally to see her. He paid Martigny for her board and was not sued by Martigny. He did not speak to anyone with regard to the case, and had not said he would inform on Anthony and make him jump for it, because of a quarrel they had.

Mr. O'Meara asked for an adjournment of the case, holding that the evidence of Vickery was not to be relied upon. He said he was informed that witnesses could be produced to prove that the evidence of Vickery was not correct.

Edward Bongald testified that he was in Anthony's two weeks ago Sunday with Vickery and had a drink of pop. He heard Anthony refuse Vickery whisky at first. The liquor Vickery drank was different in color from pop.

On application of the defendant the case was enlarged till to-morrow.

Thomas Dunn and Mrs. Dunn were summoned before the court charged with keeping liquor for sale between the 1st and 16th of June. He pleaded not guilty.

On application of the defendant the charge was amended, Thos. Dunn to bear the whole responsibility.

Mr. O'Meara objected to the defendant being called until a prima facie case had been made out, which was overruled.

Mr. T. Dunn was called, and testified that since his father's committal he had been running the hotel.

The witness declined to answer whether there was any liquor on the premises kept for sale between the 1st and 15th of June, on the ground that it might criminate him.

Under compulsion, the witness stated that since his father's committal he sold liquor for his father and kept it for sale at present. He sold liquor to Wm. Johnston.

Wm. Johnston testified that he had a drink of liquor at Dunn's a week ago, which he paid for.

Robert Henderson testified that he had a mixed drink at Dunn's Hotel, on Saturday last. There was whiskey in it. He paid for it. Several others drank with him.

Z. Bodgett testified that he had a drink of whiskey at Dunn's on Saturday last. Two bottles were emptied while he was present. The liquor was sold openly.

The magistrate found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $50 and costs, in default of payment distress, and in default of distress two months imprisonment.

The case against John Condon and James Condon for violation of the Scott Act, between the 1st and 31st of May, was called for hearing, and also a charge against —— McFarlane on a similar charge.

Mr. Sawers appeared for McFarlane, and explained that the defendant had promised to appear. He notified the Chief of Police to that effect and had not therefore been arrested.

The hearing of the Condon case was taken up.

Thomas Mervine testified that he had been at Condon's on one occasion since 1st May but had no liquor to drink.

John Condon testified that he kept a temperance house on Simcoe street. His father had nothing to do with it. There was a bar in the hotel. He rented the bar to McFarlane two weeks ago Thursday. McFarlane ran the bar till the summons came and then he ran away. McFarlane was responsible. He refused to answer whether any intoxicating liquor had been sold to McFarlane.

On the Magistrate ruling that he was compelled to answer, the question, he continued, that he sold no intoxicating liquor to McFarlane. He got a drink from McFarlane in his bedroom but did not pay for it. He did not know that McFarlane sold any liquor on the premises or kept it for sale. He did not sell any himself.

Jas. Condon testified that McFarlane was in the house when the summons was served but left soon after. He took charge of the hotel since. There was no liquor left in the bar. On one occasion McFarlane brought him a glass of beer in the dining room. He did not know where McFarlane got it—he did not keep it in the bar. He did not know whether McFarlane sold any liquor.

H. Parrington testified that he had a glass of beer at Condon's; McFarlane served him; the beer was kept in a little hole—under the stairway, just outside the bar; he drank the beer in the bar. This was after May 24th.

The magistrate enlarged the case till to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The hearing of the charge against McFarlane was also enlarged till to-morrow.

He Declined With Thanks.

I am afraid the incident of the time when Adj. Gen. Guthrie declined to drink with Gov. Pattison is not as fresh as it might be, but it is good enough to risk, especially as they both acknowledged it yesterday. It happened at the time the governor-elect sent for Col. Guthrie to offer him the position of adjutant general. He tendered him the position, and at the same time, so that they might compare views, proceeded to give Col. Guthrie his own notions of the needs of the service. Prominently he spoke of the prevalence of drinking among officers, and the bad influence it must have on the men. Suddenly, as though it had just occurred to him to be worth while to know before he went any further, he whirled around in his famous revolving chair, with the question:

"By the way, Col. Guthrie, do you drink?"

"Well, occasionally," responded the tall colonel slowly. "But I don't care for anything now, thank you."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Manager's Lucky Number.

Col. John McCaull, of the Broad Street Opera House, is in no way an old man, except that he is a disbeliever in many popular theories of modern times, one of which is the fatalism of the number 13. He declares the dogma of one plus a dozen being a combination of misfortunes is heresy. To the energetic manager of "The Mikado" and "Black Hussar" the number is full of charm and luck. This was the conclusion that the Times gatherer came to, after a short talk with the Colonel. The conversation was brought about by the happy manner in which the colonel had written an acceptance to a dinner to be given by the famous "13" Club of New York.

"Colonel, do you have no feeling of fear to sit down with a company of thirteen?" was the query.

This made the managerial Napoleon smile, and he remarked:

"I should certainly feel uncomfortable with any other number around the festal board. Some people lose their appetites when there are thirteen at the feast, and sit a whole year expecting trouble. At two of the most enjoyable feasts I ever sat down to there were just thirteen in the company. They were given when we opened 'The Mikado' season here.

"At the supper given the night before our opening with the D'Oyley Carte Company there were just thirteen gentlemen from Japan and maids from school, including the daughter-in-law-elect. On the night of our opening we entertained Sir Arthur Sullivan at dinner and we had thirteen at the table, and the great composer thought it so unique that he wrote home about it.

"This was certainly a 'pretty how d'ye do' for nervous folks, and a kettle of fish for people who are superstitious. We did not have such bad luck, after all. We opened with a $1,300 house and played a successful season of thirteen weeks.

"I never understood why thirteen was my magical number until I recalled the fact that I was born on the 13th of the month. I was the thirteenth John in the family, went to school until I was 13, and married thirteen years after that time.

"In looking over the register of the boxes I find that we opened with a box party of thirteen, and out of 110 we had during the season there were eighteen that were composed of 13 people. I believe in 13. It knocks out the biblical 40 and 7, and to say nothing of the mokes' suggestive 4-11-44. I take good care that my shoemaker puts 13 buttons on my shoes and always wear my scarf 13 inches long. I am an original 13 man. Here is my coupe. I'm off for the Broad Street Station."

On the lamp of the hack was the mystical number 13.—Philadelphia Times.

Cooking Food For The Sick.

The embargo on animal food removed by the convalescence of the patient, much of the difficulty in providing a pleasing variety vanishes. Still, certain restrictions remain. All fried food must be carefully avoided. The oft-repeated story of St. Lawrence having attained sanctity by a gridiron, and that in so doing he conferred upon that implement the power of making better everything prepared upon it, by no means applies to the frying-pan. It is labor enough for the vigorous stomach of a person of active habits to digest fried food, but the task becomes almost an impossibility to the delicate gastric organs of one who is just recovering from illness, and is unable to indulge in any but the slightest exercise. Let the convalescent's food then, be prepared by stewing, roasting or broiling; these afford a sufficiently wide scope for the most exacting palate. As a beverage for the invalid when no longer bound to a milk diet, nothing could be pleasanter or more nourishing than cocoatina.—Christine Terhune Herrick, in Good Housekeeping.

The Comstock lode has been worked to a depth of 3,200 feet, and has produced about $350,000,000.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

I HAVE great pleasure in announcing that MR. P. H. MORRIS the eminent Optician will be at my store IN A FEW DAYS, for the purpose of fitting the B. LAWRENCE PEBBLES and other SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES. The expressions of satisfaction from all those who availed themselves of his skill during his last visit, are very gratifying, and I conscientously and strongly advise all those needing aids to sight to call, have their eyes examined, and the best Spectacles in the World adjusted to their sight. MR. MORRIS ranks high in the optical world, and will so fit you as to ensure an abiding improvement in your eyes.

I wish to draw the special attention of the public to the valuable privilege accorded by Mr. B. Lawrence to all purchasers of his Spectacles, whether bought from former agents in Peterborough or from any of his agents in the Dominion of Canada, that they can, during Mr. Morris' visits, have them exchanged free of charge if they are not suited. This arrangement holds good with all Spectacles or Eye-Glasses sold in representation in the past and in the future. To meet the times I am selling the B. Lawrence Specs and Glasses from ONE DOLLAR per pair.

Flowers for Decoration Day.

Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F., will feel greatly obliged to the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity if they will kindly send any flowers they can spare to the shop of Mr. Harry Long, early on Tuesday forenoon, 22nd inst. Their kindness in donating flowers for "Decoration" during the past three years is a guarantee, we think, that their liberality in this respect will be continued to us this year. 141-3t

Seizure of Liquor.

Inspector Cochrane, in company with P. C. Adams, yesterday evening proceeded to the residence of Mr. Francis Anthony, the Italian pea-nut vendor, who was suspected of keeping liquor for sale, and against whom a search warrant had been issued. Their search was successful and resulted in the finding of a quantity of whiskey, which, was carefully stowed away and which was promptly confiscated. The court will consider the question whether it was for sale or not.

County Council.

This morning was a some-dies-non in County Council circles. A commmittee consisting of Messrs. Kidd, Warden, Lang and Stewart, accompanied by several members, took a trip to Wallace Point bridge to meet a committee from Durham and Northumberland to inspect some work that has been done under the county engineer's direction, and to see what more, if any, is required to be done. Consequently there was no session of the Council and no work in committee.

The Orillia Lacrossers.

The Orillia lacrosse team and a large number of friends arrived in town to-day. They all appear to be in fine trim for the fray and will go in for glory. The team is composed as follows:—A. E. Lawrence, goal; J. B. Henderson, point; G. Tudhope, cover point; H. Finch, James Quinn, A. Cameron, W. Hughes, R. Henderson, F. Stewart, L. Campbell, J. Washburn, C. Henderson. Geo. Thompson, field captain.

Strawberry Festival.

The ladies of the Charlotte street Methodist Church propose something unique and attractive in the way of a social, the colors, pink and white, being distinctive features of the affair. The social will be held in the school room and on the lawn of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening, June 29th. Both will be beautifully lighted and decorated for the occasion, the decorations being exclusively pink and white, a feature which will distinguish the attire of the ladies in waiting, and everything connected with the social. Further particulars in the future.

I. O. O. F. Decoration Day.

We are requested to say that visiting brothers and all Oddfellow residents in town not connected with either of the lodges, are cordially invited to join in the ceremonies of the day, Tuesday afternoon next, June 22nd. The Brethren will meet in the lodge rooms at 2 p. m., sharp and after preparing themselves, will muster in the Central Park and form in procession and proceed to the cemetery—headed by the Fire Brigade Band. After the ceremony of decorating the graves is over, half an hour to one hour will be spent in admiring the grounds of the most beautiful and romantic rural cemetery in the Dominion, when the procession will reform and return to their respective lodge rooms. 141-3t

Supposed Shower of Frogs.

Persons walking in the neighborhood of the C.P.R. station last night were surprised at seeing along the railway track and up George street, a colony of thousands or probably millions of small toads, about the size of a blue bottle fly. Where they came from was a mystery and whither they were going was another. It was generally agreed that they came down with the shower of rain which fell an hour or so before. The dusky little chirpers did not explain. It is not unlikely that the pelucid water of Spaulding's Bay became too warm for them and they started north in search of cooler waters and better feeding grounds. It is well that the man who sees all the cows and drinks around the streets is not the one to report this phenomenon might be differently explained.

Handsome Premises.

Messrs. Flaherty & Clark Take Possession of Their Neat, New Shop in Cox's Block, George Street.

Messrs. Flaherty & Clark, merchant tailors, yesterday took possession of their new and neat premises in Cox's block, George street, adjoining Fortye & Phelan's hardware store. During the past two or three weeks Mr. Cox has had a staff of workmen employed in thoroughly overhauling and refitting the premises, who have completed, in a creditable manner, their work, leaving the shop one of the brightest and most attractive places of business in town.

The shop throughout has been remodeled, and is fitted up in the most modern style. According to the latest and most approved method, the door has been removed back from the street several feet, to permit of a side light to the show window, fitted with plate glass. The upper paanel of the door is of crystal, while the woodwork is grained a beautiful mahogany. A handsome hardwood floor, in which attractive figures are worked with black ash, cherry and maple, provides a solid footing. The northern side of the shop is graced with substantial counters, the lower portion of which are mahogany, while the cap is of oiled ash. The shelving is in keeping with the rest of the woodwork, being resplendent in mahogany supports with white cross boards, the whole capped with a suitable cornice, which shelving sets off to advantage the clothing materials shown by Messrs. Flaherty & Clark. The drawers and a neat little office at the rear of the salesroom are finished in mahogany grain. The walls and ceiling are richly papered, while four-jet gasaliers of the most beautiful design illuminate the establishment at night. An oiled ash partition separates the salesroom from the cutting room, where Mr. W. Meredith wields the scissors with dexterity and precision. The southern side of the shop is occupied by mahogany finished tables which also show to advantage the proprietors' attractive stock of suitings, etc.

The second flat will be used as a dressing room, while the third flat will be occupied as a workshop. In such a favorable stand Messrs. Flaherty & Clark by a careful attention to business and by the courteous and honest treatment which has characterized their dealings with customers, will no doubt do a thriving and profitable business.

In addition to fitting up these premises Mr. Geo. A. Cox has with his characteristic enterprise made material improvements to several of his properties along George street, which it may not be out of place to notice.

The commodious premises occupied by Mr. Adam Hall have been refitted throughout, the old style of front being replaced by plate glass.

Messrs. Fairweather & Co. had the front of their shop remodelled and fitted up with plate glass, double show windows being formed by moving and indenting the door.

Messrs. Mills Bros. also had the front of their hat store provided with plate glass.

The millinery show room of Mr. J. C. Turnbull, facing Simcoe street, was also provided with plate glass and other improvements made about the shop.

The hardware store of Messrs. Fortye & Phelan is almost rebuilt and is yet in the hands of the workmen.

Ontario Driving Park Association.

A meeting of all those interested in the Driving Parks of Ontario, will be held at Toronto to-morrow, for the purpose of forming an association for the Province. Mr. Ed. Brown will represent the Peterborough Driving Park Association.

Plants at Less than Cost.

Mr. Francis Mason, being about removing his greenhouses to more commodious premises and not wishing too have too much to move, offers his stock now on hand and for the next month, at prices that are simply ridiculous. A lot of plants in boxes such as flower seedlings, cocks-comb, pansies, golden feverfew, tomato, &c., at 5 c. per box. 141-3t

Important Publications.

Mr. Wm. Briggs, publisher, has just issued two beautifully bound and timely books; one is "Shall We or Shall we Not—Drink Wine, Play Cards, Attend Theatres;" a series of five sermons on these subjects delivered by Rev. Hugh Johnston in the Pavilion Music Hall, Toronto. They are full of cogent argument and stirring and pointed appeal. Price, 25 cents. Toronto: Wm. Briggs, publisher.

The other is "Business Character," a timely and practical treatise on the elements necessary to the formation of business character by Mr. John Macdonald, the well-known merchant, of Toronto. It is full of invaluable advice and should be in the hands of every young man contemplating a business career. Price, 35 cents. Toronto: Wm. Briggs, publisher.

A Beard Five Feet Long.

Spartanburg county, in South Carolina, is noted for its long-bearded men. Men have beards like Aaron's, which come down to their waists, but Mr. K. J. McCarley, the postmaster at Walnut Grove, is said to have the longest beard in the United States. He wears it plaited and keeps it under his clothing. The plait runs down to his waist and then around his waist twice. When combed out it reaches down to his feet. Mr. McCarley is 5 feet 10 inches high, is 45 years of age and of light complexion. His beard is a little mixed with gray. He owns a good farm and is well to-do. Mr. McCarley says that his beard continues to grow, and when it gets long enough to lie on the floor and he can walk around it he expects to put himself on exhibition.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mrs. George H. Pendleton is credited with leveling at Oscar Wilde one of the keenest shafts of wit of which he was the target when visiting this country. He had remarked, disparagingly, that "America has no ruins and noted curiosities, you know." She is said to have retorted: "The ruins will come in time, and as for the curiosities we import them."

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. The Home Rule Fight Begun.

Gladstone Sees Out for Scotland—Sent Off With Extraordinary Enthusiasm.

LONDON, June 17.—Gladstone started this morning at 11 o'clock on his Scotch campaign. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone. Thousands of people congregated at the railway station to witness his departure. The crowd was enormous. It seriously blocked and delayed the approach of the Premier's carriage. When Gladstone finally succeeded in reaching the station platform he found it packed with people who welcomed him with enthusiastic cheering. At last he reached his seat in the special coach assigned for his conveyance. The window at his seat was open. When the crowd saw him through the window they set up another cheer, which was repeated several times. The people seemed desirous of having the Premier address them with some parting words before going away on his arduous errand.

He arose and spoke from the coach window. He thanked the people for the honor of their "extraordinary demonstration." He adjured them to allow nothing to hide the bare question of the hour. "Attempts have been made," the venerable orator exclaimed, "and will be made, to divert your attention from the real question at issue. This question is solely whether Ireland shall be trusted to manage her own affairs. Those who deny Ireland this right admit that Canada and other British colonies enjoy such rights. Are we to trust our fellow subjects in Ireland and govern by love, or are we to adopt the policy of the Government's enemies and introduce into Ireland Government by force?"

Gladstone then bade his hearers good-bye and the train moved away. Enthusiastic and prolonged cheering accompanied its departure and hundreds of people, waving handkerchiefs and hats and God-speeding the Premier, ran along the platform beside his coach until the train out-sped them.

A Nut for Protectionists.

The protectionists delight to bewail the alleged decadence of Britain's iron trade; but facts appear determined to give their natural enemies—the protectionists—a hard tussle. The increased exportation of iron and steel from Great Britain during the first quarter of this year totalled 32,068 tons, compared with the first quarter of 1885, and a remarkable fact is that the increase was almost exclusively in the exports to that great protectionist country, the United States. The latter country actually imported from Great Britain during the period named 113,255 tons of iron and steel more than in the corresponding period of 1885, and about 74,000 tons more than in the same period of 1884. This increased consumption of iron and steel upon this continent is a visible sign of a slight improvement in trade. But what have the protectionists to say to this?

The Home Rule Question.

Important Liberal Manifesto.

LONDON, June 16.—Lord Derby and other prominent Liberals have issued a manifesto to the electors of Liverpool, in which they say:—"The Liberals must choose between allegiance to Mr. Gladstone and allegiance to principles. Hesitation is impossible. We appeal to those who prefer patriotism to party to support the Unionist Association, and to follow approved Liberals like Mr. Bright, Lord Hartington, Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Selborne, Mr. Goschen, Mr. Collings, Mr. Henry James, and many others. England is bound to protect loyal Irishmen of whatever creed. It would be repugnant to employ the Queen's forces to compel loyal people to submit to a government arising out of a system of cruel outrage and terrorism. How long would the so-called safe-guards last? The re-conquest of Ireland has become inevitable. The House Rule and Land Purchase scheme mean disaster to Ireland and injustice to England. They are pregnant with strife, collision and danger, involving many millions of hard-earned money of taxpayers."

The Cathedral Pic-nic.

Posters were put out to-day announcing the annual pic-nic of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral, which will be held on Dominion Day, on the grounds of the Separate School, Murray street. A splendid programme of competitive sports and games, consisting of twenty-four events, will be presented. The prizes, which are about fifty in number, will be unusually valuable, and will no doubt induce a lively competition and first-class amusement. For those disposed for other forms of recreation, a dancing platform and a first-class string band will be provided. An excellent dinner will be given by the ladies during the afternoon. Efforts will be made to make this pic-nic, in every way, the best of the fine series of pic-nics given by this congregation. Entrance to the grounds 25 cents; children half price. Dinner 75c.

REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE

"STRONG DRINK THE WORST FOE OF LABOR."

The Rev. Doctor Proclaims a Strike Against Intemperance—Money Spent For Rum Would Soon Make Capitalists of the Workingmen.

BROOKLYN, June 13.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., preached to-day in the Brooklyn Tabernacle, the fifth of his series of sermons on "The Labor Question." His subject was: "Strong Drink the Worst Foe of Labor." The opening hymn was:

So let our lips and lives express
The Holy Gospel we profess
So let our works and virtues shine,
To prove the doctrine all divine.

After explaining appropriate passages of Scripture, Dr. Talmage took his text from Haggai, i, 6: "He that earneth wages earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes." Dr. Talmage said: In Persia under the reign of Darius Hystaspes the people did not prosper. They made money but did not keep it. They were like people who have a sack in which they put money, not knowing that the sack is torn or eaten of moths or in some way made incapable of holding valuables. As fast as the coin was put in one end of the sack it dropped out of the other. It made no difference how much wages they got, for they lost them. "He that earneth wages earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes."

What has become of the billions and billions of dollars in this country paid to the working classes? Some of these moneys have gone for house rent or the purchase of homesteads, or wardrobe, or family expenses, or the necessities of life, or to provide comforts in old age. What has become of other billions? Wasted in foolish outlay. Wasted at the gaming table. Wasted in intoxicants. Put into a bag with a hundred holes.

Gather up the money that the working classes have spent for rum during the last thirty years and I will build for every workingman a house, and lay out for him a garden, and clothe his sons in broadcloth and his daughters in silks, and stand at his front door a prancing span of sorrels or bays, and secure him a policy of life insurance so that the present home may be maintained after he is dead. The most persistent, the most overpowering enemy of the working classes is intoxicating liquor. It is the anarchist of the centuries, and has boycotted and is now boycotting the body and mind and soul of American labor. It is to it a worse foe than monopoly and worse than associated capital. It annually swindles industry out of a large percentage of its earnings. It holds out its blasting solicitations to the mechanic or operative on his way to work, and at the noon-spell, and on his way home at eventide, or Saturday, when the wages are paid, it snatches a large part of the money that might come to the family and sacrifices it among the saloon-keepers. Within 300 yards of Sands Street Methodist church, Brooklyn, it has fifty-four saloons and is plotting now for another. Stand the saloons of this country side by side and it is carefully estimated they would reach from New York to Chicago. Forward, march, says the rum power, and take possession of the American nation.

The rum business is pouring its vitriolic and damnable liquids down the throats of hundreds of thousands of laborers, and while the ordinary strikes are ruinous both to employers and employes, I proclaim a universal strike against strong drink, which if kept up will be the relief of the working classes and the salvation of the nation. I will undertake to say that there is not a healthy laborer in the United States who, within the next ten years, if he will refuse all intoxicating beverage and be saving, may not become a capitalist on a small scale. Our country in a year spends $1,800,050,000 for rum. Of course the working classes do a great deal of this expenditure. Careful statistics show that the wage-earning classes of Great Britain expend in liquors £100,000,000, or $500,000,000 a year. Sit down and calculate, O working man! how much you have expended in these directions. Add it all up. Add up what your neighbors have expended and realize that instead of answering the beck of other people you might have been your own capitalist.

When you deplete a workingman's physical energy you deplete his capital. The stimulated workman gives out before the unstimulated workman.

My father said: "I became a temperance man in early life because I noticed in the harvest field that, though I was physically weaker than other workman, I could hold out longer than they. They took stimulants, I took none."

A brickmaker in England gives his experience in regard to this matter among men in his employ. He says after investigation: "The beer drinker who made the fewest bricks made 669,000; the abstainer who made the fewest bricks, 746,000. The difference in behalf of the abstainer over the indulger, 87,000."

There came a very exhausting time in the British parliament. The session was prolonged until nearly all the members got sick or worn out. Out of 669 members only two went through undamaged. They were teetotalers.

When an army goes out to the battle, the soldier who has water or coffee in his canteen marches easier and fights better than the soldier who has whisky in his canteen. Rum helps a man to fight when he has only one contestant, and that at the street corner. But when he goes forth to maintain some great battle for God and his country he wants no rum about him. When the Russians go to war a corporal passes along the line and smells the breath of every soldier. If there be in his breath a taint of intoxicating liquor the man is sent back to the barracks. Why? He cannot endure fatigue. All our young men know this. When they are preparing for a regatta or for a ball club, or for an athletic wrestling they abstain. Our working people will be wiser after a while, and the money they fling away on hurtful indulgences they will put into co-operative association and so become capitalists. If the workingman put down his wages and then take his expenses and spread them out so they will just equal he is not wise. I know workingmen who are in a perfect fidget until they get rid of their last dollar.

The following circumstances came under our observation: A young man worked hard to earn his $600 or $700 yearly. Marriage day came. The bride had inherited $600 from her grandfather. She spent every dollar of it on the wedding dress. Then they rented two rooms in a third story. Then the young man took extra evening employment—almost exhausted with the day's work yet took evening employment. It almost extinguished his eyesight. Why did he add evening employment to the day employment? To lay up something for a rainy day? No. To get his life insured so that in case of his death his wife would not be a beggar? No. He put the extra evening work to the day work that he might get $1,000 to get his wife a sealskin coat. The sister of the bride heard of this achievement and was not to be outdone. She was very puny and she sat up working nearly all the night for a great while until she bought a sealskin coat. I have not heard of the result on that street. The street was full of those who are on small incomes, but I suppose the contagion spread and that every body had a sealskin coat, and that the people came out and cried, practically, not literally, "Though the heavens fall we must have a sealskin coat."

I was out west and a minister of the gospel told me in Iowa, that his church and the neighborhood had been impoverished by the fact that they put mortgages on their farms in order to send their families to the Philadelphia centennial. It was not respectable not to go to the centennial. Sorrows such evils and pauperism there in a very short step. The vast majority of children in your almshouses are there because their parents are drunken, or lazy, or recklessly improvident.

I have no sympathy for slimflint shrivel, but I plead for Christian prudence. You say it is impossible now to lay up anything for a rainy day. I know it, but we are at the daybreak of national prosperity. Some people think it is mean to turn the gas low when they go out of the parlor. They feel embarrassed if the door bell rings before they have the hall lighted. They apologize for the plain meal if you surprise them at the table. Well, it is mean if it is only to pile up a miserly hoard. But if it be to educate your children, if it be to give more help to your wife when she does not feel strong, if it be to keep your funeral day from being horrible beyond all endurance because it is to be the disruption and annihilation of the domestic circle—if it be for that, then it is magnificent.

There are those who are kept in poverty because of their own fault. They might have been well off, but they smoked or chewed up their earnings, or they lived beyond their means; while others, on the same wages and on the same salaries, went on to competency. I know a man who was all the time complaining of his poverty and crying out against rich men, while he himself keeps two dogs and chews and smokes and is full to the chin with whisky and beer. Wilkins Micawber said to David Copperfield: "Copperfield, my boy, one pound income, twenty shillings and sixpence; result, misery. But, Copperfield, my boy, one pound income, nineteen shillings and sixpence; result, happiness." But, O workingman of America, take your morning dram and your noon dram, and your evening dram, and spend everything you have over for tobacco and excursions, and you insure poverty for yourself and your children forever. If by some generous fiat of the capitalists of this country, or by a new law of the government of the United States, twenty-five per cent or fifty per cent or one hundred per cent were added to the wages of the working classes of America, it would be no advantage to hundreds of thousands of them unless they stopped strong drink. Aye, until they quit that evil habit, the more money, the more ruin; the more wages, the more holes in the bag.

My plea this morning is to those working people who are in a discipleship to the whisky bottle, the beer mug and the wine flask. And what I say to them will not be more appropriate to the working classes than to the business classes, and the literary classes, and the professional classes, and all classes, and not with the people of one age more than of all ages. Take one good square look at the suffering of the man whom strong drink has enthralled, and remember that toward that goal multitudes are running.

The direful of alcoholism suffers the loss of his self respect. Just as soon as a man wakes up and finds that he is the captive of strong drink, he feels demeaned. I do not care how reckless he acts. He may say "I don't care;" he does care. He cannot look a pure man in the eye unless it is with positive force of resolution. Three-fourths of his nature is destroyed; his self-respect is gone; he says things he would not otherwise say; he does things he would not otherwise do. When a man is nine-tenths gone with strong drink, the first thing he wants to do is to persuade you that he can stop any time he wants to. He cannot. The Philistines have bound him hand and foot, and shorn his locks, and put out his eyes, and are making him grind in the mill of a great horror. He cannot stop. I will prove it. He knows that his course is bringing ruin upon himself. He loves himself. If he could stop he would. He knows his course is bringing ruin upon his family. He loves them. He would stop if he could. He cannot. Perhaps he could three months or a year ago—not now. Just ask him to stop for a month. He cannot; he knows he cannot, so he does not try. I had a friend who for fifteen years was going down under this evil habit. He had large means. He had given thousands of dollars to Bible societies and reformatory institutions of all sorts. He was very genial, very generous and very lovable, and whenever he talked about this evil habit he would say, "I can stop any time." But he kept going on, going on, down, down, down. His family would say, "I wish you would stop." "Why," he would reply, "I can stop any time if I want to." After a while he had delirium tremens, he had it twice, and yet after that he said, "I could stop at any time if I wanted to." He is dead now. What killed him? Rum! rum! And yet among his last utterances was, "I can stop at any time." He did not stop it because he could not stop it. Oh, there is a point in inebriation beyond which if a man goes he cannot stop.

It is a well-known fact that the CABLE and EL PADRE brands of cigars are the oldest, most reliable, and best value in the market. For the last quarter of a century the demand for these brands has steadily increased, necessitating the employing of close on to one thousand operatives. NORTHWEST MISGOVERNMENT.

At the session of the Presbyterian General Assembly, held in Hamilton, Rev. Principal Caven of Knox College, introduced the subject of the ill treatment of the Northwest Indians by the Dominion Government agents—and the Northwest Mounted Police. In the assembly, a body which all will acknowledge, are not swayed by partisan feelings, the following strong resolution was adopted by a unanimous standing vote:

"The General Assembly, whilst disclaiming all political party aims, feels bound to give expression to its convictions regarding the treatment of the Indians in the Northwest by the Dominion of Canada. No judgment is here expressed on our general policy towards the Indians and the meritorious character and services of many servants of the Government in the Indian department are gladly recognized, but it seems to be established by irresistible evidence that in too many instances a people who are wards of the Government are being wronged and defrauded by those who are specially appointed to care for them and promote their interests; whilst flagrant immorality is too often chargeable upon public servants, as well as upon traders and other whites who come much in contact with the Indian population. Thus the missionary efforts of the churches are counteracted and hindered, many sufferings brought upon the Indians, and a state of disaffection towards the Dominion is to some extent engendered.

"The General Assembly would earnestly represent to the Government of Canada the imperative necessity of at once cancelling all appointment of agents or instructors who are known to be tyrannical, unjust or immoral, and of filling their places with men of integrity, sobriety and purity. Further, the Presbyterian Church pledges itself, as far as may be in its power, to co-operate with the public authorities in promoting the social improvement and the temporal well-being of the Indians, whilst in common with other churches seeking to bring them under the holy influences of the Christian religion."

This is a strong arraignment the Government and a strong and influential condemnation of the course of misgovernment which must be of a serious nature to bring from a solemn deliberative body a protest like the above. Those who had any doubt before of the Dominion government's, callous indifference to the interests of the Indians their wilful tolerance of the most flagrant breaches of faith by their servants, and the most rascally dishonesty of administration of a solemn trust, cannot now doubt that the Government is guilty of the crimes that led to and precipitated the Northwest rebellion which involved both the Half-breeds and the Indians, as well. Sir John when he receives the above resolution will see that men of calm, clear and honest judgment, can appreciate the result of his methods, and he will feel that they have only anticipated the condemnation the people are prepared to pronounce when the occasion arises.

June Session of Our County Legislature.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

There was no sitting of the Council this morning, the members being engaged in committee work.

Police Court.

The Hearing of Scott Act Cases Continued

The charge against John McFarlane, for violation of the Scott Act, was called for hearing at the Police Court this morning, before Police Magistrate Dumble. The defendant did not appear and the case was proceeded with in his absence.

Howard Perrington was sworn and testified that he got beer to drink from McFarlane at Condon's hotel on the Saturday following the 29th of May. The beer was the ordinary malt beer, and was paid for.

Chief Cowpk, testified that he saw McFarlane after the warrant was issued. He admitted having sold liquor. He was with Mr. Sawers, who undertook that McFarlane would appear. McFarlane said he would appear. He knew a warrant had been issued for his arrest. He said he was not present when the summons was left at Condon's, but he had since received it. He stated that he would plead guilty of selling liquor as Condon's servant, but not for himself.

James Condon testified that on June 10th he delivered the summons left at his place to McFarlane, who returned to his house on that day. McFarlane boarded at his son's house.

Enos Dunford testified and said he knew McFarlane. McFarlane had worked for him.

The Magistrate found the defendant guilty and imposed the usual fine of $50 and costs.

The hearing of the charge against John and James Condon, enlarged from yesterday, was continued.

John Drake testified that he got some whiskey to drink at Condon's hotel between the 1st and 31st of May, about three weeks ago. He paid for it. He did not know that there was any beer or liquor kept for sale at Condon's stable.

To Mr. O'Meara he stated that McFarlane served him. It was two or three days before he got the summons. He was served with the summons on June 5th.

Re-examined by Mr. Edwards he said it might have been three weeks ago. McFarlane served him with whiskey from a flask in his pocket.

James Drake testified that during the month of May he got whiskey to drink at Condon's. He got it on half a dozen occasions and paid for it. He did not get any when Condon was present. McFarlane served him in his bedroom upstairs once and the other times in a little room off the bar. McFarlane said he had rented the place.

C. Wamsley testified that he got beer to drink at Condon's several times between the 1st and 31st of May and paid for it. The beer was kept in a small room off the bar.

Joseph Parrington testified that he had some beer to drink at Condon's several times between the 1st and 31st of May. It was paid for, but not by him. McFarlane supplied the liquor and seemed to control the bar.

Thos. McGinty testified that he got beer to drink at Condon's on Saturday, after May 29th and paid for it. McFarlane served him.

John Condon testified that McFarlane took charge of the bar three weeks ago Wednesday. The day before McFarlane took charge of the bar he offered him $1.50 a day. He had not sold liquor since July 8th and did not engage McFarlane to shift the responsibility. Since McFarlane left, his father took charge of the bar.

To Mr. O'Meara the witness said the lease he had entered into with McFarlane was bona fide. The lease was produced. He remained their four days after renting the bar, but did not know that McFarlane was selling liquor.

To Mr. Edwards—John Condon said he signed the lease before McFarlane went away. McFarlane refused to sign it, he said there was no use being in a hurry.

James Condon, re-called, testified that when McFarlane skipped out there was some pop, cigars, etc left. He had taken charge of the bar since, selling as before McFarlane took it.

Mr. Edwards asked for an adjournment for a week for the purpose of securing McFarlane.

The magistrate granted the request.

The hearing of the charge against Francis Anthony, enlarged from yesterday, was resumed.

Francis Anthony testified that he never sold any liquor to Nelson Vickery. Joseph and Rosini Martigny own the house in which he lives and does business for them. Vickery was sued by him. Anthony produced two bottles, one of pop and the other of sarsaparilla.

Mr. O'Meara tested the sarsaparilla.

To Mr. Edwards, Anthony said that he managed the business for wages. He and Martigny divided the profits. The whiskey he kept was for his own use.

Michael Ross and Vinarro, an interpreter, were sworn and stated that Anthony did not sell whiskey to Vickery. He was outside the door of the house at the time referred to and saw Vickery drink "black stuff," or what Mr. O'Meara called sarsaparilla.

A second interpreter had to be sworn.

The magistrate, after summing up the evidence, dismissed the charge against Anthony, without costs.

Rum and Oil.

"Let me have a little butter, please," said a stout, elderly gentleman, who stood in front of the Morton house bar the other evening, with a glass of steaming hot rum before him.

The white-aproned bartender bent down, and from a shelf underneath the polished mahogany brought up a dish of butter in which was stuck a silver knife. With this the man took off a lump of butter and dropped it into his glass and stirred it about until it was melted. Then he drank the concoction slowly, with an oily smile overspreading his features.

"Yes, it is rather a curious drink," said the bartender to the reporter standing by, "but it is a very pleasant one, and a great favorite with some gentlemen. Those who don't know of its effects, however, had better let it alone, for the effects are apt to be queer. The man who drinks a number of these hot rums would be quite sober when he went home, but in the morning when he woke up he would be as drunk as a lord. That's odd, isn't it? But it is easy enough to explain. It is because there is so much oil in the butter.

"Let me explain, and you can try it yourself. Take a bottle of sweet-oil with you when you go out with the boys the next time. Order any kind of liquor you like, though I wouldn't bother much with beer if I were you. Pour into the glass a few drops of sweet-oil every time you take a drink. No matter how much you drink you will keep sober, while your friends, if they have kept up with you, will be in a very 'how-came-you-so' condition. You go home and go to bed feeling all right, and in the morning when you wake up you will be dead drunk. The reason is simple. Oil, as you must know, rises to the surface.

"Consequently, when you drink these oil-covered concoctions the oil will remain on the surface in your stomach, keeping the fumes of the liquor down. That prevents you from getting drunk. When you have stopped drinking and gone to sleep, thus giving your interior arrangements a chance to go about their ordinary duties, the oil will gradually evaporate itself through the system, allowing the fumes of the liquor to rise to your head. The consequence is that you awake in the morning 'full.' It's the funniest thing in the world when a man has this experience for the first time. He can't understand it at all, neither can his wife, who has seen him go to bed sober the night before, and can't be persuaded that he has not got up during the early hours to take on the load he apparently has with him. Butter has the same effect as sweet-oil, because it contains a large percentage of that fluid in its composition, so I'd advise you to leave hot rum and butter severely alone if you're a married man. But if your're going on a trip, and want to take along a load that won't operate until the next day, you can try what oil will do for you."—N. Y. Star.

Gouverneur Morris.

Gouverneur Morris is by no means so well known to the present generation as he ought to be. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he has not been and is not justly appreciated. If, however, we turn to M. Taine's great work on the French Revolution, we find that he relies on Morris as one of the best and most penetrating observers of that great struggle and places him at the head of the small group of men like Arthur Young, Malouet, and Mallet du Pan, who alone were able to record clear and dispassionate judgments in that dizzy time, for the benefit of posterity. The comments of Mr. Morris, thus rescued from his biography and brought before a wide public by M. Taine, already have attracted attention elsewhere, and a recent article in Macmillan's Magazine shows how striking his criticisms and narrative really are. Such a prophet should never be without honor in his own country, and now that he is winning admiration in England and France perhaps it would not be amiss to refresh our own memories in regard to him.

It is not to be wondered at that M. Taine and others find so much that is admirable in Gouverneur Morris, for in him many high qualities met in a rare combination. A man of the world and of society, a wit, philosopher, and fine gentleman, he was also a bold and ardent patriot, an able and most practical statesman, a distinguished lawyer, and a successful manager of large business affairs. He played a conspicuous part among the many eminent men of his day, but in one respect [illegible] from them all. He had a keen wit, a strong sense of humor, and a capacity for amusing satire which are to be seen in all his writings. If we except Franklin, who was of an earlier generation, Gouverneur Morris holds in this respect a lonely pre-eminence among his friends and contemporaries. The great men of our revolutionary and constitutional period were, it must be confessed, judging from their letters and journals, somewhat ponderous. Now and then we find a moment when we can laugh at them, but Morris is the only one of them all with whom we laugh or smile in sympathy. This is enough of itself to make us hold him in remembrance, but he was far more than merely an amusing companion or a writer of clever letters.—Henry Cabot Lodge, in April Atlantic.

We publish to-day the closing sermon of Talmage's series on the labor question. As Dr. Talmage leaves the country for his summer holidays this week, we shall be unable for a few weeks to supply the sermons of this popular divine, which are read with great interest by all classes. We have endeavored to procure Beecher's, but as he, too, is off on his holidays, of course, he delivers no sermons.

A Reminder.

The Secretary of the P.A.A.A. has placed in the hands of the caretaker a list of members of the cricket club, among which are those of several in arrears for dues. The caretaker hopes he will not be obliged to intimate to any gentleman that his instructions compel him to insist that only members who have paid their fees are expected to avail themselves of the privileges of full membership.

Their kindness in donating flowers for "Decoration" during the past three years is a guarantee, we think, that their liberality in this respect will be continued to us this year. 141-3t

A Story From Toronto.

A story is told by some Peterborough people who were in Toronto yesterday, to the effect that an elderly gentleman and lady from town made themselves over conspicuous at the Union Station, Toronto. According the story both of the loving couple were under the influence of spirits. The gallant old beau purchased the lady's ticket, helped her to the wrong train, and after embracing her, gave her several sounding "smax" and separated.

To-Night is the Night.

Remember that to-night is the date of the re-presentation of the beautiful cantata of the "Flower Queen or the Coronation of the Rose," in Bradburn's Opera House. Excellent and enjoyable as was the entertainment on the first occasion, the experience of that time and subsequent practice will enable the performers to put the cantata before the public with much more satisfactory results. All who attend will not only be rewarded by a splendid programme of musical and spectacular enjoyment, but will be rewarded by the consciousness of assisting a good cause, the concert being in aid of the funds of the Peterborough Protestant Home.

A Strange Witness.

Michael Rose, an Italian who gave evidence at the police court this morning, was rather contradictory in his evidence. The following is a sample:

Mr. Edwards—Do you understand English?

Witness—No.

Mr. Edwards—Not a little bit?

Witness—No, not a little bit; don't understand English at all.

His ignorance of the English language, however, did not prevent him from understanding a conversation between Anthony and the other witnesses brought up.

Orillias the Champions.

They Win the Natal Match, Defeating the Peterboroughs by Three Straight Games.

The match between the Orillia and Peterborough lacrosse teams yesterday afternoon, for the Central Ontario Championship and medal was not as fine an exhibition of the game as has been seen in the town, but was very interesting. Unfortunately for the home team it resulted in their defeat by three straight games. The result of the game was not unexpected. Several of the solid men of the old team having entered business retired from the field, and only came out to play so that the Orillias would not secure the medal by default. The weather was fine during the first and second games, while during the second innings a light shower kept the contestants cool. The spectators, numbering about three hundred, many of whom were ladies, were all enthusiasm, some few showing a desire to captain the home team. About a quarter past three the teams stretched out along the field, both teams looking in good form, the visitors having the advantage in regularity—in dress anyway.

The following are the names of the players and the positions on the field:

Orillias	Peterboroughs.
A E Lawrence.....Goal	.....Traynor
J B Henderson..... Point	.....Dr. Brennan
G Tudhope.....Cover Point	.....M Tierney
H Finch.....1st Defence Field	.....—Welsh
James Quinn .2nd " "	.....M. Halpin
A Cameron....3rd " "	.....A Rose
W Hughes.....Centre	.....J J Sheehy
B Henderson....1st Home Field	...J Henderson
F Stewart.....2nd " "	.....S Simpson
L Campbell....3rd " "	.....W J Scott
J Washburn.....Second Out	.....W Redkins
C Henderson.....Home	.....J Canning
Geo Thompson .....Captain	.....G Fortye

Umpires.—E W Whiffen and J J Daly.
Referee.—Andrew McNeil.

The program of the match showed want of practice on the part of the home team. The visitors outplayed them on all parts of the field, save occasionally when some old time heroes girded up their loins, called in and carried all before them. For the Orillias the Henderson brothers trio were most conspicuous, J. B. as point, "Dick" on home field and Colin alias "Shorty" on home. The latter was successful in putting the ball between the flags in every game. The other members of the team did equally well when opportunity offered, playing a rattling good game. Lawrence in goal, though small, filled the place well. For the home team defence Tierney did excellent work, and had a good support in Dr. Brennan. On the defence field Welsh, Rose and Halpin worked well and made some good play. Sheehy, at facing, was as successful as ever, but on the field he was not his former self. Joe Henderson did good work on the field, while the home men, especially Canning, worked hard, but were not equal to their opponents. The field captains marshalled their men well, and on one occasion when a row seemed imminent, by their prompt action soon settled the matter. The decisions of the referee were satisfactory to both teams.

The first game lasted 38 minutes and was warmly contested. Sheehy faced with Hughes, and after a manner peculiarly his own, passed the ball to Henderson, who sent it up to Orillias' flags. J. B. Henderson promptly sent it to the other end of the field only to be sent back by Tierney—over the fence, too. The rubber was returned and for the remainder of the game was kept well around the Peterborough's goal. Occasionally it rolled out to field, when Rose generally captured it and sent it up the field, only to return. After a sharp skirmish C. Henderson sent the ball through the Peterborough's flags.

The first part of the second game was almost a repetition of the first. The play was however, shifted to the Orillia's goal, where the brunt of the battle was fought. The defence proved invincible, however, and the ball was returned to the Peterborough goal, "Shorty" Henderson captured it and by a clever shot put it between the flags. The time was 29 minutes. Wild throws were numerous and as a result the referee was kept busy facing.

The third game only lasted eighteen minutes, but was well contested. The ball was kept around the Peterborough flags, but Tierney, Welch, Canning and Henderson by good throwing and some clever checking guarded the flags. Sheehy made a good run up the field and made a good shot. The ball was cleverly caught by Hughes, who brought it down the field after an exciting chase. The rubber went over the flags and was tossed out by Redkins who occupied the goal during the third game. C. Henderson captured it and by a sharp side shot sent it through the flags, thus ending the game. With a wild yell the successful shootist sent his stick to the winds, and went up the cinpath on a run. He was checked by the others of the club, who carried him from the field. After the usual cheering the crowd dispersed, the Orillias making for the train. They were presented with the medal by the Secretary. A large crowd accompanied the champions to the depot to see them off.

Ennismore Picnic.

A Most Successful Affair—Excellent Sports—Everybody Pleased.

The annual picnic in connection with the Ennismore R. C. Church was held at the beautiful picnic park on the shore of Chemong Lake, Bridgenorth, yesterday afternoon. The weather was all that could be desired, with the exception that in the afternoon a slight shower fell. The grounds were thronged all day, and everything passed off pleasantly. A large number drove out from town. Rev. Father Keilty and the energetic committee of management were untiring in their efforts to entertain, and with every success. The grounds were in their loveliest state, affording excellent facilities for all sort of amusement, which were indulged in to the contentment of all. The tree dinner provided by the ladies was perfection, and was patronised by the large throng that showed their appreciation of the edibles provided. After dinner the young men engaged in athletic sports, while the ladies encouraged them by looks of approval. The following were the prize winners:

PUTTING THE HEAVY WEIGHT.—1st, T. Flynn, 35 ft.; 2nd, P. Scully, 34 ft. 3 in. Five entries.

TOSSING THE CABER.—1st, P. O'Connor, 37 ft.5 in.; 2nd, D. Kennedy, 37 ft.4in.; seven entries.

The Fire Brigade Orchestra was present and furnished music for dancing, which was indulged in by a merry party. Everything passed off pleasantly and the pic-nic will long be remembered as a most enjoyable event. The financial result of the pic-nics was very satisfactory.

The British Elections.

The British and Irish general elections will be on and over almost before the world realizes the fact. On Thursday and Friday of next week Parliament will be dissolved by royal proclamation and a general election ordered. Before the dissolution is announced the writs for the election will be all ready for issue and be dispatched immediately. They go to the sheriffs of counties, the mayors of towns and to other persons as returning officers, wherever there are no such former named functionaries. The polling must take place within nine days of the receipt of the writs, and three days must elapse between polling and the publication of the list of polling stations. In London the writs will be received the day of issue. Should Parliament be dissolved on Friday or Saturday, June 25th or 26th, the first official nominations will be made on July 1, and the first contested elections on July 2. The drift of the borough elections will be known on Saturday, July 3. It is understood, however, that as many elections as possible will be held on one day. A stray elections or two in such distant points as the Orkneys and Shetland Islands may not be held till the close of the month; but the general result will, unless the contest is closer even than last year, be known before July 12.

Socrates' Spouse.

Who knows what excuse there may have been for Xantippi's bad temper? Many women are snappish, querulous and sour, simply because they are suffering. Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is a certain cure for every feminine weakness and derangement, and will restore health and good spirits to the most nervous and disheartened invalid, thereby making her a blessing to her family and the world. A single bottle will prove its surpassing merit. Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists. d141-6t-w24

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 30 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 98 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS CO., 23 Adelaide St. East, Toronto, Ont.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

June Session of Our County Legislature.

FRIDAY—AFTERNOON SESSION.

At 4.30 o'clock the Council went into session, the Warden in the chair.

After routine, Mr. Sanderson, chairman, read the report of the committee on

COUNTY PROPERTY

as follows:—

The committee on County Property beg to report.

1. Your committee recommend that the Warden, the Reeve of Smith and the Reeve of Ashburnham, be a committee to obtain tenders and let contracts for the alteration of the Court House so as to provide for offices for the County Judge and Clerk of the Peace, according to the plans for that purpose by the county engineer.

2. Your committee recommend that the Warden, the Reeve of Smith and the county engineer, be a committee to get water tanks for the water supply of the jail or make such arrangements with the Water Company as they may deem satisfactory.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MICHAEL SANDERSON,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough June 18th, 1886.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Burnham, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

EQUALIZATION AND ASSESSMENT

as follows:—

The Committe on Equalization and Assessment beg to report.

Your committee have examined the assessment rolls of the different municipalities and find slight increases in the averages of some of the municipalities, but not so perceptible as to lead us to vary the basis of last year. Your committee would therefore recommend that the basis adopted last year, be the basis of assessment for the year 1886, as shown by the schedule hereunto annexed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 18th, 1886.

Mr. Walsh, chairman, read the report of the committee on

SCHOOLS

as follows:—

The Committee on Schools beg to report:—

That Messrs. J. Stratton, J. C. Brown and Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, be the County Board of Examiners to examine teachers and give certificates in accordance with the statute in that behalf.

That the Council appoint the County Judge, the School Inspector and the Warden, as Arbitrators to revise determine, or alter the boundaries of the school section, or school sections, so far as to settle the matter complained of in the petition of Anges Davidson, George Young and Robert Dunlop, Trustees of School Section No. 1 of the Township of Monaghan.

That the County School Inspector be permitted to get his report published so as to have it in print for the January session of the Council.

Your committee recommend that, with reference to the County School Inspector, calling attention to the provision made during the last session of the Ontario Legislature, for the education, free of charge, of one student from each county, the Warden, the Deputy-Reeve of Otonabee and the County School Inspector be a committee to nominate such student from the applicants for the privilege; that intending students make application to the County Clerk on or before the 15th day of September next, and that the County Clerk be instructed to advertise such opportunity for admission into the College in both the EXAMINER and Review, at an expenditure of not more than $5.00

Mr. Moloney, Chairman, read the report of the committee on

ROADS AND BRIDGES

as follows:—The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg to report:

1. Your committee recommend that the matter of the repairs to the Mud Lake bridge, referred to in the County Engineer's report, be left in the hands of the Warden, the reeves of Smith and Ennismore and the County Engineer, with power to act.

2. Your committe recommend that the matter of the repairs to the Buckhorn bridge, referred to in the County Engineer's report, be left in the hands of the Warden, the reeve of Smith and County Engineer.

3. Your committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer, advising the erection of a new bridge at the locks, be adopted, and that the Warden and reeves of Douro, Ashburnham, Smith, Otonabee, Monaghan and the County Engineer be a joint committee to confer with the council of the town of Peterborough in reference to the same, with power to act.

4. That the matter of the repairs to Wallace Point bridge, referred to in the County Engineer's report, be left in the hands of the County Engineer and the reeve of Otonabee, to act in conjunction with the committee of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, to carry out the Engineer's report.

5. That with reference to the communication of the County Clerk of Northumberland and Durham, for a grant to assist in repairing the bridge at the Narrows, your committee recommend this council to grant a sum equal to one quarter of the whole expenses of the repairs to this bridge, such whole expenses not to exceed $450. This grant is made without prejudice to the county of Peterborough, who expressly repudiates any liability for further repairs.

6. That no action be taken in the matter of repairs to the Bobonygeon bridge, as requested by the memorial of the county of Victoria, as this council does not consider that this county is at all called upon to assist in such repairs or make itself liable in the matter.

7. That a sum not exceeding $50 be granted towards repairing Lancaster's bridge in Emily, and that the Reeve of Smith be commissioned to expend the same.

8. That the sum of $25 per annum be paid to William Kerr as caretaker of the locks' bridge, his services to date from January 1st, 1886.

9. That the action of the Warden and committee in having the Pigeon Creek bridge repaired be approved of, and that $150—being one half of the expenses of the same—be paid on the order of the Warden.

10. That an additional grant of $60 be given to meet the grant of $100 by the county of Hastings for the purpose of repairing the roads and bridges on the boundary line between Marmora and Belmont, and that the Reeve of Belmont be commissioned to expend the same.

11. That this Council have great pleasure in again recommending the Reeve of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos to expend the grant of this Council and the Local Legislature on the eastern boundary of the county of Peterborough, from the 14th concession of the township of Chandos to the northern boundary thereof.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN MOLONEY,
Chairman.

Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 18th, 1886.

STATUTE LABOR.

Mr. Laing moved, seconded by Mr. Moloney, that this Council petition the Ontario Legislature to give the municipal Councils power to reduce or abolish the statute (labor) of young men, not otherwise assessed, also to do away with the sliding scale, if they think proper.—Carried.

Mr. Moloney introduced a by-law to appoint a committee to build a new bridge at the locks, and a by-law appointing a committee, to act jointly with a committee of the town Council, and consisting of the Warden and Messrs. Moloney, Sanders, Forster, Lang and Burnham, was duly passed.

SCOTT ACT FINES AND FORFEITURES.

Mr. Stephenson read a memorial to the Governor-General-in-Council, praying that the fines imposed under the Scott Act, or a portion thereof, may be paid to the county as a fund for the adoption of the Scott Act.

On motion to adopt the memorial, Mr. Strickland raised a point of order and the motion was deferred till after the presenting of the report of the Finance Committee.

The Council adjourned till 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Talmage on Labour.

(Concluded.)

One of those victims said to a Christian man: "Sir, if I were told that I couldn't get a drink until to-morrow night unless I had all my fingers cut off, I would say: 'Bring the hatchet and cut them off now.'" I have a dear friend in Philadelphia whose nephew came to him one day and when he was exhorted about his evil habit said: "Uncle, I can't give it up. If there stood a cannon and it was loaded, and a glass of wine were set on the mouth of that cannon, and I knew that you would fire it off just as I came up and took the glass, I would start, for I must have it." Oh, it is a sad thing for a man to wake up in this life and feel that he is a captive! He says: "I could have got rid of this once, but I can't now. I might have lived an honorable life and died a Christian death; but there is no hope for me now; there is no escape for me. Dead but not buried. I am a walking corpse. I am an apparition of what I once was. I am a caged immortal beating against the wires of my cage in this direction; beating against the cage until there is blood on the wires and blood upon my soul, yet not able to get out. Destroyed without remedy!"

I go on and say that the disciple of rum suffers from the loss of physical health. The older men of the congregation may remember that some years ago Dr. Sewall went through this country and electrified the people by his lectures, in which he showed the effects of alcoholism on the human stomach. He had seven or eight diagrams by which he showed the devastation of strong drink upon the physical system. There were thousands of people that turned back from that ulcerous sketch, swearing eternal abstinence from everything that could intoxicate.

God only knows what the drunkard suffers. Pain flies on every nerve, and travels every muscle, and gnaws every bone, and burns with every flame, and stings with every poison, and pulls at him with every torture. What reptiles crawl over his creeping limbs! What fiends stand by his midnight pillow! What groans tear his ear! What horrors shiver through his soul! Talk of the rack, talk of the Inquisition, talk of the funeral pyre, talk of the crushing juggernaut—he feels them all at once. Have you ever been in the ward of the hospital where these inebriates are dying, the stench of their wounds driving back the attendants, their voices sounding through the night? The keeper comes up and says: "Hush, now, be still! Stop making all this noise!" But it is effectual only for a moment, for as soon as the keeper is gone they begin again: "O God! O God! Help! Help! Rum! Give me rum! Help! Take them off me! Take them off me! O God!" And then they shriek, and they rave, and they pluck out their hair by handfuls, and bite their nails into the quick, and then they groan, and they shriek, and they blaspheme, and they ask the keepers to kill them: "Stab me! Smother me! Strangle me! Take the devils off me!" O, it is no fancy sketch! That thing is going on now all up and down the land, and I tell you further that this is going to be the death that some of you will die. I know it. I see it coming.

Again, the moderate suffers through the loss of his home. I do not care how much he loves his wife and children, if this passion for strong drink has mastered him he will do the most outrageous things, and if he could not get drink in any other way he would sell the furniture from the parlor. How many homes have been broken up in that way no one but God knows. Oh, is there anything that will so destroy a man for this life and damn him for the life that is to come? I hate that strong drink. With all the concentrated energies of my soul I hate it. Do not tell me that a man can be happy when he knows that he is breaking his wife's heart and clothing his children with rags. Why, there are on the roads and streets of this land to-day little children, barefooted, unclothed and unhoused—want on every patch of their faded dress and on every wrinkle of their prematurely old countenance, who would have been in churches to-day and as well clad as you are, but for the fact that rum destroyed their parents and drove them into the grave.

O rum, thou foe of God, thou despoiler of homes, thou recruiting officer of the pit, I hate thee!

But my subject takes a deeper tone, and that is that the unfortunate of whom I speak suffers from the loss of the soul. The Bible intimates that in the future world, if we are forgiven here, our bad passions and appetites, unrestrained, will go along with us and make our torment there. So that, I suppose, when an inebriate wakes up in the next world he will feel an infinite thirst clawing on him. Now, down in the world, although he may have been very poor, he could beg or he could steal five cents with which to get that which would slake his thirst for a little while; but in eternity where is the man to come from? Dives could not get one drop of water. From what chalice of fire will the hot lips of the drunkard drain his draught? No one to brew it. No one to mix it. No one to pour it. No one to fetch it. Millions of worlds then for the dregs which the young man just now slung on the sawdusted floor of the restaurant. Millions of worlds now for the rind thrown out from the punch bowl of an earthly banquet. Dives cried for water. The inebriate cries for rum. Oh, the deep, exhausting, unsatisfying, everlasting thirst of the drunkard in hell! Why, if a fiend came up to earth for some infernal work in a grog shop and should go headlong taking on its wing just one drop of that for which the inebriate in the lost world longs, what excitement would it make there! Put that one drop from off the fiend's wing on the tip of the tongue of the destroyed inebriate; let the liquid brightness just touch it; let the drop be very small, if it only have in it the smack of alcoholic drink; let that drop just touch the lost inebriate in the lost world, and he would spring to his feet and cry: "That is rum, aha! That is rum!" And it would wake up the echoes of the damned: "Give me rum! give me rum! give me rum!" In the future world I do not believe that it will be the absence of God that will make the drunkard's sorrow. I do not believe that it will be the absence of holiness. I think it will be the absence of rum. O, "Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright in the cup, for at the last it biteth like a serpent and it stingeth like an adder."

It is about time that we have another woman's crusade like that which swept through Ohio ten or twelve years ago. With prayer and song the women went into the groggeries, and whole neighborhoods, towns, and cities were redeemed by their Christian heroics. Thirty women cleared out the rum traffic from a village of one thousand inhabitants. If thirty women surcharged of the Holy Ghost could renovate a town of a thousand, three thousand consecrated women, resolved to give themselves no peace until this crime was extirpated from this city, could in six months clear out three-fourths of the grog shops of Brooklyn. If there be three thousand women now in this city who will put their names and their prayers to use work, I will take the contract for driving out all these moral nuisances from the city—at any rate three-fourths of them—in three months. If, when that host of three thousand consecrated women is marshaled, there be no one to lead them, then, as a minister of the Most High God I will offer to take my position at the front of the host, and I will cry to them: "Come on, ye women of Christ, with your songs and your prayers! Some of you take the enemy's right wing and some the left wing. Forward! The Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge! Down with the dram shops!"

But not waiting for those months of hail to close, let me advise the working and the business classes, and all classes, to stop strong drink. While I declared some time ago that there was a point beyond which a man could not stop, I want to tell you that while a man cannot stop in his own strength, the Lord God by His grace can help him to stop at any time. I was in a room in New York where there were many men who had been reclaimed from drunkenness. I heard their testimony, and for the first time in my life there flashed out a truth I never understood. They said: "We were victims of strong drink. We tried to give it up, but always failed; but somehow, since we gave our hearts to Christ, he has taken care of us." I believe that the time will soon come when the grace of God will show its power not only to save man's soul, but his body, and reconstruct, purify, elevate and redeem it.

I verily believe that, although you feel grappling at the roots of your tongues an almost omnipotent thirst, if you will give your heart to God He will help you by His grace to conquer. Try it. It is your last chance. I have looked oft upon the desolation. Sitting in our religious assemblages there are a good many people in awful peril, and judging from ordinary circumstances there is not one chance in five thousand that they will get clear of it. There are men in my congregation from Sabbath to Sabbath of whom I must make the remark, that if they do not change their course within ten years they will, as to their bodies, lie down in drunkard's graves, and as to their souls, lie down in a drunkard's perdition. I know that is an awful thing to say but I cannot help saying it. Oh, beware! You have not yet been captured. Beware! Whether the beverage be poured in golden chalice or pewter mug, in the foam at the top, in white letters, let there be spelled out to your soul: "Beware!" When the books of Judgment are open and ten million drunkards come up to get their doom I want you to bear witness that I, this morning, in the fear of God and in the love for your soul, told you, with all affection and with all kindness, to beware of that which has already exerted its influence upon your family, blowing out some of its lights—a premonition of the blackness of darkness forever. O, if you could only hear this morning Intemperance with drunkards' bones drumming on the head of the liquor cask the dead march of immortal souls, methinks the very glance of a wine cup would make you shudder, and the color of the liquor would make you think of the blood of the soul, and the foam on the top of the cup would remind you of the froth on the maniac's lip; and you would go home from this service and kneel down and pray God that, rather than your children should be one captives of this evil habit, you would like to carry them out some bright spring day to the cemetery, and put them away to the last sleep, until, at the call of the south wind, the flowers would come up all over the grave, sweet prophecies of the resurrection! God has a balm for such a wound. But what flower of comfort ever grew on the blasted breath of a drunkard's revelries!

Artemus Ward.

Calling upon Mr. Lincoln on one of the darkest days in the late war, I was surprised to see upon his mantel-piece a couple of volumes—one a small Bible, the other Artemus Ward, his Book. "Do you read Artemus Ward?" I asked him. "I don't read anybody else," he answered, with a smile on his care-worn face: "he is inimitable." In the plain building before which we die, equalling the inimitable showman first set up his "tu'm biggers;" and if we enter here we may encounter the assistant editor of the Plaindealer, who was the associate and intimate friend of "A. Ward" when the latter was the city editor of this journal. He has many anecdotes to tell of the genial showman. He describes his appearance, when he first came to the office, as decidedly rustic. He was, he says, long and lank, with flowing hair, and loosely fitting coat, and trousers too short in the legs and bagging at the knees. His humor was irrepressible, and always bubbling over, and he kept all about him in a constant state of merriment. He was a wag—nothing but a wag—but in that line a genius. He could see only the ludicrous side of a subject. Going away once on a short vacation, he engaged this gentleman to perform his work during his absence. He carefully instructed him as to his duties, and in doing so drew from his pocket a tow string about a foot and a half long, and told him he must furnish that amount of copy per day, leaving on his desk the measure as a reminder of the quantity. About this time he was called upon to respond to a toast to the Press at a Ben Franklin festival held in Cleveland. He rose to his feet, hung his head for a few moments in silence and, then sat down, having said nothing. In his account of the festival in the next day's Plaindealer his speech was reported by a blank space of about half a column of eloquent silence.

This gentleman remembers that soon after "A. Ward" entered the lecture field he was invited by a theatrical manager in San Francisco to deliver a course in California. The season being close at hand, the manager asked him by telegraph: "What will you take for forty nights in California? Answer immediately." Ward answered immediately, by telegraph, "Brandy and water." The joke was noised throughout the State, and the result was, when Artemus went there to lecture on his own account, he was met everywhere with overflowing houses. While engaged lecturing in the West, he wrote this gentleman the following epistle:

"MY DEAR GEORGE,—I want you to do me a favor. I received one of my men to save me the press notices. He didn't. Will you collect them for me at once, and send them to me at the Bates House? Now this is taxing your good-nature, but you'll do it for me—won't you, George? Do you know that you remind me more and more of the noble Romans? I don't know who they were, but you remind me of them; you do, indeed. And could I have appealed to one of those noble Romans to cut out some press notices for me in vain? I guess not. Go on, young man, go on. Deal kindly with the aged. Remember that we are here for only a little while, and that riches take unto themselves wings and fly away. Intoxicate the shunning bowl. Support your county paper. Love the Lord, and send me those notices. Write likewise. And now, kind sir, farewell. Farewell.

"When other lips and other hearts—
"Your'n, my pretty gazelle,
"A. WARD."

—Edmund Kirke, in Harper's Magazine for March.

A gentleman who knew Col. Thomas A. Scott intimately tells the Philadelphia Evening News "that one of Mr. Scott's distinguished traits was his ability to pick out promising young men and develop them into able lieutenants. In this way he picked up Frank Thompson, who is now First Vice-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and Charles E. Pugh, its General Manager. Thompson was a gentleman's son who was in the company's shops in Altoona learning to be a machinist and a railroader. He has made a fine one. Mr. Pugh was a conductor on the road.

Frost-Bitten Feet.

If the feet get very much chilled a number of times, or frozen, they should be put into tepid water until feeling returns. When frozen, they are generally very white, all of the blood having been driven from the surface, and if frosen repeatedly, become tender and painful. They swell with every colder change of the weather, or crack open and bleed between the toes; again, the heels and large toe joints are the only parts affected, except a general heat and swelling, or painful itching. The feet, in the morning, are very sore; shoes, which were comfortable enough yesterday, are at least three numbers too small to-day. If the large toe joints remain swollen for several weeks, they press against the shoes and form very painful bunions. A hot borax water bath of half an hour, with a thorough rubbing with glycerine is good. The feet should be thoroughly dry (or well dried) and warm before the glycerine is applied, otherwise they will stay damp. Then put on old, loose stockings, and keep warm. A preparation made of two ounces each of glycerine and coal oil, with one teaspoonful of carbolic acid, is said to be good, applied with the hand twice a day for five minutes.—Pauline Adelaide Hardy in Good Housekeeping.

Fluid Lightning does not take a day or an hour to remove Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Lumbago or Rheumatism, but will do it instantly, and without carrying your head in a poultice for a day or using greasy liniments. Try a 25c. bottle from J. McKee, Druggist. d141-eod-w24

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Ill Temper

Is more rapidly improved by relief from physical suffering than in any other way. Step on your friends corn, and the impulse to strike is strongest. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, by quickly and painlessly removing them, incures good nature. Fifty imitations proves its value. Beware of substitutes. First and Best.

One of the finest trips of the season will be to go with the Masons to Rochester on Thursday, June the 24th. Excursionists are taken right into Rochester city and home again for the small sum of $2.75. Tickets good for three days. The train will leave the G. T. R. station at 7.00 in the morning. A nice short ride to Port Hope, then a pleasant sail to Charlotte. Stop-over privilege. Parties wishing to spend Sunday in Rochester can do so by paying a small additional charge.

Half Holiday.

By the request of a number of citizens Mayor Stevenson has asked the merchants and manufacturers of town to observe Friday afternoon next as a half holiday, in consequence of its being appointed as a decoration day by the local Lodges of Oddfellows. A large number have signified their intention of closing their businesses during the afternoon, and it will be generally observed as a half holiday. The custom is general in many of the Canadian cities and towns and is to be commended.

Prohibition and Boycotte.

The manager of a business on Hunter street has posted a notice in his window prohibiting carters from lying around the sidewalk in front of his shop, sitting on the window casing or obstructing the door. In retaliation the Carters' Association have put up a boycotting notice on an adjoing pole which prohibits all members of the Association from carting for the said manager, or in any way assisting to handle his goods, on pain of the "penalty of the law." The prohibitory and boycotting notices are causing considerable amusement, and further developments are eagerly looked for.

I. O. O. F. Decoration Day.

We are requested to say that visiting brothers and all Oddfellow residents in town not connected with either of the lodges, are cordially invited to join in the ceremonies the day, Tuesday afternoon next, June 22nd. The Brethren will meet in the lodge rooms at 2 p. m., sharp and after preparing themselves, will muster in the Central Park and form in procession and proceed to the cemetery—headed by the Fire Brigade Band. After the ceremony of decorating the graves is over, half an hour to one hour will be spent in admiring the grounds of the most beautiful and romantic rural cemetery in the Dominion, when the procession will reform and return to their respective lodge rooms. 141-3t

The Flower Queen.

Successful Repetition of the Cantata in Aid of the Peterborough Protestant Home.

The Opera House was well filled yesterday evening on the occasion of the repetition of the beautiful Cantata, "The Flower Queen." The presentation was most creditable in every particular and was in many respects superior to the former presentation, parts which were then defective, having been strengthened, while strong parts were made still stronger. Several special attractions were also added in the exhibition of club swinging by Mr. Thos. McNaughton, champion of Canada, and several tableaux at the conclusion. The entertainment was opened with "Rule Britannia" and the National Anthem by the entire company. Mr. Thos. McNaughton then gave a splendid exhibition of club swinging to the delight of the audience. The whole company again appeared joining in the opening chorus of flowers, the stage being nicely decorated with flowers, and appropriate scenery. The girls and ladies looked their loveliest and sang their sweetest. The solos and choruses were the same as on the previous occasion, though both were improved on, the former being given with more confidence and the latter with more spirit and precision. Several improvements which suggested themselves during the previous performance, were acted on. During the chorus by the poppies, the other flowers leaned lovingly on each other as though they were slumbering. At the close of the first part, the dust by the Rose, Miss Johnstone, and Nightingale, Mr. Butcher with flute, was exceptionally well rendered. Between the first and second parts, Mr. McNaughton gave another of his exhibitions, this time using illuminated clubs, the hall being darkened. His performance brought forth a well merited applause. The responsive "Good Morning" chorus beginning the second part, was particularly pretty, while the Heather Bells chorus was charming. The coronation of the Rose, as Queen, was done on a more magnificent scale, the throne being raised higher and richly carpeted, while the ceremony was more imposing. The final solo by the Rose, duet by the Rose and Recluse, and closing chorus were grandly given. "God Save the Queen" was again given when the curtain fell. The audience were about to depart when Mr. Gallotly stepped before the footlights and announced that several tableaux would be attempted. The announcement was received with applause and the people took their seats. While the stage preparations were going on. Mr. R. Tully, on behalf of the ladies of the Protestant Home, moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Gallotly and those who had taken part in the performance. Mr. J. H. Patterson, in seconding the motion, specially mentioned Mr. McNaughton. The motion was carried amid applause. The first tableau presented represented the Queen on the throne, surrounded by four stalwart guards, each bearing spear and shield, and the family of flowers. It was followed by two other groupes of the gaily clad flowers. Considering that the tableaux were not practiced previous to presentation, they were exceptionally good. The whole affair was a splendid success, and much credit is due Mr. Gallotly and his assistants. About $75 was realized.

Workshop Destroyed by Fire.

This morning about two o'clock, the rough-cast two-story building at the rear of Mr. B. Shortly's harness shop, used by Mr. Shortly as a storeroom and collar workshop was found to be on fire. The alarm was sounded to which the firemen responded promptly. Two lines of hose were laid to the fire, one in front of Mr. Shortley's shop and the other from opposite the Grand Central hotel. The fire had made considerable progress inside the building, which contained a large quantity of rye straw, used in stuffing collars, and was hard to control. After working an hour or so the firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames, which had about completely gutted the building. The cause of the fire is not known, but is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Mr. Shortly's loss will be about $100. The building is the property of Mr. Geo. A. Cox and was valued at $300 and was insured for $200. Fortunately there was no wind at the time or considerable property might have been destroyed.

Cathedral Pic-nic.

The price of the dinner at the Cathedral pic-nic in the Separate School grounds is twenty-five cents and not 75 cents as incorrectly printed.

The Charge Admitted.

Mr. Elmhirst, Reeve of Burleigh, on Thursday called on P. M. Dumble, to admit on behalf of Mr. Walker, an Apsley hotel keeper, the correctness of a charge of selling liquor contrary to the Scott Act. The magistrate recognized Mr. Walker's candor by imposing a fine of $50.

New Slide at Burleigh.

On Thursday, Messrs. Haslett, Ullyott Strickland and Irwin visited the works at Burleigh and were received by the engineer with his usual genial courtesy, and arrangements were made that a new dam and slide should be built below the old dam, the old chute being blocked, so that these lumbermen can be enabled to float their logs.

Busby Band Hat.

The Secretary of the Fire Brigade Band this morning received by express a beadbox, from Mr. John Martin, of Montreal, containing a sample half-height busby band hat. It is a handsome hat, but looks rather warm, is made of Astrachan fur and sports a glazed leather peak. It is supplied with a red hair plume and a colored pom pom. The front of the hat is also decorated with a brazen wreath in the centre of which is set a silver harp. The band boys will inspect the hat to-night and decide what shall be done with it.

News Nuggets.

Town, County, and District News Notes Told in a Line.

Scott Act prosecutions have commenced in Lindsay.

Strawberries are selling as low as 10 cents a box.

The ice cream and strawberry business is booming.

Victoria County Council, by a vote of 11 to 10, decided not to appoint two Scott Act magistrates.

MARMOR E HILO CHARM.—Try them. Exceptionally fine. Superior to any Imported Cigar in the market!

Ice Cold Milk will now be kept on hand with other soft drinks at Rochester Fruit Store. R. G. STONE.

The audience remained sitting during the singing of the National Anthem, opening the Cantata, at the Opera House last night.

A free bus will be run in connection with the social given by the Faithful Mission Band of St. Paul's Church, at the residence of Mr. James Dixon on Monday evening.

The Post says that a Lindsay dentist is so attached to business that while fishing in the Scugog—not near the mouth either—he could not refrain from trying to pull out a decayed stump.

Lindsay will celebrate Dominion Day by a grand demonstration. During the day the members of "C" Company, Midland Battalion, who served in the North-west, will be presented with gold medals given by the county.

The Uxbridge and Lindsay baseball clubs played a game at Uxbridge on Wednesday, resulting in a draw. At the 9th innings the score stood 4 to 4. Two more innings were played without scoring, when the game was called, the Lindsay club having to catch the train. Why don't the local team do something?

Large Strawberries.

Mr. Edward Emmerson, of Otonabee, left with the EXAMINER this morning a trio of ample strawberries grown by him. The berries were monsters, each making more than a mouthful, while one of the number was twins.

Social.

The St. Paul's Faithful Workers' Mission Band will give a social at the residence of Mrs. James H. Dixon on Monday evening, June 21st. Refreshments will be served, and the Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Admission 10c. A free bus will be run from the town to the grounds.

Admit the Charge.

It is stated on good authority that three hotel-keepers charged with violation of the Scott Act and summoned to appear at court on Monday, have given the authorities notice that they will plead guilty to the charge, and ask that no further expenses be incurred in the cases.

Garden Party.

On Friday evening next, 25th inst., a garden party will be given in aid of the Y. M. C. A., at the residence of Mr. G. M. Roger. Refreshments, such as ice cream, strawberries, cake, etc., will be provided. The band will be in attendance. The management of the festival is in charge of ladies from the several churches.

Closed for Alterations.

Last night the Powell & Jones stove company closed down temporarily—for a fortnight—to admit of proposed alterations by the company and the adjustment of business arrangements in the interests of the company. It is expected that work will be resumed on a more extensive scale shortly.

Scott Act Appeals.

The following report of proceedings on Friday, in the Queen's Bench and Common Pleas Division, Toronto, appears:

REG. v. HALPIN, REG. v. DALY.—G. T. Blackstock moved for orders nisi to quash convictions under the Canada Temperance (Scott) Act. Granted.

The English of this is that the first step in bringing the appeals up for argument has been reached.

Sent Up for Thirty Days.

Yesterday afternoon Chief Cooper went to the late Darcy hotel to see a man who was said to be very ill. He found Thomas Sampson lying on a mattress seemingly very sick. Town Physician Dr. Kincaid was summoned and after an examination stated that the invalid was not suffering from an observance of Scott Act principles. A charge of vagrancy was preferred against him by the Chief, and he was prescribed 30 days in jail.

Market Items.

The market was all life and activity this morning. Produce, especially garden truck, was offered in large quantities. Prices were quoted as follows: Butter, 12 to 15c.; eggs, 10c. for shipment, 11c. for local use; chickens, 50c. per pair; veal, 4 to 6c. per pound; mutton and lamb, 6 to 9c. per pound; potatoes, 70c. per bushel; lettuce, rhubarb, onions, radishes, etc., 5c. per bunch. Green peas were sold at 40 and 50c. per peck. Wild strawberries sold at 10c. per quart, as did also the cultivated fruit. Green gooseberries were offered in large quantities at 10c. per quart. Small porkers sold at from $2 to $4 per pair.

Saturday Matches.

The Secretary of the P. A. A. A. wishes it understood that the Saturday cricket matches will be continued during the rest of the season, and will be open to all members of the club. Notice of the match will be given every Wednesday or Thursday of the match for the following Saturday, and those wishing to play will present themselves on the field on Saturday. It makes no difference whether the number of players on each side exceeds eleven or not. Should only five members put in an appearance this afternoon, they will have to play the full force of bachelors. Practice is what is required, and all who wish to practice may do so.

Hello!

The telephone exchange will be open on Sundays, with the exception of from 10 a. m. to 1.30 p.m. Subscribers may be connected during these hours if previously requested.

An Obstreperous Cow.

While several men employed by Mr. W. Dunsea, cattle dealer, were driving a number of cattle into town to-day, on nearing the bridge an obstreperous animal galloped down the roadway into the river. After swimming around for a while it was driven out, but again went in for a bath. On being driven out the second time, it consented to be driven.

Gough's Grand Gift Distribution.

On Saturday, June 26th, Gough the Wonderful Cheap Man, will scatter from the roof of the Opera House, upon the market square, 500 linen coats, to be secured by the quickest grabber. A magnificent deal on the part of the great clothier. This is a bona fide statement. The 500 coats will certainly be distributed in the way indicated—literally mean broadcast for the benefit of the public. In addition, Gough, while his big heart is open 500 diesters wide, will sell men's, boy's and children's clothing at a discount of 5 per cent for cash. Don't forget the day and date, but come and get one of the 500 coats to be given away free on June 26th. Gough's store, Arcade buildings, Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. Myles Hamilton, has returned to town from Brockville, for a few days. His friends are pleased to see him looking so well.

Mr. Robert Bargess, of Toronto, was in town yesterday, arranging with Mr. Calcutt to carry a church excursion from Peterborough to Idyl Wild, on their arrival from Toronto on the C.P.R. next week.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, tested upon my case as to cures, especially as I tried various appliances without success, and being recently induced by your advertisement made in York State, costing me $25. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * * have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the papers has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. E. KING.

MONDAY, JUNE 21, 1886.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

Yesterday completed the forty-ninth year, during which this prayer has gone up from millions of hearts and lips in every part of the British Empire and of the world, for Victoria Alexandrina, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and of the one-fifth of the globe that composes the British Empire. June 20th, 1837, Victoria succeeded William IV, but the formal coronation did not take place till June 28th, 1838. Thus Her Majesty has entered upon the half century of a reign, which, for brilliancy of achievement, substantial reform, expansion, consolidation and mutual improvement of the empire, has had no parallel in the reigns of any other sovereigns. In every relation of life, as sovereign, wife, mother and friend, Her Majesty has occupied the highest position, and it is no wonder that her name is enshrined in the hearts of all her millions of loyal subjects, and that her personal character has won the love and veneration of every land where civilization has reached. Her reign has not only been distinguished by unparalleled social, religious and material advancement, but the reforms of a political character have been of a progressive nature, and in the direction of increased privileges in the interests of the people. The most prominent great events during her reign have been the repeal of the Corn Laws, in 1846, the passage of the Reform Bill in 1867, followed later by the disestablishment of the Irish Church, the Irish Land Bill, the Elementary Education Act, and the Army Regulation Bill, abolishing purchase of commissions in the army, an act, by the way, which the House of Lords obstructed, but in aid out of which Gladstone invoked the royal warrant. The Queen has been the most conspicuous sovereign in the world for half a century, for all royal and womanly virtues, and still she rules the hearts and affections of her millions of subjects who will continue to "sing with heart and voice God save the Queen," and it is to be hoped that the prayer will be answered in its personal application to Her Majesty, and also in the preservation, consolidation, unification and advancement of the British Empire.

New Agricultural Buildings.

At a meeting of the Directors of the West Riding Central Exhibition held on Saturday afternoon, the plans for the proposed new buildings were submitted, examined, approved of and adopted. A building committee, consisting of Messrs. McWilliams, McClelland, Davidson, Collins, Stratton, (J. R.) and the President, Mr. Garbutt, was appointed and given authority to raise funds, call for tenders and let the contract on the erection of the central section of the exhibition buildings, as required by the plans adopted, the cost of which will amount to something like $2,500. The whole buildings when the plans are carried out, will cost about four or five thousand dollars and will be the finest buildings of the kind in Central Ontario. The prize lists for the fall exhibition were amended and adopted and these, together with the posters, ordered to be printed at once. Other matters in connection with the exhibition were discussed and in a manner which showed that the directors are determined to make the coming exhibition, as it prize list is the largest, the best exhibition ever held in the Midland district. A resolution was adopted to admit the membership of township societies up to 60 in number to the full privileges o membership, for $40, and additional members in proportion.

Church Chimes.

Yesterday in pursuance of a programme of the late Bishop Jamot, first communion was administered to over one hundred children in St. Peter's Cathedral at 6.30 a. m. In the afternoon the children renewed their baptismal vows, relieving their god parents of further responsibility. Rev. Father Conway officiated, while the nuns had charge of the children. The congregations were large on both occasions.

William Snowden, charged by Inspector Cochrane with keeping liquor for sale between the 1st of May and 16th of June, admitted the charge and was fined $50 and costs, to be paid in ten days.

QUEEN VS. HAMILTON.

Robert Hamilton, charged by Inspector Cochrane with keeping liquor for sale between the 29th of May and 16th of June, being a second offence, the defendant having been previously convicted on a similar charge, was arraigned before the court.

Richard Dark, was sworn and testified that he was employed at the C.P.R. freight sheds. Hamilton, the defendant kept an eating house near the station. He had visited the place since May 29th but had nothing to drink.

George Scott, employed at Peter Hamilton's foundry, testified that he got a drink of liquor from Mr. Hamilton since May 29th. He was repairing a sink at Hamilton's shop and as a matter of courtesy Mr Hamilton gave him a drink. He did not pay for it in anyway. On another occasion he got a drink at Hamilton's when hanging a cellar door. It was not paid for. He admitted having a bottle of liquor on Saturday night a week ago but said he did not get it at Hamilton's. He might have told some person that he got it at Hamilton's, but, if he did, was deceiving him.

To Mr. Stratton the witness said he never paid for any liquor he got at Hamilton's.

Hugh Drake, employed at the C. P. R. freight sheds, testified that he visited Hamilton's occasionally, but did not have anything to drink there, and did not intend to drink at Hamilton's, as he did not want to loose his situation, which he would, if "pulled" every time Hamilton was.

Robert Hamilton was sworn and testified that he kept an eating house opposite the C. P. R. station. He gave liquor to Mr. Scott on two occasions, but did not receive any pay for it.

Mr. Stratton objected that the witness was not compelled to give evidence which might tend to criminate him, which objection the magistrate noted and overruled.

The witness continued that he kept a small flask of liquor for his own use. He gave some of his friends drinks on different occasions, but did not sell any.

E. Poole testified that on several occasions Mr. Hamilton had given him liquor. He paid nothing for it.

G. Dafoe testified that Mr. Hamilton had given him liquor to drink when he was employed with him, which he did not pay for in any way.

The magistrate enlarged the case till to-morrow.

QUEEN VS. WILSON.

John Wilson, charged by Inspector Cochrane with violating the Scott Act, was summoned before the court.

On application, the case was enlarged till Wednesday.

Died in Jail.

Thomas Sampson, Sent Up to Jail for Vagrancy, Expired on Saturday Night.

Thomas Sampson, the unfortunate sent up to jail on Friday, for vagrancy, died in jail on Saturday night about 7 o'clock. The deceased has for a number of years been employed at several of the billiard rooms and hotels in town and is well known. On Friday morning Sampson knocked at the door the of late Darcy House, and was admitted by the caretaker. He complained of illness and the caretaker in consequence made him as comfortable as possible. During the day he became worse and the police were notified. An effort was made to have the sick man admitted to the Nicholl's hospital which was not successful. There being no other alternative the unfortunate was committed to jail as a vagrant. Dr. Kincaid was notified and visited the sufferer and prescribed for him. He held out little hope for the recovery of Sampson, whom he found was suffering from dissipation. He was a heavy drinker and had been indulging freely of late, which undoubtedly was one the causes of the weakness which carried him off.

On Saturday night Dr. Bell, Coroner, having been notified of Sampson's death, opened an inquest at the jail as required by law, before the following jury:

Jas. Gillespie,	Foreman,
John Hayes,	Daniel Hillier,
Jas. Haggart,	Irwin Marks.
Jas. S. Martin,	J. J. Whiteman,
Jas. G. Graham,	Wm. Daly,
S. Thornton,	W. J. Kearns,
Henry Willis,	Jas. B. Dunn.

The evidence of Mr. H. Nesbitt showed that the deceased was very weak when admitted to the jail, and that everything had been done for his comfort.

Dr. Kincaid, jail surgeon, testified as to the condition of the deceased and as to the treatment he had received. He stated that the immediate cause of his death was weakness or exhaustion, worn out from dissipation and want of nourishment.

Mr. R. Ray, turnkey, gave evidence corroborating that of the jailer and Dr. Kincaid with regard to the treatment the prisoner had received, as did also Wm. Daly, a prisoner.

THE VERDICT.

After considering the evidence adduced, the jury returned the following verdict:

"We find that Thomas Sampson died at the gaol in the town of Peterborough, on the 19th day of June, 1886, by the visitation of God, in a natural way, to-wit of exhaustion, caused by dissipation and want of nourishment, prior to his admission to the jail."

The remains of the deceased were interred at the Little Lake Cemetery, Sunday morning.

The Pigs and the Weather.

Of pigs, I have heard it said, very frequently—

"When swine carry sticks,
The clouds will play tricks;"

but that—

"When they lie in the mud,
No fears of a flood."

The first of these couplets is of two-fold interest. I have watched them for years, to see what purport this carrying of sticks and bunches of grass might have, and have only learned that it has nothing whatever to do with the weather, or at least with coming rain-storms. The drought of summer is so far a convenience as to throw light upon this habit, as it did upon the uneasy cows. Pigs carry sticks as frequently then as during wet weather, or just preceding a shower. Futhermore, these gathered twigs are not brought together as though to make a nest, but are scattered about in a perfect aimless manner. For some cause, the animal is uneasy, and takes this curious method of relieving itself. The probabilities are that it is a survival of some habit common to swine in their feral condition, just as we see a dog turn about half a dosen times before lying down.

In an interesting paper on local weather-lore, read by Mr. Amos W. Butler before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, during the Philadelphia meeting of 1884, the author has another version of this saying: "When hogs gather up sticks and carry them about, expect cold weather." This is wholly at variance with what I have observed, for my memoranda record this habit almost wholly during the hot weather, and this must necessarily be the rule with New Jersey swine, or the local weather-prophets would not have coined the verse as I have given it.

As to the other couplet, it is about as near meaningless as any saying can well be. Some rustic rhymer, a century ago may have added it as a piece of fun, but it has stuck most persistently. As it stands now, it has stood for quite one hundred years.—Dr. C. C. Abbott, in Popular Science Monthly for March.

What Mr. Gladstone thinks of Evolution.

And now one word on the subject of Evolution. I can not follow Mr. Huxley in his minute acquaintance with Indian sages, and I am not aware that Evolution has a place in the greater number of the schools of Greek philosophy. Nor can I comprehend the rapidity with which persons of authority have come to treat the Darwinian hypothesis as having reached the final stage of demonstration. To the eye of a looker-on their pace and method seem rather too much like a steeplechase. But this may very well be due to their want of appropriate knowledge and habits of thought. For myself, in my loose and uninformed way of looking at Evolution, I feel only too much biased in its favor, by what I conceive to be its relation to the great argument of design.

Not that I share the horror with which some men of science appear to contemplate a multitude of what they term "sudden" acts of creation. All things considered, a singular expression; but one, I suppose, meaning the act which produces, in the region of nature, something not related by an unbroken succession of measured and equable stages to what has gone before it. But what has equality or brevity of stage to do with the question how far the act is creative? I fail to see, or indeed am somewhat disposed to deny, that the short stage is less creative than the long, the single than the manifold, the equable than the jointed or graduated stage. Evolution, is to me, series with development. And like series in mathematics, whether arithmetical or geometrical, it establishes in things an unbroken progression; it places each thing (if only it stand the test of ability to live) in a distinct relation to every other thing, and makes each a witness to all that have preceded it, a prophecy of all that are to follow it. It gives to the argument of design, now called the teleological argument, at once a wider expansion, and an augmented tenacity and solidity of tissue—W. E. Gladstone, in Popular Science Monthly for March.

3. That the communication of the County Solicitor in reference to by-law 375 be referred to Committee on Petitions with request to prepare a new by-law.

4. Your committee recommend that a grant of $100.00 be made in aid of the sufferers by the Vancouver, British Columbia, fire, and that the County Treasurer be instructed to forward the same at once to Mayor McLean of that place.

5. That the County Solicitor be instructed to take all necessary proceedings in the suit of the Grand Junction Railway vs. Peterborough, to carry it to the court of last resort if necessary.

6. That no action be taken with reference to the petitions of the East and West Riding Agricultural Societies.

7. Your committee recommend that the sum of $50, his salary in full to date, be paid to Mr. James Humphries, inspector under the Scott Act, and that the services of both Mr. Humphries and Mr. Robt. Weir be dispensed with, owing to the fact that this Council is called upon to meet the expenses of enforcing said act in other respects.

8. That the County Clerk be instructed to get a supply of forms for Justices of the Peace at a cost of not more than $20.00.

9. That in reference to the question of the liability of the county to pay a proportion of the expenses incurred in enforcing the Scott Act, your committee recommend that the County Treasurer do not pay to the credit of the license fund the amount estimated for the year by the Board of License Commissioners, until the proportion of the same to be paid by the Town of Peterborough, is determined.

10. That the Warden and Reeve of Ashburnham be a committee to confer with the Judge and other officers who claim to be entitled to stationery, etc., from this Council with power to arrange and compromise such claims as they see fit.

11. Your committee recommend that the payment of the accounts hereto annexed by the treasurer, be confirmed.

12. That inasmuch as it appears that the amount that it is provided shall be levied under Debenture By-laws Nos. 355 and 373, will produce a sum largely in excess of the amount required, that the clerk be instructed to levy such an amount only as will be sufficient to meet this year's sinking fund and interest, and that one half only of the rate provided under By-law No. 454, be collected, for the reason that only one half of the debentures authorized to be issued thereunder, have been issued.

13. That the matter of placing a counter in the office of the County Court Clerk be left in the hands of the Warden, with power to act.

14. Your committee recommend that the rate be fixed at two mills and one-eighth on the dollar.

W. H. STEPHENSON,
Chairman.

Council Chamber,
Peterborough, June 19th 1886.

On motion to adopt the report, Mr. Mansfield moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Moore, That the report be not adopted, but referred back to the committee, with instructions to amend clause 9 by instructing the County Clerk to deposit in the bank, the amount as certified by the proper authorities to be the amount that this county is liable to pay under the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act, and that the County Solicitor be instructed to ascertain what portion, if any, the town of Peterborough is entitled to pay for the enforcement of the said Act.

Mr. Mansfield said his object in moving the amendment was, that if there was any litigation, he did not want the county of Peterborough to bear the whole brunt of it.

After some discussion, and an agreement that the clause objected to, covered the ground, the amendment by Mr. Mansfield was withdrawn.

Mr. Stephenson moved in amendment to the adoption of the report, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the report be referred back to the committee with instructions to give a grant of $500 to each, the East and West Agricultural Societies.

Mr. Stephenson strongly advocated the justice of a grant to these societies, showing that by refusing a grant the council would not be doing justice to their constituents, the farmers.

Mr. Burnham said the matter had been thoroughly discussed in the committee, and out of eleven members, only two were in favor of a grant,and it was only wasting time at this late hour to bring up such an amendment, "when we all wanted to get away."

Mr. Strickland moved, seconded by Mr. Mansfield, in amendment to the amendment, that a grant of $500 be given to the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society.

The amendment to the amendment was lost on the following division: Messrs. Strickland and Mansfield voting "yes," and the rest of the council, "nay."

On Mr. Stephenson's amendment the vote stood:

YEAS—Messrs. Moore, Stephenson and Elmhirst—3.

NAYS—Messrs. Moloney, Foley, Walsh, Hicks, Crough, Mansfield, Burnham, Strickland, Forster, Brown, Stewart, Lang, Sanderson and Fitzgerald—14.

The amendment was declared lost and the report was adopted.

COUNTY SCHOOL FUND.

A by-law, introduced by Mr. Walsh, was duly passed, to raise a sum of money to form part of the county school fund. The sums, to be raised by the several municipalities, were fixed as follows:—

Asphodel	$195 00
Burleigh, etc	145 00
Belmont and Methuen	230 00
Douro	253 00
Dummer	267 00
Ennismore	122 00
Harvey	134 00
Galway, etc	86 00
Monaghan	101 00
Otonabee	461 00
Smith	351 00
	$2268 00

Mr. Stewart, chairman, read the report of the committee on

PETITIONS

as follows:—

The Committee on Petitions beg to report as follows:

1. That with reference to By-law No. 375 relating to hawkers and peddlers, referred to this committee by the Finance Committee, your committee recommend that the same be repealed, and that the by-law hereto annexed be enacted.

2. Your committee recommend that this Council do memorialize the Governor-General-in-Council to make such provisions relating to fines for convictions under the Scott Act, that such fines shall be remitted to the counties wherein such act is in force.

3. That with reference to the circular transmitted to this Council by the clerk of the Legislative Assembly, with a view to eliciting such representations and suggestions as the matter therein considered, your committee recommend that the law, as at present should remain unaltered except as to the following:

a. That the Council of each county should have exclusive jurisdiction over all bridges in such county over streams or rivers over 100 feet in width.

b. That section 4 of Bill No. 77, introduced by Mr. Clancy, of West Kent, relating to dogs running at large in the night time, be passed.

GEORGE STEWART,
Chairman.

Committee Rooms, Saturday, June 19th, 1886.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Stephenson read a memorial to the Governor-General in Council praying that the fines imposed and levied under the Canada Temperance Act in the county of Peterborough, may be paid to the county as a fund for enforcing the said Act.

The memorial was adopted.

HAWKERS AND PEDDLERS.

Mr. Stewart introduced a by-law to regulate hawkers and peddlers, which was duly passed, enacting that every hawker and peddler shall take out a yearly license and the sums to be paid were fixed as follows: for peddlers on foot, $10; 1 horse, $20; 2 horses, $50; and providing penalties for breach of the provisions of the by-law—one half of the penalty to go to the informer, and one half to the county and that license be issued free to any person, a pack peddler claiming to be unable to pay the license fee.

Mr. Stephenson introduced a by-law to confirm the report of the Finance Committee

On motion for the third reading Mr. Mansfield moved in amendment that clause six of the report be amended by giving a grant of $500 to the West Riding Agricultural Society on condition that the said Society erect buildings of the value of $3000. The motion was lost on the following division:

YEAS—Messrs. Strickland, Mansfield, Elmhirst, Forster—4.

NAYS—Messrs. Moloney, Foley, Moore, Walsh, Hicks, Crough, Stephenson, Brown, Lang, Sanderson, Stewart, Fitzgerald—12.

The by-law passed its third reading.

SUPPLY BY-LAW.

Mr. Stephenson introduced a by-law, which passed its several readings, to assess, levy and collect a sum of money for county purposes, for the County of Peterborough for the year 1886.

The amount to be assessed, levied and collected was fixed at $18,672.75, to be distributed among the several townships and municipalities as follows:

Ashburnham	$ 514 25
Lakefield	330 63
Norwood	165 75
Asphodel	2037 60
Belmont	580 05
Methuen	26 75
Burleigh	83 21
Anstruther	37 16

Galway	113 39
Cavendish	19 26
Harvey	554 37
Monaghan	1043 52

The Council then adjourned.

The Classic Style.

There is no better illustration of the reserve, the passionless transparency and naivete, of the classic style of narrative than that which is given us in the Acts of the Apostles; not the work of a recognized classic author, but beautifully classic in its pure objectivity, its absence of personal coloring. In that wonderful narrative of Paul's shipwreck the narrator closes his account of an anxious night with these words: "Then fearing lest they should have fallen upon rocks, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished for the day." Fancy a modern writer dealing with such a theme! How he would enlarge on the racking suspense, the tortures of expectation, endured by the storm-tossed company through the weary hours of a night which threatened instant destruction! How he would dwell on the momentary dread of the shock which should shatter the frail bark and engulf the devoted crew, the angry billows hungering for their prey, eyes strained to catch the first glimmer of returning light, etc. All which the writer of the Acts conveys in the single phrase, "And wished for the day."

Clear, unimpassioned, impartial presentation of the subject, whether fact or fiction, whether done in prose or verse, is the prominent feature of the classic style. The modern writer gives you not so much the things themselves as his impression of them. You are compelled to see them through his eyes: that is, through his feelings and reflections. The ancients present them in their own light, without coloring. They would seem to have possessed other powers of seeing than the modern, who, as Jean Paul says, stands with an intellectual spyglass behind his own eyes. Certainly they possessed the art of so placing their object as not to have their own shadow fall upon it.

The difference is especially noticeable in poetry, where each style unfolds itself more fully and both are perfected in their several kinds. Ancient poetry is characterized by sharp delineations of individual objects, modern poetry by the color it gives to things and the sentiments it associates with them.

The healthy nature of the ancients cared little for anything beyond the visible world in which they moved. The finer their organization, the clearer the impressions which they received from surrounding objects. The modern, estranged from nature, is thrown back upon himself; the finer his organization the more feelingly he is affected by his environment. The ancient lived more in phenomena, the modern more in thought. Hence, as Schiller says, classic poetry affects us through the medium of facts, romantic through the medium of ideas.

In the thought of the ancients—I speak particularly of the Greeks—soul and body, spiritual and material, were not divided, but blended, fused, in one consciousness, one nature, one man. This identity of matter and mind which they realised in their life is expressed in all the creations of Grecian art.

For us moderns this harmony is lost. The beautiful equilibrium of matter and spirit is destroyed. We are divided within ourselves, our nature is rent in twain. We have discovered that we exist. We are become aware of spirit, and like children of a larger growth would pick the world to pieces to find where it hides. To the Greeks the world was a fact, to us it is a problem. Where they accepted, we analyze; where they rested, we challenge and dispute; where they lost themselves in contemplation, we seek ourselves in reflection; where they dreamed, we dream that we dream. They enjoyed the ideal in the actual: we seek it apart from the actual, in the vague inane.—Frederic Henry Hedge, in March Atlantic.

Estaquio Padilla, a Justice of the Peace in Santa Fe County, New Mexico, is complained of for exceeding his authority. He met his sister-in-law walking along the streets in company with a young man, and had them both thrown into jail because he did not like the young man.

A Bachelor's Neckties.

They lie on my table, red, purple and green;
In fact, all the colors that ever were seen.
Some bright as a daisy, some crumpled and soiled,
Like my desolate heart, of their freshness despoiled.

I find them in cupboards, in corners and nooks,
I find them in drawers, in boxes and books.
The wrecks of past fashion, they gleam on my sight,
Each one a reminder of hours sad or bright

Ah! well I remember, poor ribbon of blue,
How my heart beat with hope as I proudly donned you.
How five lovely eyes on your bright wings were cast,
Twas a glance of delight, but 'tis over and past.

And, regal tie of purple and showy tie of red,
Beneath you has nestled a fair, sunny head,
Whose tresses of gold once the charm of my life,
Now shine on the head of another man's wife.

And your folds of satin, oh, dainty tie white,
Were woven expressly for my wedding night.
And you, like the others, have both had your sides,
And still I am waiting—but where is my bride!

I'll gather you all in gay, colored heap,
And into the fire you shall go with a sweep!
Like my dreams, I am sure you will never come back,
And henceforth my neckties shall only be black.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable," or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

He was forty-six years of age and the funeral, which was largely attended took place on Monday, June 14th.

Sacred Oratorio.

It is intended to repeat the sacred cantata "Christ and His soldiers," which was given with much effect recently, in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Monday next, the 28th inst., at 8 p.m. Professor Parker and a choir of thirty voices will render the oratorio, and there will be solos by some of our best amateurs. Full particulars later. Admission free.

Masonic Sermon.

The members of Corinthian and Peterborough Masonic Lodges will observe St. John's Eve., Wednesday, June 23rd, by attending divine service at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, in the evening of that day, when Rev. Bro. W. C. Bradshaw will preach a sermon suitable to the occasion. Members of sister lodges are cordially invited. Members will attend clothed as masons.

On the Wrong Track.

At the police station this morning just before court time, Mr. E. B. Edwards, counsel for the prosecution in Scott Act cases, wishing to send up to his office for papers, used the telephone in the station. He asked Central to give him E. B. Edwards, office. The manipulator of the switch at central said "all right." The bell sounded and Mr. Edwards proceeded to deliver his message. His surprise was great, when a voice from Calcutt's brewery whispered to him that they were not delivering, or something to that effect, and that he was on the wrong track. When Mr. Edwards explained the cause of his second call to Central, there was a general laugh.

Personal.

Mr. J. M. Riddell, Superintendent of the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, is in town to-day.

Mr. John Carrol, of St. Catharines, formerly of Peterborough, is in town to-day, purchasing horses to work on a large contract he has secured from the Dominion Government.

Married Men's Revenge.

A Glorious Victory for the Benedicts.

The benedicts who were beaten by the bachelors two weeks ago, augmented by as many more, assembled in the cricket grounds on Saturday afternoon to play the return match. Everything pointed to a spirited game, and it was undoubtedly the best practice game this season. The weather was fine, the crease in fine condition and everybody ready for the fray. The mighty married men of valour won the day by a large majority, as will be seen by the following scores:

MARRIED.

Rackham, b Carter	3
Sam. Ray, b Cooper, c Hamilton	77
H. A. Hammond, b Carter	11
Dr. Burnham, b Carter	9
H. Ray, b Carter	5
Rogers, b Carter	2
J. E. Hammond, c Mosgrove	2
McGill, b and c Mosgrove	1
Strickland, b and c Morris	3
Long, b Cooper	3
Rutherford, b Carter	9
Smith, b Carter	0
Bell, not out	2
Byes	5
	132

SINGLE.

Morris, b Rogers	3
Langford, b Rogers	1
Carter, c Rutherford, b Rogers	3
Miles Hamilton, c Rutherford, b Rogers	6
Cooper, b Rogers	1
Mosgrove, hit wicket	0
W. Hamilton, b Rogers	0
Geale, b Rogers	10
Pakenham, not out	25
Minty, b Rogers	2
King, b and c Rogers	11
Fife, stumped Rutherford	0
Extras	5
Total	67

By the analysis it will be seen that Sam. Ray led the married men to victory, batting for 77 runs, while for the same side R. B. Rogers took the stumps of seven single men. For the bachelors W. Packenham scored 25 runs and not out, while Carter bowled out seven benedicts. Thus the benedicts won the day, retrieving their defeat of a fortnight ago.

Four Port Hope hotel keepers "are up," charged with Scott Act infraction. The charges will be heard on Friday.

Mr. R. Mulholland, M. P. P., will not again be a candidate for the representation of West Northumberland. Ill health is the reason assigned.

On Tuesday, June 15th, solemn requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Joseph's Church, Orillia, for the repose of the soul of the late Bishop Jamot.

The thanks of the EXAMINER are due to Mr. Harry Piper, the popular and genial manager of the Toronto Zoological Gardens, for a season ticket of admission to the "Zoo."

The Orillia News Letter says the winning of the championship by the local club will "tend to place the club's finances in a better position." Does the club intend to pawn the medal.

The Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows will be pleased if ladies and friends of the lodge generally, will leave or send any bouquets to the Otonabee Lodge, to-morrow, (Tuesday), not later than 2 o'clock p.m., for the decoration of the cemetery.

Orillia gave her victorious lacrosse club a reception on their return home with the medal—a brass band, a speech by Dr. Slaven, cheers, etc. We know just how they feel, only we have got more accustomed to it—its something so new for Orillia.

The Canadian Athletic News says the bankers got "unmercifully drubbed by a picked team from the Peterborough cricket club by a score of "141 to 410." The difference between these figures and the fact, is a mere "nothing"—at the end of the bankers' score.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Police Court.

The hearing of the charge against Mr. R. Hamilton, for violation of the Scott Act, was continued at the Police Court this morning before Police Magistrate Dumble.

Wm. Bridges testified that he had not been at Hamilton's between the 20th of May and 10th of June, nor did he get any intoxicating liquor at or from Hamilton's.

Mr. Edwards, for the prosecution, asked for an enlargement for a week, several important witnesses not having been subpoenaed.

Mr. Stratton, counsel for the defendant, objected that it was not fair to bring the defendant to the court day after day on speculation.

Mr. Edwards explained that a witness had agreed to appear on Saturday at four o'clock, he having an engagement out of town till that day.

In consequence of this arrangement, the case was enlarged till Saturday at four o'clock.

Fortye & Phelan's Handsome Hardware Shop.

The work of remodelling Messrs. Fortye & Phelan's hardware shop, in Mr. Geo. A. Cox's block, George street, which has been in progress during the past two weeks under the direction of Mr. James McLennan, is about completed and presents a very striking appearance. The shop is almost entirely new throughout, a new floor, new ceiling and new shelving having been put in, all of the most modern and approved style. In addition to the plate glass front, the rear is also lighted by means of three large windows fitted with plate glass. The front entrance is of the latest design, the door being indented about four feet, permitting of a side lights to the show windows. The woodwork of the door is mahogany grain, the top panel being of glass. The shop proper and rear store room are practically one the partition having been reduced to an arch. The whole presents a fine appearance, but especially the front part, the woodwork, drawers, counters, and shelving, of which are grained mahogany in H. W. Watson's finest finish. The shelves are movable, by the simplest twist of the wrist being made to suit the stock, overcoming the difficulty of placing the stock to suit the shelves. The drawers are provided with elegant silver plated draws, from the Peterborough Lock Works. The ceiling is of panelled pine, painted a light drab tint. From its surface suspend four handsome gasoliers, which, while dispelling darkness will also adorn the shop. A small office in keeping with the rest of the furnishings occupies the corner at the end of the northern counter. The storeroom is well planned and is a picture of neatness. The woodwork of this compartment is of oiled ash, the walls being wainscotted and the ceiling panelled. A rack for bar iron is an ingenious arrangement, the metal being placed uprightly in partitions extending from the cellar to the ceiling, thus doing away with shelving. The upper stories and cellar are used as store rooms for the extensive stock of heat goods, builders' hardware, paints, oils, and other heavy and bulky articles, carried by the firm.

The shop besides possessing the characteristic coolness peculiar to hardware shops, attractive at this time of the year, is well arranged throughout, and is one of the handsomest and best equipped to be found anywhere. The new firm of Fortye & Phelan with their new shop, extensive, well arranged and reliable stock, will no doubt succeed in doing a good business, which their energy, enterprise and experience warrant.

The Fishery Question.

A Special.

There is no truth in the statement telegraphed from Halifax that the Government has rescinded the order issued for a vigorous enforcement of the treaty of 1818 against American fishermen. All that has been done has been the issue to collectors of customs of a circular more clearly defining their duties in the matter. Mr. Tupper, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, says: "Yes, a circular has been issued by the Department, but it simply defines the rights of customs officers and others as to their power to seize American fishing vessels. It has never been intended that these officials should have the power to make seizures." The circular has caused considerable misapprehension, I may tell you." He added: "So fierce the winters are contented there is no change. They have the rights, and will continue to make seizures of all American vessels found within the three-mile limit as heretofore."

SIXTH COURT OF REVISION.

Council met as Court of Revision on Monday, May 31st, all the members present, the Reeve in the chair.

An appeal from J. W. Moore, Jr., from overcharge on real property, was heard, and his assessment reduced $200.

The assessment of J. E. Kearney was reduced $300, and that of L. G. Robert $400.

After allowing the assessment of some parcels of land which had changed hands since the assessment was made, the roll was finally passed by the court and certified by the clerk.

Council met after Court of Revision.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Clerk was instructed to notify W. T. Milburn to perform one day's work with team and driver to fill in hole made in street in Bridgenorth by removal of sand therefrom, and to notify Wm. Miller, carpenter, to pay 25 cents per load for all sand taken from street in the village of Bridgenorth.

The Reeve and Mr. Middleton were appointed a committee to interview the Engineer of the Midland Division of the G. T. R., regarding the improvements to be made by said railway wherever it intersects the public highways of Smith, and should the company fail to make the necessary improvements, the Reeve was instructed to take legal proceedings against them.

The Reeve and Deputy-Reeve were appointed a committee to examine water course on road between lots 20 and 21 in 12th con., with power to take such action as might be requisite.

The sum of $3.64 was allowed as abatement on Collector's roll for 1886, and the following claims ordered to be paid:

S. Nichols, work on road..... $ 4 00
Widow Mitchell, support Simon Burn 25 00
J. B. Fowler, support of Thomas Hutson 20 00

The Council then adjourned till Monday, 30th August.

Gladstone at Edinburgh.

Rousing Reception of the "Grand Old Man."

EDINBURGH, June 21.—The scene in the Music Hall on the occasion of Mr. Gladstone's speech on Friday night was impressive and memorable. The hall was packed to the extreme limit. The audience, when word was given of the Premier's advent, sang the chorus, "See the Conquering Hero Comes," Mr. Gladstone came upon the stage accompanied by his wife. When they saw Mr. Gladstone the audience arose to their feet and gave ringing cheers, accompanying the applause with wild waving of canes, hats and handkerchiefs. Mr. Gladstone wore full evening dress with flowers on his lapel. His exordium was most effective. On Saturday Mr. Gladstone spent the greater part of his time driving about the city. He was everywhere followed by crowds of Scotchmen, cheering and holiday making in his honor. He is simply receiving an ovation wherever he appears.

Another Edinburgh correspondent cables: All parts of the realm were represented in Friday night's great gathering—even the United States, many tourists from which had expressly journeyed here for the occasion. The propinquity of the auditors was quite suggestive of the progress toward universal suffrage. Laborers bronzed by the sun sat side by side with large landlords. Just as a great vase of magnificent orchids was being deposited upon a table on the platform a huge roar from tens of thousands of people outside, unable to get any standing room, announced the arrival at the doors of Midlothian's pride. Then the audience took up the cry as Mr. Gladstone and his wife, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Childers, were seen moving toward the platform, and was really magnificent when the orator's slender, tall figure, clad in irreproachable evening dress, stood erect against the table, with its background of waving hats and handkerchiefs. The clean cut face of the apostle of Home Rule seemed to take on a softer outline than was usual, although the face was very ashen. His hair seemed thinner, and though his eyes had their old lustre dimmed, they sparkled and seemed looking into futurity as he faced the audience. He began with short breath, as if fatigued, and spoke with nervous gasps, but soon, encouraged by the stormy enthusiasm that accentuated his first sentences, his mobile upper lip folds resolutely upon the flexible lower lip, and his eyes grew keener as the orator, with increasing power and almost pathetic earnestness, alternates argument with searching sarcasm and realizes his sobriquet of the "Grand Old Man." His courtesy in his expression toward Chamberlain was marked, and when the audience groaned at the Birmingham leader Gladstone seemed much annoyed and twice made a deprecatory gesture toward Lord Hartington, and his voice had a genuine ring of kindliness. When he came to his peroration the Gladstone "bell" voice of old returned, the youthful play of earnestness was again recognized and age seemed to retire. At the end of the last sentence—which you may coldly read, but which was tunefully uttered—the audience broke into such applause as one hears when, at the opera, a great diva unites vocal power and dramatic force in some grand finale. He spoke an hour and forty minutes, but seemed only half that time. Then he put on his large gray Inverness cloak and the proceedings terminated. No midget of a speaker dared to break the uproar with any traditional vote of thanks.

Fortnightly Regatta.

On Wednesday evening, June 30th, the first of a series of fortnightly regatta's to be given by the Peterborough Boating Club will be held on the Little Lake, beginning at 7.30 o'clock sharp. Mr. G. Loch, captain of the rowing department of the club, has arranged the following programme of events for the regatta:

FOUR-OARED RACE.

1ST CREW—W. Matthews, A. Stevenson, H. W. Kent, F. Mercer.
2ND CREW—A. Loch, J. Sheehy, F. Adams, J. McDonald.

DOUBLE SCULL RACE.

1ST CREW—A. Stevenson, J. McDonald.
2ND CREW—A. Loch, W. Bain.

DOUBLE SCULL RACE.

1ST CREW—H. W. Kent, F. Mercer.
2ND CREW—F. Adams, G. Loch.
3RD CREW—W. Matthews, J. Sheehy.

The winners of this last race will row off with the winners of the first double scull race. Half past seven in the evening and early in the morning are the hours for practice. The competing crews are well matched and no doubt will make exciting races.

The population of Europe has grown in the last century from 150,000,000 to 320,000,000.

During the last thirty years the export of beer from Germany to France has constantly increased.

According to the latest official statistics the number of working women in England and Wales is 7,706,545.

At swell dinners in Iowa they serve four kinds of water, Congress, Bethesda, Apollinaris, and Bitter water, and top off with a mug of good cider.

The word "environment," now so popular, was introduced into our language by Thomas Carlyle, who borrowed it from the French, they having used it for two centuries.

John Russell Young is a good listener. Nature made him reticent; but when pressed, and he finds it is his turn to talk, he becomes a most pleasing and entertaining conversationalist. Like all good talkers, he has a wonderful memory.

The Chinese and Japanese governments are translating and publishing at a cheap rate many of the best English text books. Most of Professor Tyndall's works, for instance, have been translated and printed in Chinese, and are issued at a merely nominal sum.

In Norway it is believed that wolves are frightened away by telegraph lines. It is said that however hungry a wolf may be he will never go into a spot that is inclosed by ropes stretched on posts. Since the first telegraphic line was established, twenty years ago, wolves have never appeared in its neighborhood.

"There is a good deal of religion in nature," solemnly remarked a young Aberdeen clergyman calling upon a lady of his congregation recently. "There is," was the quiet reply. "We should never forget that there is a sermon in every blade of grass." "Quite true. We should also remember that grass is cut very short sometimes."

Oscar Willey, of Davenport, Iowa, is the possessor of a horse of excellent build and good gait, with five legs, and every time it is shod five shoes are required. The horse is six years old, and was raised on a farm near Moline, Ill. It runs as well as a four-legged animal, and to all appearances finds no inconvenience in using the fifth member.

The latest newspaper advices from South Africa appear to indicate the existence of a "boom," really honest and trustworthy this time, in Transvaal gold mining enterprise. The Kaap gold fields, it is reported, are now thriving, and the yield of the old and new fields together for the last year amounts to at least £100,000—one journal, indeed, estimates it at between £100,000 and £150,000.

"I see it stated," says Mr. Labouchere, "that, whilst Englishmen drink five times as much tea as coffee, Americans drink eight times as much coffee as tea. This, in a great measure, is due to the coffee sold in the United States being less adulterated than ours. To a certain extent it may also be accounted for by the fact that Americans are richer than we are, for there are a good many more cups in a shilling's worth of tea than in a shilling's worth of coffee."

A remarkable story about Mr. Gladstone was told by Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler in a recent address to Yale students. He said: "With my own eyes I have seen Mr. Gladstone kneel by the side of a common street sweeper and pray for the salvation of his soul. I know of no grander sight than the premier of England and the leading statesman of the world kneeling by the side of a common street sweeper and pouring forth his eloquent appeal to God in behalf of his humble brother."

Another story of feeling in an amputated limb comes from Byron, N. Y. Four weeks ago Dr. Townsend amputated Mrs. William Goodliff's leg just below the knee. The leg was buried, and the patient was getting well all right, except that she constantly complained that a corn on her departed foot pained her excessively. After three weeks of this kind of suffering, her husband dug up the buried member, and found that a bandage remained bound tightly about the toes, on one of which was the corn. He removed the bandage, buried the member in an easy and comfortable position, and since then Mrs. Goodliff has had no trouble with that [illegible].

It is a well-known fact that the CABLE and EL PADRE brands of cigars are the oldest, most reliable, and best value in the market. For the last quarter of a century the demand for these brands has steadily increased, necessitating the employing of close on to one thousand operatives. Smokers will find it to their advantage to insist upon having the above-mentioned brands, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to palm off inferior goods for the sake of additional gain. S. EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Canadian, Mr. Geo. W. Badgerow, of Toronto, has been elected Supreme Master Workman of the order of A. O. U. W. in America.

For every dollar paid in taxes in 1878 the people of Canada now pay a dollar and a half. The revenue from duties in 1878 was seventeen millions; it is this year twenty-seven millions. Still, with all this excessive taxation, the public debt has increased to about three hundred millions.

More Cabinet changes. If the Cabinet were a garment, the number of patches it has received within the past four years would render the original texture unrecognizable. The latest is—Senator Plumb is to be made Secretary of State, taking the place of Mr. Chapleau, who becomes Postmaster General, the latter taking the place of Sir Alexander Campbell, who becomes Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec.

After a careful scrutiny of the record of the Mackenzie Government the only "scandal" the Tories professed to unearth was that Hon. David Mills had given Mr. Cook a rebate of $1,500 on account of error in measurement of saw logs cut on Georgian Bay. The rebate was made on the recommendation of a permanent government official, a permanent and thorough-paced Tory, and there was nothing wrong about it. The invention was a poor as well as a pure one.

Canadians make a good mark wherever they go, and many rise to eminence. Mr. Erastus Wiman, a former Canadian, now a prominent New Yorker, was largely instrumental in securing the abolition of that middle-age monstrosity, imprisonment for debt, in New York State, and the measure of his merit is shown by the fact that the London Times, not by any means habitually friendly to Canada, and other prominent English journals accord him high praise for his stand on this important reform.

The statement of Senator Frank Smith, a member of the Dominion Government, that the Knights of Labor are a "lot of "thieves," has been backed up, according to the Toronto World, by the dismissal of one of the street car employees because he was seen in company with a Knight of Labor. A Government which thinks it can be strengthened by keeping within it a man, possessing the narrow soul of Frank Smith, must, thinks the Hamilton Times, be weak indeed.

An illustration of the changed temper of the Irish people is found in the circumstance that the National league band at Kenmare, sat up all night to learn "God Save the Queen," a tune which had not been heard in that town since 1795. Is it not fair to reason that, if an honest effect such as has been made by Gladstone, develops an incident, indicative of so great a change of sentiment, that the actual cession of Home Rule to Ireland would make that country a loyal portion of the Empire, "grappled to the heart" of England by ties stronger than "hooks of steel?"

Sir Charles Tupper, Canada's High Commissioner in England, is expensive enough to be rated first class, and Hon. Mr. Carling got enough beyond the worth of his slice of farm to warrant the expectation that he would study and look after the interests of Canada better than the facts show that either he or Sir Charles has done. From every source we hear well-founded complaints that Canada's exhibit, at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition, is the most backward in connection with the exhibition, and that backwardness is doing great injustice and injury to Canada and injury to the reputation of its resources. For this, the abundant and splendid exhibits of Canada, furnish no excuse, for the country extensively responded to the call to be worthily represented among the colonies. Neither does lack of means, for Parliament was liberal in its appropriations. In addition to being incompetent for the position he holds, the Minister of Agriculture, is, as is shown by the results, lax and careless, while Sir Charles Tupper evidently thinks more of his own glorification than of serving the interests of Canadians. If Canada does not take the high place she should take, at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition, a Minister of the Dominion Cabinet and a Dominion Government official, will be to blame and solely to blame.

"Movers."

"Can we find a lodging, sir, with you this bitter night?
For the cedar, and a-movin'; there's no other house in sight.
We're a-movin' east'ard—slowly—but it's little we can do;
We won't be much of bother, for of us there's only two.

"Just my wife and I, sir, and she ain't been very stout
Since we started on this journey—and we've took the shortest route
Back to old Indiana from our cabin in the West.
Thankee, we'll be glad to stay, and then I'll tell the rest.

"You see we went to Kansas, and settled on some land,
Startin' out right portly, a-workin' hand in hand;
The skies looked rosy then, sir, and we couldn't see a cloud,
And Mary seemed so happy, while I was glad and proud.

"Especially when, one morning, just at the break of day,
Our little Lois came to us, like a flower pure in May.
Then toil and care seemed nothing, and we loved each other more,
We planned and plotted lovingly, 'till a shadow crossed our door.

"Our baby girl took sickly, and in spite of human skill
She left us, and her vacant chair that no other child could fill.
Then misfortune poured upon us, and our crops were pretty bad,
And then a 'sleepin' sote awoke and swallowed all we had.

"Soon Mary lost the roses from her cheeks once plump and round,
And began to look so ghostly; then a cough with its hollow sound
Came on to scare me dreadful, and I 'lowed to bring her back
To the home for which she's a-dyin'—and now I'm on that track.

"She says she's awful homesick—(she's a fallin' day by day),
And wants to keep a movin' and a hurryin' on the way.
I hope she'll brighten up a bit, and get a good night's rest;
She's a coughin' badly now, sir; it's that trouble in her breast.

"She'll be better in the morning, and I think I heard her say
She'd be at home and happy 'ere the close of another day.
We won't get home in a day, sir, nor a week, at the rate we go.
But I don't let on to worry her: it wouldn't do, you know."

They called the "mover" early from his feathery "spare-room" bed,
And led him to her chamber, and not a word was said,
Only they stood there weeping, and those lips so still and white
Could give them back no answer—they had closed in death last night.

"She'd be better in the morning," and eager to be away
On her journey homeward pushing, hoping to reach next day.
She's better, sir, this morning, for her longing soul has flown
To "the home for which she was dying"—to meet her Lola at the throne.

Hunting for Grouse.

"Occasionally a mighty Nimrod from the city comes out to hunt game in my neighborhood," said a Greenfield farmer yesterday. "A few days ago I saw a swell of a chap edging up through my sugar bush to the wheat field. He had on long-legged boots, and was toggled and belted and strapped out in regular hunter fashion. He looked just too purty for anything. He carried a darling of a gun, and he went dodging around as if he expected to start up a Bengal tiger from behind every stump. I took a short cut to the barn and turned the old peacock loose. The old bird understood what was wanted of him. He pulled down his eye at me and started for the back lots. I followed down along the fence, and pretty soon I saw that swell-hunter break cover from the woods. He was after quail, and he soon sighted the peacock. The bird had his tail fanned out and his head up, and could be seen half a mile away. Nimrod got his gun off his shoulder and began to creep up, and by and by he blazed away. I saw the whole charge of shot tear into the ground yards away from the old bird, but he knew his business. Down he fell, wings and legs flopping, and pretty soon he expired. The young man with the darling of a gun reached him about the same time I did.

"'Beautiful shot,' says he.

"'I reckon,' says I, 'but what are you hunting?'

"'Grouse,' says he, 'and this is the finest one I ever saw.'

"'Grouse, you numskull; but you have killed my peacock!'

"Well, the usual results followed. His chin began to quiver, the cold sweat started out, and he wanted to know how much I would take to let him off. I sent him to the house to see the old woman. She has got a way of wiping her eyes and choking her voice over the death of that peacock which always brings in $5 extra. She let this young swell off for $10, which is the usual price, and as he started down the highway for Detroit the old bird got up and marched back to the barn with a chuckle that set every hen to laughing. That's five times we've played it on the swell Nimrods within six months, and I expect more fun this summer than a horse can draw."—Detroit Free Press.

MAX KNOWS a young woman who is not afraid of her convictions. She lives in a house where Methodism is the prevailing creed. One day the dominie who has the care of souls in that particular family came to make a pastoral visit. After conversing with the elder members of the family on their spiritual welfare, he turned to the young woman in question and said, with all unctuousness: "And you, my dear daughter, are you a child of God?" "No, Doctor," said the young woman, "I'm an Episcopalian."—Buffalo Express.

A codfish is the only Annymal that ain't got no neck. There ain't but one kind of a fish in the World that lives on the land and Flys round in the air, and that is a fish-hawk. Cape Breton Hospitality.

By noon-time we happened to meet two boys picking up shells; they said the shells were for burning to get lime for mending the chimney-corner. They invited us home to dinner, but we went on. Then came a troop of men and women from their hay field; none of them spoke to us at first, but after we had addressed them a few words, the father among them became more sociable, and he also asked us to dine. Still another group gave us an invitation, and at last we accepted it. Here was our first evidence of Cape Breton hospitality we had missed the previous evening; here people came seeking on the highway who might devour. The men sat down first, and the women served us with bannocks and sour milk, potatoes and boiled salt mackerel, bread and butter. It was one of the best meals of our trip; for nine times out of ten we were given only the staple articles of diet—bread, butter, and bitter tea. The people spoke Gaelic to one another, and we got no hint of their talk; but the quiet and kindly spirit of the family sufficed to put us at ease. After dinner we dragged wearily onward, still toward Smoky, until at sundown we gladly entered a poor man's hut for the night. It was full of inhabitants, of which I can mention only the man and wife with nine small children, three dogs, a hen, and a pet pig. It was a shadowy little place, with a cavernous stone chimney, picturesque with pots and kettles hanging from a crane. The few dishes gleamed out of the dimness of a corner cupboard, and the table and chairs were unmistakably home-made. The woman had been in the hay field all day, but she cheerfully cooked our supper, and gave us the bed usually occupied by the children. The poor are always friendly with nature; the little pig regarded himself as one of the family; and whenever the woman went to get some milk from the pan kept in the bottom of the cupboard, there was a race between her, the pig squealing, and the hen with eager neck; the woman generally reached the door first, and then, with much scuffling, just managed to fence the others out with her legs, while they bobbed in and out under her skirts. From this excitement the pig would walk over to the hearth, and such was the comfort he took in the warmth of the fire that he would doze before he had time to lie down, and thus frequently fell asleep supported a while on four legs and his nose. I noted his habits, because the pig is sometimes a member of the household here in regard to bed and board. A minister at a wedding remained all night, and was given a low cot bed in the living-room. In the night he was startled at finding some one getting into his bed, and soon felt it to be the pig neatling down against his back. He tried to drive it out, but the outraged animal would not go. The noise of the fight brought the householder, and he explained that it was the habit of the pig to come into bed with them on cold nights, and assured the reverend gentleman that it would do no harm.—C. H. Farnham, in Harper's Magazine for March.

A Victoria merchant, who happened to see a photograph of a young lady living in Nova Scotia, thought the original an angel of loveliness, and, after a brief correspondence, sent for her. She made the long journey, but her personal appearance disenchanted him, and he refused to marry her. She has entered suit against him for $5,000 damages.

The best way to make a theatrical moon is thus described: Two drop scenes are used. Out of the first, in which is the sky scene, is cut a strip a yard wide, it being the path up which the moon is to travel. Immediately behind, and so close that the piece so removed is not discernible, is a second drop. From this a round piece is removed, and the place covered by white or yellow silk or some transparent cloth, and from behind a strong calcium light is thrown on the silk. The moon is made to rise by gently hauling up the back drop. Clouds are usually painted on strips extending across the path cut in the first drop, serving both to strengthen the drop laterally and add to the realism of the scene by having the moon disappear for a moment under a cloud.

The Hotel Hygeia, Fortress Monroe.

The Hotel Hygeia has this advantage, which is appreciated at least by the young ladies. The United States fort is close at hand, with its quota of young officers, who have the leisure in times of peace to prepare for war, domestic or foreign; and there is a naval station across the bay, with vessels that need fashionable inspection. Considering the acknowledged scarcity of young men at watering-places, it is the duty of a paternal government to place its military and naval stations close to the fashionable resorts, so that the young women who are studying the german and other branches of the life of the period can have agreeable assistants. It is the charm of Fortress Monroe that its heroes are kept from ennui by the company assembled there, and that they can be of service to society.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Harper's Magazine

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,

Salt-Rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, invigorating medicine. Great Blood Purifier, it has manifested its potency in every form of disease, from Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, and pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy borebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

Dangers of Dynamite.

A rock sixteen and a half pounds in weight, torn from its bed by a discharge of dynamite at Burleigh the other day, was carried hundreds of feet, coming down on Mr. Goodwin's shop at that place. It crashed through the roof and stopped after striking a joist supporting the ceiling of the first floor. No person was injured.

Fruit Festival.

Remember the Sunday School Festival in the grounds of the George street Methodist Church this (Tuesday) evening. The bill of fare will include delicious strawberries, cream, cakes, and the delightful music furnished by the Fire Brigade Band. The grounds will be beautifully illuminated. Admission ten cents.

Pink and White.

Owing to the fact that another entertainment, engages the band on Tuesday evening June 29th, the ladies of the Charlotte street Methodist Church have decided to hold their Pink and White social in the school room, and grounds on Monday evening June 28th. The Fire Brigade Band will be present, and abundant and excellent refreshments will be served. Admission to the grounds 10 cents; refreshments extra. The general public are cordially invited.

The Monday Pop.

The Peterborough Gun Club held its regular Monday pop yesterday afternoon. The shooting was not up to the highest notch, yet the score shows a higher average than was secured at the earlier meetings of the club. Below is the score in yesterday's shooting:

R. Tivey	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 0—3
J. D. Collins	1 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 0 1—6
H. Calcutt	1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0—7
H. Nell	0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0—3
H. W. Kent	0 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 1—6

Courts of Revision.

Yesterday his Honour Judge Weller, revising officer, held a court of final revision under the Franchise Act, for Belmont, at Havelock. To-day he holds similar courts at Keene, Westwood and Norwood. To-morrow, he visits the back country, holding courts, and will return on Saturday or Monday. Mr. W. A. Stratton appears at all of these courts on behalf of the Liberal party, and Messrs. E. A. Peck and Geo. W. Hatton on behalf of the Dominion Government.

Drowning Accident at Trenton.

A young man named Harris, aged 15, an employe of Gilmour's mill, was drowned in the river at Trenton yesterday. He was in bathing above the dam with a number of others who were trying to teach him to swim. They carried him out into the middle of the stream where the current is very strong. Harris gave the word to "let go" and his companions obeyed. But the current was too strong for a novice and before they could reach him the unfortunate fellow was carried down the stream. A few hours later his body was found at the dam.—Belleville Ontario.

The First Lawn Social.

The first lawn social of the season was given at the residence of Mrs. James Dickson yesterday evening, by St. Paul's Faithful Workers' Mission Band. Unfortunately a slight shower dampened the grass, which no doubt prevented many from attending, who otherwise would have been present. The free bus provided for the occasion plied between the central part of the town and grounds, and by nine o'clock a large number had assembled on the lawn. When a slight shower fell the party adjourned to the house, the many rooms and spacious verandahs of which were thronged with socialists. The young ladies of the mission band were indefatigable in their efforts to vend refreshments and flowers, at which they were very successful. Notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather, a very pleasant and sociable time was spent. The Fire Brigade band materially assisted the mission band in entertaining their guests. After tendering a vote of thanks to Mrs. Dixon, for her generous hospitality, the merry party returned home with light hearts and pockets to prepare for the next festival. The gross receipts were about $40 which will be added to the mission band fund.

The Steamer Cruiser.

On and after Monday, June 28th, this fine steamer will make daily trips.

R. S. Griffin & Co. are offering a wonderful bargain in "Crompton's Corsets," price 25c. and 50c.; usual price, 50c. and $1.00.

No. 4 Company.

The members of No. 4 Company, City Battalion, are requested to meet at the drill shed this evening to receive new clothing which will be distributed at that time by Lieut. W. H. Hill.

Recovered.

The family of Mr. J. W. Brisbin, provision merchant, have been seriously afflicted with an attack of diphtheria, but we, as well as Mr. Brisbin's many friends will be, are pleased to know that all have nicely recovered.

Wednesday Practice.

The Secretary of the cricket club announces that regular practice matches will be held on Wednesday afternoons, during the remainder of the season, commencing to-morrow. This will give those cricketers who cannot get away on Saturday afternoon an opportunity of practicing. The opposing teams will be selected on the grounds.

Farewell Sermon.

Rev. Mr. McAmmond preached his farewell sermon in Ashburnham on Sunday. He leaves for Fenelon Falls to-morrow morning. Rev. Mr. McAmmond, while fulfilling the duties of the pastorate of the Mark street Methodist Church, has shown an earnestness, zeal and interest in the welfare of his flock, that has greatly endeared him to them, and his removal to another field of labor will be generally and deeply regretted.

First and Best.

One of the finest trips of the season will be to go with the Masons to Rochester on Thursday, June the 24th. Excursionists are taken right into Rochester city and home again for the small sum of $2.75. Tickets good for three days. The train will leave the G. T. R. station at 7.05 in the morning. A nice short ride to Port Hope, then a pleasant sail to Charlotte. Stop-over privilege. Parties wishing to spend Sunday in Rochester can do so by paying a small additional charge.

Parker Appreciated.

The Toronto Mail of yesterday has the following:—"The last concert of a series of five, given by J. S. Parker, the organist of the First Presbyterian Church, took place in the Opera House, last Tuesday evening, and was as successful as those preceding it in the course. The singing of Mrs. Agnes Corlett Thompson was the principal feature of the last concert. She received a regular ovation after her rendering of "Robert toi que J'aime," and the audience insisted upon two encores before allowing the programme to proceed. Mr. Parker deserves great credit for the high excellence of the programmes he has given here. Few cities outside of the leading musical centres can announce successful concerts with programmes selected from the works of Handel, Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Hadyn, and the encouragement extended to Mr. Parker must be a gratifying assurance of the success of his efforts."

"My good common sense tells me there is no such thing as a devil," said young Thinkeasy; "I know there is no such a creature, thing, state or condition as the devil, and I am to show my conviction in my life." And within thirty minutes from that time he had in earnest conversation with various people expressed his convictions by declaring: "Well, that beats the," "What the," "How in the," "Why the," "Go to the," "He lies like the," "I was mad as the," and "She's vicious as the—devil." There's nothing like bringing your creed right into your conversation. If you believe in a fellow keep his name on your lips.—Brooklyn Eagle.

They Were Delegates.

She was a lean, scrawny woman, and she took the seat the third back from the stove. He was short and fat, and sat opposite to her. As soon as the coach door was closed the car began to heat up, and presently he snapped his finger at the brakeman and said:

"For Heaven's sake open some of those ventilators!"

"Don't you do it!" exclaimed the woman.

"Do you think I want to melt?" demanded the man, as he wheeled to face her.

"Do you think I want to freeze?" she demanded in turn.

"Madam," said the fat man, after carefully surveying her, "if I was a mass of bones I'd carry a hot brick when I traveled."

"O, you would! If I was a mass of pork I would carry a hunk of ice with me."

The brakeman went into the smoking car to be clear of the storm, and the fat man got up and opened the door. He had scarcely returned to his seat when the lean woman got up and closed it.

"Madam!"

"Sir!"

"I want that door open!"

"And I want it shut!"

Just then a passenger came down the aisle from the other end of the car and shook hands with each in turn and said:

"Mrs. Cassowary, this is Mr. White. I suppose you are both delegates to the convention."

"Ah! Mrs. Cassowary, I beg your pardon."

"Ah! You can have the door open, Mr. White."

"By no means."

"I insist."

"But allow me to give way."

And they roasted us until we had to go out on the platform to keep from running to grease.—Detroit Free Press.

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 30 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, I seized upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in New York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, Capt. E. King.

This Cut shows one Style only.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; used 20 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

DECORATION DAY.

The Oddfellows Beautify the Graves of Departed Brethren.

Imposing Ceremony at Little Lake Cemetery.

The Day Observed by Citizens Generally.

Yesterday was observed as decoration day at the Little Lake Cemetery, by the local lodges of Oddfellows especially, which in a manner most appropriate performed the ceremony of decorating the graves of departed brethren, and also by the citizens generally, the afternoon being observed as a half holiday. Early in the afternoon the members of Otonabee and Peterborough lodges of Oddfellows, and visiting brethren residing in town, also a number of the brethren from Lindsay lodge assembled in Central Park, preparatory to falling into procession. Almost every place of business in town was closed during the afternoon, and George street on either side was lined with thousands of pedestrians waiting for the procession to start, while numerous busses and other vehicles, well filled with precious freight, also awaited the march. About three o'clock the members were marshalled into line and stated for the cemetery, passing down George street, headed by the Fire Brigade Band in their military uniforms. Each of the brethren carried bequets in the hands, while their breasts also supported smaller ones, in addition to the badges and official jewels. The scene as the procession moved along the street, thronged on either side by thousands of persons, young and old, all moving in the same direction, with evidently the same end in view, was imposing and impressive, demonstrating the fact that decoration day, with its associations and ceremonies, has taken a firm footing with the citizens generally, as well as with the Oddfellows. The following was the order of procession:

THE PROCESSION

The Fire Brigade Band.
W. Galley, Marshall.
Junior Members of Local Lodges.
Senior Members of Local Lodges.
Officers of United Lodges.
Mount Hebron Encampment.
Lindsay Brethren.
Past Officers.
Local Noble Grands.

The procession numbered about one hundred and thirty.

Although the day was sultry the sun was hidden from view by dense clouds, while the dust on the road leading to the cemetery had been laid by the town street sprinkler.

The cemetery was reached shortly after three o'clock, at which time about three thousand persons had assembled in the city of the dead. The brethren formed an oval in front of the mortuary chapel where the preliminary ceremony was performed. Bro. G. B. Sproule, Noble Grand of Otonabee Lodge, made a brief and appropriate address which was followed by prayer offered by Bro. Minore, Chaplain of Otonabee Lodge. The beautiful hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," was then chanted by the brethren, the band accompanying, when the ceremony of decorating the graves was proceeded with. The following is the list of graves which were decorated in the following order:

Bro. W. S. Conger, Otonabee Lodge.
" Col. McDonald, " "
" Sheriff. Hall, " "
" Samuel Albro, " "
" Alexander Baptie, Peterborough Lodge.
" Dr. W. Ball, Otonabee Lodge.
" James Hamilton, " "
" Wm. Hall, " "
" W. H. Wrighton, " "
" Jenkins, " "
" A. Sawers, " "
" P. Ferguson, " "
" W. H. Scott, Peterborough Lodge.
" James Ferguson, Otonabee Lodge.
" James Harvey, " "
" James Martin, Peterborough Lodge.
" T. J. H. Beckett, " "
" A. Chamberlen, Otonabee Lodge.
" J. B. Hall, " "
" J. L. Hughes, " "
" J. Robinson, " "
" C. Berry, " "
" F. Fortye, " "
" Dr. Allan, Peterborough Lodge.
" Dr. Bennett, " "
" Tully, Otonabee Lodge.
" D. Carlyle, Peterborough Lodge.
" James Bird, Otonabee Lodge.
" W. Ball, Peterborough Lodge.
" A. White, " "
" Vizard, Otonabee Lodge.
" John Reid, " "
" Dr. McNab, " "
" S. White, Peterborough Lodge.

After the floral offerings had been deposited on the graves of Oddfellows, the cemetery was brilliant with bloom, almost every mound in the Silent City being more or less adorned with flowers. The cemetery was during the morning, visited by hundreds of persons who decorated the graves of their deceased friends or relatives. Besides being strewn with flowers, the well kept walks, flower beds, and shade trees, the latter clad in their grandest garments of green, presented a most beautiful and romantic scene.

About five o'clock, the Brethren again assembled in front of the chapel and with uncovered heads chanted "The Sweet Bye and Bye." Bro. Fraser, Noble Grand, of Peterborough lodge, addressed the Brethren relative to the solemn ceremonies which had been performed. Bro. J. Kidd, Chaplain of Peterborough lodge, invoked the Divine blessing, after which the Brethren again formed in procession and marched back to town, repairing to the Otonabee lodge room, where motions, expressing the thanks of the Brethren to the ladies and other contributors of flowers, to the Mayor and corporation, and to the citizens generally, were passed. The Brethren then dispersed.

NOTES

Bros. Thos. Williams, A. McDonnell, John Comstock, and S. Perrin, Past Grands, of Lindsay Lodge, were present and were given places of honor in the procession. Bros. Neil Carmichael, Ira Fenton, John Anderson, T. G. Maclatt, of the same lodge, and Bros. Robert Chambers and John H. Hart, of Guiding Star Encampment, Lindsay, were also present and took part in the proceedings. Past Grands A. McDonnell and John Comstock, of Lindsay, also represented the Guiding Star Encampment.

During the afternoon the "Whistlewing" carried passengers from the wharf at the foot of Dalhousie street to the cemetery.

The buyers were represented by Messrs. W. H. Wrighton, E. Green, W. H. Claxton (town); J. D. Flavelle, Lindsay; P. S. Cook, representing Warrington, Belleville, and Chas. Bartlett, representing Kirpatrick & Cookson.

The cheese offered was the first half of June, and the first bid was made by Mr. Bartlett—6¾ cents per pound for the board. C. S. Cook, 6¾ for selections, E. Green, 6¾ for the Victoria section. Mr. W. H. Wrighton advanced the bid to 6 13-16, for the board (the Peterborough section).

A short conference of the directors, concluded that Mr. Wrighton's offer was most favorable to makers.

Many of the patrons present expressed an opinion in favor of not permitting selections at an advance of a sixteenth.

Mr. Cook insisted that his offer should be considered first; it was first made and his interests would not permit him to attend further board meetings if he did not get what he considered fair play.

He was then called on to make his selections, which he did as follows: Warminster, Westwood, South Dummer, Norwood, North Smith, Lakefield, Myrtle, Pine Grove, Warsaw, Cherry Grove, and Trewarne, these factories accepting 6¾ cents.

Mr. E. Green then bid 6¾ for the balance of the Peterborough section, which Mr. Flavelle advanced to 6¾, followed by Mr. Green with 6¾ for selections, and Mr. Cook bid 6¾ for the whole, which was accepted.

Mr. Green's bid (6¾) for the Victoria section was accepted.

NOTES.

The cable quotation was 36s.

Messrs. Drummond, President, and Taylor, Secretary, conducted the meeting.

Just after the adjournment Bartlett received a telegraphic message authorising him to offer 7 cents for the board, which, unfortunately for the sellers, came too late.

Police Court.

The hearing of the charge against John Wilson for violation of the Scott Act, enlarged from Monday, was continued at the police court this morning.

Matthew Walton testified that he frequently put up at Wilson's when he came to town; since May 1st he had several temperance drinks at Wilson's, and on two occasions Mr. Wilson gave him whiskey. The first drink of whiskey, or wormwood bitters, he got about the second Saturday in May, and the second about two weeks after. He did not pay for either of these drinks. Mr. Wilson positively refused to sell him any liquor.

J. B. Tully testified that he put up at Wilson's when he came to town. Since the first of May he had no intoxicating liquor at Wilson's. He did not treat him as he did Mr. Walton. Mr. Wilson said he was not selling liquor, and he did not beg for any.

Mr. Wilson was then called.

Mr. O'Meara, counsel for the defendant, objected that the defendant was not compelled to give evidence until a prima facie case had been made out, and also that the defendant was not compelled to give evidence that might criminate himself.

These objections were noted.

Mr. Wilson said he was prepared to answer all proper questions, and was sworn. He stated that before May first he kept a licensed hotel. He allowed his stock of liquors to run very low,—to a barrel of whiskey and a small quantity of beer,—and on the night before the 1st of May he removed all the liquor from his cellar, with the exception of a little for his own use, about a dozen bottles in all. He treated several friends with this liquor and used the balance himself. He did not sell any liquor, and it could not be bought from him at $1.00 a glass. On one occasion he brought some liquor from the place where he had it stored, which he used in making wormwood bitters for himself. The place where he had the liquor stored was a long way off, but the whereabouts he would not reveal. The liquor was stored in a cellar, and the person in whose house it was had access to it. He did not remember giving liquor to any other person than the two witnesses called. He made no arrangement for after payment, either directly or indirectly. He had a small quantity of beer on his premises which he kept for his own use.

Eugene Archambault testified that he had been at Wilson's since May 1st, but received no intoxicating liquor to drink.

In answer to the magistrate, Mr. Edwards, counsel for the prosecution, said he did not ask for a conviction on the evidence adduced.

The magistrate congratulated Mr. Wilson on his honest efforts to keep the law and dismissed the charge with costs.

A charge against a Water street merchants for obstructing the sidewalk was withdrwn on payment of costs, the defendant agreeing to observe the law in future.

Mr. Thos. Dunn, fined $50 for violation of the Scott Act at the Police Court last week, and whose goods were seized for the amount of fine, has entered an action for replevin of the goods, to be heard before Judge Weller on July 9th.

NORTHWEST MISGOVERNMENT.

The Toronto Week, speaking of Dominion politics, notwithstanding its well known hostility to the Liberal party, as led by the Hon. Edward Blake, says:—

A dissolution cannot be far off and it is in the ensuing election campaign that the policy and conduct of the government in the Northwest should be arraigned before the country. Never before under confederation, had the Liberal party such a genuine advantage over their adversary as is afforded by this plain issue—the results of Conservative government in the Northwest. These results are patent to all, they were experienced by the whole country in a terrible manner a year ago, and some of the causes have come to view during the past session in the blaze of political scandals wherewith it began, continued, and ended. If the men concerned in these scandals be not relegated to private life at the approaching general election, it can only be because the constituencies are as corrupt as the representatives. It many cases doubtless it is a matter of mutual bargain: the member plunders the public treasury for local purposes, and is allowed to take his share in the shape most convenient for himself. The whole system of state-aid to local improvements is in fact wrong and fraught with danger under our system of parliamentary government; and while it is by no means clear that if the Liberal party had the patronage of a vast newly developed territory to dispose of they would do much better than their rivals, none the less can it be good that the present state of things should continue longer unchecked.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Under guise of building a branch of the Intercolonial Railway, Mr. Costigan proposes to take a large amount of money out of the Dominion treasury to build a local railway, about ninety miles long, to connect his county with the Intercolonial Railway at Campbellton, N. B. He will then appeal to his constituents to elect him because he has built a railway for them with Ontario money, while other parts of the Dominion have to build their own local railways.

It is supposed that the Government have determined to give "Boy" Beaty another chance to get possession of the contract of the New Central Railway. Beaty is now in New York endeavoring to form a company to build the road, and has telegraphed that he is getting on well. The Government will await the result of Mr. Beaty's efforts before giving the contract to another company. The Government in its anxiety not to see the "Boy" beaten in his attempt to grab $675,000 of somebody's else money, doesn't care a farthing how much the country is beaten.

Fraserville.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The annual pic-nic, in connection with Fraserville school, took place on Friday, June 18th. The members of the football club did all in their power to make it the pic-nic of the season, and by their united efforts we must acknowledge it as the grandest and most enjoyable festivity ever held in this vicinity—over 500 assembled from far and near, to enjoy themselves, and we think all did, with the exception of the 22 men who formed a senior and junior football team bearing the name of the "Clippers of Cavan." At 3 o'clock the people assembled in Mr. Waterman's field to witness a football match between the "Clippers" of Cavan and the "Checkers" of Fraserville. Soon after play began it was evident that the "Checkers" of Fraserville were more than a match for the "Clippers." The "Clippers" as they are wont to, played two or three men, non-residents of their locality. The "Checkers" were men all of whom live within two or three miles of here. The field in which they played was used for the first time, therefore, as fair for one as the other. The on lookers were very excited and frequently gave vent to their feelings by loud applause. The "Checkers" won the day by scoring two goals while the "Clippers" obtained one goal. As it is the first time they have suffered defeat, it was taken very much to heart by them.

At 7 o'clock another match was played between the 2nd eleven of Cavan and our 2nd eleven. Our boys again won the day, in fact the Cavan boys were no match for ours, as our goal keeper kicked the ball but once during the match. The day was indeed very encouraging to the foot ball players of this place and undoubtedly the boys will take a stronger interest than ever in the game.

Fraserville Checkers 2 goals; Cavan Clippers, 1 goal; 2nd eleven, Fraserville Checkers, 1 goal; Cavan Clippers, 0 goal.

The ladies and gentlemen who had charge of the tables etc., must be congratulated because of the very excellent taste exhibited by them and take this opportunity of thanking those who assisted in waiting on the tables, etc.

The pic-nic was a success.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Customer (in restaurant—"Waiter, this chicken soup has feathers in it." Waiter—"Yes, sah. If yo' want soup made outen chickens dat am old 'nough to be bald, sah, yo' 'll have to go to some odder 'stablishment."—N. Y. Sun.

Bidon, a soldier of the line, arrives in Paris from Formosa with a wooden leg. "Noble hero," says M. Opportun Prudhomme, "thanks to you, France has one foot in China." Bidon, innocently—"It is indeed true, and it is I who left it there."—Paris Figaro.

"What is your full name?" asked the magistrate of an individual who had been absorbing more mountain dew than he could carry. "Same as when I'm sober (hic). Did yer think I changed it (hic) when I took a drink?" "Sixty days."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

A London correspondent says: "You cannot be asked to the Queen's ball unless you have been at court the same year." That settles it. We shall not look for an invitation this season. Owing to a rush of job work we could not have attended any way.—Norristown Herald.

An exchange says; "To save themselves from starvation an 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' company, while caught in a Western blizzard, ate their donkeys." A thing like this cannot be too severely condemned as long as first-class dramatic talent is so scarce. — Detroit Tribune.

"Bobby," said mamma severely, "get right down. If you stand on that chair you will fall and hurt yourself. If you do it again I shall have to whip you." "Well, if you don't want me to get hurt," argued Bobby, "what do you want to threaten to whip me for?" But he got down off the chair.

First landlady—"I don't give my boarders hash nowadays." "Indeed! What do you do with your odds and end of cold meat? You don't surely throw them away?" First landlady—"O, no; I make them up into croquets." Second landlady—"Ah, I see; your hash is idealized."—Boston Budget.

It is announced that Gen. Husted, while acting as Speaker of the New York Assembly, "wears three diamonds and a dress coat." Unless the building is well heated it may occur to some persons that he would find three diamonds and a long ulster more comfortable. It would look better, anyway.—Norristown Herald.

The young Vicomte is a notoriously bad shot. As he was going out to hunt with his two dogs he meets one of his friends. "Poor brutes," says his friends, looking at the dogs. "Why so? they adore me," and he puts down his hand for the dogs to lick. "Morituri salutant!" says the other in a melancholy tone.—Paris Paper.

Speaking of wives wages, it is mentioned that a happy couple agreed to bear equally the expenses of the family. One of the children fell ill, and a difference arose as to which should buy medicine for the little one. Both held out firmly. The result was that the child, getting no medicine, was soon well.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Saloonkeeper (whose place of business adjoins a theatre, to manager): "Vot vas dot next play von dot pill-board, Mr. Dropcurtain?" Manager: "'Hamlet'." Saloonkeeper: "How many acts vas dot 'Hamlet'?" Manager: "Five." Saloonkeeper (with great satisfaction): "Five acts mit dat 'Hamlet'! Dat vas a beautiful play.—N. Y. Sun.

Regular rates: Young father (to country editor)—"What do you charge for birth notices, Mr. Shears?" Country editor—"Only 50 cents." Young father—"You may say in your next issue that Mrs. Sedgwick-Smith has presented her husband with a bouncing pair of twin boys." Country editor—"All right, Mr. Smith." Young father—"Er—50 cents?" Country editor—"One dollar, please."—Harper's Bazar.

Young Monsieur X. (only a short time in America): "Mai I hav ze playsure, Mees Clara, of ze invite to ze theatre wis you tomorrow evening?" Miss Clara: "O, thanks, Monsieur X. And what is the play?" Monsieur X: "Er—vat you call him—'La Case do l'Oncle Tom?'" Miss Clara; "I shall be delighted, I am sure. I think those plays adapted from the French are so entertaining."—Harper's Bazar.

Quaker Conservatism: Landlord (to old Philadelphian)—"I will make the rent for the coming year $30 a month, Mr. Penn." Old Philadelphian—"But I have always paid you $35." Landlord—"Yes, but I can afford to make a reduction of $5 a month to so good a tenant." Old Philadelphian (shaking his head)—"I am sorry, sir, but in that case I shall have to move. I've always been accustomed to pay $35, and I wouldn't like to make any change."

Tom Anjerry, a student at the University of Texas, applied to Prof. Shore for permission to be absent. "I would like to be excused from my jography lesson this afternoon, as I want to take my sister out riding," said Tom. The old Professor, who is no fool, looked at the young man over the top of his spectacles and said slowly: "Want to take your sister out riding in a buggy, eh? Is she related to you?"—Texas Siftings.

Will You Try Nerviline.

For all kinds of pain. Polson's Nerviline is the most efficient and prompt remedy in existence for neuralgia, lumbago and headache. For internal use it has no equal. Relief in five minutes may be obtained from Nerviline in any of the following complaints, viz.: Cramps in the stomach, chills, flatulent pains. Buy a 10 cent sample bottle of Nerviline at any drug store and test the great remedy. Large bottles 25 cents. d141-6t-w24

FRESH STRAWBERRIES, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Cabbage, Squash, Pine Apples, Oranges, Lemons and Vegetables of all kinds just arrived, to be found at the Rochester Fruit Store. E. G. STONE.

Fluid Lightning does not take a day or an hour to remove Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Lumbago or Rheumatism, but will do it instantly, and without carrying your head in a poultice for a day or using greasy liniments. Try a 25c. bottle from J. McKee, Druggist. d141-eod-w24

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Ill Temper

Is more rapidly improved by relief from physical suffering than in any other way. Step on your friends corn, and the impulse to strike is strongest. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, by quickly and painlessly removing them, insures good nature. Fifty imitations proves its value. Beware of substitutes. "Putnam's," sure, safe, painless. d141-6t-w24

Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Inflammatory and chronic Rheumatism, Scrofulous Tumors, Tetter, Ring-Bone, Salt-Rheum, Fever-Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

PRICE $1.00, OR 6 BOTTLES FOR $5.00.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

The Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1886.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's Sabbath School pic-nic will be held on the 15th July, at Millbrook.

Postponed.

The Masonic service to be held this evening in St. Luke's Church, has been postponed until further notice, owing to the inclemency of the weather.

Migratory Movements.

Mr. Wesley Larmer left town yesterday for Bismarck, Dakota, where he will engage in farming with his brother, who owns an extensive farm west of Bismarck.

Fell in a Fit.

Mr. J. Stabler, of Smith, fell in an epileptic fit yesterday afternoon, on Hunter street, in front of Mr. Butler's shop. Good Samaritans were numerous and he was well attended to and soon recovered.

Thanks.

The Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows desire to express their grateful thanks to Mrs. Geo. Stethem for the very handsome donation of flowers presented by her for use on the occasion of decoration day.

Open Air Festival on Friday.

The strawberry festival on Mr. Geo. M. Roger's grounds, on Friday evening, promises to be the one of the season. Among the attractions will be berries, ice cream, cake, lemonade, flowers, music by the Fire Brigade Band, etc. Admission will be ten cents.

Acknowledgement.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home desire to acknowledge the receipt of $45.06, the proceeds, after all expenses are paid, of the cantata most kindly given by Mr. Galletly in the Opera House last Friday night, in aid of the Home, and to express their most grateful thanks to Mr. McNaughton and all others who so kindly assisted on that occasion. The committee also thankfully acknowledge $5 from Scarlet Chapter, per Mr. J. B. McWilliams.

First and Best.

One of the finest trips of the season will be to go with the Masons to Rochester on Thursday, June the 24th. Excursionists are taken right into Rochester city and home again for the small sum of $2.75. Tickets good for three days. The train will leave the G. T. R. station at 7.05 in the morning. A nice short ride to Port Hope, then a pleasant sail to Charlotte. Stop-over privilege. Parties wishing to spend Sunday in Rochester can do so by paying a small additional charge.

Lively Lacrosse Match.

The game of lacrosse is being boomed by several junior clubs around town, notwithstanding the lull among the seniors. Yesterday afternoon two of these junior lacrosse clubs, the "Aetnas" and the club in connection with the boys' branch of the Y.M.C.A., engaged in a match at the Central Park. Both clubs were in good trim, and, though all the players were under sixteen years of age, a very good exhibition of the game was given. The "Aetnas" won the match by two games to one, after a hard struggle. The victors, though on the average smaller than their opponents, were more skilled in handling their sticks. The boys will continue to practice and grow till they can recapture the District Championship.

Bachelors and Benedicts at Baseball.

Yesterday afternoon the married and single men of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, played a game of baseball at Riverside Park. The teams were composed of—Married—Messrs. Callaghan, Reeves, Fligg, Watson, Hawkins, Strain, Slevton, Britton. Single—Messrs. Galley, McKim, Robinson, Burns, Harvey, Breckenridge, Cheer, Marshall, Evans. The severe discipline under which the married men had been brought, told in their favor, and they defeated the bachelors with ease, though the game was a good lively one and afforded great amusement to both participants and spectators. The subjoined is a summary of the scored by innings:

Married Men	2	1	0	1	5	1	1	2	—	17
Single Men	3	0	0	0	2	0	2	2	5	13

Dress Making.

Fashionable dress and mantle making at the Golden Lion, by Miss Gilchrist. All work guaranteed. E. FAIR.

No Quorum.

The special meeting of the Board of Education called for last night, was not held, only seven members—not enough to form a quorum—assembling.

Rev. Mr. Munro's Bible Class.

Rev. Mr. Munro's Bible Class for ladies, will meet in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, to-morrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Subject, 1st "Prophets of Baal."

Grateful Acknowledgement.

The Otonabee lodge of Oddfellows beg to tender sincere and grateful thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hamilton for their kind donation of beautiful bouquets, for the decoration ceremony on Tuesday, the 22nd inst.

Oak Orchard.

The adjourned sale of the Oak Orchard property, owned by A. H. Martin, Esq., takes place on Saturday, 26th inst., at 3 p.m., at the Grand Central. A rare chance.

The Young Men's Festival.

All friends of the Young Men's Christian Association are invited to help in making the festival, to be held on Friday evening, a success. Contributions of cake, cream and lemons would be very acceptable. They would be sent for, or could be left at the Y.M.C.A. rooms, or at Mr. G. M. Roger's residence.

Tuesday Evening.

On Tuesday evening next the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, will hold a Pink and White social in the school room and grounds. The Fire Brigade Band will be present, and abundant, excellent refreshments will be served. Admission to the grounds 10 cents; refreshments extra. The general public are cordially invited.

Rare Opportunity.

The attention of housekeepers is directed to the sale of the household furniture of Mrs. G. C. Rogers, which will take place at her residence, Lake street, Ashburnham, on Tuesday, June 29th, commencing at 12.30 o'clock. Parlor, dining room, bedroom and kitchen furniture will be offered without reserve and must be sold. This will be a rare opportunity to secure good, sound furniture at a bargain.

Sunday School Fruit Festival.

The grounds of the George street church yesterday evening were thronged with a gay assembly of old and young, on the occasion of the Sunday School fruit festival. Chinese lanterns of many hues lighted up the scene. Strawberries and cream, ice cream, etc., were provided at the usual cost, and were liberally patronized. Notwithstanding the threatening weather everything passed off pleasantly. The proceeds were very satisfactory. The Fire Brigade Band was in attendance and added to the enjoyment of the occasion by furnishing excellent music.

Otonabee Triumphs.

Otonabee is jealous of Cavan's triumph in the tall wheat contest and nobly comes to the front with two samples of wheat of an altitude that shames all previous records. A stalk of winter wheat, plucked from a field of 14 acres, grown by Mr. W. B. Stewart, measures 6 feet 6 inches in length, and another plucked from a field of 15 acres, grown by Mr. John Miller, of the same triumphant township, measures the same length. These stalks are fair samples of the respective fields from which they were taken, though, of course, all the wheat is not of this extraordinary length. Yet they are of a magnificent height and in full head. Other townships are invited to beat this.

Court of Revision.

The adjourned meeting of the Court of Revision was held in the Council Chamber, yesterday evening, at which a large number of appeals were disposed of. The following appeals were dismissed, the assessment being confirmed: Grand Trunk Railway, Mr. R. W. Thompson, Mrs. Alford, Mr. J. M. Irwin, Mr. Robert Brodie, Mr. John O'Meara, Mr. Geo. A. Cox and Mrs. Alice Mills. On appeal the assessments of the following persons were reduced: Mr. Geo. Hilliard, on mill and real estate, reduced $6000, to the same as last year; E. Best reduced $800; W. H. Rackham, reduced $700; Dr. Sullivan, income, reduced $250 and personal property, $100; William Leth, personal property, reduced $500 and balance confirmed. A number of minor matters were also disposed of, while several appeals were discussed and left over for further consideration. The court adjourned till Tuesday next.

A Cavan Curiosity.

Mr. Ed. Hearn, of Peterborough, the well-known well sinker, has literally unearthed a great curiosity in Cavan, where he has been plying his trade with great success. After having sunken several wells and found water, where others had failed, and to find which he had to go as deep as 100 feet in some cases, he undertook to find water for Mr. Seaney, of Cavan, and succeeded in finding a subternanean river. He dug into the bowels of the earth, cribbing the excavation the whole way, till he reached the great depth of 156 feet. Here he struck a stream of living water, running rapidly from north to south. The well was continued some three feet below the surface of the stream without reaching the bottom. The water is pure and as cold as ice water. The soil at this depth is of a porous nature, composed of boulders and coarse gravel, so that a dam placed at the lower end of the stream, in the bottom of the well, would not raise it to the surface even if the fountain head were high enough. As it is, the stream does not rise but flows onward in its subternanean channel, regardless of the disturbance of its centuries of underground seclusion.

Capt. Griffis, of Cobourg, "the Buffalo Boy," of the Saved Army, who was thought to have destroyed himself, has been found at Kingston, and brought home.

It is a pleasing evidence of the absence of sectarian rancour in Peterborough, that a Roman Catholic filled a chief part in the programme of the concert for the Peterborough Protestant Home.

A former resident of Belleville, now of Dakota, Mr. S. E. Walker, had a tussle with horse thieves, in which he shot three dead and received three wounds himself. His wounds are not fatal.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. S. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 90 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Tribute to a Teacher.

Mr. L. E. Horning, B.A., the Subject of a Presentation and Address.

The pupils of the Bible class taught by Mr. L. E. Horning in the George street Methodist Church Sunday School, assembled at Mr. Horning's house yesterday evening, giving him a pleasant surprise. When the host had succeeded in making his visitors comfortable, he was led to understand the meaning of their visit. Mr. Ed. Wood read and presented Mr. Horning with the following address, handsomely engrossed, while Mr. F. Weisley, representing the members of the class, handed him a beautifully bound and valuable family Bible.

THE ADDRESS.

Mr. L. E. Horning, B.A.:

DEAR SIR,—We, the members of your Bible class in the George street Methodist Church Sunday School, having learned with regret that in a few days you will be taking your departure from Peterborough, feel that we cannot allow the occasion to pass without assuring you of our grateful appreciation of the interest taken in our welfare during the time you have had charge of our class. Brief as has been your relation to us, as our teacher you have, by your genial spirit and brotherly sympathy, created in us a feeling of strong attachment to you, which we hope to cherish through the coming years. We trust that it has been gratifying to you that the attendance has been so large at the class, and we have pleasure in saying that the instructions given have helped us to a better understanding of the Scriptures, and we trust also to greater love for the word of God. In presenting you with this address, we wish to accompany it with this slight token of our esteem, which we hope you will kindly accept. We could not think of any offering more suitable than a copy of the Holy Scriptures, the contents of which we believe to be priceless, and we hope that whenever you turn to these sacred pages you may be reminded of this class, and pray that we may be guided always by the precious teachings they contain. And for yourself and family we join in the prayer that the words of this inspired volume may be "the man of your counsel" to all time. Thanking you for the deep interest you have taken in our welfare, we bid you farewell, in the hope of a reunion when life's great work is over.

(Signed by the members of the class.)
Peterborough, June 23rd, 1886.

Mr. Horning made a suitable reply, thanking the class for their kind expressions and good wishes contained in the address, and also for the valuable gift which they had presented him with. After spending a very enjoyable evening, during which Mr. and Mrs. Horning did their utmost to entertain, the company separated.

Police Court.

Mr. H. Calcutt Assessed $100.

The charges against John and Jas. Condon and John McFarlane, for violating the Scott Act, enlarged from last week, were further enlarged till the 30th instant.

A SECOND CHARGE.

Mr. H. Calcutt, charged by Inspector Cochrane, with unlawfully keeping for sale in the village of Ashburnham, intoxicating liquor, between the 1st and 22nd of June, the said offence being a second offence, the defendant having been previously convicted on a similar charge.

Mr. John Burnham, counsel for the defendant, submitted that it was not an infraction of the Act for Mr. Calcutt, a brewer, to keep liquor for sale.

Mr. Edwards, for the prosecution, said he was prepared to prove that an infraction of the Act had been committed, but if Mr. Burnham preferred to have the charge amended to make the offence for selling liquor, he would ask the magistrate to make the amendment.

The magistrate held that if it could be proven that liquor had been unlawfully sold it would be sufficient evidence to show that it was unlawfully kept for sale.

Mr. Burnham, on behalf of Mr. Calcutt, then admitted the charge, remarking that it was rather severe on Mr. Calcutt.

The magistrate agreed that it was hard on Mr. Calcutt, but found him guilty and imposed a fine of $100 and costs.

Talmage on Flirting.

"I shall this morning take it for granted that your marriage is all right, and I shall go on and advise you how to treat your wife. My ambition is to tell you more plain truth than you have ever heard in any three-quarters of an hour in all your life. And first of all I charge you to realize the responsibility of having taken her away from her loving parents and from the homestead in which she was sheltered. It is amazing that any of us have the sublimity of impudence to ask such a transfer to a home that is not yet constructed. How ought you to treat her? My brother, you ought to treat her well; you ought to treat her better than any one in the universe, excepting God Almighty. Her name should sound sweeter than music to you and her eyes, though swollen with watching a child sick with scarlet-fever, should be brighter to you than a May morning. She has a first mortgage on you, body, mind and soul. Now, why don't you pay your debts? You believe in the force of a contract. If you promised kindness and faithfulness and have not fulfilled these promises, then you have fraudulently induced one into conjugal partnership and should be imprisoned for obtaining goods under false pretenses and should be mulcted for a large amount of damages. O, fulfill your contracts! Men of business have lots of contracts and sometimes they take them and read what the party of the first part and the party of the second part agreed to do. Have you forgotten your contract? Then you had better take, buy, or borrow an Episcopal prayer-book and read the marriage contract. The marriage relation is more sacred after a baptism of tears—tears over the lost, over the grave.

"Before marriage when you came into the house you were as full of smiles and politeness as a peach orchard in blossom week. Now you come in the house and say, 'I've lost money to-day.' You sit down at the table, criticising the food, and snatch up the evening newspaper. The children are awed at the domestic autocrat. Though filled with healthful curiosity, they must ask no questions; the wife has had annoyance in the kitchen until her nerves are all like spikes. My brother, you have no appreciation of the fact that your children will be soon grown up or in cemeteries and you will have no opportunity to influence them; the house in which you live will go into other hands and you yourself will be gone. Marriage is a bargain. In some lands people purchase their wives with cattle and sheep. In our land marriage is an affectionate bargain in which a man promises protection, support, companionship, and love. Are you fulfilling all that bargain? I will tell you what you all know. Some men show more respect to other wives than their own, and many a man there is who allows his wife to carry a scuttle of coal up-stairs who will clear a room with one bound to pick up another lady's pocket handkerchief. Flirtation is devilish. Why don't you put it in the bond, you domestic Shylock? Why don't you have it understood before you are pronounced husband and wife? A married man who indulges in flirtation is either a fraud or a rake. I care not how high his or her standing, I would not give a three-cent piece that had been three times clipped for the virtue of a masculine or feminine flirt."

There can be little doubt that the pike is decidedly an exception to the rule that fish have little or no intelligence. Even the size of his brain is worthy of respect. Its proportionate size, as compared to the rest of the body, is as 1 to 1,300; in the shark, whose intelligence has so often been vaunted it is only as 1 to 2,500; while in the tunny it is but as 1 to 3,700. The only thing that dulls the pike's intelligence is his greed; but even this may perhaps only be caused by an overweening confidence in his own gastric juices. Like many other voracious animals, to swallow seems to be his only joy; palate he has little or none.

A Maine Father.

This is how an old gentleman proved to his son that he was not so old as his father. The father had bought a "door-yard horse," good-looking enough, but worthless as a roadster. He wanted to get rid of him, and so one day he put a brad in the end of his whip and started for his son's. As he drove into the son's dooryard he stuck the brad into the horse, knocked off his hat with his own hand, came up to the door flying and apparently out of breath. The son stepped to the door. "Father, what have you got there?" he asked. "I have got the Devil, and I wish somebody had him; he has about pulled my arms out of the sockets. He is worth $1,000 to any man if he can drive him, but I have got to be too old to drive such a horse as that." After the old man had been rubbed with liniment, and before he went off, his son offered to swap a nice $400 horse for the puller and to give $100 boot. The old gentleman traded, had some more liniment rubbed on his shoulders, and drove away. Three weeks later the father visited his son again. The father said to his son: "How do you like your new horse, George?" "Father, how could you lie to me as you did?" "Did you know you were not so old as your father, George?" "I never want to be if I have got to lie as you did. Don't you want some more liniment?"—Norway (Me.) Advertiser.

THE PUBLIC WASTE.

The waste of public treasure by the present Dominion Government, the rapid accumulation of a burdensome debt, are matters of such serious moment, that the attention of the electors cannot be too closely given to the facts.

At Chesley, last week, Mr. Blake dealt somewhat with the public expenditure, and the figures are anything but complimentary to the Government of the day. He showed that not only have Sir John and his friends succeeded in doubling the public debt, running it up in the vicinity of $300,000,000, but that the annual expenditure had gone up at about the same ratio, and that the Federal expenditure was about 13¼ millions in 1868; that in 1875 the expenditure, although kept within the Tory estimates, was atout $23,308,000.

That in the six or seven years of Tory administration the expenditure had increased by $9,800,000 a year.

That in the five years of Mr. Mackenzie's administration, although he had to carry out the engagements of his predecessors, the expenditure was so kept down that in his last year it was only 23½ millions, or about $200,000 more than in the year in which the Tories went out of office.

That when the Tories returned to office the expenditure immediately increased.

That in 1883 it was about $29,000,000.

That in 1884 it was about $31,100,000.

That in 1885 it was about $35,000,000, of which about $1,700,000 is rebellion expenditure.

That in 1886 it will be about $38,100,000, of which about $3,400,000 is rebellion expenpenditure.

That, exclusive of the rebellion expenditure, the increase in the years since 1878 has been $11,200,000.

That in nineteen years of Confederation there has been an increase in the expenditure of $21,200,000.

That of this $21,000,000 has been the increase under Tory administration, and $200,000 under the administration of the Liberals.

These facts present subjects of study, to which the electors can devote attention with great profit to themselves and the country, that is, if they fearlessly and honestly express at the polls the convictions resulting from the pursuit of such a course.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is understood at Ottawa that Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, will change his portfolio to that of Postmaster-General.

Ex-Mayor Francis Cleary has been nominated by the Liberals of North Essex for the Dominion Parliament and Gaspard Pacaud for the Local Legislature.

As is well known this is the jubilee—50th—year of the reign of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. In the long line of British sovereigns, only three others have entered upon such a year, Henry III, Edward III, and George III. The observance of the jubilee year was instituted in the fiftieth year of the reign of George III.

The Tory party arrogates to itself the possession of a copyright of loyalty, yet we have the spectacle of Ulster Tories, so loyal that they threaten to rebel against the Queen's authority; we have had the spectacle of a Canadian Cabinet Minister being retained till his death by Sir John Macdonald, which Cabinet Minister distinguished himself by signing and publishing an annexation manifesto; we have the Mail declaring in favor of the destruction of British connection rather than see discriminating taxation against Great Britain interfered with; we had the spectacle of Tories mobbing and assaulting the Queen's vice gerent; of a Tory mob burning her Majesty's Parliament buildings, and we now have as Minister of Finance, Hon. Mr. McLelan, a gentleman, who in in 1868, showed his opposition to Confederation by writing a letter, in which he gave it as his opinion and advice that it would be better to accept an addition to our revenue for the present; but he adds, "we should continue the fight till we are clear of our Canadian masters, and seek the co-operation and assistance of the Maritime Provinces to accomplish our freedom." Yet Mr. McLelan, is still a member of a Government, supported by the Tory party, which denounces as disloyal the Liberals of Nova Scotia, who favor a withdrawal from the Confederation, rather than submit to Dominion Government tyranny and misrule.

The Election Campaign—Dissolution of Parliament.

A TELL TALE LETTER.

LONDON, June 23.—Mr. Thomas Power O'Connor, during a speech at Sheffield, last night, read a letter from Mr. O'Brien while the Conservatives were in power. The letter stated that Mr. Charles Howard Vincent visited the writer and had given him to understand that he came on a mission from high quarters. He questioned Mr. O'Brien closely as to the sort of Parliament that would satisfy the Irish and appeared to be delighted with the answers he received. Mr. O'Brien was impressed with the idea that a scheme for Home Rule in Ireland was being hatched and that the Earl of Carnarvon favored such a measure.

THE IRISH PARLIAMENTARY FUND.

BOSTON, June 23.—The Parliamentary Fund Committe yesterday, forwarded $10,000 for the Irish Campaign Fund. A cable message was sent to the editor of United Ireland saying that the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher be hospitably received as a warm friend of Ireland.

A HOME RULE MEETING.

LONDON, June 23rd.—Lord Ashburnham, Conservative, will preside at the meeting of the British Home Rule Association, to-day. The Marquis of Ripon, Liberal, sent a letter to the Secretary of the Association, in which he expresses his sympathy with the Home Rule movement. A donation to aid the cause was enclosed in the letter.

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Times' London special says:—The dissolution of Parliament, according to present arrangements, will take place on Saturday. The Queen will leave Scotland on Thursday, and will reach Windsor on Friday morning. She will hold a Privy Council on Saturday afternoon, at which the royal proclamation dissolving parliament will be signed. Upon the signatary of the documents, members of the Commons will cease to be representatives of the people and sixteen Scottish representative peers must be re-elected by their peers at Holyrood.

I HAVE great pleasure in announcing that MR. P. H. MORRIS the eminent Optician will be at my store IN A FEW DAYS, for the purpose of fitting the B. LAWRENCE PEBBLES and other SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES. The expressions of satisfaction from all those who availed themselves of his skill during his last visit, are very gratifying, and I conscientiously and strongly advise all those needing aids to sight to call, have their eyes examined, and the best Spectacle in the World adjusted to their sight. MR. MORRIS ranks high in the optical world, and will so fit you as to ensure an abiding improvement in your eyes.

I wish to draw the special attention of the public to the valuable privilege accorded by Mr. B. Lawrence to all purchasers of his Spectacles, whether bought from former agents in Peterborough or from any of his agents in the Dominion of Canada, that they can, during Mr. Morris' visits, have them exchanged free of charge if they are not suited. This arrangement holds good with all Spectacles or Eye-Glasses sold in my establishment in the past and in the future. To meet the times I am selling the B. WIT AND HUMOR.

Baluchot is extremely fickle. A friend to whom he had announced his marriage a fortnight before meets him. "Are you still married?" "Yes." "With the same one?"—Paris Figaro.

Customer (looking at silks)—"They look to me just alike; but you say one is 98 cents, and the other $1.10. Now, what is the difference?" Clerk (blandly)—"Twelve cents."—Binghamton Republican.

Society in the Samoan Islands is growing distressingly conventional. A law has been established lately forbidding Senators to appear naked at any session under penalty of $100 for each appearance.

Nurse (to Johnny, who has been brought in to see his uncle)—"Why don't you speak, Johnny? Can't you tell your uncle you're glad to see him?" Johnny (whimpering)—"It b'longs to him first to tell me I'm a fine fellow, and big for my size."

A gentleman who came from a distance to attend Thursday night's concert, in response to an inquiry as to "How did you like it?" replied: "Well, I am not up in musical matters. I suppose it was good, but I like tunes." The questioner said, "So do I."—Ogdensburg Journal.

Miss Popular (to Prof. Pfeffer, who is showing her the paper he is to read before the Scientific Club)—And you have to read those long, long papers, and before an audience! How I pity you! Prof. Pfeffer—O, zat is not zo much ze pity as to haf to listen to ze ozzers!—Harper's Monthly.

In the police court—"Prisoner, you have stabbed the unfortunate woman twenty-seven times, and only to rob her of three francs and fifteen sous!" Accommodating prisoner—"Monsieur le President, I will accept with pleasure whatever donations you may be pleased to give me."—Paris Figaro.

Colored servants in Wilmington have a way of referring to each other as "gentleman" or "lady" that is very amusing at times. One of them remarked to her mistress the other morning that "the gentleman who stole the chickens last night left his hat in the coop."—Columbia (S. C.) Register.

French as she is spoke.—The Browns spent their New-Year's Day at "dear Parry." Brown pere—Garsong, bring us some lunch. Garcon—Oui, m'sieu—pour quartre? Brown—Ca! No, hang it all, I say ——. Garcon—Peutetre, m'sieu ——. Brown—Potater! Well, yes, potater, if you like, and beef; but, mind you, no cat!—Funny Folks.

"It is an outrage the way you treat me," said Miss Esmeralda Longcoffin to Hostetter McGinnis. "How so, Miss Esmeralda?" "You have sworn to love and cherish me, and now you are making love to another young woman. It is a hideous outrage." "Be calm, Esmeralda, be calm. I'm going to go back on the other girl too."—Texas Siftings.

"What are you reading, Mamie?" said Mr. Clamwhooper to his daughter, aged 13. "Only one of those French novels, papa." "You should not do that." "O, I'm not reading it for my own amusement. It's my painful duty to examine it. I'm just looking through it to see if it is a proper book to have lying around where mamma might pick it up and read it."—Texas Siftings.

Architecture in Maine—The owner of one of the houses saw a little girl taking observations on the street the other day, and entered into conversation with her. "O yes," she said, "I like these houses, but my papa don't." "Well, what fault has he to find with them?" "He says he can't drive through this street because they frighten his horse."—Portland (Me.) Transcript.

M. and Mme. Prudhomme find their new rooms ill-heated by the furnace, and decide to buy a stove to keep them warm. M. Prudhomme reflects: "Stoves are sometimes dangerous. We must be careful not to run any risk of asphyxiating ourselves by coal gas." He reflects some more: "Ah! That's easily avoided. We will never light

A Boston woman has sued for a divorce because her husband will not let her shake hands with her father. She is determined to shake her father's hand if she has to shake her husband to do it.—Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.

"Yes, I used to be President of this very railroad line," he said, as the train bowled along over an Indiana road. "Got tired of the place, I suppose?" queried the other "No, sir. The fact of it is I attempted to inaugurate a measure of economy and made a miserable failure of it." "How?" "I cut off the passes of the State Legislature, and inside weeks I was running a grocery instead of a railroad."—Wall Street News.

"Yes, we had a row, your Honor," she said in a Police Court the other day. "What caused it?" "She said my husband had run away from me, and I gave her a slap." "You shouldn't have cared for what she said." "But I couldn't help it, your Honor. When my husband has been sent to the workhouse for three months he hasn't run away, and I'll not stand by and hear any one traduce his loving character!"—Detroit Free Press.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly cured by this Golden Remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering the now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but preferred that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled for not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

Burns Said

"Facts are chiels that winna ding."

And no doubt but he was right; yet a great many things appear in Print that will not stand to be called Honest Facts. How many times we see advertisements that run, "the largest," "the best," "the cheapest," &c., &c., when three-fourths of the people know that it is not so.

We wish to confine ourselves to only

"Honest Facts,"

and we ask our customers to come and see for themselves.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's Sabbath School pic-nic will be held on the 15th July, at Millbrook.

Gratitude.

The Hazel Brae Barnardo Home management beg to publicly acknowledge, with thanks, the generosity of Mr. D. W. Dumble, in giving to the Home the milking of one cow for the rest of this season.

Oak Orchard.

The adjourned sale of the Oak Orchard property, owned by A. H. Martin, Esq., takes place on Saturday, 26th inst., at 3 p.m., at the Grand Central. A rare chance.

Open Air Festival.

All who want a good evening's pleasure should attend the strawberry festival at "Cordach," the residence of Mr. G. M. Roger. It promises to be the most attractive festival of the season. It is held in connection with the Y. M. C. A.

Free Exhibition.

Don't fail to see the world renowned "Japanese Tommy," the celebrated acrobat and contortionist, at the Market Square tomorrow evening, at seven o'clock, sharp. Free to all. "Tommy" is allowed to be one of the best tumblers in the world, and will be well worth seeing.

Auction Sale of Furniture.

Don't forget the adjourned sale of the balance of the furniture offered in the shop next door to Hall, Innis & Co., which takes place on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock. The sale yesterday, in spite of the rain, was well attended and good bargains were secured.

Mammoth Strawberries.

Mr. James Bailey, of town, left at the EXAMINER office, yesterday, a box of mammoth strawberries, grown in his garden, from vines set out last fall. Twenty-six strawberries more than made a quart. Besides being unusually large, they also possessed a particularly fine flavor. Next.

Rustic Seats.

Mr. W. H. Pearson, of Glasgow, Ontario county, was in town to-day with a large load of rustic arm chairs, rocking chairs and sofas. The furniture was all of the most artistic design, and looked solid and substantial. It was suggested that the seats might be purchased for the Court House and Central Parks, but who would pay for it was not definitely understood.

City Battalion Drill.

A meeting of the officers of the City Battalion was held in the drill shed, yesterday evening, at which matters relating to the drilling of the regiment were discussed. It was decided to commence drill in uniform on Monday evening next, in which it is probable Companies Nos. 1, 2 and 4 will participate. No. 3 Company will drill at Ashburnham, as heretofore, probably on Wednesday.

Open Air Festival on Friday.

The strawberry festival on Mr. Geo. M. Roger's grounds, on Friday evening, promises to be the one of the season. Among the attractions will be berries, ice cream, cake, lemonade, flowers, music by the Fire Brigade Band, etc. Admission will be ten cents.

Tuesday Evening.

On Tuesday evening next the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, will hold a Pink and White social in the school room and grounds. The Fire Brigade Band will be present, and abundant, excellent refreshments will be served. Admission to the grounds 10 cents; refreshments extra. The general public are cordially invited.

Rare Opportunity.

The attention of housekeepers is directed to the sale of the household furniture of Mrs. G. C. Rogers, which will take place at her residence, Lake street, Ashburnham, on Tuesday, June 29th, commencing at 12.30 o'clock. Parlor, dining room, bedroom and kitchen furniture will be offered without reserve and must be sold. This will be a rare opportunity to secure good, sound furniture at a bargain.

Shoulder Dislocated.

This morning, before coming down to business, Mr. Wm. Walsh, druggist, took up a brush to tidy his boots, and while using it, suffered a dislocation of the shoulder joint, the result of more muscular action. The luxation was complete. Dr. King returned the head of the bone to its proper place and Mr. Walsh was able during the morning to go down to business.

Revival of Baseball.

A determined effort is being made by baseballists to revive the game in town. A meeting of the ball tossers will be held in T. Spencer's City Cigar store to-morrow evening, for re-organization. Every person who plays or takes an interest in the game is requested to be present and lend his assistance. Curve pitchers, cannon ball catchers, home-run hitters and capable basemen are urgently requested to be present.

Excursion to Rochester.

About one hundred persons boarded the Masonic excursion train for Port Hope en route to Rochester this morning. No doubt the all day rain yesterday and the indications of a rainy day to-day prevented many from going. However, the rain kept off well, and it is expected that the excursionists put in a very pleasant day visiting the "Flower City." As the tickets are good for three days—until Saturday—it is probable the pleasure seekers will have plenty of sunny weather to do the city to their heart's content.

A Voracious Feline.

Yesterday afternoon a child belonging to Mr. Patrick Kane, was with another child, playing in a hay loft with a cat—the mother of a litter of kittens, hard by. Suddenly the diversion took a turn not relished by the cat, which sprang at little Kane's hand, and so ferociously that it chewed two fingers for some time, the teeth penetrating to the bone and inflicting such severe laceration that the services of Dr. King were required to dress the wounds.

Clothing for Northwest Indians.

The Central Board of Management of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society again call upon the women of their church to send clothing to the Indians of the Presbyterian mission stations of the Northwest. A similar appeal was made last year, and liberally responded to. That the donations then forwarded were gratefully received and acknowledged, we have learned through the public press. Much that was then contributed, however, was found to be useless or unsuitable, and the missionaries in the different stations have asked that the following articles might be sent:—Children's clothing, flannel dresses for women (skirts and jackets), stockings of all sizes, yarn and knitting needles, blankets, quilts, and outside wraps. Messrs. Hall, Innes & Co. have kindly offered to receive and take charge of all contributions until the time, for shipment to the various destinations, arrives.

Proud of Their Pup.

The Port Hope Times thus gushes over the luxurious appointments of the new Customs offices in that place. It says:

"The Customs offices have been established in the new Government buildings, and the obliging officials may be found in luxuriantly furnished offices that probably have no superior in the Dominion. Everything connected with the new quarters is almost perfect. The floors are covered with thick, soft carpets made to order and handsome rugs; the furniture, desks, cabinets, etc., are in polished walnut, and comprise sofas and easy chairs in green leather. Collector Burton has two private rooms connected with the public office, which is furnished with every convenience for the transaction of public business; a lavatory places the offices among the most, as we before said, complete in the Dominion. The Inland Revenue offices are not yet occupied, but will, it is expected, in a few days."

It's all very nice for officials, well paid and with comparatively little to do, to sit in soft seats, but the people who have to pay for all this luxury when doing business, have to stand, and "stand off," too, sometimes. When will our Revenue offices be ready for occupation?

A Strange Incident.

A contributor sends the following:—On the occasion, when during midnight hours, Mr. J. B. McWilliams and his band of trusted friends, so silently yet so effectually cleaned out the goods and chattels from the Darcy House, leaving poor Mr. Bradburn minus his rest, a box was left on the sidewalk at the front door, and on it a black bottle. As the grey dawn of the morning was creeping in, a couple of vags crept out of the shed or hole, where they had evidently passed the night, and reaching the sidewalk opposite, they yawned and stretched themselves, glanced at the sky, then looked down and up the street. Suddenly, on of them through the gloom of the morning, caught sight of the bottle and box at Darcy's door and instantly there was a race for the bottle. The first one there snatched it and held it up and seeing there was enough for both, was allowed to examine it at leisure. He first tried to see the color of it by holding it up to the sky, but getting unsatisfactory information, he smelled it and still looked puzzled, but the thirst peculiar to a vag at early morn, was unsatisfied by the smell, so he cautiously put it to his mouth and took a swig. With a strange expression of face, he put it down on the box, when his friend took it, but the gyrations of vag No. 1 had evidently made him cautious, he too smelled it and, with great hesitancy, put it to his lips. A small mouthful seemed to satisfy him, for he put it down. He then stepped back a couple of paces and in a state of uncertainty, longing for the drink, but afraid to venture, with face on the bottle, he walked around it then turning he looked at his companion, but he had his hand on his stomach and, with mournful shake of the head, he settled the matter. For both the vags turning once or twice to look back, slowly went up the street to Cavanagh's pump. The bottle was afterwards carefully examined and found to contain the same beer which so many witnesses designated in the police court as "horrid stuff."

Ferguson Gaming—Perhaps.

Ferguson's advance agent was in town yesterday and to-day, endeavoring to arrange for the exhibiting of Ferguson's circus and menagerie here. He visited the "circus ground" offered gratis by the town, on payment of $100 license fee and pronounced it too small for the tri-ringed tent. He then endeavored to arrange with Mr. John Burnham, Reeve of Ashburnham, for the use of Riverside Park. The park will be subject to a survey and if found wanting it is probable Ferguson will exhibit in Otonabee, as convenient to the farmers as possible, and give the town the go-by altogether.

P. A. A. A. Tennis Tournament.

The lawn tennis club in connection with the P. A. A. A. have completed the arrangements for the season's tournament, and the contestants may begin play as soon as they please. The following have been drawn off in the first tie, to be played July 3rd:

1. B. M. Tate.....G. F. Orde.
2. E. H. Retallack.....P. E. S. Cooper.
3. W. Orde.....J. H. Long.
4. A. E. Austin.....H. A. Hammond.
5. J. Fife.....E. A. Peck.
6. H. B. Carter.....J. Carlon.
7. H. W. Buck.....A. Stevenson.
8. H. Haultain.....J. E. Hammond.
9. W. G. Bain.....C. A. Lawford.
10. H. Minty.....C. H. Geale.
11. G. Burnham.....J. Morris.

The second tie to be played off by July 10th; the third tie by July 16th; the fourth tie by July 20th; and the final to be played off by July 24th.

The opposing players are requested to settle the dispute at as early a date as possible, to prevent crowding at the finish. All who fail to meet their opponents on the plot will be declared beaten by default.

Personal.

Mr. John Shields, of the notorious Muskoka frozen whiskey campaign, was in town yesterday.

Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, rector of Ashburnham, went to Toronto last evening, to attend the sessions of the Diocese of Toronto Synod.

The North American Life Assurance Company, having decided to appoint an inspector to superintend its rapidly increasing business in the Peterborough district, have selected Mr. Andrew Wilson for that post. The many friends of Mr. Wilson will be pleased to learn of his well deserved appointment.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The roadwork tempest has just blown over, and our ways are much improved.

Things have been suffering from want of rain, but a genial shower seems to be on the programme.

Mr. James McCann, an old and worthy resident here, has much improved his dwelling by putting up a good, substantial verandah along its front.

Mr. W. J. Campbell, formerly teacher at Keene, has been attending the Normal School at Ottawa during the last term, and has just returned to his late charge at Mather's Corners. He looks hale and hearty, and we are glad to meet his friendly face once more among us.

Judge Weller completed his labors on the voters' list here last Tuesday, when he left for Norwood. We are not in possession of particulars.

Miss Bowes, of Halton, the able organizer and lecturer for the Womans' Christian Temperance Union, will be here next Wednesday, June 30th. She will address the W. C. T. U. in the Presbyterian Church at 3 p.m., and in the evening will lecture in the Methodist Church. She was well received here a year ago, and we earnestly hope a large audience will greet her appearance. A silver collection will be taken up to defray current expenses.

A little difficulty between a teacher and a well known resident of Otonabee, about punishing a boy, came before G. Read and J. Lang, Esquires, in the Town Hall, last Monday. The matter was adjourned to next Tuesday, 29th. As a friend and well-wisher to both parties, we would be glad to see the difficulty quietly settled without any more ado.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

☞This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sure; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1886.

Dominion Day.

How it Will be Celebrated by Peterborough Citizens.

Thursday next, July 1st, Canada's national holiday will be celebrated in town in a manner appropriate to the occasion. Several different organizations are actively engaged in preparing for the demonstration and offer bills of fare that cannot fail to please persons of all temperaments, colors, creeds and inclinations. The following is a list of the attractions:

FIREMEN'S DEMONSTRATION.

During the day the firemen will entertain the town with a monster demonstration. About one o'clock in the afternoon the firemen will form in procession at the fire hall and, headed by the Brigade Band will march to the Riverside Park, where a lengthy programme of stirring events will be disposed of. The first number on the programme is a baseball match, between the Fire Brigade and Lock Works team, which will, no doubt, be an interesting game.

A long list of athletic events will follow this continuing till five or six in the evening. A dancing pavillion will be erected in the park where dancing may be indulged by lovers of the "mazy." In the evening at seven o'clock the firemen will again form in procession and march to the park where a promenade concert will be held. Prof. Hand, of Hamilton, during the evening, will give one of his wonderful pyrotechnical displays, to be concluded by a torchlight procession.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL PIC-NIC.

The congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral will hold their annual pic-nic in the Separate School grounds on that day. In addition to the usual pic-nic festivities, a programme of athletic sports, numbering twenty-four events, will be open for competition, for which prizes to the value of $150 will be given. A dancing pavilion, to be supplied with the best of music, will be erected, while an energetic committee will look after the interest of guests. The dinner, of course, will be a special feature.

SONS OF ENGLAND PIC-NIC.

Lansdowne Lodge of the Sons of England will run an excursion and pic-nic from town to Sturgeon Point, on Sturgeon Lake. The train will leave early in the morning, returning in the evening.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

The members of the local branch of St. Andrew's Society, will attend the Scottish celebration at Belleville, to which they have been invited.

PRIVATE PIC-NICS.

Numbers of citizens will celebrate the day by holding private pic-nics up and down the river.

REGATTA AT IDYL WILD.

Mr. Calcutt's line of steamers will run excursions to Idyl Wild, where a regatta will be held. Several paddling and rowing races will be held for which valuable prizes are offered.

Police Court.

John Connors was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy preferred by Chief Cooper. He admitted the charge and was given two weeks in jail at hard labor.

Personal.

Mr. Mack McGregor, of Norwood, left yesterday for Sault St. Marie, where he is in negotiation for a first class hotel.

Mr. J. T. Whyte, general travelling agent for Eastern Ontario, for the Canada Life Assurance Company, is in town. Mr. Whyte has just returned from a tour of the Nipissing district and reports that business in life assurance is on the increase.

Whitby had a shower of frogs the other day.

Whitby county jail has not had a prisoner within its walls for the past few days and has floated a white flag over its roof in consequence.

St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's Sabbath School pic-nic will be held on the 15th July, at Millbrook.

IN THE TABERNACLE.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON ON "THE BATTLE FOR BREAD."

The Custom of Hoarding Deprecated by the Great Preacher—Cast Trouble to the Winds, the Lord will Send Heaven with Bread and Meat.

BROOKLYN, June 20.—As a report had been published in many papers that the Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage was in poor health, he told his congregation in the Brooklyn Tabernacle to-day that he had in the thirty years of his ministry missed but one Sabbath through ill health, and that Sabbath twenty-four years ago. He said that he had never been in or robust health as at present. Dr. Talmage has been in Brooklyn seventeen years. The ordinary state of things at the Brooklyn Tabernacle on Sunday mornings is that 6,000 people assemble inside, and multitudes are not able to get in. At a recent meeting of the session thirty-eight new members were received, making the communicant membership of this church about 3,400. The opening hymn to-day was:

Though trouble assail and dangers affright,
Though friends should all fail and foes all unite,
Yet one thing assures us, whatever betide,
The Scripture assures us—"The Lord will provide."

The subject of the sermon to-day was "The Battle for Bread," and the text was taken from I Kings, xvii, 6: "And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening." Dr. Talmage said:

The ornithology of the Bible is a very interesting study. The stork, which knoweth her appointed time. The common sparrows, teaching the lesson of God's providence. The ostriches of the desert, by careless incubation, illustrating the reckelessness of parents who do not take enough pains with their children. The eagle, symbolizing riches which take wings and fly away. The pelican, emblemizing solitude. The bat, a flake of the darkness. The night hawk, the owlfrage, the cuckoo, the lapwing, the osprey, by the command of God in Leviticus, flung out of the world's bill of fare. I would like to have been with Audubon as he went through the woods with gun and pencil bringing down and sketching the fowls of heaven, his unfolded portfolio thrilling all Christendom. What wonderful creatures of God the birds are! Some of them this morning, like the songs of heaven let loose, bursting through the gates of heaven. Consider their feathers, which are clothing and conveyance at the same time; the nine vertebræ of the neck, the three eyelids to each eye, the third eyelid an extra curtain for graduating the light of the sun.

Some of these bird scavengers and some of them orchestra. Thank God for quail's whistle and lark's carol and the twitter of the wren, called by the ancients the king of birds, because when the fowls of heaven went into a contest as to who could fly the highest, and the eagle swung nearest the sun, a wren on the back of the eagle, after the eagle was exhausted, sprang up much higher and so was called by the ancients the king of birds. Consider those of them that have golden crowns and crests, showing them to be feathered imperials. And listen to the humming bird's serenade in the ear of the honey-sucker. Look at the belted kingfisher, striking like a dart from sky to water. Listen to the voice of the owl, giving the keynote to all croakers. And behold the condor among the Andes, battling with the reindeer. I do not know whether an aquarium or aviary is the best altar from which to worship God.

There is an incident in my text that baffles all the ornithological wonders of the world. The grain crop had been cut off. Famine was in the land. In a cave by the brook Cherith sat a minister of God, Elijah, waiting for something to eat. Why did he not go to the neighbors? There were no neighbors; it was a wilderness. Why did he not pick some of the berries? There were none. If there had been they would have been dried up. Seated one morning at the mouth of his cave, the prophet looks into the dry and pitiless heavens, and he sees a flock of birds approaching. Oh, if they were only partridges, or if he only had an arrow with which to bring them down! But as they come nearer he finds they are not comestible, but unclean, and the eating of them would be spiritual death. The strength of their beak, the length of their wings, the blackness of their color, their loud, harsh "cruck! cruck!" prove them to be ravens. They whirr around about the prophet's head, and then they come on fluttering wing and pause on the level of his lips, and one of the ravens brings bread and another raven brings meat, and after they have discharged their tiny cargo they wheel past, and others come, until after a while the prophet has enough, and these black servants of the wilderness take are gone. For six months, and some say a whole year, morning and evening, the breakfast and supper bell sounded as these ravens rang out on the air their "cruck! cruck!" Guess where they got the food from. The old rabbins say they got it from the table of King Ahab. Others say that the ravens got their food from the pious Obadiah, who was in the habit of feeding the persecuted. Some say that the ravens brought the food to their young in the trees, and that Elijah had only to climb up and get it. Some say that the whole story is improbable; for these were carnivorous birds and the food they carried was the torn flesh of living beasts, and that ceremonially clean; or it was carrion and it would not have been fit for the prophet. Some say they were not ravens at all, but that the word translated "ravens" in my text ought to have been translated "Arabs," so it would have read:

"The Arabs brought bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening." Anything but admit the Bible to be true. How away at this miracle until all the miracle is gone. Go on with the depleting process, but know, my brother, that you are robbing only one man and that is yourself—of one of the most comforting, beautiful, pathetic and triumphant lessons in all the ages. I can tell you who these purveyors were: they were ravens. I can tell you who freighted them with provisions: God. I can tell you who launched them: God. I can tell you who taught them which way to fly: God. I can tell you who told them at what cave to swoop: God. I can tell you who introduced raven to prophet and prophet to raven: God. There is one passage I will whisper in your ear, for I would not want to utter it aloud, lest some one should drop down under its power: "If any man shall take away from the words of the prophecy of this book, God shall take away his part out of the book of life and out of the Holy City." While, then, this morning we watch the ravens feeding Elijah, let the swift dove of God's spirit sweep down the sky with divine food, and on outspread wing pause at the lip of every soul hungering for comfort.

On the banks of what rivers have been the great battles of the world? While you are looking over the map of the world to answer that, I will tell you that the great conflict to-day is on the Thames on the Hudson, on the Mississippi, on the Kennebec, on the Shenandoah, on the Rhine, on the Nile, on the Ganges on the Hoang-Ho. It is a battle that has been going on for 6,000 years. The troops engaged in it are 1,400,000,000, and those who have fallen are vaster in numbers than those who march. It is a battle for bread. Statesmen talk still in a cushioned chair in their pictured study, with their slippered feet on a damask ottoman, and say that this world is a great scene of avarice and greed. It does not seem so to me. If it were not for the absolute necessities of the cases, nine-tenths of the stores, factories, shops, banking houses of the land would be closed to-morrow. Who is that man delving in the Colorado hills, or toiling in a New England factory, or going through a roll of bills in the bank, or measuring a fabric on the counter? He is a champion sent forth in behalf of some home circle that has to be cared for, in behalf of some church of God that has to be supported, in behalf of some asylum of mercy that has to be sustained. Who is that woman bending over the sewing machine, or carrying the bundle, or sweeping the room, or mending the garment, or sweltering at the washtub? That is Deborah, one of the Lord's heroines, battling against Amalekitish want, which comes down with iron chariot to crush her and hers.

The great question with the vast majority of people to-day is not "home rule," but whether there shall be any home to rule; not one of tariff, but whether they shall have anything to tax. The great questions with the vast majority of people is: "How shall I support my family? How shall I meet my notes? How shall I pay my rent? How shall I give food, clothing and education to those who are dependent upon me?" Oh, if God would help me to-day to assist you in the solution of that problem, the happiest man in this house would be your preacher! I have gone out on a cold morning with expert sportsmen to hunt for pigeons; I have gone out on the meadows to hunt for quail; I have gone out on the marsh to hunt for reed birds, but this morning I am out for ravens.

Notice in the first place in the story of my text, that these winged caterers came to Elijah directly from God. "I have commanded the ravens that they feed thee," we find God saying in an adjoining passage. They did not come out of some other cave. They did not just happen to alight there. God freighted them, God launched them, and God told them by what cave to swoop. That is the same God that is going to supply you. He is your father. You would have to make an elaborate calculation before you could tell me how many pounds of food and how many yards of clothing would be necessary for you and your family; but God knows without any calculation. You have a plate at his table and you are going to be waited on, unless you act like a naughty child, and kick and scramble and pound angrily the plate, and try to upset things. God has a vast family, and everything is methodized, and you are going to be served if you will only wait your turn. God has already ordered all the suits of clothes you will ever need, down to the last suit in which you shall be laid out. God has already ordered all the food you will ever eat, down to the last crumb that will be put in your mouth in the dying sacrament. It may not be just the kind of food or apparel we would prefer. The sensible parent depends on his own judgment as to what ought to be the apparel and the food of the minor in the family. The child would say: "Give me sugar and confections." "Oh, no," says the parent, "you must have something plainer first. The child would say: "Oh, give me these great blotches of color in the garment." "No," says the parent, "that wouldn't be suitable."

Now, God is our father, and we are minors, and He is going to clothe us and feed us, although He may not always yield to our infantile wish for sweets and glitter. These ravens of the text did not bring pomegranates from the glittering platter of King Ahab. They brought bread and meat. God had all the heavens and the earth before Him and under Him, and yet He sends this plain food, because it was best for Elijah to have it. Oh, be strong, my hearer, in the fact that the same God is going to supply you! It is never "hard times" with Him. His ships never break on the rocks. His banks never fail. He has the supply for you and He has the means for sending it. He has not only the cargo, but the ship. If it were necessary He would swing out from the heavens a flock of ravens reaching from His gate to yours, until the food would be flung down the sky from beak to beak and from talon to talon.

Notice again in this story of the text that the ravens did not allow Elijah to hoard up a surplus. They did not bring enough on Monday to last all the week. They did not bring enough one morning to last until the next morning. They came twice a day and brought just enough for one time. You know as well as I that the great fret of the world is that we want a surplus—we want the ravens to bring enough for many years. You have more confidence in the Fulton bank or Nassau bank or Bank of England than you have in the royal bank of heaven. You say: "All that is very poetic, but you may have the black ravens; give me the gold eagles." We had better be content with just enough. If in the morning your family eat up all the food there is in the house, do not sit down and cry and say: "I don't know where the next meal is to come from." About 5 or 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning just look up and you will see two black spots on the sky, and you will hear the flapping of wings, and instead of Edgar A. Poe's insane raven alighting on the chamber door, "only this and nothing more," you will find Elijah's two ravens, or the two ravens of the Lord, the one bringing bread and the other bringing meat—planned butcher and baker.

(To conclude to-morrow.)

Business College Closing.

The spring term of the Peterborough Business College closed this afternoon, the graduating class comprising the following: J. Breckenridge, grade "B"; James Kennedy, Albert Gardiner, and A. Cooper, grade "C." Albert Gardiner read the valedictory. The summer term begins July 5th. Prof. Sawyer met the graduating class at 8 a.m. today, and addressed them in his usual felicitous style concerning their entrance to active life, and their duties while bearing the burdens and heat of their life-day.

"Shortness of breath
Caused my death."

is inscribed on a tombstone in an English grave-yard. In all probability it would never have been necessary, if only the poor unfortunate victim of some disease of the respratory organs had known of Dr Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a Panacea for all diseases of the throat and lungs. For consumption it is believed to be the only dual specific yet known. For all scrofulous and blood diseases it is unfailing.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Franchise Act is the worthy pal of that political "tough," known as Gerrymander.

The Tottenham Sentinel, a decided Tory journal, having had its party loyalty out-raged by the Franchise Act, is constrained to blurt out:—What an expensive farce this franchise is anyway!

The first Irish Home Rule meeting was held in Dublin on May 19, 1870. There were sixty persons present, inclusive of forty Protestants. The meeting unanimously resolved "that it is the opinion of this meeting that the true remedy for the evils of Ireland is the establishment of an Irish parliament with full control over our domestic affairs."

The British elections are nearer than generally supposed. The writs will be issued on Saturday night, and the first borough nomination will be made on Wednesday or Thursday next; and the first elections on Thursday or Friday. Some of the county elections, it is thought, will be held on Saturday of next week

Under the Ontario statutes, it required only a simple paragraph of the Act and a non partizan assessor to make a voter. Under the Dominion complement to the gerrymander, the Franchise Act, it takes a partizan (generally speaking) revising officer, two or three lawyers interminable formalities, voluminous correspondence and fabulous expense to constitute an average Canadian a voter.

The obstinate stupidity of Great Britain in refusing to grant Home Rule to the American colonies a century ago, resulted in the loss of half a continent to the British Empire. As the success of the American colonists at that precipitated the struggle for freedom in France, so the imminent success of a Home Rule scheme for Ireland is stirring up Cuba to demand Home Rule from Spain. The latter country has not progressed far enough in civilization to appreciate the justice of the demand, and decline to even consider the proposition.

The Conservatives are wont to use the taunt that the Liberal party has no policy, yet this one sentence from Hon. E. Blake's address at Owen Sound indicates a policy, comprehensive and practical, whose applicability to the present political condition of Canada, the electors will appreciate at the next elections. Mr. Blake says: "We propose also to restore the independence and respectability of Parliament by rendering impossible the continuance of the shocking state of affairs partly developed last session; a state of affairs which has shocked the community and should of itself ensure the condemnation of the Government."

The time has come when speculation upon the probable results of the forthcoming Dominion elections is admissable, and many are indulging in that direction. The Toronto Telegram, an independent journal, makes the following forecast. It says that "the Reformers are filled with hope that the outcome of the next general elections will be the defeat of Sir John Macdonald's government, and are eager that the signal should be given for the fray. That the outlook for the old chieftain is gloomy enough even his friends admit." The Telegram, though nominally independent, keeps a sharp look-out for number one, and always manages to keep on the sunny side of the political hedge. Therefore the outlook it suggests has the merit of a forecast founded on a study of the political situation, aided by perceptions, sharpened by the instinct of self-preservation.

Canadian Cheese at the Colonial.

The Canadian Gazette, published in London, England, says:—"It is the hope of many that one result of the present meeting of Canadian and Australasian at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition in friendly rivalry, may be the creation of interchange of commodities between their respective parts of the Empire. A step has already been taken in this direction by Messrs. Wallace, Warne & Co., of Western Australia. This firm, attracted by the excellence of the cheeses of Canada, have opened up negotiations with Mr. T. D. Miller, of Ingersoll, Ontario, for the importation of cheese from Canada to Australia, and that enterprising gentleman is now on his way to the Dominion to carry out the arrangement. There are many other commodities capable of taking part in a satisfactory intercolonial trade.

HISTORICAL METHODS.

Von Ranke, after turning ninety, keeps cheerfully on with his Universal History; a score or more of learned men associate themselves in writing the history of a single American town. Which is the truer method? Which produces the better results? The answer depends greatly on what one wants of history. If it be a view of the broad stream of tendency, then a philosophical historian like Von Ranke, who has the insight, the power of seeing the end from the beginning, the perception of ruling ideas, is the writer to surrender one's self to. But there are other attractions in historic study. There is the possibility of wresting from some limited series of events the secret of their cause and effect; the ever-elusive search after indubitable fact; the exercise of one's imagination upon the material thrown up by the spade of the independent investigator; the tracing of the foundation upon which some political community has built so broadly as quite to hide from ordinary sight the source of its power. If one cares for history in this fashion, then nothing will content him save the opportunity to get as closely as possible at the original documents and monuments of history.

There is another aspect in which history presents itself, somewhat different from either of the above. It is an interesting story, not fabricated in the brain of some clever inventor, but worked out by some invisible power through the activity of real men and women; it is a drama of persons, set upon the stage of the world, to be resolved into order by the selective power of the imagination; it is a succession of events, having now and then a denouement, only to go on once more in a new series. In the hands of a writer who has a clear sense of perspective, the history of a nation or of an epoch may become luminous, and as attractive as the story, the drama, or the narrative, which deal with imaginary beings.

Of the three methods of historical writing which answer to these demands of the student and writer,—the philosophical, the scientific, and the literary,—there can be little doubt that the scientific method is now at the front. It agrees most perfectly with the spirit which dominates all departments of intellectual activity. George Eliot in her Middlemarch turned restlessly from one to another of her characters, in the hope of finding one that was built upon an unyielding foundation. Caleb Garth was the only one whom she heartily admired and respected. He was wont to speak of business, as many of religion, with reverence and a profound sense of its reality and comprehensive power. His character is built from this idea and for the expression of it. He is the incarnation of that consciousness of reality in one's self and firm fulfillment of the end of one's being which is the cry of Middlemarch. The historian is impelled by the same spirit which drove George Eliot. He wishes to get down to hard pan. He is skeptical, not as one who doubts from choice, but from necessity must push his inquiries until he comes upon the last analysis. Hence the historical student of the day is after facts, and he is ready to put his hook into any unlikely dust heap, on the chance of laying bare a precious bit. There is patience in the sifting of historical evidence, steadfastness in the following of clues, and a high estimate of the value of accurate statement.

We have instanced George Eliot as an example of the scientific spirit, because the historical student joins with the creative novelist on one side, with the scientist on the other. It is impossible to exclude human nature from history, and the historian dealing with the concrete facts of human activity is sure, sooner or later, to part company with the physicist or biologist who is engaged upon the dissection and classification of facts belonging to inorganic matter, or to organic matter below the order of man. The archæologist, groping about in the cave after the guttural-voiced dweller with his club and his little stone chips, trying to make out how the poor devil lived, and what he thought of the world into the light of which he had scarcely crept, may use the same method as his brother-worker who is measuring the wings of a paleozoic cockroach, but he is in a vastly wider range of human sympathy, and may give points to a Shakspeare reflecting upon Caliban and Setebos.—April Atlantic.

Two bales of cotton raised by slave labor in 1862 were sold the other day at Rock Hill, S. C. The owner had been offered 33½ cents in gold a pound, but for some unknown reason would not sell, and when he died he still had it stored. It was in excellent condition, although twenty-four years old, and was sold for 8½ cents a pound, the lowest point touched by cotton since those bales were grown.

A man who died at Burlington, Ia., the other day left $100 to the reporter who should write the "best obituary" of him.

A correspondent writes: "I send you a little poem called 'The Lady of the Lark.' If accepted let me know." Rejected, with thanks. If you will send a few specimens of the lay of the hen we will accept.—Burlington Free Press.

Parent Seed Warehouse, Tweedies, Cooper-head, Gibbard, Steele, Briggs, Ferry, Ayre's, Quelches, Lemlins and Vegetables of all kinds just arrived, to be found at the Rochester Fruit Store. R. G. STONE.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

The Strength Reference

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, doesn't go fooling around a man's foot, but goes to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's," and no other. d147-86-w26

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

No Uncertainty

About Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It does its work every time. It has done more good and saved more heads of hair, than any other preparation in the world. It has produced good crops of hair on bald heads, where every other remedy failed. It restores gray hair to its youthful color and vigor, and eradicates every trace of dandruff, for sale everywhere. Take nothing else. A. Dorenwend, Sole Agent, Toronto. J. D. Tally, Agent for Peterborough.

Then Tell It

To the victim of pains and aches no tidings can give greater pleasure than the means of relief. Polson's Nerviline exactly fills the bill. Nerviline cures rheumatism. Nerviline cures cramps, Nerviline cures headache. Nerviline is sure in lumbago. Nerviline, the great cure for internal or external pains. Trial bottles costing only 10 cents may be had at any drug store. Buy one and test it. Large bottles of Nerviline only 25 cents, at all druggists. Nerviline, nerve pain cure. d147-6t-w25

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in each case as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $400 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture-holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $650,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

Festival at "Cordach."

Everybody should be at the festival to-night on Mr. G. M. Rogers' grounds, Park street. Admission, ten cents.

Oak Orchard.

The adjourned sale of the Oak Orchard property, owned by A. H. Martin, Esq., takes place on Saturday, 26th inst., at 3 p.m., at the Grand Central. A rare chance.

Willow and Wicket.

The regular practice match this afternoon will be between "pick up" teams selected on the grounds. All players wishing to participate are expected to be on the grounds between two and three o'clock.

Auction Sale of Furniture.

Don't forget the adjourned sale of the balance of the furniture offered in the shop next door to Hall, Innis & Co., which takes place on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock. The sale yesterday, in spite of the rain, was well attended and good bargains were secured.

Want of Water.

The excavation which has been made at the gas works property for the placing of a new gasometer is supposed to have drawn off the water from wells in the vicinity, a number of which are now dry. The monster gas well is about 50 feet in diameter by 15 feet deep.

Another Billiard Match.

It is arranged that a billiard match is to come off after the race on Tuesday, between Mr. Wm. Pengelly, billiard marker, and Mr. Smith, who it is claimed has previously defeated his opponent.

Tuesday Evening.

On Tuesday evening next the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, will hold a Pink and White social in the school room and grounds. The Fire Brigade Band will be present, and abundant, excellent refreshments will be served. Admission to the grounds 10 cents; refreshments extra. The general public are cordially invited.

Rare Opportunity.

The attention of housekeepers is directed to the sale of the household furniture of Mrs. G. C. Rogers, which will take place at her residence, Lake street, Ashburnham, on Tuesday, June 29th, commencing at 12.30 o'clock. Parlor, dining room, bedroom and kitchen furniture will be offered without reserve and must be sold. This will be a rare opportunity to secure good, sound furniture at a bargain.

Nuptial News.

Our representative at Lakefield threatens either to strike or become a Methodist minister. He feels discouraged when he sees a member of the latter class send in at one fell swoop, four interesting news items, as was done by Rev. James Macfarlane, who supplied four wedding items for our local news columns to-day. Is it fair that the minister should make the goose as well as the news? Our Lakefield scribe says it is knot; no matter how hard he works to get ahead, the minister is always in a position to make it a tie.

An Obstinate Dog.

A gentleman in town owns a dog which he thought had had its day, but the animal seems to be of a decidedly different opinion. The dog having become old and feeble, his owner, acting on the spirit of the quotation, "superfluous lags the veteran on the stage," inveigled the ancient canine to the quarry and fired a revolver shot, as he thought, into his venerable carcass. The dog took to his heels and disappeared, leading the marksman to believe that there was one bullet, anyway, that had not found its billet. A day or two after the dog returned home, and on examination it was found that the bullet had passed clean through his body without touching any vital part. The faithful old canine's claim to a further lease of life has been recognized, and he now has the softest nest and softest food that the blunted condition of his grinders requires, and his proprietor is thinking of becoming president to a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

Come and See.

Just received at Hall, Innes & Co's., Two Thousand Pairs of Best French Button Kid Gloves, to be slaughtered at 25 cents a pair. Great bargains.

Open Air Festival.

To-night at Mr. G. M. Rogers' beautiful grounds, which will be well illuminated. Strawberries, ice cream, lemonade, cake, etc. may be had. Music furnished.

Morrow, Tierney & Co.

Have a large and varied stock of the choicest family groceries which they are selling at the closest prices. It will be to the interest of housekeepers to give them a call.

Hearing of Appeals Adjourned.

Mr. W. H. Moore received yesterday a telegram from Mr. Blackstock, Toronto, stating that the hearing of the arguments in the Scott Act appeal cases, had been adjourned from Friday (to-day) to Monday.

Did Not Enter for the Races.

The Peterborough and Cobourg horses that went to Cannington to compete in the races at that place, did not enter, the rain having softened the track beyond the possibility of putting a horse on it. They returned home to-day.

Tobacconist Removed.

Mr. W. T. Spencer has removed his tobacco store, Hunter street, two doors east on the same street to the shop recently occupied by Messrs. Flaherty & Clark, clothiers. His more commodious and elegant premises will add to the popularity of an already popular business.

Strawberry Festival.

Mr. Rogers' villa, "Cordach," where the festival will take place to-night, in connection with the Y. M. C. A., is on Park street, at the head of McDonnel street.

A Peterborough Young Lady Honoured.

The Catholic Record, published in London, Ont., where a daughter of Mr. T. Hurley has been residing for some time, has the following:—

Miss Hurley, who is severing her connection with the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral in this city, was made the recipient, on Monday last, of a handsome dressing case by the other members of the choir. The presentation was made by Mr. Kelly, on behalf of the choir, in the vestry of the Cathedral, and a flattering address was read by Miss Leach. During this young lady's residence in London she has made many warm friends, whose kindliest wishes accompany her to her home in Peterborough.

The Late Thomas Sampson.

Mr. A. Farwell, a commercial traveler, is in town to-day, collecting, on behalf of the family, particulars respecting the life and death of Thomas Sampson, the unfortunate man who died in jail on Saturday evening last. His four brothers, who are respected citizens of Quebec, are anxious to gain as full particulars as possible respecting their brother, whom they had lost track of for several years, till the intelligence of his death appeared in the papers.

Horses and their Harness.

During this week Mr. T. Cavanagh, has purchased for the Welland Canal works, sixteen heavy horses. All the animals were purchased in the neighborhood of Peterborough and notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Cavanagh has been making shipments of fine horses since early in the spring, these animals are allowed by competent judges to be a very superior lot. They will be shipped to-morrow to St. Catharines. Mr. W. J. Devlin, the Hunter street harness maker, has equipped each of these animals in a set of A No. 1 heavy harness, which production he has the reputation of excelling in.

Fall in Glass.

The immense French plate glass mirror which has adorned the background of the Grand Central bar for a considerable time, reflecting the tempting decanters, etc., and those who visited the bar, this morning probably becoming weary of seeing the dull liquid in the decanters now in use and missing the faces of former friends, by its heaviness broke the cord which held it in place, and it fell with a loud crash, smashing to atoms, and grinding beneath its weight decanters, bottles' glasses, etc., and a valuable musical box. The bartender happily saw what was coming and dodged in time to escape being crushed. The mirror was about five five feet long by four feet high and was valued at about $100. The musical box crushed was valued at $40, while the sundries broken will place the cost of the smash at about $200. The noise occasioned by the fall was heard a block away. Those in the house were severely startled while the enqiring public crowded around to see and hear what had happened.

A Local Fishery Outrage.

Our Yankee cousins are bound to steal our fish, "by hook or by"—seine. They not only invade the three mile limit, but have actually penetrated into the interior of this province as far as Burleigh. Yesterday evening two Rochester gentlemen, Mr. Sol. Solomons, who described himself as a wholesale clothier, and Mr. A. E. Benjamin, a wholesale dealer in "Yankee notions," passed through town on their way home. They had been spending ten days in fishing at Burleigh and the neighboring lakes. They report excellent fishing and are delighted with the success of their piscatorial excursion, having made immense catches—bass, as big as a prize baby, and maskinonge, almost as big as one of the members of the duet, who is, by no means, a son of Anak. Mr. Benjamin claimed that they had evaded the penalties of the treaty of 1818 by bringing their bait with them, while Mr. Solomons asserted that they had evaded the Scott Act by bringing with them a supply of beer. Beer, bait, and a capacity for—for—for lying about the size of a fish, are indispensable equipments of a well regulated fishing party.

Waterworks Progress.

The waterworks company are making slow progress on the work of putting down the mains on London street. Owing to the exceedingly difficult nature of the soil it has taken about a fortnight to get the pipes from George to Aylmer street, which latter point has now been reached. In addition, the company is engaged in putting a 4-inch service pipe into Mr. Geo. A. Cox's grounds.

Irish National League.

The regular meeting of the Irish National League, held Tuesday evening, was largely attended. Dr. O'Sullivan, president, occupied the chair. Mr. T. Cahill, moved, seconded by Mr. J. O'Meara, that Dr. O'Sullivan and J. W. Fitzgerald, be empowered to write and arrange with Dr. Burns, the eminent Methodist divine, of Hamilton, to deliver a lecture on the national cause on such date as the Opera House may be disengaged. Rev. Father Conway, and Dr. O'Sullivan spoke in favor of the motion, which was carried. Mr. Begley announced that Mr. H. Calcutt had informed him that he would give his boat for an excursion to promote the objects of the association. Rev. Father Conway moved, seconded by Mr. John Hesketh,—That the generous offer of Mr. Calcutt be accepted in the same spirit in which it was made; that the association will accept of the same, and have the excursion on the day most suitable to Mr. Calcutt. That the thanks of the association be tendered to Mr. Calcutt for his kind and generous offer, which was carried amidst applause. Mr. O'Meara announced that the national convention would be held at Chicago, on August 18th and 19th, and on motion Dr. O'Sullivan, J. O'Meara, Dr. Kincaid, J. W. Fitzgerald and John Corkery were selected as delegates to the convention. Subscriptions were called for and the sum of $77 added to the funds. The meeting then adjourned.

The Late Charles Ormond.

The hundreds of friends and acquaintances of Mr. Charles Ormond, druggist, of the firm of Ormond & Walsh, will regret to learn that this morning he passed away to rest. For the past four years he retired from active participation in the business and has been in a low state of health, suffering from a complication of diseases. Two weeks to-day, he received a fall from a chair and fractured his hip and received so severe a shock, that these causes, acting on an enfeebled constitution, resulted in his death. The deceased gentlemen was eighty-four years of age, having been born in Wantage, Berkshire, England, on the 25th August, 1802. He was the son of Dr. John Ormond. Early in his life he came to Canada, and spent many years in this vicinity before he settled down in Peterborough, in 1856, when he entered into partnership in the drug business with the late Mr. John Gilmour. At the termination of this partnership Mr. Ormond, January 1st, 1878, entered into business in the premises now occupied by the firm of Ormond & Walsh, admitting Mr. William Walsh as partner, and under their name the business has since been conducted. Mr. Ormond was married to Miss Sarah Howden, sister of Major Howden, of Millbrook, and two children were born, one of which died young and the other is still living, Mrs. T. E. Bradburn, of Lindsay. Mr. Ormond was well known and honored in his business relations, and was universally respected for his many sterling qualities of character. In religion he was a member of the Church of England, and in politics a staunch Liberal. The funeral will take place from his late residence, Murray street, to-morrow at 2 o'clock, p.m.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KIRK.

Expressions of Esteem.

Mr. L. E. Horning, B. A., the Recipient of an Address and Presentation from His Pupils.

Mr. L. E. Horning, B. A., who for the past two years has held the position of Mathematical and Science Master in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and who has resigned the position to accept one as Adjunct Professor of Classics and Modern Languages, at Victoria University, Cobourg, yesterday afternoon was the recipient of an address and presentation from his pupils. The teachers and pupils of the Institute at 3 o'clock assembled in Mr. Smith's room, the usual lessons after that hour having been dispensed with.

Dr. Tassie was voted to the chair and in a brief speech explained the object of the meeting. He referred to Mr. Horning's appointment as a recognition of high merit and true worth.

Mr. George Marshall stepped forward and on behalf of the pupils read the following address:—

Mr. L. E. Horning, B. A.:

DEAR SIR,—We, the pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, feel that we cannot permit the occasion of your departure from our midst to pass without expressing the esteem which you have won during your stay amongst us, the sorrow we feel at your departure, and the many wishes for future happiness which we all feel toward you. We feel, dear sir, that in losing you, we are losing a friend whom we have learned to admire and respect, and for whose courteous bearing and kindly sympathy we shall retain a full and lasting appreciation. Permit us to express our sincere thankfulness to you for the zeal which you have always displayed for our progress in our studies, your patient and untiring industry in our behalf and the kind interest which you have ever evinced in our personal welfare. Please accept the accompanying token of our regard, which we hope will in after years, serve to recall the friendly relations existing between teacher and pupils to strengthen still more the tie of mutual friendship which is now so fondly cherished by us all. In concluding we would assure you that your joys shall ever be our joys, your sorrows shall ever be our sorrows, and that for yourself and Mrs. Horning we heartily wish all richest blessings and all truest happiness in whatsoever sphere of life Providence may cast your lot.

F. KNOWLES,	EDNA SHARPE,
JOHN BELL,	LILY DIXON,
GEO. MARSHALL,	ETTIE BRODIE,
ANNIE FAIR.

Miss Annie Fair presented Mr. Horning with a bright bouquet of flowers and modestly escorted him to a small table, on which was arranged a small library, the present of the class to Mr. Horning, composed as follows:—Hudson's Shakespere, in six volumes; "Chips from a German Workshop," by Miller, in five volumes, and Parkman's works in ten volumes, all of which were beautifully bound and finished.

Mr. Horning was very much moved by the address and present and in feeling language expressed the regret which the separation from the pupils, his first charge, occasioned him. They had always been very kind to him, had shewn the heartiest sympathy in the work and had placed implicit confidence in him, to which he attributed any success attending his efforts. The people of Peterborough had been especially kind to him and he would always cherish their memory. He thanked the pupils for the kind expressions contained in the address and also for the beautiful and appropriate presents, and assured them that he would always continue to take an interest in their welfare.

Dr. Tassie, while sorry that Mr. Horning was going to leave, was pleased to know that he had every prospect of a prosperous and successful future.

Mr. Long expressed sorrow at the departure of Mr. Horning, and in a few remarks joined with the other teachers and the pupils in wishing Mr. Horning every success. The meeting was then dismissed.

IN THE TABERNACLE.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON ON "THE BATTLE FOR BREAD."

(CONCLUDED)

God is infinite in resources. When the city of Rochelle was besieged and the inhabitants were dying of the famine, the tides washed up on the beach as never before, and as never since, enough shell fish to feed the whole city. God is good. There is no mistake about that. History tells us that in 1855 in England there was a great drouth. The crops failed, but in Essex, on the rocks, in a place where they had neither sown nor cultivated, a great crop of peas grew until they filled a hundred measures, and there were blossoming vines enough, promising as much more.

But why go so far? I can give you a family incident. Some generations back there was a great drouth in Connecticut, New England. The water disappeared from the hills, and the farmers living on the hills drove their cattle down toward the valleys, and had them supplied at the wells and fountains of the neighbors. But these, after a while, began to fail, and the neighbors said to Mr. Birdseye, of whom I shall speak: "You must not send your flocks and herds down here any more; our wells are giving out." Mr. Birdseye, the old Christian man, gathered his family at the altar, and, with his family, he gathered the slaves of the household—for bondage was then in vogue in Connecticut—and on their knees before God they cried for water; and the family story is that there was weeping and great sobbing at that altar that the family might not perish for lack of water, and that the herds and flocks might not perish. The family rose from the altar. Mr. Birdseye, the old man, took his staff and walked out over the hills, and in a place where he had been scores of times without noticing anything particular, he saw the ground was very dark, and he took his staff and turned up the ground, and water started; and he beckoned to his servants, and they brought pails and buckets until all the family and all the flocks and the herds were cared for, and then they made troughs reaching from that place down to the house and barn, and the water flowed, and it is a living fountain to-day.

Now, I call that old grandfather, Elijah, and I call that brook that began to roll then, and is rolling still, the brook Cherith; and the lesson to me and to all who hear it, is, when you are in great straits of circumstances pray and dig, dig and pray, and pray and dig. How does that passage go? "The mountains shall depart and the hills be removed, but my loving kindness shall not fail." If your merchandise, if your mechanism, if your husbandry fail, look out for ravens. If you have in your despondency put God on trial and condemned Him as guilty of cruelty, I move this morning for a new trial. If the biography of your life is ever written, I will tell you what the first chapter and the middle chapter and the last chapter will be about, if it is written accurately. The first chapter about mercy, the middle chapter about mercy, the last chapter about mercy. The mercy that hovered over your cradle. The mercy that will hover over your grave. The mercy that will cover all between.

Again, this story of the text impresses me that relief came to this prophet with the most unexpected, and with seemingly impossible conveyance. If it had been a robin redbreast or a musical meadow lark, or a meek turtle dove or a sublime albatross that had brought the food to Elijah, it would not have been so surprising. But no. It was a bird so fierce and inauspicate that we have fashioned one of our most forceful and repulsive words out of it—ravenous. That bird has a passion for picking out the eyes of man and of animals. It loves to maul the sick and the dying. It swallows with vulturous gusto everything it can put its beak on; and yet all the food that Elijah gets for six months of a year is from ravens. Your supply is going to come from an unexpected source. You think some great-hearted, generous man will come along and give you his name on the back of your note, or he will go security for you in some great enterprise. No, he will not. God will open the heart of some Shylock toward you. Your relief will come from the most unexpected quarter. The providence which seemed ominous will be to you more than that which seemed suspicious. It will not be a chaffinch, with breast and wing dashed with white and brown and chestnut, it will be a black raven.

Here is where we all make our mistake, and that is in regard to the color of God's providence. A white providence comes to us and we say: "O, it is mercy!" Then a black providence comes toward us and we say: "O, that is disaster!" The white providence comes to you, and you have great business success, and you have $50,000, and you get proud, and you get independent of God, and you begin to feel that the prayer, "give me this day my daily bread," is inappropriate for you, for you have made provision for a hundred years. Then a black providence comes, and sweeps everything away, and then you begin to pray, and you begin to feel your dependence, and begin to be humble before God, and you cry out for treasures in heaven. The black providence brought you salvation. The white providence brought you ruin. That which seemed to be harsh and fierce and dissonant was your greatest mercy. It was a raven.

There was a child born in your house. All your friends congratulated you. The other children of the family stood amazed, looking at the new comer, and asked a great many questions, genealogical and chronological. You said—and you said truthfully—that a white angel flew through the room and left the little one there. That little one stood with its two feet in the very center of your sanctuary of affection, and with its two hands it took hold of the altar of your soul. But one day there came one of the three scourges of children—scarlet fever, or croup, or diphtheria—and all that bright scene vanished. The chattering, the strange questions, the pulling at the dresses as you crossed the floor—all ceased. As the great friend of children stooped down and leaned towards that cradle, and took the little one in his arms and walked away with it into the bower of eternal summer, your eye began to follow Him, and you followed the treasure He carried, and you have been following them ever since; and instead of thinking of heaven only once a week, as formerly, you are thinking of it all the time, and you are more pure and tender-hearted than you used to be, and you are patiently waiting for the daybreak. Is it not self-righteousness in you to acknowledge that you are a better man than you used to be—you are a better woman than you used to be. What was it that brought you the sanctifying blessing? Oh, it was the dark shadow on the nursery; it was the dark shadow on the short grave; it was the dark shadow on your broken heart; it was the brooding of a great black trouble; it was a raven—it was a raven! Dear Lord, teach this people that white providences do not always mean advancement, and that black providences do not always mean retrogression.

Children of God, get up out of your despondency. The Lord never had so many ravens as He has this morning. Fling your fret and worry to the winds. Sometimes under the vexations of life you feel like my little girl of 4 years, who said, under some childish vexation, "O, I wish I could go to heaven and see God and pick flowers!" He will let you go when the right time comes to pick flowers. Until then, whatever you want, pray for. I suppose Elijah prayed pretty much all the time. Tremendous work behind him. Tremendous work before him. God has no spare ravens for idlers or for people who are prayerless. I put it in the boldest shape possible, and I am willing to risk my eternity on it: Ask God in the right way for what you want, and you shall have it if it is best for you. Mrs. Jane Pithey, of Chicago, a well-known Christian woman, was left by her husband a widow with one half-dollar and a cottage. She was palsied and had a mother 90 years of age to support. The widowed soul every day asked God for all that was needed in the household, and the servant even was astonished at the precision with which God answered the prayers of that woman, item by item, item by item. One day, rising from the family altar, the servant said: "You have not asked for coal, and the coal is out." Then they stood and prayed for the coal. One hour after that the servant threw open the door and said: "The coal has come." A generous man, whose name I could give you, had sent—as never before and never since—a supply of coal. You cannot understand it. I do. Ravens! Ravens!

My friend, you have a right to argue from precedent that God is going to take care of you. Has He not done it two or three times every day? That is most marvelous. I look back and I wonder that God has given me food three times a day regularly all my lifetime, never missing but once and then I was lost in the mountain; but that very morning and that very night I met the ravens.

O, the Lord is so good that I wish all this people would trust Him with the two lives—this life you are now living and that which every tick of the watch and every stroke of the clock informs you is approaching. Bread for your immortal soul comes to-day. See. They alight on the platform. They alight on the backs of all the pews. They swing among the arches. Ravens! Ravens! "Blessed are they that hunger after righteousness for they shall be filled." To all the sinning and the sorrowing and the tempted deliverance comes this hour. Look down and you see nothing but your spiritual deformities. Look back and you see nothing but wasted opportunity. Cast your eye forward and you have a fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation which shall devour the adversary. But look up and you behold the whipped shoulders of an interceding Christ and the face of a pardoning God and the irradiation of an opening heaven. I hear the whirr of their wings. Do you not feel the rush of the air on your cheek? Ravens! Ravens!

There is only one question I want to ask: How many of this audience are willing to trust God for the supply of their bodies, and trust the Lord Jesus Christ for the redemption of their immortal souls? Amid the clatter of the hoofs and the clang of the wheels of the judgment chariot, the whole matter will be demonstrated.

The Sougog Paper Mills

To be Removed to Peterborough.

The Lindsay Post says that "the Sougog Paper Mill Company have decided to rebuild at Peterborough, where they are offered exemption from taxation and can secure a very desirable location for the mill convenient for shipping and with unlimited water power. The latter item is of some consideration, as power furnished by water will be much more economical than steam. The engine now at Lindsay will be shipped back to the builders at Toronto and the boilers removed, one of which will be made use of in the new mill for furnishing steam to dry stock and for use in preparing straw and rags. It is to be regretted that the company cannot see their way clear to rebuild at Lindsay, as the town cannot afford to lose one of its limited number of industries. Possibly a bonus of, say $5,000, would induce the company to remain here, but public feeling is against granting bonuses, that principle having been carried too far in the past. Exemption, of course, the company would have, and most excellent shipping advantages, together with the ownership of the property should they make use of the site of the burned mill Councillor Mallon offers, if a substantial list be got up by way of a bonus, to head the list with $500." The latter part of the paragraph shows that Lindsay is exceedingly anxious to retain these mills, therefore, it will be incumbent upon our leading citizens to make efforts to see that the present determination is not changed.

Police Court.

George Blakely was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged by P. C. Adams with being drunk in a public place. He admitted the charge and asked the magistrate to hear the evidence of P. C. Adams.

Constable Adams testified that after midnight last night he found the defendant lying on Hunter street drunk.

The magistrate imposed a fine of $2 or ten days.

The Horse Race Case.

The case between Messrs. James McLean, Port Hope, and Lane, Grafton, arising out of a horse race last autumn, was, says the Port Hope Times, disposed of at the Division Court, Monday. Judgment was given for the plaintiff (Lane), and the result is that McLean pays over Lane's stake in the race ($100) and each pays his own costs. Lane has got his $100, but at a cost that few honorable men would care to incur.

The Home Rule Campaign.

HOME RULE IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 24.—An enthusiastic and crowded meeting in favor of Home Rule for Ireland was held at St. James' Hall last evening Baron Sandhurst presiding. Mr. Parnell at the last moment sent word that he would be unable to attend. Mr. Sexton, who was one of the speakers, declared that Mr. Vincent went to Ireland in the guise of a Tory ambassador, sought interviews with the chief of Parnellites, and discussed with them the principles and details of an Irish Parliament. Earl Carnarvon saw Lord Salisbury immediately before and immediately after the interviews with Mr. Parnell. He (Sexton) asked rational men whether all this was joke. As a matter of fact, he added, if Lord Salisbury had secured a majority sufficient to make him independent of the Orangemen he would certainly have introduced a Home Rule bill. Mr. Sexton, continuing, said that the Irish could secure fifteen seats in the metropolis, and that number would be sufficient to counteract the majority of thirty against Mr. Gladstone. The opponents of Mr. Gladstone's Irish bill, he said, not having courage to face the principle of Home Rule, strove to hide it in a wilderness of details. Their criticisms rested upon the assumption that Great Britain was peopled with the lame and the halt, and that the inhabitants of Ireland were blind. That a nation that had carried her flag to the ends of the earth was too feeble to protect herself from an island at her own door, and that the people of Ireland were rash enough to walk to their own destruction. A resolution in favor of Home Rule was carried with only one dissenting voice. A large proportion of the audience were Irish.

"A Record Without a Parallel."

From the sworn statement of the Mutual Reserve Fund Association, as published in the New York Insurance Report for 1885, we take the following facts:—

Total amount received from members in 1885	$1,571,675.
Total amount paid to members in 1885	$838,879.
Expenses, including agents' commissions, salaries, etc.	$416,704.
"Death claims resisted by the Association	120,000"
The amount of unadjusted, unpaid and resisted death claims, on Dec. 31st, 1885	$ 390,750
Insurance in force	123,353,500
Invested assets	585,435

(We of course do not include the outstanding assessments, which may or may not ever be collected.)

The Mutual Reserve Fund Association has assets of $585,000 against $123,000,000 of assurances outstanding. Thus for every $100 at risk it has 47½ cents invested as a "reserve fund!" It will require more than double and triple assessments to make up the remaining $99.52½ before all the claims are paid.

From the organization of the Mutual Reserve Fund in 1881 to December 31st, 1885, its record as to income and expenditure has been:—

Income	$3,483,992
Paid to members	1,655,994
Expenses	1,093,116

In other words, for every dollar paid to members 66 cents has gone in expenses. This is cheap insurance!

Twenty-six United States Old Line life insurance companies received from policy-holders during the sixteen years ending 1883, the sum of $992,371,676, and paid back to them during the same period $763,124,793, besides having assets in hand to provide for future payments, the sum of $465,080,729. The Mutual Reserve Fund Association received from members since its organization $3,883,992 and paid back $1,655,994, and has cash assets of about $585,000. Thus while the Old Line companies paid back to policy-holders 77 per cent. of the amount received from them and held assets equal to 47 per cent. of this amount, the Mutual Reserve paid back only 49 per cent. of the amount received and has cash assets only equal to 15 per cent. of this amount.

The total amount paid for death claims in 1885 by the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association was $838,675. The death claims, unadjusted, unpaid and resisted on December 31st, 1885, amounted to $390,750. See New York Insurance Report, 1885, pages 263-4.—Insurance and Finance Chronicle.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

A meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Club will be held on Monday evening in their rooms, over the telegraph office. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance demands attention.

"Love's Victory."

For several reasons we have been unable to commence the publication of the engaging story "Love's Victory," as previously announced, but on Monday next our issue will contain the initial instalment of the story which will be continued from day to day until completed.

Church Chimes.

The pulpit of the George Street Methodist Church will be occupied to-morrow as follows:—11 a. m., Rev. I. Tovell; 7 p. m., Rev. H. Wallace, B. B.

The services in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church to-morrow will be conducted by Rev. F. H. Wallace, B. D., in the morning, 11 a. m., and in the evening, 7 p. m., by Rev. I. Tovell.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, recently of Omemee, the new pastor of the Mark street Methodist Church, will preach his salutatory sermon to-morrow morning. He will also conduct the services in the evening.

Y. M. C. A. Festival.

There was a great crush of strawberries at the Y. M. C. A. festival, held at "Cordach," the residence of Mr. G. M. Roger, yesterday evening. The picturesque premises were romantically lighted up with Chinese lanterns and presented a fine appearance, while the attendance was large, notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the weather. The lady friends of the association were present in large numbers, serving refreshments, selling boquets, etc. The Fire Brigade Band was present and contributed to the delights of the evening. Everything passed off pleasantly and the result was most satisfactory.

Market Items.

The market was about the usual this morning. Large quantities of produce were offered which was bought up quickly. Garden truck was the principal offering. Mr. S. Payne, offered new potatoes, the first of the season, at 10 cents per quart. Last year's growth has advanced in price and sold at $1.25 per bag. Other commodities remain about the same as last week, and were quoted at:—Butter, 13c. to 15c.; eggs, for shipment, 10c., for local use, as high as 12c.; chickens, 50c. per pair; lamb, 10c. to 12c. per lb.; veal, 5c. to 6c. per lb.; beets, new, radishes, carrots, onions, lettuce, rhubarb, etc., 5c. per bunch; green peas, 25 cts. per peck; green gooseberries, 10c. per quart; strawberries, three quarts for a quarter. Hay was offered from $7 to $9 per ton. and small pigs from $4 to $5 per pair.

Putting Up a "Corner" on Girls.

There appears to exist somewhere in the north-western portion of Peterborough, an organized monopoly to resist the aggressive gallantry of young men in other quarters and to prevent their poaching upon the damsel preserve, it is evidently desired to maintain, in that part of the town. The following truculent document, given verbatim et literatim, sounds a good deal like the abolition of an anarchist:—

Perboro, June 14, 1886.

Mister ——:

SIR,—You wanto lok out and keep away from the north end of the town. if you are cot up there any more with Miss —— you wil git into trubel. i wolds't giv no warnin only you are a nice cauff fellow and git alonge with the lade wel enuff but we hev made a kind of a comity to keep fellows from cumin up here with her and the —— girls and —— girl and —— girl and all the girls up this here way. we was goin to give it to you last nite only you are a nice fellow and i was told to warn you before we hurt you. every lad what comes up here with a girl is goin to be spilled, so kep away.

Yours warningly,

One of the gang what lays for lads what comes up with the girls what lives up this here way.

Acrobatic Performance.

"Japanese Tommy," formerly one of Barnum's famous Japanese acrobats, gave a free exhibition on the market square yesterday evening. A collection was taken up for his benefit.

To Work on the Welland.

Twenty men left town to-day with Mr. John Carrol to work on the Welland Canal at St. Catharines. Mr. Carrol engaged the men at $18 per month and board, expenses to be paid, and expects to give them a year's employment.

Y. M. C. A. Meetings.

The subject for the young men's meeting to-night at 8 o'clock is "Our Three Great Adversaries." All young men are invited The usual meetings will be held on Sunday afternoon at 4, and Sunday evening at 8.30 o'clock.

Strawberry Festival.

A garden party and festival will be held in the grounds of H. T. Strickland, Esq., Ashburnham, on Wednesday, June the 30th. The proceeds are for St. Luke's Church and the entertainment is held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Admission 10 cents.

Monster Strawberries.

Mr. Thomas Smyth, of Cavan, left at the EXAMINER office this morning a box of exceedingly large strawberries, averaging in diameter 7½ inches. They were grown from vines planted last year. Our thanks as well as congratulations are tendered Mr. Smyth.

Baseball.

The meeting to revive baseball held at T. Spencer's city cigar store yesterday evening was of a limited nature. After talking over prospects it was decided to call a mass meeting for Monday night, those present in the meantime to use their influence to secure a large attendance.

Rare Opportunity.

The attention of housekeepers is directed to the sale of the household furniture of Mrs. G. C. Rogers, which will take place at her residence, Lake street, Ashburnham, on Tuesday, June 29th, commencing at 12.30 o'clock. Parlor, dining room, bedroom and kitchen furniture will be offered without reserve and must be sold. This will be a rare opportunity to secure good, sound furniture at a bargain.

Gough Keeps His Word.

This afternoon at 1 o'clock, the market square was a seething mass of humanity. Gough, the Wonderful Cheap Man, kept his word and sowed broadcast from the roof of the Opera House, half a thousand linen coats As the bell struck one, Japanese Tommy, the acrobat, clad in fantastic tights, began to scatter the coats from his airy perch, and then the fun began. For a time might was right and there was a startling scene of excitement. Grab was the game, in which the strongest and most active won, for five hundred coats would not go round the vast multitude that thronged the square. Gough threw away his coats upon the Square, on the square, and as he has kept his word in this, so will he keep his word when he assures the public that at his wonderful cheap store, Arcade Buildings, there will be found a vast collection of men's boys and children's clothing, at prices almost as cheap as the linen coats. The five hundred farmers that went home happy to-day will each tell his neighbor that Gough keeps his word every time and acts up to everything he advertises. To-day's free distribution of 500 coats, will make the name of Gough the Wonderful Cheap Man a household word. Great is Gough and great is the gain of those that get his goods.

Value of Heavy Horses.

Mr. John Carrol, who to-day shipped by the C. P. R. and Empress of India to St. Catharines, a car load of sixteen heavy horses, stated while in conversation with a representative of the EXAMINER, that the farmers of Canada do not seem to recognize the importance of raising heavy draught horses, and do not justly appreciate their value. In travelling through this county during the past week he only found odd animals here and there which were sufficiently heavy for the work he required them for. The supply of heavy horses, he said, was not equal to the demand, and consequently animals which were too light for the work had to be pressed into service. He thought if the farmers would pay more attention to the breeding of extra heavy animals they would be amply rewarded. As he is an extensive dealer in horseflesh his opinion should be of value. Mr. Carrol practices what he preaches, as will be seen by the fact that he intends, when he concludes his canal work, sending these animals, mostly mares, to his stock farm and cattle ranche at the Rockies, south-west of Fort McLeod, for breeding purposes. On this farm he has a splendid stad of thoroughbred heavy draught horses, the breeding of which he intends going into on an extensive scale. He will return to Peterborough in a week or tee days to purchase such sound, heavy animals as are procurable.

Rev. J. G. Fallis, Dutton, certifies: "For some years my wife has been troubled with Dyspepsia, and has tried one thing after another recommended, with but little or no effect, till advised to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial. Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement, and can with confidence recommend it to be one of, if not the best medicine extant for Dyspepsia. This invaluable medicine, for Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Kidney Complaint, is purely vegetable. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store. Trial bottles given free.

The Lightning's Work Yesterday.

Five-Odd Fronts of the Fairley Field—Five Houses Battered With Thunderbolts.

ALLENDALE RECEIVES ATTENTION.

During the thunderstorm of yesterday afternoon, the lightning struck the residence of Mr. Wm. Hamlin, jr., at Allendale. The bolt entered the chimney, making a hole as big as one's arm, and passing down the stove-pipe, hurled a box stove five or six feet aside and sent the platform on which it stood, flying into one corner of the room. It passed through the kitchen floor, finishing the planks to shreds and mutilating the joists, then passed along under the floor, leaving a mark like powder, and passed into the cellar, making a wholesale smash of fruit jars and considerably damaging the foundation wall. The lightning on route shivered to smithereens a pair of boots that lay in its track. Miss Drummond of Westwood, who had been sitting over the floor under which the lightning passed, had just moved from the spot. She received no severe shock but one of her feet was temporarily paralyzed. Fortunately none of the other inmates of the house were injured.

As if by the same flash, the house of Mr. John Rennie, 60 or 75 yards distant, had the pillars of the verandah shattered. Mrs. Rennie and family were inside the house and did not know that the house had been struck by lightning till some time afterwards, although she experienced a prickly sensation in the tongue, like one feels whose foot is asleep. The escape of all the parties exposed, from personal injury, is remarkable.

ANOTHER OTONABEE HOUSE ATTENDED TO.

Yesterday afternoon, about four o'clock, the house of Mr. James Ruth, River Road, Otonabee, was struck. The lightning entered at the middle of the roof and ran along to the chimney which it demolished, then down the chimney to a stove pipe on the second floor which it scattered in all directions. The lightning then descended to the dining room, where the family were sitting, and on into the cellar passing out at the corner of the house and loosening a foundation stone. No serious damage was done to the occupants, beyond slightly shocking them.

ENNISMORE'S ELECTRICAL EXCITATION.

Yesterday afternoon, the house of Mr. Wm. Revington, Lot 8, in the 7th concession of Ennismore, the same that was struck by lightning last year, at which time John Haggart was killed, was again visited. The lightning struck the same chimney (in the east end) as the year before, and knocking the gable out of the house, passed down to the first floor, blew out two windows and shocked the half dozen occupants of the room so that they have no recollection of the flash or hearing the report. From this room the lightning passed into the cellar, forcing up the trap door, and passed out at a window in the west end making a clean, round hole in the centre of a pane without breaking the glass elsewhere. Mr. Revington was slightly injured by flying splinters.

About the same time a new house, yet unoccupied, owned by Mr. William Moloney, near the cross, lot 6 in the 6th concession, was struck in the roof and the end, from top to bottom, completely knocked out.

W. C. T. U.

Miss Bowes, Provincial Organizer, will address a public meeting in the interests of the W. C. T. U. work, in the basement of the George Street Church, to-morrow, June 27th, at 4 p. m. Collection at close of meeting.

Cheese Shipment.

To-day, Mr. Charles Bartlett, Napanee, representative of Kirkpatrick & Cookson, Montreal, shipped for that place 1,750 boxes of cheese, delivered at the Midland station to-day. These were purchased from Cook, who bought them at the Peterborough Cheese Board sale on Tuesday.

Additional local matter on third page.

Fluid Lightning does not take a day or an hour to remove Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Lumbago or Rheumatism, but will do it instantly, and without carrying your head in a poultice for a day or using greasy liniments. Try a 25c. bottle from J. McKee, druggist. d147-eod-w24

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 26th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-less trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. IMPORTANT NOTICE.

All voters in sympathy with the Liberal party, whose votes are being objected to by the Dominion Government representatives in the County of Peterborough, should immediately call upon or notify Mr. W. A. Stratton or Mr. E. B. Stone, barristers, who will attend to the matter on behalf of the Reform Association.

Church Chimes.

On Sunday Rev. J. C. Wilson entered upon his duties as pastor of the Mark Street Methodist church, conducting both the morning and evening services. His discourses on both occasions were earnest, vigorous and eloquent, and were listened to by large congregations. Mr. Wilson enters into his new duties with every prospect of a successful career, possessing, as he does, in a high degree, the required qualifications for a minister of the Gospel, and also the heartiest support of his congregation. Mr. Wilson and family arrived in the village on Wednesday and were escorted to the parsonage by a number of the congregation, and on Thursday a number of the ladies of the church assembled at the parsonage and assisted in the arduous task of arranging the housefurnishings, etc. Mr. Wilson was very popular with his congregation in Omemee and by indications will also be with his new charge.

Rev. Mr. Little, retired Presbyterian minister, formerly of Bowmanville, who has been paying a short visit to Rev. E. F. Torrance, conducted the services in St. Paul's Church on Sunday evening. His discourse was able and interesting, descriptive of the wanderings of the Children of Israel in the wilderness and its similarity to the march of the Christians towards their heavenly home.

Saturday Evening Scene

On the Market Square—Attractions and Counter Attractions.

Upwards of two thousand persons assembled on the market square, attracted thither by the different doings of different persons and the crowd attracting a crowd. "Japanese Tommy," the acrobat, enjoyed the patronage of considerably over a thousand persons, while giving his open air free exhibition of his skill and agility. The Salvation Army occupied their usual position and probably had about two hundred spectators. Mr. Geo. B. Sproule, stationed himself between these two audiences, and after reading a portion of Sacred Scripture, addressed himself to the larger audience, pointing out to them their folly in wasting their time witnessing such proceedings. Aloof from these crowds, but under the vulgar gaze of the public eye, surrounded by a crowd of jolly companions, and in a large tri-seated vehicle, occupying the most chiefest seat at in state, Mr. "Dick" Griffin, from which vehicle the Son's of England excursion to Sturgeon Point was announced by trumpet and by posters on its sides. While the Jap was expounding the beauties of scientific tumbling, a horse, hitched to a democrat in which a number of spectators stood, suddenly started forward, tumbling the said spectators to the earth in a heap. Again as the acrobat was concluding his performance with the cradle act, a lively horse, driven by Mr. D. Bennett, of Otonabee, who stopped to see the performance, bolted, throwing that gentleman and a little boy out of the rig, they carrying the top with them in their back act tumble, in which they rocked for a time—very short. Mr. A. Patterson captured the steed before it had gone far, preventing it from dashing through the crowd of spectators in front of it. The excitement being over the assembly dispersed.

Otonabee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Between Mr. James Carter's and Mr. Thomas Fife's on the side line, there exists a disgracefully bad and dangerous bit of what it would be irony to call a road. The culvert is also badly out of repair and needs to be rebuilt. If this piece of road is not speedily repaired there is a certainty of an accident sooner or later, which will result in injury to some of the residents of the township, and a clear case of electing the township for damages. It would be wiser to spend the money in repairing the road than in paying damages.

Police Court.

Mere Scott Act Cases—The Charge against Mr. R. Hamilton Dismissed.

On Saturday afternoon the hearing of the charge against Mr. R. Hamilton, for violation of the Scott Act, adjourned from Tuesday, was taken up.

Mr. Rogers, who agreed with Mr. Edwards to appear on Saturday afternoon, and for the hearing of whose evidence the case had been adjourned, not appearing when called, Mr. E. B. Edwards, counsel for the prosecution, asked for a further adjournment.

Mr. W. A. Stratton, counsel for the defendant, objected to a further adjournment, submitting that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant such adjournment.

The magistrate held that the evidence had not been of a nature to warrant him in further enlarging the case, and dismissed the charge.

Messrs. Thomas McMillan of Norwood, and Mr. Oscar Brennan, of the same place, were charged, by Inspector Darling, at the police court this morning with having unlawfully kept liquor for sale between the 1st of May and 19th of June.

Both defendants admitted the charge and were each fined $50 and costs.

West Riding Agricultural Society.

An informal meeting of the directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society was held on Saturday afternoon to consider ways and means for erecting the proposed exhibition buildings. Owing to the fact of the County Council, which should have been the first to deal liberally with the society, refusing to give a grant, there was a decided hesitancy on the part of several of the directors, as to personally assuming the liability of $2,500, which would be the cost of that portion of the main buildings it was proposed to erect this year. The directors adjourned to consult with the architect in reference to the cost of buildings, to meet again next Saturday.

Anstruther.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A GOOD AND SUBSTANTIAL BRIDGE.

The new bridge over Eel's River on the new Anstruther road has just been completed and is tangible evidence of the manner in which government appropriations to this section of country are disposed of.

The work was superintended by Mr. Washington Coons, and the manner in which it has been performed, even to the smallest particular is an indication that wise and proper care was exercised in the selection of a competent person to carry out the work. Mr. Coons secured the best of workmen and unlike the superintendents of days gone by, put his shoulders to the wheel instead of keeping his hands in his pocket to prevent them from becoming soiled or bit by the nasty flies. There is certainly no room for grumblers to be continually harping at the government for the manner in which public money is laid out on colonization roads.

Bensfort.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The rain on Wednesday, 23rd, which was a steady and exceedingly welcome day's rain, has given a fresh and healthy appearance to vegetation, which was rather backward in growth on account of dry weather.

John Moin, who has for some months been dependent upon neighbors almost entirely for food and clothing, remains helpless yet. He is an orphan and although a miniature land-holder, is now fed by the township Council.

Mrs. J. Reid's house was broken by missiles thrown from the highway on Friday night, 18th inst. Mr. R. J. O'Heir, who is caretaker of the premises, purposes prosecuting.

Our lacrosse club conducted an excursion to Idyl Wild on Friday, 25th, per steamer Beaver. The Millbrook team attended for the pleasure of the trip and also for a friendly game which was played at Idyl Wild, resulting in favor of Millbrook by three straight games.

The members of the Benafort Football Club, after a few preliminary arrangements, met the Zion club on Thursday, 24th inst., in answer to a challenge given by the latter, each party anxious to prove what was really the composition, tact, energy and activity of their opponents. Both clubs were organized recently, and have now done their first competitive game, which resulted in placing confidence in our men, and vice versa as there was really nothing won. The contest was a good one, lasting one hour, and took place at Mr. Joshua Smithson's, Otonabee, who, as well as Mrs. Smithson, displayed their usual commendable hospitality.

The Home Rule Contest.

LONDON, June 26.—In his speech at Glasgow last night Lord Hartington said he was sure it would never be possible to control an Irish Parliament. He had objected to vote for the principle of Home Rule until he had seen Gladstone's plan. If Parliament granted Home Rule there was no guarantee, in the face of the power wielded by the National League, that elections would be fairly conducted, or that the Dublin Parliament would really represent the majority of the Irish people. Gladstone had accepted a Parnell alliance, but the Liberal party was bound to seek another alliance. He therefore hoped every one would vote for "Unionist" candidates in the coming elections.

THE RADICAL MANIFESTO.

The Council of the Metropolitan Radical Association has issued a manifesto to the electors. The manifesto says that Gladstone's Irish Bills are dead. The Land Purchase Bill is never to be revived, but the principle of Home Rule cannot die. It exhorts the electors to use their whole strength to return a Home Rule majority.

The workmen's demonstration in Hyde Park has been postponed till July 3rd.

INCONSISTENT CHAMBERLAIN.

Herbert Gladstone, speaking at Barnstable, said that while Chamberlain was in the Cabinet, he submitted an alternative Purchase Bill, proposing to expend £40,000,000 to enable tenants on less than thirty acres to buy their holdings on the basis of from fourteen to sixteen years, rental, the only security being their ability to pay and the responsibility of local bodies in Ireland.

Personal.

M. H. Long, will leave town on Wednesday next on a trip to England, to patronize the Colonial Exhibition.

Mr. F. Post, of the firm of Post & McWhinnie, will sail for England this week next, to visit the Colonial Exhibition. While in England he will pay a visit to his former home, Shaftesbury, Dorsetshire.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's Church, will, during July and August, take a season of holiday, for rest and recreation. On Wednesday, July 7th, he will leave town for Quebec, from which port he will sail on Thursday by the Allan Line for Liverpool. During the two months, he will visit the places of interest in England and on the Continent. Arrangements are being made for the supplying of the pulpit in his absence.

Mayor Stevenson is placed on the sick list, having a severe attack of pain in the back, the result of gardening and picking large strawberries on Saturday evening. Although recovering he is obliged to carry a cane for support.

Beauties of the Credit System.

The Monetary Times has the following:—"Mrs. W. H. McArthur, a grocer at Codrington, has arranged with her creditors on a basis of 20 cents, spread over 18 months.—Although she had but a meagre capital on which to start the millinery business in Lindsay, Mrs. G. Lee has, after a year's trial, managed to create liabilities approaching $4,000. Her assignment to a Montreal house is just announced. Before attempting business on her own account, she was for thirteen years in the employ of Dundas & Flavelle.

Music at St. John's Church.

To the Editor of THE DAILY EXAMINER:

It would be impossible for any worshipper in St. John's Church yesterday, not to notice a very marked improvement in the musical portion of the service. The singing throughout was admirable, so spirited and soul-stirring, and great praise is due Mr. Seward, who, in addition to being a very clever organist, seems to possess a wonderful faculty for imparting instruction. His selections in the morning were entirely new to the choir until within the past week, and all were rendered so correctly and with such feeling, that one was reminded of good Bishop Mant's lines:

Their psalms and hymns and holy songs,
Like mighty thunders rolled,
While rapture, which the spirit felt,
The tongue spontaneous told.
Such sounds the sons of God pour forth,
One spirit and one voice,
Where round the throne the cherubim
And seraphim rejoice.

A detachment of sixty-five officers and men of the Mounted Police have arrived at Qu'Appelle, N. W. T. They made a forced march from Carlton, 270 miles, at the rate of fifty miles per day. They marched on telegraphic orders to reach Qu'Appelle as soon as possible and there await further orders.

Four men engaged in telegraphic construction at Matheawa were seriously injured on Thursday last. One man sustained a broken back, a second a fracture of the thigh, and the third broke his neck. The men were engaged in fixing wires on the poles, when a sudden wind arising the poles were dashed to the ground.

James Kennedy, a drunk, confined in the Brockville police station, tore the lining out of his coat and some splinters out of the floor and set fire to his cell, and had a narrow escape from suffocation. The only reason the prisoner assigned for the act was that he wanted to clear out some flies that were bothering him.

Robt. Walker, of Priceville, committed suicide on Sunday last by drowning. Before jumping into the mill-dam he tied his large pressing iron round his neck in order to avoid the possibility of failure.

Mr. Thomas Renshaw, while fishing with his two children in the Musquash River at the second Government chute, some twenty-five miles north of Gravesburst, slipped into the water and was drowned. His children looked on unable to render assistance. The deceased was one of the oldest settlers in the district and was much respected.

The Victoria, B. C., Colonist, in its report of the fire which destroyed the city of Vancouver, says:—Desperate whites and thieving Indians looted the goods that had escaped the flames. In the evening barrels of liquor were opened and the crowd of hoodlums enacted a scene that would do credit to the damned. They fought, they blasphemed, and carried on their unholy revels far into the night hours.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Government organ at Ottawa announces that Sir John Macdonald is to speak at a Catholic picnic at Carleton Place on Tuesday next.

Senator Barr Plumb is going to speak in Brant county. Judging by the past effect of his orations, Plumb will sow the wind and the Tory candidate will reap the whirlwind.

Hon. Mr. Blake with fine irony calls the Senate the "sheep dogs of provincial rights." Could anything more impossible be imagined than a Senate, appointed by Sir John, being friendly to provincial rights?

Mr. James Quinn has been selected by the Tories of East Simcoe to contest the seat for the Commons with Mr. H. H. Cook, M. P. The Tory candidate for the local House will be Mr. John McCosh, barrister.

In 1884, Norfolk county adopted the Scott Act by a majority of 1000 and at the recent session of the County Council, a resolution declaring that the repeal of the Act is advisable, was adopted by a vote of 15 to 5. The chief reasons assigned is the loss of revenue, and the expense of enforcement, $750, having been demanded by the License Commissioners.

The patriotic bile of some Tory newspapers is agitated by the fact that the plans submitted by Toronto architects for the new Ontario Parliament Buildings, were submitted to the inspection of a Buffalo architect. These journals didn't raise any scalps over the fact of the Dominion Government ordering dredges from Lockport—not very far from Buffalo—when they could have been better built in Canada. The London Advertiser shows that this same Buffalo architect designed the buildings of the Toronto Mail.

An Ottawa despatch states that Messrs. McMaster, Bunting, Mackintosh and other Tory workers had an interview with Sir John Macdonald Wednesday. It is stated that they wanted the Premier to raise the "bloody shirt" in Ontario and dissolve Parliament, but Sir John said that his advices from Ontario were to the effect that he would lose more than he would gain in that Province by such a proceeding, while his colleagues from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces were strongly opposed to dissolution before the end of the Parliamentary term. A desperate effort is to be made to purchase support for the Tory party in Quebec and Nova Scotia.

The drill shed in Hamilton was burned several months ago, and though the 13th battalion are suffering great inconvenience on account of its absence, Sir Adolph Caron, our ornamental Minister of Militia, has taken no steps to rebuild the shed. He pleads delay on the ground that it is necessary for him to visit the site, just as though the fire had destroyed the ground as well as the building. Evidently Sir Adolph has been taking lessons from Sir Hector and is imitating his methods in the latter's political hocus-pocus shuffle in the Peterborough post office site. In both cases some scheme for party advantage influences the Ministers, regardless of the convenience of the public.

The County Council, which by its refusal to assist by a grant of the farmers' own money, the coming agricultural exhibitions conducted in the farmers' interest, declared against their utility, will perhaps be soon convinced that Agricultural Societies have been a benefit to the country. A few days ago we published a news item, stating that several officers of the British Army had arrived in Canada to purchase horses and there is no doubt that they will find thousands of splendid animals up to the exacting standard of horses for the Imperial service. Would they have found anything but, (in exceptional cases) the scrriest of scrubs, if the influence of Agricultural Societies in improving the breed of Canadian horses had not been exerted?

For consumption it is believed to be the only real specific yet known. For all scrofulous and blood disease it is unfailing.

The fielding of Mr. Carter's team was very weak, the work being left to the bowlers and wicket keeper, in which capacity Mr. Carter officiated with good success.

No Room for Cattle.

Some Reasons for the Decreased Shipments.

As shown in the Witness, nearly one thousand less cattle have left Montreal by steamship for Great Britain, so far, this year than last. This, a shipper states, is not owing to the trade being dull, but simply to the want of space obtainable on vessels here, grain freights being good and filling up much better than last year. Only a few days ago about 350 cattle stood here awaiting shipment, until their owner seeing no further resource forwarded the lot to Halifax, and had a steamer call for them. Another reason for the reduced shipment is said to be that a number of steamships have made one extra trip to Portland and therefore one less to Montreal, owners having had such a bad experience last season when navigation opened so late that vessels could not make Montreal.

LOVE'S VICTORY.

BY BERTHA M. CLAY.

CHAPTER I.

A GIRL WITH A CHARACTER.

It is a strange place for an intelligence office, yet Madame Selini evidently knew what she was doing when she established her office in an aristocratic neighborhood, and actually next door to the family mansion of the Countess Downger of Barewood. The worthy countess was shocked, and, taking counsel of her lopes, predicted that Madame Selini's institution would soon prove a failure. Notwithstanding this prediction, the agency prospered, and among its patrons were many of the nobility.

One fine morning in May a carriage stopped before Madame Selini's door, and from it descended a handsome, aristocratic gentleman, evidently of the old school. There was some little commotion in the interior of the building, and then a foot-page appeared, to whom Sir Oswald Darrell—for that was the gentleman's name—gave his card.

"I am here by appointment," he said, "to see Madame Selini."

He was ushered into a handsomely furnished room, where, in a few minutes, he was joined by Madame Selini herself—a quick, bright Frenchwoman, whose dark eyes seemed to embrace everything in their comprehensive glance. Sir Oswald bowed with stately courtesy and quaint, old-fashioned grace.

"Have you been so fortunate, madame, as to find that which I am in search of?" he inquired.

"I think you will be pleased, Sir Oswald—yes, I am sure you will," answered the lady. "I have a lady waiting to see you now, who will prove, I should say, a treasure."

Sir Oswald bowed, and madame continued:

"Miss Hastings—Miss Agnes Hastings—has been for the last six years finishing governess at Lady Castledene's, and her two pupils make their debut this year; so that there is no longer any occasion for her services."

"And you think she would be fitted, madame, to occupy the position for which I require a lady of talent and refinement?"

"I am quite sure of it," replied madame. "Miss Hastings is thirty years of age. She is highly accomplished, and her manners are exceedingly lady-like. She is a person of great refinement; moreover, she has had great experience with young girls. I do not think, Sir Oswald, that you could do better."

"Is the lady here? Can I see her?"

Madame Selini rang, and desired the little page to ask Miss Hastings to come to her. In a few minutes an elegant, well-dressed lady entered the room. She advanced with a quiet grace and dignity that seemed natural to her; there was not the slightest trace of awkwardness or mauvais honte in her manner.

Madame Selini introduced her to Sir Oswald Darrell.

"I will leave you," she said, "to discuss your private arrangements."

Madame quitted the room with gliding, subtle grace, and then Sir Oswald, in his courtly fashion, placed a chair for Miss Hastings. He looked at the pale, clear-cut face for a few minutes in silence, as though he were at a loss what to say, and then he commenced suddenly:

"I suppose Madame Selini has told you what I want, Miss Hastings?"

"Yes," was the quiet reply; "your niece has been neglected—you want some one to take the entire superintendence of her."

"Neglected!" exclaimed Sir Oswald. "My dear madame, that is a mild word, which does not express the dreadful reality. I wish to disguise nothing from you, I assure you—she literally horrifies me."

Miss Hastings smiled.

"Neglected!" he repeated—"the girl is a savage—a splendid savage—nothing more nor less."

"Has she not received any kind of training, then, Sir Oswald?"

"Training! My dear madame, can you imagine what a wild vine is—a vine that has never been cultivated or pruned, but allowed to grow wild in all its natural beauty and strength, to cling where it would, to trail on the ground and to twine round forest trees? Such a vine is a fit type of my niece."

Miss Hastings looked slightly bewildered. Here was a very different pupil from the elegant, graceful daughters of Lady Castledine.

"I should, perhaps," continued Sir Oswald, "explain to you the peculiar position that my niece, Miss Pauline Darrell, has occupied."

His grand old face flushed, and his stately head was bowed, as though some of the memories that swept over him were not free from shame; and then, with a little gesture of his white hand, on which shone a large diamond ring, he said:

"There is no need for me to tell you, Miss Hastings, that the Darrells are one of the oldest families in England—ancient, honorable, and I must confess, proud—very proud. My father, the late Sir Hildebert Darrell, was, I should say, one of the proudest and most reserved of men. He had but two children, myself and a daughter twelve years younger—my sister Felicia. I was educated abroad. It was one of my father's fancies that I should see many lands, that I should study men and women before settling down to my right position in the world; so that I knew but little of my sister Felicia. She was a child when I left home—the tragedy of her life had happened before I returned."

Again a great rush of color came over the pale aristocratic face.

"I must apologize, Miss Hastings, for troubling you with these details, but unless you understand them you will not understand my niece. I cannot tell you how it happened, but it did so happen that while I was away my sister disgraced herself: she left home with a French artist, whose acquaintance she engaged to renovate some choice and costly pictures at Darrell Court. How it came about I cannot say—Pauline there were excuses for her. She may have found home very dull—my father was harsh and cold, and her mother was dead. It may be that when the young artist told her of warm love in sunny lands she was tempted, poor child, to leave the paternal nest.

"My father's wrath was terrible; he pursued Julian L'Estrange with unrelenting fury. I believe the man would have been a successful artist but for my father, who had vowed to ruin him, and who never rested until he had done so—until he had reduced him to direst poverty—and then my sister appealed for help, and my father refused to grant it. He would not show her mercy; he withdrew all sympathy; her portrait was destroyed; everything belonging to her was sent away from Darrell Court.

"When I returned—in an interview that I shall never forget—my father threatened me not only with disinheritance, but with his curse, if I made any attempt to hold the least communication with my sister. I do not know that I should have obeyed him if I could have found her, but I did not even know what part of the world she was in. She died, poor girl, and I have no doubt that her death was greatly hastened by privation. My father told me of her death, also that she had left one daughter; he did more—he wrote to Julian L'Estrange, and offered to adopt his daughter on the one condition that he would consent never to see her or hold the least communication with her.

"The reply was, as you may imagine, a firm refusal and a fierce denunciation. In the same letter came a note, written in a large, childish hand:

"'I love my papa, and I do not love you. I will not come to live with you. You are a cruel man, and you helped to kill my dear mamma.

"It was a characteristic little note, and was signed 'Pauline L'Estrange.' My father's anger on receiving it was very great. I confess that I was more amused than angry.

"My father, Miss Hastings, lived to a good old age. I was not a young man when I succeeded him. He left me all his property. You must understand the Darrell and Audleigh Royal estates are not entailed. He made no mention in his will of the only grandchild he had; but, after I had arranged all my affairs, I resolved to find her. For ten years I have been doing all I could—sending to France, Italy, Spain, and every country where I thought it possible the artist might have sought refuge.

"Three months since I received a letter from him, written on his death-bed, asking me to do something for Pauline, who had grown up into a beautiful girl of seventeen. I found then that he had been living for some years in the Rue d'Orme, Paris. I buried him, brought his daughter to England, and made arrangements whereby she should assume the name of Darrell. But I little knew what a task I had undertaken. Pauline ought to be my heiress, Miss Hastings. She ought to succeed me at Darrell Court. I have no other relatives. But—well, I will not despair; you will see what can be done with her."

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-Rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Rasting Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Rheumatism, Blood Taint, Erysipelas, White Swellings, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large treatise, with colored plates, on Diseases of the same. Discount for a treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE." Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE

Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases all or part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Consumption, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. Send ten cents, in stamps, for 160 page book on Consumption. Sold by Druggists.

Excursion From Toronto.

A united Sunday School and church pic-nic excursion from Toronto Junction arrived in town on Saturday by the C. P. R., shortly after noon and proceeded by the steamer Golden Eye to the pretty pic-nic point this side of Faucher's point, where the excursionists revelled in the usual pleasures peculiar to such occasions. They returned in the evening after having spent a delightful day's outing. The C. P. R. evening express on which they returned, happened to be an hour late, affording the excursionists an opportunity of doing the town, which they did pretty thoroughly, no doubt profiting thereby.

What's in a Name?

It isn't often that we are honored in Peterborough with the presence of a live lord or a real count, but we had one here the past day or two. This morning Mr. T. Menzies ticketted to Tyrone, Penn., an Italian, with the rather Portuguese name of Dom Pedro Rodreguese. To show how easily an Italian may be named Jones, or McGinnis, or Macduff, a day or two ago Mr. Menzies sold a ticket for Chicago to a native born Italian, with the brown kiss of the Tuscan sun on his cheek, who bore the unromantic name of Charles Campbell. His father, who was a Campbell, an engineer on the Mount Cenis Tunnel, married an Italian lady.

These dials may be easily applied to any watch or clock. This step has been deemed advisable in view of the new conditions that have to be met by the company in establishing a continuous train-service on a line of railway covering fifty-three degrees of longitude and soon to cover sixty degrees (or four hours of time.)

A Tidy Tobacco Shop.

Mr. W. T. Spencer's new tobacco store, Hunter street, has been fitted up in so nobby a manner, that a dreamy indulger in the weed would pronounce it just the place to inspire a Byron to write his "Sublime Tobacco" apostrophe. The shop is divided by a screen into two portions. Upon the shelving of the front part is neatly arrayed a complete stock of tobaccos, cigars, and smokers' sundries, while handsome counter show cases contain a fine collection of pipes, etc. The rear portion is at present used as a store room, but when the long, cool nights make an in-door retreat desirable, it will be fitted up, with cosy easy-chairs, as a smoking and reading room, well provided with sporting and other papers. This store throughout is an attractive one, and the popular proprietor will, no doubt, secure his full share of the patronage of the tobacco-using public.

A Marvellous Mirage.

This morning a marvellously magnificent and distinct mirage, was observed by two or three early fishermen. These young men started for Lake Chemong for a short ante-prandial fishing bout. When about two miles from town on a high piece of road that commanded a view of the town, they were surprised to see suspended in the air over the horizon, a complete reflection of Rice Lake. They could distinguish the different landings at Harwood and Idyl Wild, the shores clearly outlined. Even the piers at Harwood could be easily distinguished. At one end of the mirage the Trent river stretched away like a sinuous silvery thread. The gentlemen who witnessed the mirage, assert that the image of the lake was not inverted, as is usually the case, but appeared as if it were in its normal position. Many who may put down this vision of the lads as an optical illusion, must be silenced by the relation of the fact that the fishermen had not yet begun to consume the bait with which they were provided. The mirage was visible while the party drove a mile slowly, admiring the unusual scene.

Lecture by a Lady.

Miss Bowes, the Provincial Organizer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, addressed a meeting in the basement of the George street Methodist Church yesterday afternoon. After singing and devotional exercises, Rev. I. Tovell, who presided over the meeting, introduced Miss Bowes. She read several passages from the prophecy of Isiah upon which she based her lecture. In a stirring address the lady lecturer described the dire and withering effects which the liquor traffic had upon humanity, which she summed up in the words of the prophet, "Though thy men are not slain by the sword, nevertheless they are slain." She characterized the temperance movement of to-day, the closest ally of Christianity, as a brighter day dawning in the history of the world. She referred to the Scott Act in Peterborough, and was highly pleased with the encouraging reports of the manner in which it was being enforced. She made several references to the work being done by the Women's Christian Temperance Union throughout the world, amongst soldiers, sailors, the poor and the needy; and also to the evangelistic mission work being carried on by the Union. She impressed upon her hearers the necessity of personal responsibility in the great cause. In conclusion she advocated a grand rally of all the temperance organizations and sympathizers to put down the liquor traffic, which could not be carried on without violating the injunctions of the law of God. A meeting addressed by Miss Bowes was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this afternoon.

The Rochester Masonic Excursion.

Peterborough Excursionists Jubilant over Rochester Hospitality.

The Masonic excursion, which proceeded to Rochester Thursday, was a most pronounced success. Not only was it a financial success but the enjoyment of all those that joined in the trip, was unsurpassed, while the hospitality extended to their Canadian fratres by the Rochester brethren of the mystic tie, was unbounded in its spontaneous exuberance.

To begin with, the principal officers of Hamilton chapter came all the way from Rochester to Charlotte, like King Cophetua, "to meet and greet them on their way.' From this time till the return of the party home, the Peterborough companions were as infants in the hands of their hospitable Yankee cousins. They were escorted to the Windsor hotel, which was in every sense their home during their stay in the Flower City. In the evening the visiting companions attended at the Masonic Hall, where they had the pleasure of witnessing the sublime ceremony of conferring the Royal Arch Degree. Out of delicate compliment to the visiting Canadians the proceedings opened with the rendering of "God Save the Queen." The companions were then introduced. Most Excellent Companion, T. Gidden, who by the way is an editor, who did the honors, as only an editor and a Masonic one at that, could do. At the conclusion of the ceremony the visiting companions were entertained at a splendid banquet in the refectory adjoining the hall

The following day, Friday, was spent in sight-seeing, and many were the magnificent sights in Rochester worth admiring. Very shortly after dinner, the Peterborough companions were surprised to see at the door of their hotel home, an array of carriages, and to receive an invitation from M. Ex. H. P., R. Salter, M. Ex. Comp., J. Alexander, Ex. Comp., C. H. Bidwell, and Ex. Comp., H. M. Plant, to accompany the Rochester brethren and their wives around the city.

Words are useless to express the gratitude felt by the companions of Peterborough, for the magnificent hospitality of the reception rendered by the companions of Hamilton chapter of the Flower City. Most Excellent High Priest Salter, as well as his associates seemed to carry an Aladdin's lamp, for every wish of the visitors was, as if by magic, anticipated and gratified in a manner beyond the most sanguine expectations of their guests, who feel themselves under a debt of gratitude which it will be their study to discharge at an early date by a reciprocation, to the fullest extent of their ability, of the kindness received.

The Peterborough party left the city on Friday evening for Charlotte, to which place they were accompanied by several members of Hamilton Chapter and their wives.

Capt. Crawford, of the Norseman, and his officers paid the party every attention and contributed their share to the delight of the excursion, which will be to every individual composing it, a pleasing and enduring memory. The entire party landed in Peterborough Saturday morning, feeling the spirit of the time-honored Masonic sentiment: "Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again."

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. S. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child under; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address:

Town Council.

A Special and Brief Business Meeting—The Government Memorialized, Asking that the Scott Act Fines be Paid the Town—Other Business.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber yesterday evening. Present, Mayor Stevenson in the chair, and all the other members.

After routine, the Clerk read the following

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the clerk and treasurer of the Town Trust with regard to the renewal of debentures authorized to be issued under by-law voted on 10th August, 1885.—Received.

From Mayor McLean, of Vancouver, asking for assistance in consequence of the recent conflagration.—Received.

From the clerk of the County Council, notifying the Council that the County Council had appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the town Council with regard to building a new bridge at the Locks.—Referred to the Joint Committee to report.

From Mr. E. C. Hill and eight others, asking for a drain on Donegal street from Brock street to the creek.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

From Mr. A. P. Pousette, Q.C., and eleven others, asking that the Waterworks Company be required to extend their mains along Simcoe and Park streets, petitioners agreeing to pay for water service privileges.—Received.

From Mr. J. Dunn, asking for a new sidewalk on Charlotte street, and from Mr. John Stewart, asking for street improvements.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

W. H. Law, 142 rat nippies	$ 28 15
B. Morrow, map of town	15 00
W. R. Lawrish, carting	1 00
D. Bellegham	77 60

The second and third accounts were ordered to be paid when certified to, and the others were referred to the Finance Committee.

THE PROPOSED PAPER MILL.

The Mayor stated that he had had some further correspondence with Mr. J. H. Burland, of Montreal, with regard to the factory which he proposed erecting in town. Mr. Burland informed him that the industry he proposed establishing in Peterborough was a paper mill, for the manufacture of all kinds of paper, which would employ about 100 hands. He also asked for particulars with regard to the inducements offered by the town.

He also intimated that he had prepared a memorial to the Governor-General, praying that the fines in Scott Act cases tried in town be paid to the town, which would come up for consideration.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Davidson, chairman of the Finance Committee, read the following report:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

Wm. Hamilton Mf'g. Co.	$ 6 00
Canadian Rubber Co.	7 00
Craig & Mooney	36 50

County of Peterborough, looks bridges	13 00
Review Printing Co.	57 45

With regard to the communications of Messrs. Kruse & Hilbser, your committee would recommend that the Council exempt them from taxation for a term of ten years, and give them a lease of one acre of ground for 21 years at one dollar a year, provided that they work for not less than eight months in each and every year, and employ not less than thirty hands; and will renew the lease upon same terms.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
R. S. DAVIDSON,
Chairman.

On motion the report was adopted.

MAYOR'S LETTER TO MR. BURLAND.

Mr. Davidson also read for the benefit of the Council, a letter which the Mayor proposed sending to Mr. J. H. Burland of Montreal, stating on behalf of the corporation that the town would be prepared to give a grant of exemption from taxation for ten years and also furnish water power; providing he established a mill of the capacity and dimensions stated in his correspondence, and also inviting Mr. Burlan to visit the town with a view of forming an opinion of its manufacturing facilities.

The letter was approved of by the Council and will be forwarded.

SCOTT ACT FINES MEMORIAL.

Mr. Moore introduced a memorial to His Excellency the Governor General, showing that the Scott Act was in force in the county of Peterborough, by reason of which the town lost an income of nearly $6000 license fees, also that the police force of the town was employed in serving the papers in the town and county, the town providing court rooms, etc., and praying that His Excellency would be pleased to order that the penalties imposed in the town of Peterborough and recovered for breaches of the said Act committed in the town and county of Peterborough be remitted and paid to the corporation of the said town.

On the second reading of the memorial, Mr. Cahill advised that the town ask for all fines imposed in the county as the County Council had done.

Mr. Moore amended the memorial to the satisfaction of Mr. Cahill by wording it so read—all penalties imposed and recovered in the town.

SCOTT ACT DEBATE.

Mr. Rutherford said he would like to see the policemen do their duty and not leave all the work to the temperance people, and he would support the memorial.

Mr. Kendry held that the temperance people supplied all the information and he thought they were entitled to half the fines.

Mayor Stevenson said that it was owing to the action of the County Council with regard to the matter, which necessitated the action proposed. The County Council met upon the Wardens for appointing an Inspector and dismissed those appointed. They then memorialized the Government to order that all the Scott Act fines disposed in the county and town too, be paid to the county. The Inspectors were in the habit of calling on the police to serve summonses east of town, while the constables were also required to do other work in enforcing the act and he thought the town should have the fines which its officers were the means of securing. He approved of the police doing their utmost to enforce the Act by visiting and inspecting places suspected and when they saw or heard of a violation of the Act bringing the parties up, but he did not approve of their standing around hotels to watch every person who went in or out.

Mr. Kendry said the county paid the Inspector's salary. He thought the matter of the police enforcing the Act should not have been brought up again, as it had been finally settled at a previous meeting of the Council.

Mr. McClelland informed Mr. Kendry that the county only paid one third of the Inspector's salary.

Mr. Cahill said as far as he was concerned he thought the policemen spent too much of their time in enforcing the Act, serving papers, etc. He asked the Chairman of the Health Committee if anything had been done with regard to the health of the town, which he believed was being neglected. He thought it should be attended to at once, even if the Scott Act was neglected.

The memorial was finally passed, signed, sealed and ordered to be transmitted.

NEW SIDEWALK.

Moved by Mr. Kendry seconded by Mr. McClelland,—That the Street Inspector be instructed to put down new planks on Dublin street, between Water and Harvey street, north side.—Carried.

WATER WANTED.

Moved by Mr Kelly, seconded by Mr. McNeil,—That the petition of Mr. A. P. Pousette and eleven others be referred to the Clerk to ascertain if the same is sufficiently signed under the provisions of the section of the by-law referred to, and if the same is sufficiently signed to notify the Peterborough Water Company to proceed with the extension of their mains forthwith.

Mr. Cahill objected to this motion being carried, holding that the petitioners were trying to be smart. He said they would pay for two months after the work had been completed and would then ask the town to pay for their privileges after that period.

Mr. Rutherford remarked that the town would not be compelled to pay for the petitioners privileges should they ask.

Mr. Kelly assured Mr. Cahill that if the petition was sufficiently signed the Council would have to grant the request.

The motion was then carried.

IN THE INTERESTS OF THE CHIEF.

Moved by Mr. McNaughton seconded by Mr. Davidson,—That this Council orders that Chief Constable Cooper be on duty from 9 a. m. to 11 p.m. each day except Sundays, and on Sundays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. That the Chief Constable also be instructed that it is a part of his duty to serve papers, execute warrants, etc., and further that the Chief be not permitted to engage in any other work or calling other than that belonging to his office, as long as he is in the employ of this corporation as Chief Constable, as required by the by-law of the town appointing such Chief, and that the corporate seal be attached to this resolution and that the Clerk furnish the Chief Constable with a copy of this resolution.

Mr. McNaughton explained that the object of the motion was not to express any hard feelings he had against the Chief, as he had none, but merely to compel him to do a proper share of the work of the force. The Chief, he thought, tried to follow too closely the example of the chiefs of the large city forces, who had scores of men at their command.

On the vote being taken the motion was declared lost.

Mr. McNaughton called for the yeas and nays, which were as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Davidson, McNaughton, Kendry and Hartley.

NAYS—Messrs. Cahill, Kelly, McClelland, McNeil, Yelland, Moore and Ratherford.

Mr. Menzies refused to vote, not understanding the motion.

NEW SIDEWALK WANTED.

Moved by Mr. Kelly, seconded by Mr. McNeil, that the petition of Mr. Fred. E. Ball to this Council, of May 3rd, be referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.—Carried.

Mr. Moore called attention to the dangerous condition of the sidewalk on the north side of McDonnell Street, and cited several instances of persons injuring themselves by tripping over the [illegible].

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Yelland, that the sidewalk to be placed on the north side of McDonnell street, from the Midland Railway to Park street, be extended to Tully's store, near Aylmer street, and that the blocks be built anew and not repaired, and that the clerk communicate with the Street Inspector.

Mr. McNaughton raised a point of order on expenditure of money with regard to the motion.

Mr. Cahill held that there were many other places where sidewalks were more urgently required than at this point.

Mr. Rutherford spoke in favor of the motion.

Mr. Moore called Mr. McNaughton's attention to the fact that if an action was brought against the town for damages, owing to the sidewalk not being repaired because of his point of order, he (Mr. McNaughton) would be personally responsible.

Mr. McNaughton replied, stating that when Mr. Moore wanted anything he wanted it. If a poor man had asked to have the sidewalk repaired he would not get it. He thought the sidewalk did not required more cash in other places, and it would involve unnecessary expenditure and therefore he raised a point of order.

Mr. Rutherford moved in amendment that the motion be referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.—Carried.

ASKING FOR A REMISSION OF TAXES.

Mr. Moore stated that that the Town Solicitor claimed that he was not liable to pay taxes on the rooms formerly occupied by him in the town buildings and should not be asked to pay as he had not made any agreement to that effect.

Mr. Davidson said it was understood that Mr. Edwards should pay taxes, in which statement the Clerk supported him, and the matter was allowed to drop.

CROSSING WANTED.

Moved by Mr. McNeil, seconded by Mr. Kelly,—That a crossing be laid down on Simcoe street from James Forster's butcher shop across the street to Mr. Grady's grocery store.—Carried.

SANITARY INSTRUCTIONS.

Moved by Mr. McNeil, seconded by Mr. McClelland,—That the Health Inspector at once rigidly enforce the provisions of the health by-law.—Carried.

MORE SIDEWALK.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Davidson,—That a sidewalk be built on Park street from King street to Bolivar street, and on Bolivar street as far as built upon. Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

DEBENTURES.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That the report of the commissioners as to issuing debentures be granted. Carried.

ANOTHER CROSSING.

Moved by Mr. Yelland, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That a crossing be laid on George street, between Murray and Brock streets. Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

The Mayor was authorized to issue posters prohibiting the setting off of firecrackers in the town.

The Council then adjourned for three weeks.

Police Court.

Jas. Fanning, of Belmont, Fined—T. Cavanagh Again Assessed.

MONDAY.

James Fanning, of Belmont, was charged by Inspector Darling with violating the Scott Act between the 1st of May and the 19th of June. The defendant did not appear, and the case was gone on with in his absence.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution.

Several farmers from the vicinity of Belmont testified that they had purchased whiskey at Fanning's on several occasions since the 1st of May.

The magistrate found the defendant guilty and imposed a penalty of $50 and costs. It was shown that Fanning had taken his departure, leaving no distress, and a warrant was issued for his commitment.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, charged by Inspector Cochrane with unlawfully keeping liquor for sale between the 17th and 24th of June, contrary to the Scott Act, the said offence being a third offence, the defendant having been previously convicted on a first and second offence.

Mr. W. A. Stratton, counsel for the defendant, explained that Mr. Cavanagh had been engaged during the time covered by the information in buying horses throughout the country. He gave strict injunctions that no liquor should be sold over his bar. He admitted that liquor had been sold contrary to his instructions and asked under the circumstances the leniency of the court. He would plead guilty to a first offence, and asked that the charge might be amended to read as a first offence.

The magistrate said Mr. Cavanagh allowed the sale of liquor to go on in his house after having received a first and second lesson showing that the Act would be enforced. He did not think there were any extenuating circumstances and would not consent to call it a first offence.

Mr. Stratton said that Mr. Cavanagh rather than admit a second or third offence would stand on his defence.

The magistrate said he was not going to allow Mr. Cavanagh to take his place and decide what the charge should be. He would leave the responsibility with the prosecution, which should decide what action should be taken.

Mr. Wood said he would assume the responsibility. He did not think the law provided for more than one second offence, while the law allowed for any number of first offences. He was acting under instructions from the Inspector, who wished to give Mr. Cavanagh another chance, he having expressed his determination to observe the law. Under the circumstances he would not prove that a previous offence had been committed.

The magistrate on admission by Mr. Stratton for Mr. Cavanagh, of a first offence, and the refusal of the prosecution to prove that previous conviction had taken place, found the defendant guilty of a first offence and imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Bill authorising the Dominion Parliament to give representation to the North-west Territories was read a third time in the Senate to-day.

The general elections take place in Prince Edward Island on June 30th. The contest promises to be a close one, though the government party an ally of the Ottawa oligarchy, has allowed three seats to go by default, while the oppositionists contest every seat.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau, Secretary of State, wishing to curry favour for the Premier and Dominion Government, with the Roman Catholics of Quebec and elsewhere, originated and circulated the absurd story that it was through Sir John that Archbishop Taschereau was made a cardinal. A high church dignitary contradicts the story. Sir John had nothing more to do with securing the appointment than any other Orangeman in Canada. The chieftain's popularity must be waning rapidly when a lie which can be caught in five minutes, is started to add to it.

In some of his Nova Scotia speeches, the Finance Minister, in referring to the public debt of the Dominion, dwelt on the fact that a portion of the C. P. R. loan was about to be repaid, and at the same time spoke of the net public debt as the total indebtedness of the Dominion. Thus he sought to make the auditors believe that the net debt was to be reduced by twenty million dollars, as an Ottawa despatch explains, when the C. P. R. debt was paid off. Now, if Mr. McLelan knows anything about the public finances, he knows that the net debt of the Dominion will not be reduced a single dollar by the repayment of the Pacific Company's loan, because that loan has always been treated as a good asset, and an offset to a portion of the gross public debt. In fact, the net debt will be largely increased by the operation with the Pacific Company, because while the whole debt of thirty millions due from the Company to the Government will disappear from the list of assets, there will be nothing to replace a large portion of it, unless Mr. McLelan proposes to treat North-west lands as cash. It is safe to predict that very little of the twenty millions to be repaid by the Pacific Company will go towards reducing the gross public debt. The whole sum will be wanted to pay off temporary loans and subsidies to local railways.

Winnipeg City Council has reduced the salary of the health officer to $600 per annum.

The Brant County Council has made a grant of $200 towards the Brant Memorial Fund.

Mr. J. R. Moff, of Manoonin, N.W.T., has 600 acres of wheat in fallowed land, and it is reported to be one of the most magnificent crops ever seen in the Territories.

The Stratford Police Magistrate has fined Daniel McMullen $20 and costs, the price of a portion of Donald Fraser's ear, which he bit off on the night of Inauguration Day.

Mr. Jonathan Beak, of Egmondville, a few days ago was attacked by bees while hiving. They seemed resolved to hive in his ears, in his whiskers, and in his hair. He is under medical treatment.

The St. John, N. B., Globe alleges that Billy Maloney, of bonâle notoriety, has not sailed for England, but is staying at the Inch Arran hotel at Dalhousie, and will go to England in August. He is not on "all" rates.

Telegraphic advices from all parts of Manitoba and the Northwest give favourable reports of the grain crops. More rain is needed in some districts, but no injury has yet been done. The hay crop and garden products are below the average. The harvest will be early.

The yearly meeting of the Society of Friends is in progress at Pickering. Friends are present from all parts of the Dominion, and many visitors of other denominations from all the surrounding country attend the public services. Saturday was devoted to the interests of foreign mission work in Mexico and elsewhere.

According to the Port Perry Standard, a councillor of an Ontario county municipality, who is very fond of euchre, recently won at play from a constituent all his loose change and the family pig. On going for the pig, however, he was so unceremonially received by the constituent's wife that he deemed it prudent to abandon the enterprise.

The Scott Act Association Executive, of Wellington County, have decided to employ a detective force to co-operate with the inspectors. An organizer is also to be secured and kept permanently in the field until the approaching elections are over. The Association are taking steps to raise the sum of $3,000 as an enforcement and election fund.

Two young lads, aged respectively ten and twelve years, sons of Mr. John M. Martin, of San Francisco, Cal., formerly of Seaforth, have just made the journey from Morris Township to San Francisco in safety. The elder of the two was ticketed, and they carried a letter of introduction to the railway conductors by the way. They met with every courtesy, and made the journey in six and a half days.

The Prescott Telegraph says that last week a party of Italians on their way to work on the new railroads at Smith's Falls, passed through Winchester, and while there one of them in the act of robbing a hen-roost was caught by the owner, who ordered him off the premises. The Italian, however, drew a knife, and brandished it in a menacing manner, and the owner fired his gun in self-defence and killed the invader.

On Saturday last, a pair of pants that had evidently been cast off by a tramp, were found in the barn of Mr. John Wiggington, on the Bayfield road in Huron County. In the pocket was a leather pocket-book, in which were a dozen or more clippings from five dollar bills. Most of the pieces had been clipped right across the bill, and had the full figure five on them. It is supposed that the balance of the bill was passed in the ordinary way, and that the clippings were intended to be pasted over the figure 1 on one dollar bills, thus making what is known as a raised bill.

LOVE'S VICTORY.

BY BERTHA M. CLAY.

"What are her deficiencies?" asked Miss Hastings.

Sir Oswald raised his white hands with a gesture of despair.

"I will tell you briefly. She has lived among artists. She does not seem to have ever known any of her own sex. She is—I am sorry to use the word—a perfect Bohemian. Whether she can be transformed into anything faintly resembling a lady, I cannot tell. Will you undertake the task, Miss Hastings?"

She looked very thoughtful for some minutes, and then answered:

"I will do my best, Sir Oswald."

"I thank you very much. You must permit me to name liberal terms, for your task will be no light one."

And the interview ended, to their mutual satisfaction.

CHAPTER II.

"DARRELL COURT IS A PRISON TO ME!"

It was a beautiful May day, bright with fresh spring loveliness. The leaves were springing fresh and green from the trees; the hedges were all abloom with pink hawthorn; the chestnut trees were all in flower; the gold of the laburnum, the purple of the lilac, the white of the fair acacia trees, and the delicate green of the stately elms and limes gave a beautiful variety of color. The grass was dotted with a hundred wild-flowers; great clusters of yellow buttercups looked in the distance like the unspreading of the sea of gold; the violets perfumed the air, bluebells stirred in the sweet spring breeze, and the birds sang out loudly and jubilantly.

If one spot looked more lovely than another on this bright May day, it was Darrell Court, for it stood where the sun shone brightest, in one of the most romantic and picturesque nooks of England—the part of Woodshire bordering on the sea.

The mansion and estates stood on gently rising ground; a chain of purple hills stretched away into the far distance; then came the pretty town of Audleigh Royal, the Audleigh Woods, and the broad, deep river Darte. The bank of the river formed the boundary of the Darrell estates, a rich and magnificent heritage, wherein every beauty of meadow and wood seemed to meet. The park was rich in its stately trees and herds of deer; and not far from the house was a fir-wood—an aromatic, odorous fir-wood, which led to the very shores of the smiling southern sea.

By night and by day the grand music of nature was heard in perfection at Darrell Court. Sometimes it was the roll of the wind across the hills, or the beat of angry waves on the shore, or the wild melody of the storm among the pine trees, or the full chorus of a thousand feathered songsters. The court itself was one of the most picturesque of mansions. It did not belong to any one order or style of architecture—there was nothing stiff or formal about it—but it looked in that bright May sunshine a noble edifice, with its square towers covered with clinging ivy, gray turrets, and large arched windows.

Did the sun ever shine upon such a combination of colors? The spray of the fountains glittered in the air, the numerous balconies were filled with flowers; wherever it was possible for a flower to take root, one had been placed to grow—purple wistarias, sad, solemn passion-flowers, roses of every hue. The star-like jessamine and scarlet creepers gave to the walls of the old mansion a vivid glow of color; gold and purple enriched the gardens, heavy white lilies breathed faintest perfume. The spot looked a very Eden.

The grand front entrance consisted of a large gothic porch, which was reached by a broad flight of steps, adorned with white marble vases filled with flowers; the first terrace was immediately below, and terrace led from terrace down to the grand old gardens, where sweetest blossoms grew.

There was an old-world air about the place—something patrician, quiet, reserved. It was no vulgar haunt for vulgar crowds; it was not a show place; and the master of it Sir Oswald Darrell, as he stood upon the terrace, looked in keeping with its surroundings.

There was a distingue air about Sir Oswald, an old-fashioned courtly dignity, which never for one moment left him. He was thoroughly well bred; he had not two sets of manners—one for the world, and one for private life; he was always the same, measured in speech, noble in his grave condescension. No man ever more thoroughly deserved the name of aristocrat; he was delicate and fastidious, with profound and deeply-rooted dislike for all that was ill-bred, vulgar, or mean.

Even in his dress Sir Oswald was remarkable; the superfine white linen, the diamond studs and sleeve links, the rare jewels that gleamed on his fingers—all struck the attention; and, as he took from his pocket a richly engraved golden snuff-box and tapped it with the ends of his delicate white fingers, there stood revealed a thorough aristocrat—the ideal of an English patrician gentleman.

Sir Oswald walked round the stately terraces and gardens.

"I do not see her," he said to himself; "yet most certainly Frampton told me she was here."

Then, with his gold-headed cane in hand, Sir Oswald descended to the gardens. He was evidently in search of some one. Meeting one of the gardeners, who stood, hat in hand, as he passed by, Sir Oswald asked:

"Have you seen Miss Darrell in the gardens?"

"I saw Miss Darrell in the fernery some five minutes since, Sir Oswald," was the reply.

Sir Oswald drew from his pocket a very fine white handkerchief and diffused an agreeable odor of millefleurs around him; the gardener had been near the stables, and Sir Oswald was fastidious.

A short walk brought him to the fernery, an exquisite combination of rock and rustic work, arched by a dainty green roof, and made musical by the ripple of a little waterfall. Sir Oswald looked in cautiously, evidently rather in dread of what he might find there; then his eyes fell upon something, and he said:

"Pauline, are you there?"

A rich, clear, musical voice answered:

"Yes, I am here, uncle."

"My dear," continued Sir Oswald, half timidly, not advancing a step farther into the grotto, "may I ask what you are doing?"

"Certainly, uncle," was the cheerful reply; "you may ask by all means. The difficulty is to answer; for I am really doing nothing, and I do not know how to describe 'nothing.'"

"Why did you come hither?" he asked.

"To dream," replied the musical voice. "I think the sound of falling water is the sweetest music in the world. I came here to enjoy it, and to dream over it."

Sir Oswald looked very uncomfortable.

"Considering, Pauline, how much you have been neglected, do you not think you might spend your time more profitably—in educating yourself, for example?"

"This is educating myself. I am teaching myself beautiful thoughts, and nature just now is my singing mistress." And then the speaker's voice suddenly changed, and a ring of passion came into it. "Who says that I have been neglected? When you say that, you speak ill of my dear dead father, and no one shall do that in my presence. You speak slander, and slander ill becomes an English gentleman. If I was neglected when my father was alive, I wish to goodness such neglect were my portion now!"

Sir Oswald shrugged his shoulders.

"Each one to his or her taste, Pauline. With very little more of such neglect you would have been a——"

He paused; perhaps some instinct of prudence warned him.

"A what?" she demanded, scornfully. "Pray finish the sentence, Sir Oswald."

"My dear, you are too impulsive, too hasty. You want more quietness of manner, more dignity."

Her voice deepened in its tones as she asked:

"I should have been a what, Sir Oswald? I never begin a sentence and leave it half finished. You surely are not afraid to finish it?"

"No, my dear," was the calm reply; "there never yet was a Darrell afraid of anything on earth. If you particularly wish me to do so, I will finish what I was about to say. You would have been a confirmed Bohemian, and nothing could have made you a lady."

"I love what you call Bohemians, and I detest what you call ladies, Sir Oswald," was the angry retort.

"Most probably; but then, you see, Pauline, the ladies of the house of Darrell have always been ladies—high-bred, elegant women. I doubt if any of them ever knew what the word 'Bohemian' meant."

She laughed a little scornful laugh, which yet was sweet and clear as the sound of silver bells.

"I had almost forgotten," said Sir Oswald. "I came to speak to you about something, Pauline; will you come into the house with me?"

They walked on together in silence for some minutes, and then Sir Oswald began:

"I went to London, as you know, last week, Pauline, and my errand was on your behalf."

She raised her eyebrows, but did not deign to ask any questions.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's Sabbath School pic-nic will be held on the 15th July, at Millbrook.

No. 4 Company.

Company No. 4 of the City Battalion will meet at the drill shed this evening, at 7.30 sharp, for drill.

Strawberry Festival.

A garden party and festival will be held in the grounds of H. T. Strickland, Esq., Ashburnham, on Wednesday, June the 30th. The proceeds are for St. Luke's Church and the entertainment is held under the auspices of the ladies of the congregation. Admission 10 cents.

Signal Corps.

Sergeant W. A. Dixon, Commandant of the Signal Corps, yesterday received a number of drill manuals from J. H. Martin, of Montreal, for distribution amongst the members of the corps. The corps expect to go out for practice some of these fine days.

No 5 Company, Eyes Front! Time!

Lieut. Brennan will meet the men of No. 5 Company, City Battalion, at their armory at the drill shed, this evening, at 8 o'clock sharp, and issue uniforms to those wishing to join the company. There will be company drill at 7.30, Wednesday evening and clothing will also be issued on that evening by officers of the company.

That Town Clock Again.

The town clock is again at its old tricks. It is five minutes behind railway time. It is all well enough to be hospitable, but it is hardly fair to keep persons in town, by causing them to lose the train through the eccentricities of the corporation time-piece, which resembles the Dominion Senate, in not being susceptible of repair, without a radical change in constitution.

Pic-nic Week.

Next week promises to be one of Sunday School pic-nics and excursions. On Monday the Mark street Methodist Church school will pic-nic at Lakefield. On Tuesday St. Luke's pic-nic will be held at the same place, and on the same day St. Paul's will take place to Hastings, while on Thursday the George Street Methodist Church Sunday School will pic-nic at Hutton's Grove, near Lindsay.

St. Paul's Sunday School Excursion.

The annual excursion in connection with St. Paul's Church Sunday School will take place on Tuesday, July 6th, to Hastings. The school pupils look forward to a pleasant day's outing, and which they generally know how to enjoy. As this will be a last opportunity of meeting with Mr. Torrance previous to his trip to Europe, it is expected there will be a large turnout. A special train will leave the Midland at 9 a. m.

A Plume in Bolton's Cap.

Mr. Geo. Bolton shipped this morning to Rev. Father A. Chaine, Arnprior, whose residence is said to be one of the finest in the Ottawa Valley, a complete equipment of boiler, coils, etc., etc., for heating his residence by the Bolton hot water system. Rev. Father Chaine has personally looked over the principal cities of this continent and Europe for the best system of house-heating, and the fact that he came to Peterborough and selected Bolton's, as the best, is the highest praise he could bestow upon its excellence and adaptability. Mr. Bolton will personally put in the heating apparatus above referred to.

An Attractive Lakefield Entertainment.

The ladies of the congregation of St. John's Church, Lakefield, intend giving a social at the residence of R. C. Strickland, Esq.,—on the "Homestead" grounds—on Tuesday evening, July 6th. There will be an open-air concert and seasonable refreshments; a band will also be in attendance. Proceeds in aid of the parsonage building funds. As the Midland train leaves Peterborough at a convenient time for parties in Peterborough to reach Lakefield, it has been arranged that the train return to Peterborough at 10 o'clock, p.m. In connection with the above entertainment, a lawn tennis tournament will be held during the afternoon in the above grounds.

Come and See.

Just received at Hall, Lennox & Co.'s, Two Thousand Stiffened Bosoms, Linen Fronts, Linen Cuffs, to be slaughtered, at 25 cents a pair. Great bargains.

A Lingering Death.

The baseball club has disbanded—died a lingering death—owing to a want of moral and financial support. Friends and acquaintances will please accept this notice, etc.

Cheap Lots.

Yesterday the Wisher lot at the corner of Park and Perry streets was put up and sold in lots. Walter Strain bought the north east corner lot at $115 and John Trumbly bought the north west corner lot at $100. These are considered great bargains. The sale was stopped and adjourned until 7 p.m. on Monday night next. The hour was fixed to give working men a chance.

Beautiful Day or Idyl Wild.

Free gift, $20 gold piece, free gift, $10 gold piece, free gift, $5 cake basket, free gift, $5 cruet stand, all for fifty cents. The steamer "Golden Eye" leaves the wharf at 7 a.m. Every passenger has one chance. Don't fail to go and try your luck. Quadrille band on board. Meals at Idyl Wild 25 cents. $50 rowing prize, $50 paddling prize, $5 sailing prize. Boats sent free, if shipped on Wednesday and entered for the races. d150-2t

First Drill.

About thirty members of No. 2 Company assembled in the drill shed yesterday evening and were drilled by Capt. Langford and Lieut. Lee. About half as many men of No. 1 Company were present, and were put through their movements by Capt. Edwards and Sergeant Dixon. Owing to Capt. Edwards' absence from town, arguing the Scott Act appeals in Toronto, his company did not receive proper notice of the meet. The drill was a very satisfactory one.

Tennis Meet.

A lively tennis meet was held in the P. A. A. A. grounds yesterday evening. The whole grounds was converted into a tennis field, five courts having been marked out. A large number of ladies were present and participated in the sport. Tables were erected and a pic-nic tea partaken of ice cream, and other refreshments being served, the gentlemen acting as waiters. Play was continued till about 8.30 in the evening and a merry time was spent.

Peterborough Scott Act Appeals.

To-day's Mail contains the following:—"The presiding judge at Osgoode Hall on the common law side has been kept busy lately hearing motions to quash convictions under the Scott Act. Two cases argued together, yesterday, of Queen v. Daly and Queen v. Halpin, are of exceptional interest. The convictions were made in Peterborough, and are moved against on two grounds: (1) that the defendants are not bound on a prosecution under the Act to give evidence to criminate themselves to say whether they are guilty or not guilty, and (2) that the Act is not in force in the County of Peterborough for reason that the order in-Council was passed within sixty days from the adoption of the Act, the contention being that the sixty days counts from the return of the officer after the scrutiny of votes by the judge, and not from the first return. These questions were argued at length before Mr. Justice Galt yesterday, and judgment was reserved. Messrs. Robinson, Q.C., G. T. Blackstock, Moore, (Peterborough) and O'Meara (Peterborough) appeared for the defendants, and Mr. E. B. Edwards, of Peterborough, for the magistrates."

Personal.

Mrs. C. H. Sheffield and family left town to-day en route to England. Mr. Sheffield accompanied them to Quebec.

Mr. R. H. Henderson, of the C. P. R. freight department, is off for his three weeks holidays in western Ontario and the upper lakes district.

Mr. J. McNamara, is in Montreal attending the Canadian Wheelman's Association, representing the town club. He will not take part in any of the contests.

Mr. Horace W. Buck and Mr. A. V. R. Young will leave town to-morrow on a week's holidays to the Capital. They will take in the Ottawa celebration and military review on the 1st.

Among the names in the list of graduates of the Royal Military College, Kingston, appear the names of Messrs. Harold A Morrow, H. S. Rogers, town; and D'Arcy Strickland, Lakefield.

Mr. A. H. White, formerly secretary of the Auburn Woollen Mills Company, now representative of the Schleight & Field Company, Labor Saving office devices, is in town.

Rev. Dr. Burns of Hamilton, lectured on the subject of "The Right of Ireland to Self-government" in Toronto last night, and Rev. Father Conway and Messrs. J. W. Fitzgerald and T. Dolan, who were in the city, formed part of the large and enthusiastic audience who listened to the address.

Mr. R. L. Smart, of Peterborough, has opened a large agency at Harriston, Ont., for the sale of pleasure and family buggies, and with the object of losing no time he left last evening by the C. P. R. for Harriston, taking with him a valuable horse and rig suitable for the delivery of organs, &c., in rural places. Bob is a good salesman, and no doubt he will do a large business.

Four Years in the Mercer.

This morning, after the regular business of the police court, a young girl, only fourteen years of age, was charged at the instance of her parents, with nightwalking. She was sentenced to four years in the Mercer Reformatory. She was beyond parental control, and was a hardened little offender for her years, but she broke down completely when the moment of separation came and she was removed to jail.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines.—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN.—Being over 70 years of age and over 20 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two expensive trusses made in New York, costing me $16. Nothing would retain my Hernia. [illegible] have worn it now over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even in bed the rupture has never come down, it holding me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Full Truss has taken five years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest sports. It will cure every child here; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address

Scott Act Appeals.

Defendants in Liquor Cases Not Required to Criminate Themselves.

In the Scott Act appeal cases, Queen vs. Daly and Queen vs. Halpin, Judge Galt gave judgment to-day, confirming the appeals. He holds that a defendant is not required to give evidence that would tend to criminate himself. Mr. W. H. Moore, counsel for the appellants, received the following telegram at one o'clock:—

"Both convictions quashed on the ground that defendants were compelled to answer. My hearty congratulations."

LATER.

The Secretary of the Scott Act Association, Mr. J. W. Flavelle, has received a telegram from Mr. E. B. Edwards, who is in Toronto, stating that decision has been given that the Scott Act is in force here, but that the convictions as stated above have been set aside.

Fleet Footed Coursers.

"Maggie Rosch" Again Wins, Beating "Greybird" in Two Heats.

The matched running race between Mr. Alex. Elliott's "Maggie Rosch" and Mr. J. E. McIntyre's "Greybird" for $100 a side—best two in three heats—came off on the Driving Park track, yesterday afternoon and resulted in another win for "Maggie Rosch" by two straight heats. The race was fixed for three o'clock, by which time about three hundred persons had assembled on the grounds. Shortly after that hour the judges, Messrs. A McDonald, of Lindsay, W. Croft and W. McGregor took their places in the stand and called out the horses. They came on the track, which was in fine condition, "Greybird" mounted by Wm. Grierson, of town and "Maggie Rosch" by W. Simpson, of Hastings, both boys about 14 years of age, who, considering their size, managed the impatient animals well. "Maggie Rosch" won the pole taking the inside track. On the first score the animals passed under the wire without any apparent advantage. "Maggie Rosch" soon forged ahead, and though several times hard pressed by the grey, kept the lead to the finish, passing under the wire about a length ahead, in 1.56½. The second heat was a repetition of the first, the bay mare getting a better lead and winning by about three lengths, in 1.56½. The decision of the judges in favor of "Maggie Rosch" was accepted and the race was over. Betting was slightly in favor of "Maggie Rosch" and a considerable amount of money is said to have changed hands.

"Riverside" Lacrosse Club.

Organized Last Night at the Riverside Park.

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of lacrosse lads was held at the Riverside Park last night, to organize a club to be called the "Riverside Lacrosse Club." After a practice, in which about twenty players participated, the organization meeting was called to order by Mr. H. Neil. All the players present were signed as members and the following officers were elected:

W. A. Sanderson.....Honory President.
H. Calcutt.....President
John Hackett.....Vice-President
H. Neil.....Secretary-Treasurer.
W. Walsh.....Captain.

Committee.—Messrs. R. Bagley, W. McAvelia and C. Greenshields.

A meeting will be held on Monday evening to provide a financial basis to play upon. The Riverside Park of course, will be their play grounds. It is the intention of the members to practice every evening during the week and when they have become satisfactorily proficient in the use of the stick, to arrange matches with foreign clubs.

Congregation de Notre Dame.

Closing Exercises of the Convent School—Distribution of Testimonials—And Medals for Musical Proficiency.

The closing exercises in connection with the school of the Congregation de Notre Dame took place this morning and afternoon. These exercises were, owing to the recent death of His Lordship, Bishop Jamot, and out of respect for his memory, conducted on a much more quiet and subdued plan than in former years. The delightful gatherings gaily dressed, and jubilant pupils and interested spectators, that were wont to gather in the hall of the convent, were represented by the presence of the still sorrowful children alone, and these all clad in black. The ceremonies simply consisted of the presentation of testimonials in the form of cards, with mourning borders. One side showed that it was a "testimonial of (general or complete, as the case might be,) satisfaction for punctuality and application during the scholastic year, closing June 30th 1886, accorded to ——— ——— with the kind wishes of the Superior, Sister St. Mary of the I. C." The opposite side of the card contains a touching tribute to the late lamented Bishop. These testimonials were presented to the pupils of the Lake Street School yesterday.

This afternoon the musical recital took place at three o'clock at which the following

Then followed the presentation of the prizes, two gold and two silver medals, for proficiency in music, by Rev. Father Conway.

Then a brief and pathetic address by Miss M. Garvey.

Followed by a Finale—Piano Concertant—Misses B. Loch and C. de Laplante.

The manner in which the beautiful music was rendered, fully sustained if it did no better the reputation of this school, for its superior ability in imparting musical instruction.

Owing to the reasons before mentioned, the recital was strictly private, in contrast to other years, not a single invitation having been issued to attend and listen to the delightful music presented by the well trained pupils.

The graduating ladies, Misses B. Loch and C. de Laplante, have devoted a great deal of attention to the study of the great classical masters, Beethoven, Schubert, Mozart, Mendelssohn and Chopin.

In the name of the Rev. Mother Superior, the thanks of the sisters of the Congregation de Notre Dame are gratefully tendered to the gentlemen who have so liberally contributed medals, thus practically assisting in the development of a love for the pursuit of the study of music.

The recipients of the gold medals, presented by Messrs. J. R. Stratton and H. Le-Brun, were Miss Bertha Loch and Miss C. de Laplante, while the silver medals, presented by Mr. R. W. Muncaster and the Rev. Mother Superior, were won by Miss Mary Stratton and Miss E. Cook.

The gold medals are high art specimens of goldsmith's work. They are of solid gold, about an inch and a half in diameter. The face bears the inscription, "For Proficiency in Music—Peterborough, 1886," and the obverse is encrusted with jewels—a forget-me-not flower delineated in pearls and rubies. The clasps bear the letters "Cong. de Notre Dame." The two silver medals consist of a beautiful lyre encircled by a laurel wreath. The medals may be worn by the recipients with pride, both on account of their intrinsic beauty and also on account of the recognition and possession of musical merit they represent.

Young's Point.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Dominion Day is likely to pass off quietly here, in fact the village will almost be deserted in the afternoon. The baseball club is going to play a game with the Pine Grove club (North Douro) on the ground of the latter. The following will represent the home club:—T. N. Lee, J. A. Johnston, J. Belleham, R. Heard, F. J. Young, W. Young, W. Scollard, D. Godfrey and J. Kearney.

The Late Bishop Jamot.

The Bracebridge Gazette says:—"On Tuesday last, requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Joseph's Church, for the repose of the soul of the late Bishop Jamot. The late Father Brotherton officiated, assisted by Rev. Father Campbell, of Orillia, and Father Davis, of Brooklin. At the conclusion of the chanting of this solemn service, the Rev. Father Campbell spoke feelingly of the great loss which the people of the Peterborough diocese and the church generally had sustained in the death of their Bishop. He had known the late Bishop for upward of a third of a century, and could testify to the unswerving fidelity, earnestness, zeal and integrity which he had ever evinced in discharging his duties as prelate of the church. The hard work which the late Bishop had been called upon to perform, when first appointed to this diocese, was pointed out, and the faithful manner in which the work was accomplished was warmly commended. Father Campbell said that the late Bishop had left many material evidences of the great good which he had accomplished, but that he had left a far more enduring monument by reason of the great spiritual work which he had wrought, and which was manifested in the hearts and lives of the people. In conclusion the Rev. Father exhorted his hearers to follow closely the great example of faithfulness set them by the late Bishop."

A Visit to the Barnardo Home.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

It has been my pleasure and privilege to visit this most delightful and interesting home with its beautiful surroundings and airy location. And while being shown from parlour to dormitory, and from kitchen to wardrobe, my heart was sensibly moved in gratitude to God that his love and grace have so touched the sympathies and activity of Dr. Barnardo and his staff of co-workers, that the wing of protection training and care has been spread over so many of the orphaned and homeless, thus casting sunshine into their lives, hope into their hearts and the prospect of a bright future of happiness and usefulness. May God richly bless and reward these philanthropic Christians, and touch the hearts and pockets of those who have and to spare, that this cheering home may be abundantly provided for and amply sustained.

Mr. Wm. Pendergast, of Cornwall, bargained with a farmer for twelve bushels of oats at thirty cents per bushel. The farmer drew them to the barn, left eight bushels, entered the house and collected pay for twelve bushels from Mrs. Pendergast. Subsequent efforts of Mr. Pendergast to obtain an interview with the farmer have failed.

This privilege was granted, but as soon as he found himself on his own domain he shouted defiance, hoisted sail, and left the harbour.

HON. E. BLAKE'S POLICY.

Tory light weight wits are accustomed to making poor jokes over Hon. Mr. Blake's want of a policy, yet any reader of his address at Owen Sound cannot but admit that he has a powerful policy, even though it is not reduced to catalogue form. In reply to the accusation that he had no policy, Hon. Mr. Blake said:—

"The Tory party feels that the issues present and pressing upon us, issues which arise very largely out of the contrast between their pledges and promises and their practises and their performances, are very dangerous issues for them. They would like to blink those issues. They would like to lead us away and then ask us to come away to something else and something different. They declare that the Reform party has no policy. The Reform party, for the last six years during which I have had the honor to lead it, has had an alternative policy with reference to almost every important and disputable proposition brought forward by the Tories. With reference to the Canadian Pacific Railway, to the system of settlement and administration of the affairs of the great Northwest; to the independence of Parliament; to the relations between the Dominion and the Provinces; to the fishery and reciprocity negotiations; to the scale of expenditure; to the increase of our load of debt; to the tariff system; with reference to the plan of our taxation; to the license legislation; to the encroachments on Provincial rights and to many other questions with which the Tories have dealt in the last six years, we have shown from year to year, from session to session, not oly good grounds why their propositions should not receive your assent, but also that there was a better and more excellent way to which we pointed, but in which they refuse to follow us.

Now, when the period arrives at which we are once again to appeal to the people, they would be very glad if the Reform party, or any portion of that party, were to put to one side as minor matters, as unconsidered trifles, as things not now to be seriously discussed, their own failures and the respective policies of the two parties on these questions, and the melancholy contrast between their promises, professions and pledges, and their practice and performance in these matters; their lamentable failures, and their gross betrayals of duty, and were to say: 'There is nothing to fight about in respect of these things.' They would be delighted if the people of the country at large would agree with that view, would treat these all as 'dead issues,' as they call them; would give them a discharge in full in respect of these sins of omission and commission, and would agree that the Tories were entitled to receive a renewal of the confidence of the people of the country, unless the Reform party could produce some other and some fresh reasons why they should be deprived of that confidence. But this will not do; they are to be tried on these questions, and on these questions they are to be condemned. But the Reform party, besides discharging the plain and obvious duty of pointing out what was wrong in the Tory policy, and of presenting an alternative policy on these subjects, has also indicated certain important changes, improvements and reforms, which it believes to be practicable, in the public interest, and ripe for execution."

Mr. Blake continued, declaring for an elective Senate; the right to amend our constitution; the right to make our own commercial treaties; the right to place Provincial rights beyond cavil and beyond disturbance; the right to deal with the subjects of extradition and copyright; civil service reform; complete curtailment of superannuation abuses; a fair franchise measure and an equitable distribution of representation by constituencies. If these points do not constitute a policy that will commend itself to the good sense of the electors, as more in keeping with the needs of the country than the policy of corruption and plunder that animates the Government party, then the electors deserve to suffer the punishment which a blind devotion to party prejudices will be sure to bring.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Liberals of Lennox have selected the present member, Mr. D. W. Allison, as their candidate for the Dominion elections.

The present Finance Minister, was during the first year of Hon. Mr. Mackenzie's Administration, a railway commissioner, at a salary of $3,000 per year. He then apparently knew how to feather his nest. He bought up at a heavy discount the time bills of International railway laborers. Before Sir John was retired from power, a grant to pay laborers was made by parliament, and Sir John inquired why the money had not been handed over. Mr. Mackenzie answered that the account of the laborers had been bought up at a heavy discount by one of the railway commissioners had been paid for, and he considered the action of the government official as highly improper, and refused to make payment on these claims. Sir John rejoined that the action of the railway commissioner was "highly discreditable" and that Mr. Mackenzie did only what was proper. Yet several years later Sir John made this railway commissioner, Minister of finance. It is almost needless to state that this railway commissioner only filled that office one year under Hon Mr. Mackenzie's honest administration. His ability to make the most of the good things of office, caused to commend him to Sir John as a desirable member of the cabinet.

LOVE'S VICTORY.

BY BERTHA M CLAY

"I have engaged a lady to live with us here at Darrell Court, whose duties will be to finish your education, or, rather, I may truthfully say, to begin it, to train you in the habits of refined society, to—to—make you presentable, in fact, Pauline, which I am sorry, really sorry to say, you are not at present."

She made him a low bow—a bow full of defiance and rebellion.

"I am indeed indebted to you, Sir Oswald."

"No trifling," said the stately baronet, "no sarcasm, Pauline, but listen to me! You are not without sense or reason—pray attend. Look around you," he continued; "remember that the broad fair lands of Darrell Court form one of the grandest domains in England. It is an inheritance almost royal in extent and magnificence. Whose reigns here is king or queen of half a county, is looked up to, respected, honored, admired, and imitated. The owner of Darrell Court is a power even in this powerful land of ours; men and women look up to such as one for guidance and example. Judge then what the owner of the inheritance should be."

The baronet's grand old face was flushed with emotion.

"He must be pure, or he would make immorality the fashion; honorable, because men will take their notions of honor from him; just, that justice may abound; upright, stainless. You see all that, Pauline?"

"Yes," she assented, quickly.

"No men have so much to answer for," continued Sir Oswald, "as the great ones of the land—men in whose hands power is vested—men to whom others look for example, on whose lives other lives are modeled—men who, as it were, order the minds, if not the souls, of their fellow-men in the hollows of their hands."

Pauline looked more impressed, and insensibly drew nearer to him.

"Such men, thank Heaven," he said, standing bareheaded as he uttered the words, "have the Darrells been—loyal, upright, honest, honorable of stainless repute, of stainless name, proud to rank their fellow men—proud to have sprung from a grand old race. And Pauline, I expect from you—women whose names may head the annals of the land—who have been as shining lights of purity, the refinement, the grandeur of their lives."

He spoke with a passion of eloquence not lost on the girl by his side.

"I," he continued, humbly, "am one of the least worthy of my race. I have done nothing for its advancement, but at the same time I have done nothing to disgrace it. I have carried on the honors passively. The time is coming when Darrell Court must pass into other hands. Now, Pauline, you have heard, you know what the ruler of Darrell Court should be. Tell me, are you fitted to take your place here?"

"I am very young," she murmured.

"It is not a question of youth. Dame Sibella Darrell reigned here when she was only eighteen; and the sons she trained to succeed her were among the greatest statesmen England has ever known. She improved and enlarged the property; she died, after living here sixty years, beloved, honored, and revered. It is not a question of age."

"I am a Darrell!" said the girl, proudly.

"Yes, you have the face and figure of a Darrell; you bear the name, too; but you have not the grace and manner of a Darrell."

"Those are mere outward matters of polish and veneer," she said, impatiently.

"Nay, not so. You would not think it right to see an unformed, untrained, uneducated, ignorant girl at the head of such a house as this. What did you do yesterday? A maid displeased you. You boxed her ears. Just imagine it. Such a proceeding on the part of the mistress of Darrell Court would fill one with horror."

A slight smile rippled over the full crimson lips.

"Queen Elizabeth boxed her courtiers' ears," said the girl, "and it seemed right to her."

"A queen, Pauline, is hedged in by her own royalty; she may do what she will. The very fact that you are capable of defending an action so violent, so unlady-like, so opposed to all one's ideas of feminine delicacy, proves that you are unfit for the position you ought to occupy."

"I am honest, at least. I make no pretensions to be what I am not."

"So is my butler honest, but that does not fit him to be master of Darrell Court. Honesty is but one quality—a good one, sturdy and strong; it requires not one, but many qualities to hold such a position as I would wish have you occupy."

Miss Darrell's patience was evidently at an end.

"And the upshot of all this, Sir Oswald, is——"

"Exactly so—that I am anxious to give you every chance in my power—that I have found an estimable, refined, elegant woman, who will devote her time and talents to train and fit you for society."

A low, musical laugh broke from the perfect lips.

"Have you any idea?" she asked. "what I shall be like when I am trained?"

"Like a lady, I trust—a well-bred lady. I can imagine nothing more beautiful than that."

"When is she coming, this model of yours, Sir Oswald?"

"Nay, your model, niece, not mine. She is here now, and I wish to introduce her to you. I should like you, if possible," he concluded, meekly, "to make a favorable impression on her."

There was another impatient murmur.

"I wish you to understand, Pauline," he resumed after a short pause, "that I shall expect you to render the most implicit obedience to Miss Hastings—to follow whatever rules she may lay down for you, to attend to your studies as she directs them, to pay the greatest heed to all her corrections, to copy her style, to imitate her manners, to——"

"I hate her!" was the impetuous outburst. "I would sooner be a beggar all my life than submit to such——"

"Very well," muttered Sir Oswald, calmly. "I know that arguing with you is time lost. The choice lies with yourself. If you decide to do as I wish—to study to become a lady in the truest sense of the word—you will qualify yourself for the position, you will become the mistress of Darrell Court; if not—if you persist in your present unladylike, uncultured, unwomanly character, I will leave the whole property to whom I please. I tell you the plain truth without any disguise."

"I do not want Darrell Court!" she cried, passionately; "it is a prison to me!"

"I excuse you," rejoined Sir Oswald, coldly; "you are excited, and so I make allowance for what you say."

"Uncle," said the girl, "do you ever hear beautiful singing bird there, giving voice to such glorious melody? Do you think you could catch it and put it in a cage?"

"I have no doubt that I could," replied Sir Oswald.

"But, if you did," she persisted; "even suppose you could make it forget its own wild melodies, could you teach it to sing forgetly by note and at your will?"

"I never have supported anything of the kind," said Sir Oswald. "You are possessed of far too much of that kind of nonsense. The young ladies of the present day, properly educated girls, do not talk in that way."

"I can easily believe it," she returned, bitterly.

"Miss Hastings is in the library," said Sir Oswald, as they entered the house. "I hope to hear you receive her kindly. Put away that frown, Pauline, and smile if you can. Remember, it is characteristic of the Darrells to be gracious to strangers."

With these words Sir Oswald opened the library door, and holding his niece's hand, entered the room. Miss Hastings rose to receive them. He led Pauline to her, and in the kindest manner possible introduced them to each other.

"I will leave you together," he said. "Pauline will show you your rooms, Miss Hastings; and I hope that you will soon feel happy, and quite at home with us."

Sir Oswald quitted the library, leaving the two ladies looking in silence at each other.

CHAPTER III.

"YOUR GOOD SOCIETY IS ALL DECEIT."

Miss Hastings had been prepared to see a holden, an awkward, unfledged schoolgirl, one who never having seen much of good society, had none of the little graces and charms that distinguish young ladies. She had expected to see a tall, gaunt girl, with red hands, and a general air of not knowing what to do with herself—that was the idea she had formed. She gazed in wonder at the reality—a magnificent figure—a girl whose grand, pale, statuesque beauty was something that could never be forgotten. There was nothing of the boarding-school young lady about her; no acquired graces. She was simply magnificent—no other word could describe her. Miss Hastings, as she looked at her, thought involuntarily of the graceful lines, the beautiful curves, the grand, free grace of the world-renowned Diana of the Louvre; there was the same arched, graceful neck, the same royal symmetry, the same harmony of outline.

In one of the most celebrated art galleries of Rome Miss Hastings remembered to have

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Then Tell It

To the victim of pains and aches no tidings can give greater pleasure than the means of relief. Polson's Nerviline exactly fills the bill. Nerviline cures rheumatism. Nerviline cures cramps, Nerviline cures headache. Nerviline is sure in lumbago. Nerviline, the great cure for internal or external pains. Trial bottles costing only 10 cents may be had at any drug store. Buy one and test it. Large bottles of Nerviline only 25 cents, at all druggists. Nerviline, nerve pain cure. d147-6t-w25

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other dealers and millers, a good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retailed at $2.50 per hundred.

The regatta which was to have taken place at the Little Lake this evening, under the auspices of the Peterborough Rowing Club, has been postponed, owing to the fact that several of the oarsmen and many others who wish to attend have business and engagements this evening, as the stores will be open till late in the evening to allow the public to make purchases for to-morrow. In addition to the four-oared and double-scull races announced, there will also be a single-scull contest.

The Fire Brigade Band appear in their new uniforms to-morrow. Mr. Duncan Cameron, who had the contract, has completed the suits, which will receive their wetting at the firemen's demonstration. Forage caps are expected to arrive to-night.

Billiard Bout.

As previously arranged Messrs. R. Smith and W. Pengelly played a 100 point billiard match at the Oriental billiard rooms, yesterday evening, which was won by Smith by about 40 points. Pengelly played three discounts. At the start Pengelly led and in one run made 57 points. Smith, however, picked up and after running 22 captured the game. It is probable that another game between the same billiardists, will be played on Tuesday evening next.

The Pink and White Social Success.

The social which took place in the school and grounds room of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, was a complete and gratifying success, in fact it was generally conceded to be not only one of the best of the season, but one of the best ever presented in connection with the Charlotte Street church. The school room was profusely and beautifully decorated with flowers, pictures, hand-painted plush panels and fine art decorations of all kinds, the colors, pink and white predominating throughout, as well as in the costumes of the lady waiteresses. The grounds were studded with seats and tables and overhung with a profusion of vari-colored Chinese lanterns. Abundance of strawberries and (real country) cream, as well as iced drinks were provided and in brisk demand by the exceedingly large number present. The presence of the Fire Brigade band with its liberal contribution of choice music, completed the charm that made the "pink and white" social a "thing of beauty and a joy for" about two and a half happy hours. The financial outcome was also very satisfactory.

POINTS QUICK.

The hearing of the charge against John and James Cullen and James McPhee for, violation of the Scott Act, adjourned from last night, got back on the docket this week, Mr. Edwards, counsel for the prosecution, being absent in Toronto.

Samuel Wainright, charged by James Payton, with assaulting him on Sunday last was arraigned before the court. He admitted that he struck Payton, and explained to the court that Payton had charged him with taking money from him while in bathing on Sunday, which imputation he could not stand.

James Payton sworn said that on Sunday evening last, he in company with Wainright and several other boys went in bathing. Before he went in he had two one dollar bills in his pocket and when he came out they were gone. As young Bert Wainright could be where nearly all the time, he thought he could have taken it, and expressed his thoughts to all the boys. He said Bert might have taken it and given it to Sam. Sam said he would have to swallow the statement or he would thrash him. He repeated the statement and Sam. Wainright, defendant, struck and kicked him.

Albert Crowter gave evidence in support of that of Payton.

Wainright when asked if he had any question, said that Payton might have kept his mouth shut and not kept muttering about the money all the time. He could not stand hearing Payton say that he took the money.

The magistrate said that Wainright might have had provocation, but he should not have taken the law in his own hands. It was quite natural for Payton to charge the little boy with taking the money, as he was the only one left on the shore, and it had been shown that Payton had the money before he went in bathing and it was gone when he came out. They were all boys and Wainright might have made some allowance, and was certainly not justified in assaulting Payton. He found him guilty of the charge and imposed a fine of $2 and costs.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 26th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, without finding any case as bad as mine, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two instruments made in New York, against me $60. Nothing would retain my Hernea. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child here; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address.

FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1886.

DOMINION DAY DOINGS.

Devoted to Amusement and Pleasure.

The Firemen's Successful Demonstration.

St. Peter's Prosperous Picnic.

Excursions to Sturgeon Point and Idyl Wild.

Dominion Day dawned bright and beautiful and continued so from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof—and a long while after. The day was devoted entirely to amusement and pleasure of such variety that every person enjoyed themselves after their own heart. Early in the morning, picnickers and excursionists busied themselves in preparing for their festivities, and from seven till ten in the morning merry parties, dressed in picnic paraphernalia carrying baskets, etc., might be seen going in every direction. About eight o'clock the Sons of England excursion left the Grand Trunk station, the engine hauling seven coaches of excursionists and a box car containing provisions, canoes, etc. About the same time the steamer Golden Eye left the wharf carrying a goodly number of excursionists to Idyl Wild to participate in the day's sport at that place. Numerous private picnic parties proceeded by land and water to their several places of pleasure. Business was practically suspended and the people were out on holiday.

The Firemen's Grand Demonstration.

About one o'clock, the fire alarm was sounded, calling the firemen together. Shortly after they issued from the fire hall and formed into line on the street. The Fire Brigade band, arrayed in their handsome new uniforms, headed the procession of firemen, also clad in their uniforms and capped with helmets, and proceeded to the Riverside Park, where over a thousand persons assembled to celebrate the day.

BASEBALL MATCH.

The first event of the programme was a baseball match, between the Firemen's team and Lock Works team, which commenced about two o'clock. The teams were composed as follows:

LOCK WORKS.		FIREMEN.
J. Landy	catcher	T. Rutherford.
George Hosan	pitcher	C. Rutherford.
A. C. Corcoran	short stop	J. Haggart.
J. Farley	1st base	W. Metheral.
J. Cahill	2nd base	H. Evans.
George Schriver	3rd base	R. Stevenson.
W. Rudkins	left field	A. Jones.
George A. Hern	right field	T. Wilson.
C. J. Taber	centre field	J. Hayes.

W. Sailsbery acted as umpire with good success.

The Lock Works team won the toss and sent their opponents to the bat. They retired without scoring, leaving T. Rutherford on 2nd base. The Lock Work's men then took their turn and succeeded in scoring five. The Locks again batted and succeeded in scoring seven, the fielding of the Firemen being poor owing to the roughness of the ground and other causes. From this time forward the game was very sharp, the Firemen being whitewashed in the 3rd and 4th innings and the Locks in the 4th innings. The score by innings stood:

Lock Works	5	7	1	0	x				13
Firemen	0	0	0	0	1				7

Thus the Lock Works won by six runs and an innings. The last three innings were fine exhibitions of the game. For the Lock Works team Landry worked like a hero behind the bat. In the third innings his right thumb was dislocated and in the fourth innings his left thumb suffered the same fate, but he caught to the finish, holding nearly every ball. "Tom." Rutherford caught for the firemen and held the ball well. In the second innings Farley, 1st baseman for the Locks, made a fine catch, while Faber did the same thing in the fourth innings, running about twenty yards for it. On the other side Haggart made a clever catch off Landy. The boys did well all round, considering the practice they have had and the grounds on which they played.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

At the conclusion of the match entries were called for the athletic sports, which brought out a number of athletically inclined young men, clad in airy attire. After the contest had been mapped out, the judges proceeded in dispatching of the following

PROGRAMME OF EVENTS.

THREE MILE RACE. OPEN.—1st, M. Bird, $10. Four entries.

MILE RACE, AMATEUR.—1st, M. Evans, value of $5; 2nd, A. Blade, value of $2.50; 3rd, W. Metheral, value of $1.50. Five entries.

HUNDRED YARDS RACE, AMATEUR.—1st, C. Brown, value of $5; 2nd, D. King, value of $2.50. Five entries.

GIRLS' RACE, (open to girls over 12 years of age).—1st, Rose Hern, value of $4; 2nd, Annie Griffin, value of $1. Five entries. This was one of the best contested races of the day.

RUNNING HIGH JUMP.—1st, A. Blade, value of $5. Six entries. In this event J. Haggart was a good second, turning a somersault over the stick instead of jumping straight.

STANDING BROAD JUMP.—1st, D. King, value of $2; 2nd, J. M. Maitland, value of $2. Five entries.

RUNNING HOP, STEP AND JUMP.—1st, C. Rutherford, value of $2. Four entries.

THREE-LEGGED RACE.—1st, C. Brown and Herb. Dickson, six bottles of pickles. Two entries.

THROWING BASE BALL.—1st, C. Rutherford, value of $2.50; 2nd, G. Fitzgerald, value of $2.

Messrs. A. McNeil, R. H. Fortye and J. English acted as judges and gave the best of satisfaction, performing the functions of their office with all fairness and impartiality.

This concluded the afternoon's performance and the company retired for supper.

THE EVENING FESTIVITIES.

Shortly after 7 the fire alarm again rang out and the firemen assembled as in the afternoon, and after marching up George street proceeded to the Riverside Park, where a promenade concert and pyrotechnical display was held. Before dark an audience of over two thousand had assembled, which from eight o'clock till after ten was delighted with a brilliant display of fireworks and a delightful programme of music by the band. One of the main features of the occasion was the dancing pavilion erected beneath the spreading branches of two large elm trees, near the river. The trend of the merry dancers kept time to the delightful music provided by the Fire Brigade band orchestra during the entire evening.

The display of fireworks was magnificent, a large number of fine device pieces being presented among which were, "Our Firemen," "1886," a crown and a hydrant discharging a stream of fire. The demonstration was concluded by a torchlight procession of the firemen headed by the band, which proceeded from the park up Hunter street and down George to the fire hall, where after cheers for the Queen, our fair dominion, and the national anthem, the firemen resumed their positions as private citizens, after having provided a most excellent public demonstration. The committee, Messrs. Thos. Wilcox, J. Yelland, J. Craig, C. Rutherford and J. Haggart, and the Brigade, generally deserve credit for the manner in which the demonstration was carried out.

Sons of England Excursion.

This was one of the big successes of the day, the occasion being one of great enjoyment, unmarred by a single accident. The only drawback to the success of the excursion was too much success—the large numbers, leading at times to a little uncomfortable crowding. The special train in charge of the popular manipulator of the punch, Mr. Dan. McMillan, steamed out of the Midland station with fully six hundred excursionists followed shortly after by about 150 others on the regular mail. All reached Lindsay in safety and embarked on board the palace barge Paloma, in tow of the venerable tug Beaubocage. The barge was loaded to the gunwale but the trip was made in safety and without event of any particular moment. The chief sights seen during the voyage were a few cranes rising like rocket sticks, and a few stumps—very few, not more than 1,000,000. Shortly after eleven the excursionists landed at the beautiful Point, each party seeking one of the many shaded nooks of green wood, that abounded everywhere, and they spread their covers and prepared for what every true born Englishman can appreciate, a "good square meal." After dinner, Prof. Doucet's orchestra performed in their peculiarly fine style, several selections on the green in front of the hotel, the big fiddle, however, having to "walk in" extra strong to make up for the absence of high pitched piccolo, unfortunately left behind at Lindsay, and for lack of which the music was to that extent butchered. Soon dancing to the same delightful music was going forward in the pavilion, while in the alley underneath several were reviving old memories and old skill at the popular old English game of skittle. In due time came on.

THE GAMES, SPORTS AND RACES

These consisted of athletic and aquatic sports. The several events were well contested and the winners were worthy of the handsome prizes presented through the generosity of many gentlemen in town.

The tug of war between sixteen members, and sixteen non-members, was won, after an exciting contest, by the Sons of England team.

The May-pole dance concluded the sports and games, and was conducted under the management of Miss Eva Tivey. The dance and the crowning of the May Queen, was witnessed by a large crowd who insisted on an encore, which was given. One gentleman was so affected by the revival of old recollections that he shed tears. The proceedings were concluded by the singing of the National Anthem, and three cheers for the Queen.

The excursion committee consisted of Messrs. E. A. Peck, Chairman, T. E. Pratt, R. Waram, W. Brandrette, F. Brownscombe and A. Herridge.

The committee on sports were Messrs. R. Tivey and J. T. Bryden, the former also acting as starter.

During the day, the lake was like a sheet of glass, and dozens of canoes and row boats, freighted with young ladies and gentlemen, were floating over its emotionless expanse. The time spent at the Point, by "Hearts of Oak" among the druid like woods of oak, was one of unalloyed pleasure. During the day, the trim steamer Estarion, the Spanish synonym for the cerulliagimous "mud stirring" tish that gives to Sturgeon lake and Point, made trips from the Point to Lindsay. At 4.40 the excursion left the Point, reaching home a little after 8 o'clock, all weary and happy with the recollection of a splendid day of enjoyment.

Excursion to Idyl Wild.

The steamer Golden Eye carried a respectable crowd of excursionists to Idyl Wild, leaving the wharf about eight o'clock. The trip was a very pleasant one, the weather being fine and everything favorable. A string band provided choice music for dancing, which was indulged in to a great extent both on board the boat and at the pavilion. A large excursion party from Cobourg crossed the lake from Harwood and amalgamated with the other excursionists at the island. The Whistlewing also carried excursionists from Keene and different points on the lake. Owing to a want of entries for the rowing and paddling races, these events were not contested. Boating, bathing, fishing and croquet and other games were the chief amusements of the day and provided ample sport for all. The drawing for prizes was very interesting. The following were the successful ticket holders:—H. Quirk, $10 gold piece; H. Nell, $10 gold piece; R. White, of White's Mills on Rice Lake, ernet stand, and P. Quin, of Keene, cake basket. A young lady who was very desirous of winning a prize, refused to take ticket 120 which won the $10 piece, preferring to trust in an odd number. The boat returned in the coal of the evening, bringing the party home in time to witness a part of the fireworks display.

The Cricketers' Contribution.

A match was to have been played between teams from the East and West Ridings of the county. The teams failed to turn up, so a game was improvised between sides picked by Messrs. Carter and Max Hamilton. Hamilton's side batted first. Strathy and Hugh Ray, the first two, played well for their scores, as did Max and W. Hamilton, the latter playing very steadily for 21. The total was 101.

For Carter's side Sam Ray and Stirling scored 60 runs before a wicket fell, both playing steadily. Carter, McGill and Canning hit hard for their scores; and the total amounted to 129, Carter's side thus winning by 28 runs. Score:—

In the last innings the batsmen seemed to completely collar the bowling, which, though well on, appeared to be easily managed. Several changes took place without very marked effect, till Edwy Stratton was put on at the lower wicket. He took three wickets in rapid succession for about a dozen runs. If he had been handed the ball earlier in the innings, no doubt a less respectable score would have been presented.

This was, by all odds, the most successful match, considered as a practice match, of the season. There was a good deal of splendid batting form exhibited.

The Crowning Cathedral Pic-nic

During the day the annual pic-nic of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral, took place on the Murray Street Separate School grounds, and to say that it was highly successful, but weakly expresses the truth. It was by all odds, the best of a good series. During the afternoon there were over two thousand persons present, and the fine programme of sports and other facilities for amusement, led to their passing a very pleasant afternoon. The following clergy were present:—Rev. Fathers O'Connell, Douro; Keilty, Enniskmore; O'Brien, Fayville and Conway, palace. The latter, of course, was the ruling spirit and to his paternal oversight and ubiquitous presence, the success and enjoyment of the pic-nic are largely due. The dinner tables were, of course, a great attraction, both the beauty of decoration and excellence of edibles, appealing to the taste and appetitites of the pic-nicers.

Owing to the demands on our space to-day we shall be able to give only a sort of catalogueic report of the proceedings. There was the usual rivalry between the different ward tables, which were presided over by the following ladies:—

No. 1 WARD.—Mesdames Phelan, Cahill, and Dunn. Fruit and flower stand No. 1, Mrs. Geo. Walker and Misses Grady, Simons and Duignan.

No. 2 WARD.—Mesdames D. Donoghue, J. Clancy, T. Lafrante, T. Giroux, M. Giroux, O'Shea, Kelly, J. O'Brien, J. Doherty, M. Quinlan, W. Clancy, Hackett, Keansley and Cavanagh and Miss M. Clancy. Flower and fruit stand No. 2, Mesdames D. Donoghue and Clancy.

No. 3 & 4 WARDS.—Mesdames Delaney, Manchester, O'Sullivan, Morrow, Peitris, Hagarty, Lyney, Archambault, Dolan McFadden.

FLOWERS AND FRUIT, No. 3 WARD.—Mesdames Dolan and McFadden.

FLOWERS AND FRUIT, No. 4 WARD.—Mesdames Hanlan and Weir.

ASHBURNHAM.—Misses Mercier, Beck, Sullivan, Welsh, Mesdames Sullivan, Thorne, Brennan, Bagley, Welsh, Wall, Connell. Flower and Fruit Stand, Ashburnham.—Mrs. Sullivan and Miss Connell.

The refreshment booth was satisfactorily conducted by Messrs. J. O'Brien, J. Lynch, M. McDonald, J. O'Shea, F. Fairen, while Mr. M. McFadden was the efficient manager of the shooting gallery.

Under the excellent management of Dr. Brennan, the following elaborate programme of

"Shortness of breath

is inscribed on a tombstone in an English grave-yard. In all probability it would never have been necessary, if only the poor unfortunate victim of some disease of the respratory organs had known of Dr Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a Panacea for all diseases of the throat and lungs. For consumption it is believed to be the only real specific yet known. For all scorfulous and blood diseases it is unfailing.

DOMINION DAY DOINGS.

Irish Jig—1st, Mr Houlihan and Miss Highland; 2nd, Mr Flaherty and Miss Collins.

Clog Dance—1st, R Tierney; 2nd, EQuennen.

Tug of War, Town vs Country—1st, Country, captained by D Crowley; 2nd, Town, captained by J O'Brien

Finishing Quoits—1st, J Coughlin; 2nd, Geo. Giroux

Aggregate Prize—M O Collins

The dancing platform was well patronized by the lighter hearted and footed of the gathering, who tripped it untiringly to the excellent music of Dodd's string band, of Hastings.

The financial outcome of the pic-nic was most gratifying, the single event of the watch being the most lucrative, and sufficiently so to deserve especial mention. The young ladies conducting the enterprise with so much success, secured the following sum in chunks:

Miss Mercier	$235 10
Miss Trenwith	125 00
Miss Cahill	55 70
Miss Tagney	50 00
Miss Giroux	33 95
	$499 57

The receipts from the entrance tickets amounted to $342, and the revenue from other sources run up the grand total of the day to the approximate amount of between $1100 and $1200. When the returns are all in, this amount will probably be increased. The managers of the pic-nic may congratulate themselves upon the unparalleled success of their annual pic nic.

Hallelujah Wedding.

The Salvation Army celebrated the day by holding several meetings conducted by high officers in the Army, and in the evening by a hallelujah wedding in the opera house. The hall was crowded. On the stage were Staff Captain Eadie and wife, Special Captain Philpot, Captains Hurst, of Millbrook, Carter, of Omemee, and Demster, of Lakefield, Captain Smith, commandant of the local forces, the bride and groom and their supporters. Rev. Mr. Davis, and a number of the army officers. The contracting parties were Mr. James Telford, and Miss Maggie Griffen, both staunch soldiers of the army. Miss Maggie Sinclair, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Fred Sheppherd assisted the groom. The bride, groom and assistants, were all dressed in the army uniform. After singing and prayer, Staff Capt. Eadie, read a chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, and then proceeded with the army marriage service, uniting in the bonds of wedlock the smiling soldiers. He concluded by exhorting them to be true to God and to the army. Rev. Mr. Davis, who has the reputation of doing such things well, performed the orthodox marriage ceremony. After the meeting was over the wedding party repaired to the residence of the groom's sister, where the marriage breakfast was partaken of. Presents were numerous and expressive.

The Indians' Innings.

A large party of Indians from Chemong Lake accompanied by their brass band in uniform, passed through town on Wednesday afternoon, on their way to Hiawatha village, Rice Lake, where they spent yesterday contesting with the Rice Lake braves in athletic and aquatic sports. Of course a grand pow-wow was held in the evening. The squaws and papooses of the tribe participated in the day's proceedings. The brass band furnished music for the occasion.

The Moon's Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, doesn't go fooling around a man's feet, but gets to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

LOVE'S VICTORY.

BY BERTHA M CLAY

seen a superb bust of Juno; as she looked at her new pupil, she could almost fancy that its head had been modeled from hers. Pauline's head was royal in its queenly contour; the brow low, white, and rounded at the temples; the hair, waving in lines of inexpressible beauty, was loosely gathered together and fastened behind with a gleaming silver arrow. The eyes were perhaps the most wonderful feature in that wonderful face; they were dark as night itself, somewhat in hue like a purple heartsease, rich, soft, dreamy, yet at times all fire, all brightness, filled with passion more intense than any words, and shining then with a strange half-golden light. The brows were straight, dark, and beautiful; the lips crimson, full, and exquisitely shaped; the mouth looked like one that could persuade or contemn—that could express tenderness or scorn, love or pride, with the slightest play of the lips.

Every attitude the girl assumed was full of unconscious grace. She did not appear to be in the least conscious of her wonderful beauty. She had walked to the window, and stood leaning carelessly against the frame, one beautiful arm thrown above her head, as though she were weary, and would fain rest—an attitude that could not have been surpassed had she studied it for years.

"You are not at all what I expected to see," said Miss Hastings, at last. "You are, indeed, so different that I am taken by surprise."

"Am I better or worse than you had imagined me?" she asked, with careless scorn.

"You are different—better, perhaps, in some things. You are taller. You are so tall that it will be difficult to remember you are a pupil."

"The Darrells are a tall race," she said, quietly. "Miss Hastings, what have you come here to teach me?"

The elder lady rose from her seat and looked lovingly into the face of the girl; she placed her hand caressingly on the slender shoulders.

"I know what I should like to teach you, Miss Darrell, if you will let me. I should like to teach you your duty to Heaven, your fellow-creatures, and yourself."

"That would be dry learning, I fear," she returned. "What does my uncle wish me to learn?"

"To be in all respects a perfectly refined, graceful lady."

Her face flushed with a great crimson wave that rose to the white brow and the delicate shell-like ears.

"I shall never be that," she cried, passionately. "I may just as well give up all hopes of Darrell Court. I have seen some ladies since I have been here. I could not be like them. They seem to speak by rule; they all say the same kind of things, with the same smiles, in the same tone of voice; they follow each other like sheep; they seem frightened to advance an opinion of their own, or even give utterance to an original thought. They look upon me as something horrible, because I dare to say what I think, and have read every book I could find."

"It is not always best to put our thoughts in speech; and the chances are, Miss Darrell, that, if you have read every book you could find, you have read many that had been better left alone. You are giving a very one-sided, prejudiced view after all."

She raised her beautiful head with a gesture of superb disdain.

"There is the same difference between them and myself as between a mechanical singing bird made to sing three tunes and a wild, sweet bird of the woods. I like my own self best."

"There is not the least doubt of that," observed Miss Hastings, with a smile; "but the question is not so much who we like ourselves as what others like in us. However, we will discuss that at another time, Miss Darrell."

"Has my uncle told you that if I please him—if I can be molded into the right form—I am to be heiress of Darrell Court? she asked, quickly.

"Yes; and now that I have seen you I am persuaded that you can be anything you wish."

"Do you think, that I am clever?" she asked, eagerly.

"I should imagine so," replied Miss Hastings. "Pauline—I need not call you Miss Darrell—I hope we shall be friends; I trust we shall be happy together."

"It is not very likely," she said, slowly, "that I can like you, Miss Hastings."

"Why not?" asked the governess, astonished at her frankness.

"Because you are to correct me; continual correction will be a great annoyance, and will prevent my really liking you."

Miss Hastings looked astounded.

"That may be, Pauline," she said; "but do you know that it is not polite of you to say so? In good society one does not tell such unpleasant truths."

"That is just it," was the eager retort; "that is why I do not like good society, and shall never be fit for it. I am truthful by nature. In my father's house and among his friends there was never any need to conceal the truth; we always spoke it frankly. If we did not like each other, we said so. But here, it seems to me, the first lesson learned to fit one for society is to speak falsely."

"Not so, Pauline; but, when the truth is likely to hurt another's feelings, to wound susceptibility or pride, why speak it, unless it is called for?"

Pauline moved her white arms with a superb gesture of scorn.

"I would rather any day bear the truth and have my mind hurt," she said, energetically, "than feel that people were smiling at me and deceive me. Lady Hampton visits Sir Oswald. I do not like her, and she does not like me; but she always asks Sir Oswald how his 'dear niece' is, and she calls me a 'sweet creature—original, but very sweet.' You can see for yourself, Miss Hastings, that I am not that."

"Indeed, you are not sweet," returned the governess, quietly. "You are [illegible]"

She had imitated Lady Hampton's languid tones and affected accent to perfection.

"Sir Oswald bows and smiles all the time Lady Hampton is talking to him; he stands first up on one foot, and then [illegible] You would think, to listen to [illegible] was so charmed with her ladyship [illegible] could never be out of her presence; [illegible] need talk quite differently at her [illegible] and twice I heard him say 'Thank [illegible] —it was for the relief. Your good nature is all deceit, Miss Hastings."

"I will not have you say that, Pauline. Amiability, and the desire always to be kind and considerate, may carry one to extremes at times; but I am inclined to prefer that amiability that spares to the truth that wounds."

"I am not," was the blunt rejoinder. "Will you come to your rooms, Miss Hastings? Sir Oswald has ordered a suite to be prepared entirely for our use. I have three rooms, you have four; and there is a study that we can use together."

They went through the broad stately corridors, where the warm sun shone in at the windows, and the flowers breathed sweetest perfume. The rooms that had been prepared for them were bright and pleasant with a beautiful view from the windows, well furnished, and supplied with every comfort. A sigh came from Miss Hastings as she gazed—it was all so pleasant. But it seemed very doubtful to her whether she would remain or not—very doubtful whether she would be able to make what Sir Oswald desired out of that frank free-spoken girl, who had not one conventional idea.

"Sir Oswald is very kind," she said, at length, looking around her; "these rooms are exceedingly nice."

"They are nice," said Pauline; "but I was happier with my father in the Rue d'Orme. Ah me, what liberty we had there! In this stately life I feel as though I were bound with cords, or shackled with chains—as though I longed to stretch out my arms and fly away."

Again Miss Hastings sighed, for it seemed to her that the time of her residence at Darrell Court would in all probability be very short.

CHAPTER IV.

"YOU ARE GOING TO SPOIL MY LIFE."

Two days had passed since Miss Hastings's arrival. On a beautiful morning, when the sun was shining and the birds were singing in the trees, she sat in the study with an expression of deepest anxiety, of deepest thought on her face. Pauline, with a smile on her lips, sat opposite to her, and there was profound silence. Miss Darrell was the first to break it.

"Well," she asked, laughingly, "what is your verdict, Miss Hastings?"

The elder lady looked up with a long, deep-drawn sigh.

"I have never been so completely puzzled in all my life," she replied. "My dear Pauline, you are the strangest mixture of ignorance and knowledge that I have ever met. You know a great deal, but it is all of the wrong kind; you ought to unlearn all that you have learned."

"You admit then that I know something."

"Yes; but it would be almost better, perhaps, if you did not. I will tell you how I feel, Pauline. I know nothing of building, but I feel as though I had been placed before a heap of marble, porphyry, and granite, of wood, glass, and iron, and then told from those materials to shape a magnificent palace. I am at a loss what to do."

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other dealers and millers, a good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retailed at $2.50 per hundred.

"BAKERS"

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-less trusses made in York State, costing me $50. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child here; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Almost a Drowning Accident.

Yesterday afternoon, while a number of boys were gathering water lillies down the river, a little below the locks, in a race for a selection, a canoe containing John Perry and Thomas Baker was upset, precipitating the occupants into the water. Neither of the boys were able to swim and failing to hold to the canoe, sank. Geo. Evans, who was in the canoe which ran into the one capsized, jumped into the water and succeeded in rescuing both boys. They had both gone down the second time, but were not unconscious when taken out. A thorough wetting and a drink of the river water were all their injuries.

St. Luke's Social.

A delightfully pleasant social in connection with St. Luke's church was held on Wednesday evening in the beautiful residence grounds of H. T. Strickland, Esq., who seized the occasion to give most emphatic and practical expression to the genial hospitality of his nature. A large number spent the evening in strolling about and sitting in the fine grounds, and the abundant and excellent refreshments provided by the ladies, were in most appreciative demand. The parlours of the residence were thrown open and piano music and singing were given to the delight of the guests, Prof. Parker, who was present, especially exerting himself to make the musical part of the evening's programme, the chief pleasure of the occasion. The financial outcome was very gratifying.

Dr. McDonagh.

Dr. McDonagh, of Toronto, throat, nose and ear specialist, will be at the Grand Central to-morrow.

Prize Winners.

The winners of prizes at the Cathedral pic-nic can secure them at Mr. J. J. Sheehy's well-stocked, attractive and popular dry goods shop, George street.

Saved Army Pic-nic.

The local branch of the Gospel or Saved Army and friends held a pic-nic in Mrs. Joseph Dickson's grove yesterday. There were about two hundred present and a very pleasant day was spent. Both dinner and supper provided by the ladies, were disposed of with pic-nic avidity. A number of games and sports for prizes were eagerly contested. Swings and other out-door amusements were provided. The children present numbered nearly a hundred.

Social at St. John's.

On Wednesday evening the beautiful grounds of St. John's Church were thrown open to the public, on the occasion of a social given by the ladies in aid of the organ fund. There was a large attendance and the refreshment tables, which were spread under the sheltering boughs of the dark pines on the eastern side of the church, were from time to time, throughout the evening, extensively patronized. The Fire Brigade Band which was placed on the terrace, gave a liberal programme of selections in their wonted admirable style, while the piano in the school room was kept busy by performers who gave great delight to the well-pleased listeners. The social was a most successful one in every respect, not the least important being the financial department, the sum of over $50 having been added to the organ fund.

Always the Best

The best of the series of Foresters' excursions, which are always the best, will be run to Toronto this year by Court Peterborough, on Tuesday, July 13th. The excursion will go by G. T. R., giving excursionists a chance to visit the city during the grand parade of the Knights of Pythias, a splendid semi-military organization, assembled from all parts of the continent. It is estimated that 20,000 to 25,000 will take part in the demonstration. Toronto will be decorated and illuminated en fete in honour of the occasion, and the spectacle will be the grandest ever witnessed in Canada. The programme will include the public reception at the Caledonian rink, a procession of a flotilla of splendidly illuminated steamers round the island, and a grand display of fireworks on the island, the grand spectacular drama of Damon and Pythias in the Opera House, grand prize drill tournament and band competition, Jeakle's pony hippodrome being introduced between the drilling of the divisions. On the same day a game of baseball between the Torontos and the Rochesters, league nines, will be played. These, together with hundreds of other events, will make Toronto a place of unparalleled attraction during the period covered by the excursion tickets, which are only $2.15, the round trip, good for eight days!! Train leaves Midland station July 13th, at 7. a.m. For fuller particulars see these columns, posters and programmes.

Police Court.

Mrs. McMartin of Norwood, was summoned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by Inspector Darling with a breach of the Scott Act. Mr. Livingstone, of Norwood, swore that he purchased liquor at Mrs. McMartin's since the 1st of May. Other witnesses testified that they had several drinks at Mrs. McMartin's but could not swear whether the liquor was intoxicating or not. They did not think it was. Mrs. McMartin, gave evidence voluntarily, and stated that she sold no intoxicating liquor since May 1st. The drink she sold Livingstone, was a mixture of lemon juice, elderberry wine, and was not intoxicating.

The magistrate reserved judgement until Monday.

Cattle Raising on the Plains.

During the winter of 1871 and 1872 I engaged in the handling of Texas cattle in the semi-arid belt of Kansas. I had provided no food for my stock. I knew that cattle could and did winter on the plains far north and west of where I was; but I did not know that there was a difference in the nutritious qualities of the different prairie grasses. I did not understand the peculiarities of the climate of the semi-arid belt, nor the effects of rain falling on dead grass. Stupid of me, of course, but I had plenty of company. My neighbors were bright Germans, intelligent Englishmen, and keen Americans from almost every State in the Union. We were a hopeful band, young, strong, and eager. When we gathered into our wretched hovels o' nights, and the pipes were glowing, our talk was of cattle, cattle, cattle. The sales of steers off the range at six cents per pound, live weight, made the previous spring, were strongly dwelt upon. I was repeatedly assured that the Kansas winters were so mild that I would not need a coat. The height the new prairie grass would surely be on the 1st of March was measured on table legs by outstretched and dirty index fingers for my instruction and encouragement. There was not one of all the band of eager men who rode the Kansas plains in those days who did not firmly believe that our fortunes were made. The country was full of cattle. November came in with a blizzard, and, with slight interruptions, kindly allowed by Nature for the purpose of affording us opportunities to skin dead cattle, the blizzard lasted until March, and the cold, stormy weather for two months longer. There was no new grass until the middle of May. In all the Texas herds held in Kansas the losses were heavy. Hardly a herd lost less than 50 per cent, and 60, 70, and 80 per cent losses were common. By spring we learned that great herds of heavy beef cattle, held on the Smoky, Cottonwood, and Arkansas rivers, had been frozen on the range, and that the Texans had saddled their horses and gone home. The creeks were dammed with the decaying carcasses of cattle. The air was heavy with the stench of decaying animals. The cruelties of the business of starving cattle to death were vividly impressed on me. Every wagon sent from the cattle ranges to the railroad towns was loaded with hides. The next summer, bankruptcy stalked over the Kansas plains and struck men down. Our trouble was that none of us knew that the tall blue-joint grass was worthless for winter feed unless it were made into hay, none of us knew that the fall rains had washed the nutriment out of it, and none of us knew that about once in ten years there is a hard winter in the far West, during which the mercury modestly retires into the bulb of the thermometer, and blizzard chases blizzard over the plains in quick succession. Some of us learned the lesson at once; others, who claimed that the cattle needed protection, not food, erected sheds, which proved to be death-traps, the cattle "stacking" under them during cold weather, and tried it again, and went into bankruptcy promptly after the second venture. As it was in Kansas, so it is, in a less degree, in the so-called "cattle country." A wet autumn, followed by a hard winter, kills the cattle held on Northern ranges by the thousand.—Frank Wilkeson, in Harper's Magazine for April.

John Burroughs finds that since he gave up the use of meat his health has been materially improved. "I find I need less physical exercise, that my nerves are much steadier, and that I have far fewer dull, blank, depressing days; in fact, all the functions of my body are much better performed by abstaining from meat."

P. B. C. Rowing Regatta.

Lively Races on the Little Lake—Reviving the Old Time Interest.

As announced, the first regatta of a series to be given by the Peterborough Boating Club, postponed from Wednesday evening, came off on the Little Lake yesterday evening. Owing to the postponement and the date not having been announced till yesterday evening the attendance was not as large as it would otherwise have been. However, a degree of the old time interest was manifested and a fine evening's sport was enjoyed. Spectators numbering about two hundred, lined the banks of the lake at Burnham's Point, while well freighted canoes glided over the surface of the lake, awiting the contest. About eight o'clock Mr. E. B. Edwards, captain of the canoeing department of the club, who acted as referee and starter, called out the four-oared crews, viz:

J McDonnell	bow	A Stevenson
F Adams	2nd	F Mercer
J J Sheehy	3rd	H W Kent
A Loch	stroke	W Matthews

The course, said to be about a mile, with a turn stretched from the first pier to buoys near the eastern extremity of the lake, was pointed out to the crews and their waters assigned to them. W. Matthews' crew took the inside water and A. Loch's further south—of course. For a few seconds the boats remained on the boom of the water motionless, but at the word "go" shot away well together. Matthews' boat took a tolerably straight course, while Loch's went well out into the lake and then away in turning the buoy on the wrong side, which was a slight mistake of the cockswains. Both boats rounded the buoy about the same time and pulled well together on the home stretch. Loch's crew slowly forged ahead and when within four boat lengths of the pier, was about a boat length ahead. At this critical moment the race was spoiled, the cockswain of Loch's boat, under orders pulling to the right, thus crossing the bow of the other boat, which had to slacken up to prevent an upset. It was purely an accident on the part of the oarsman who gave the wrong order. W. Matthews claimed a foul, which was allowed, and it was agreed to row the race over again some other evening.

SINGLE SCULL RACE.

The single scull race was next called. A Stevenson, J. McDonnell and Chief Cooper were the contestants. This race was straight-away and commenced from the buoys at the eastern end of the lake. J. McDonnell took the outside water, A. Stevenson the centre and Chief Cooper near the shore. The boats got off well together, rowing steadily. Chief Cooper not being acquainted with the course, and having to avoid a log, got beyond his reckonings and gave up the chase. A. Stevenson pulled to the front and won by two boat lengths with ease.

DOUBLE SCULL RACE.

Gus Loch and F. Adams and H. W. Kent and W. Matthews entered for the double scull race. Each crew took a short spin just to get in trim, and showed fine form and plenty of muscle. They rowed the mile with a turn, G. Loch and F. Adams taking the inside course. Both crews caught the water well together, but Loch and Adams pulled with more vim than their opponents and slowly but surely forged ahead. They turned their buoy about a length or so ahead of their opponents. On the home stretch the boats were well together and made a fine race, Kent and Matthews having pulled up slightly. Near the finish Loch and Adams spurted for all they were worth and shot ahead of their opponents, leaving them in the lurch and passing the pier fully three lengths ahead. This brought the races to a close.

The spectators on shore wended their way home well pleased with the regatta, while the flotilla of canoes and boats glided up the stream to their several resting places. It is expected that several canoe races will add to the interest of the next regatta. A number of logs' bark and chips floating on the surface of the lake, slightly interfered with the races.

Keene.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The anniversary services of the Presbyterian Church, last Sabbath, was well attended. Rev. Mr. Carmichael, of Norwood, gave two most able and acceptable discourses. His morning sermon was from Acts 4, 12 and latter clause of the verse, "And they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus" and in the evening from Psalms 84, 11, first part of the verse "The Lord God is a Sun." The collections amounted to $118.17.

The Free Masons had an excursion from here to Gore's Landing, June 26th, on Mr. White's steamer Dora. At Gore's Landing, they were met by Mr. Shipley, the attentive and considerate proprietor of the Shipley House, to which the company proceeded and were served to a good substantial repast. After visiting Mr. Herald's canoe factory and a private institution of learning, of which the visitors speak very highly, and the locality generally, the excursionists left at 3 p. m. for a trip round the head of the lake past Bewdley, thence down to Harwood.

On nearing Harwood, the Dora had an exciting run with the steam yacht of Judge Deanis of Cobourg. On leaving Harwood a second race took place between the boats, the Dora coming off the victor on each occasion. After a most enjoyable day the delighted company returned home about 9 p. m. well pleased with the day's events and well fitted for a night's repose.

Mr. Alex. Campbell, M., left for Scotland last Monday on a visit to the friends and scenes of his childhood.

Mr. A. Emmerson of Peterborough, paid our tidy little town a visit last Tuesday, and enjoyed a trip on the lake in Dr. Harrison's yacht.

As you already have the thunder and lightning news, I need not enlarge.

The Home Rule Problem.

Mr. Harrington's Forecast.

LONDON, July 2.—Mr. Harrington in an interview yesterday, said the Parnellites were certain to retain 65 seats. They are also sure of West Belfast and have fair prospect in Derry. In Tyrone they are pretty sure to oust Mr. Hamilton, while for Mr. Wm. O'Brien's seat there will be a close fight, though his opponent, Mr. Russell, is not strong enough to invoke the enthusiasm of either the Orangemen or Unionists.

The Premier's Cause for Anxiety.

Mr. Gladstone writes:—A special cause of anxiety for the speedy settlement of the Irish question is my knowledge that if we embark in Lord Salisbury's miserable business of coercion, all hope of effectual progress and practical work in England and Scotland must be laid aside. The case for rural laborers is even more urgent, because some of their friends, such as Mr. Collings, who were formerly impatient of any delay in legislation in behalf of labor, are now among the keenest opponents of giving Ireland reasonable rights and have thus become obstructors of public improvements.

SEXTON AT BELFAST.

Mr. Thomas Sexton, yesterday, commenced the campaign in Belfast. It promises to be one of the liviest contests in the Kingdom. The Orangemen early showed their intentions by hooting Mr. Sexton upon his arrival and precipitating a street fight before he had proceeded fifty yards from the depot. The police prevented the spread of the disturbance. Beyond a few broken heads no damage was done; but later in the evening a crowd of Orangemen stoned a party of Sextonites, when the police again interfered and routed the assailants.

A NATIONAL DEMONSTRATION.

An immense Nationalist demonstration is announced to take place in Phœnix Park, Dublin, on Sunday.

British Elections.

LONDON, July 2.—The results of yesterday's elections indicate nothing clearly except the close nature of the contest. The Unionists maintain a lead owing to the number returned without opposition.

LONDON, July 3.—Returns up to 1 a.m. show the election of 98 Tories, 13 Unionists, 30 Gladstonians, and 9 Parnellites.

LATER.—The latest returns are:—Tories, 102; Unionists, 14; Liberals, 35.

Hunting for Grouse.

"Occasionally a mighty Nimrod from the city comes out to hunt game in my neighborhood," said a Greenfield farmer yesterday. "A few days ago I saw a swell of a chap edging up through my sugar bush to the wheat field. He had on long-legged boots, and was toggled and belted and strapped out in regular hunter fashion. He looked just too purty for anything. He carried a darling of a gun, and he went dodging around as if he expected to start up a Bengal tiger from behind every stump. I took a short cut to the barn and turned the old peacock loose. The old bird understood what was wanted of him. He pulled down his eye at me and started for the back lots. I followed down along the fence, and pretty soon I saw that swell-hunter break cover from the woods. He was after quail, and he soon sighted the peacock. The bird had his tail fanned out and his head up, and could be seen half a mile away. Nimrod got his gun off his shoulder and began to creep up, and by and by he blazed away. I saw the whole charge of shot tear into the ground yards away from the old bird, but he knew his business. Down he fell, wings and legs flopping, and pretty soon he expired. The young man with the darling of a gun reached him about the same time I did.

"'Beautiful shot,' says he.

"'I reckon,' says I, 'but what are you hunting?'

"'Grouse,' says he, 'and this is the finest one I ever saw.'

"'Grouse, you numskull; but you have killed my peacock!'

"Well, the usual results followed. His chin began to quiver, the cold sweat started out, and he wanted to know how much I would take to let him off. I sent him to the house to see the old woman. She has got a way of wiping her eyes and choking her voice over the death of that peacock which always brings in $5 extra. She let this young swell off for $10, which is the usual price, and as he started down the highway for Detroit the old bird got up and marched back to the barn with a chuckle that set every hen to laughing. That's five times we've played it on the swell Nimrods within six months, and I expect more fun this summer than a horse can draw."—Detroit Free Press.

Sir John Macdonald Ill Again.

OTTAWA, July 2.—Sir John Macdonald is said to be still very unwell. He went to Carleton Place on Tuesday against the advice of his physician and has not been able to leave his house since.

Camps and Their Cost.

The Montreal Witness pointedly remarks: "There are a good many young Canadians in camp at present getting a taste of military life and learning something of the work, not of a regular but of a militiaman. How much rifle shooting are they to get? Parades and marches past are very pretty things, but these annual camps cost too much money to be devoted to ornamental work alone. If the men could be given a good course of shooting, great numbers of them would get interested in it, and perfect themselves in the art as a means of amusement.

Dominion Day in New York.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Dominion Day in New York was celebrated in a very satisfactory manner by the Canadian Club at their new Club House, 12 East Twenty-seventh street. Erastus Wiman, President, presided. Speeches were made by Rev. Dr. McArthur, the leading Baptist divine of New York, who is a Canadian; Dr. Watson, of Newark, also a prominent minister and Canadian; John Paton, of Jessup, Paton & Co., bankers; W. B. Ellison, and Messrs. Gates, Short, Townsend and others. The club has now nearly 400 members, and is rapidly increasing.

Lost and Won.

"What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Life! Its transitoriness may be rightly compared to a shadow, a vapour, a dream, or any of the most fleeting changes of time. As quickly passing are the successes and failures which are borne in its train—only fully realised when looked at in the light of the eternal morn so soon to dawn upon our slumbering world.

In spite of this, men of the world still pride themselves wholly upon the successes with which Providence favours them. Business properities, a large capital, a fine house, a well-dressed family, a high reputation, social and political influence, etc. The possessors of these compose the world's acknowledged aristocracy.

Many a sigh is drawn from the poor, weary heart of a struggling man with a large family, and an every-day lack of common necessities, while many a longing arises as he sees the rich man flourishing like a green bay tree, and he murmurs, "Oh, that I could but gather the crumbs which fall from his table."

Yes! life has to him been one great shifting panorama, every fresh scene bringing but more ease, more pleasure, more wealth.

But other days come on, when such a man is laid upon a bed of sickness, and dissolution draws near. When his friends gather round in subdued sorrow; when the doctor gives no hope of recovery—then he does not wish to go into his money accounts, to view his extensive lands, to discuss the topics of the day. No! no!! He knows he is a dying man, and although he loathes the thought, it is forced upon him, and that with keen and vivid reality. The haughty spirit cowers before the grim monster which is to lay his pampered body in the clods of the valley. He fears to meet his neglected and offended God; he realizes the pollution of his guilty soul—its stains so deep, its guilt so inexcusable. Maybe Heaven, which has always been open before to catch the faintest whisper or prayer, is as brass now; the Saviour who pleaded so long in faithful and patient love, has departed now and is afar off; the Spirit which strove so persistently has been quenched, and speaks no longer now. There is but a fearful looking on to judgment and the day of wrath.

"The rich man died and was buried; and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment."

Such a man, I say, would be admired and envied by the world in his lifetime; he ran a race after pleasure and fame, and surely he won in that; he lived first and only to seek his own interests in the world, and truly he secured them; but he lost his soul, and thus became the eternal loser of all.

Turn for one moment to another side. See a man to whom business, family, and himself are secondary considerations "God first!" is his changeless motto. His arrangements are made with a view to extending and helping the Kingdom, all his energies are concentrated to the same end; earthly attainments and blessings are made subservient to this.

Many and many a time has the man been, in the world's eyes, a big fool, because he preferred to take a smaller income, to deprive himself of ordinary luxuries, aye, and even necessities: yes even to be willing to sell out and enter the Salvation Army as an officer, or go abroad as a missionary, rather than lay up corruptible treasures on earth.

The dying day comes to such a man also; but finds him gloriously prepared with loins girt, lamp trimmed, armour bright, waiting for the coming of the Master; and he has an abundant entrance into the Kingdom of Heaven, leaving such a testimony behind as will be an incentive to his comrades, and as a trumpet-blast to all the world of the power of Jesus to save and keep.

Such a man the world despises, reckons a fool and a fanatic, ostracises his name from its catalogue of deities. The angels do not call him such, neither does eternity prove him such. He is a man who, in being willing to lose his life, shall be found at last to have saved it.

The world's ideas are upside down. What it calls success is in truth but dismal failure. What it calls victory is but cruel and bitter defeat. When it says a man has won, it means but some jewelled bauble, some hollow trophy, some short-lived conquest, vice versa.

I want my title, "Lost and Won," to be the heart experience of every reader. Lost self, won Christ. Lost sin, won pardon. Lost wretchedness, won peace. Lost despair, won hope blooming with immortality. Lost an unsatisfying world, won an inheritance, incorruptible, undefiled, that fadeth not away.

The issues of a man's life are in his own hands. He plays the game but once, and must stand by its results. One of the words that compose my title must inevitably be stamped upon the record of his earthly career, and its mark will be indelible.

True it is that temporary loss may be eternal gain, and temporary gain eternal loss.

Reader, so shape your life that when you die you will be enabled to shout, "Victory through the Blood!" and then having counted all things, but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus, your Lord, you shall be proclaimed amid Heaven's hosts, "more than conqueror."

He conquers most, who, toiling most,
In willing meed to suffer;
Careless of what in Time he lost,
So Eternity's the gainer.

SUMMER SERMONS.

Two ladies, emerging from a certain church in town last Sunday evening, were heard discussing the services. One asked the other how she was pleased, and the answer was to the effect, that though it was awfully warm, she had a good seat, where she could see everybody and what they were, and she enjoyed the services so much till it came to the sermon, which was so long—she was sure Mr. —— might have stopped at any point. This simply illustrates the popular aversion to long sermons in sultry weather, when the majority of persons, who feel that the sermon does not specially apply to them, resent the idea of anything more elaborate in the pulpit than a few mere introductory platitudes. It is true that, in a good many cases, the preacher does not exercise enough consideration for the members of his congregation. If he is earnest, he goes through his sermon with conscientious thoroughness and, though it may seem short enough to him, it often proves irksome to his hearers. Many of the latter after the toils of the week are not, by any means, too wide awake, especially those who under the objectionable system of keeping shops open on Saturday nights till midnight, cannot be expected to keep awake, though the sermon be never so brief. The preacher may see the pious nodding in their pews, but this is no hint, suggesting prosiness on his part—be is accustomed to see at all times of the year, worshippers peacefully dropping off to sleep the moment the sermon is well under way—whether the thermometer be below zero or up close to the century. There cannot, however, be any doubt that long sermons are one principal element in making small congregations in summer. Whether this is the fault of the long sermonizing or lack of long suffering in the congregation, is a debatable point, but there is no doubt of the fact, and therefore the chief object of the holding of church services fails of accomplishment. In these days of apathy in religious matters, one great desideratum is to get the people to church—to bring them under the influence of the Gospel. To this end, means that do not strictly form a legitimate portion of the services are not at all infrequently employed. The singing and music are made attractive, even at the expense of employing a paid vocalist or vocalists and performers. If these and other means, which are, in many cases, tolerated simply, not because they are good in themselves as a means of worship, but because their effect is good result in large congregations, the preacher is pleased and feels encouraged in this, that he has a large congregation to appeal to, and he preaches better sermons. But he will, perhaps, to some extent, defeat the object gained, if, by inordinately long sermons, no matter how eloquent, he breaks the charm of the attractions which brought the people to his church Even the eloquent St. Paul at one time preached a somnolent youth out of a third story window, and if under his holy oratory, auditors became weary, it cannot be hoped that the comparatively common-place sermonising of this age can be more patiently listened to Of course the preacher has his conscience to discharge; he is responsible that he leaves no portion of his message undelivered, but, at the same time, it might be borne in mind that, unless he can adapt the length of his discourses to the ease-loving dispositions of his hearers in hot weather, he need not feel surprised if his congregations become reduced in numbers. The modern preacher has not, from Sunday to Sunday, the excuse of St. Paul for a long sermon—that he was to depart on the morrow. A lengthy discourse may be one the preacher feels it his duty to deliver—but if there is no one to listen to it, however telling it may be, he is as that one that beateth the air. There is no desire to dictate the length of pulpit discourses, but there is a feeling among the public that short sermons are quite in order in hot weather.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Parnell's experiment of stumping England in behalf of Home Rule has opened most auspiciously. His wise and temperate speeches command respect. his courage and honesty of purpose, admiration. The incident is very significant. When Irish leaders can plead their cause before sympathetic thousands of Englishmen, in England, justice for Ireland is much nearer at hand than it ever was before.

"The Cardwell Sentinel, (Conservative) objects, says the Toronto World, to the Mail's "anti-Irish crusade." The Sentinel has a large circulation in the constituency of the Minister of the Interior, many of whose staunchest supporters are intensely Irish in their sympathies." This is nothing new; the Mail has been playing this game for years. Mr. White should get the Mail deposed as the chief organ of the Tory party. The Gazette would profit by the reduction by one of the divisors of the portion of the immigration fund, devoted to illicit printing given to the party scamptgram.

LOVE'S VICTORY.

Miss Darrell laughed with the glee of a child. Her governess, repressing her surprise, continued:

"You know more in some respects than most educated women; in other and equally essential matters you know less than a child. You speak French fluently, perfectly; you have read a large number of books in the French language—good, bad, and indifferent. It appears to me; yet you have no more idea of French grammar or of the idiom or construction of the language than a child."

"That, indeed, I have not; I consider grammar the most stupid of all human inventions."

Miss Hastings offered no comment.

"Again," she continued, "you speak good English, but your spelling is bad, and your writing worse. You are better acquainted with English literature than I am—that is, you have read more. You have read indiscriminately; even the titles of some of the books you have read are not admissible."

The dark eyes flashed, and the pale, grand face was stirred as though by some sudden emotion.

"There was a large library in the house where we lived," she explained, hurriedly, "and I read every book in it. I read from early morning until late at night, and sometimes from night until morning; there was no one to tell me what was right and what was wrong, Miss Hastings."

"Then," continued the governess, "you have written a spirited poem on Anne Boleyn, but you know nothing of English history—neither the dates nor the incidents of a single reign. You have written the half of a story the scene of which is laid in the tropics, yet of geography you have not the faintest notion. Of matters such as every girl has some idea of—of biography, of botany, of astronomy—you have not even a glimmer. The chances are that if you engaged in conversation with any sensible person, you would equally astonish, first by the clever things you would utter, and then by the utter ignorance you would display."

"I cannot be flattered, Miss Hastings," Pauline put in, "because you humiliate me; nor can I be humiliated, because you flatter me."

But Miss Hastings pursued her criticisms steadily.

"You have not the slightest knowledge of arithmetic. As for knowledge of a higher class, you have none. You are dreadfully deficient. You say that you have read Auguste Comte, but you do not know the answer to the first question in your church catechism. Your education requires beginning all over again. You have never had any settled plan of study, I should imagine."

"No. I learned drawing from Jules Laroix. Talk of talent, Miss Hastings. You should have known him—he was the handsomest artist I ever saw. There was something so picturesque about him."

"Doubtless," was the dry response; "but I think 'picturesque' is not the word to use in such a case. Music, I presume, you taught yourself?"

The girl's face brightened—her manner changed.

"Yes, I taught myself; poor papa could not afford to pay for my lessons. Shall I play to you, Miss Hastings?"

There was a piano in the study, a beautiful and valuable instrument, which Sir Oswald had ordered for his niece.

"I shall be much pleased to hear you," said Miss Hastings.

Pauline Darrell rose and went to the piano. Her face then was as the face of one inspired. She sat down and played a few chords, full, beautiful and harmonious.

"I will sing to you," she said. "We often went to the opera—papa, Jules, Louis, and myself. I used to sing everything I heard. This is from 'Il Puritani.'"

And she sang one of the most beautiful solos in the opera.

Her voice was magnificent, full, ringing, vibrating with passion—a voice that, like her face, could hardly be forgotten; but she played and sang entirely after a fashion of her own.

"Now, Miss Hastings," she said, "I will imitate Adelina Patti."

Face, voice, manner, all changed; she began one of the far-famed prima-donna's most admired songs, and Miss Hastings owned to herself that if she had closed her eyes she might have believed Madame Patti present.

"This is a la Christine Nilsson," continued Pauline; and again the imitation was brilliant and perfect.

The magnificent voice did not seem to tire, though she sang song after song and imitated in the most marvelous manner some of the grandest singers of the day. Miss Hastings left her seat and went up to her.

"You have a splendid voice, my dear, and great musical genius. Now tell me, do you know a single note of music?"

"Not one," was the quick reply.

"You know nothing of the keys, time, or anything else?"

"Why should I trouble myself when I could play without learning anything of the kind?"

"But that kind of playing, Pauline, although it is very clever, would not do for educated people."

"Is it not good enough for them?" she asked serenely.

"No; one cannot help admiring it, but any educated person hearing you would detect directly that you did not know your notes."

"Would they think much less of me on that account?" she asked, with the same serenity.

"Yes; every one would think it sad to see so much talent wasted. You must begin to study hard; you must learn to play by note, not by ear, and then all will be well. You love music, Pauline?"

How the beautiful face glowed and the dark eyes shone.

"I love it," she said, "because I can put my whole soul into it—there is room for one's soul in it. You will be shocked, I know, but that is why I liked Conte's Stories—because they filled my mind, and gave me so much to think of."

"Were I in your place I should try to forget Conte, Pauline."

"You should have seen Sir Oswald's face when I told him I had read Comte and Darwin. He positively groaned aloud."

And she laughed as she remembered his misery.

"I feel very much inclined to groan myself," said Miss Hastings. "You will have theories, or facts, higher, more beautiful, nobler, grander far than any Comte ever dreamed. And now we must begin to work in real earnest."

But Pauline Darrell did not move; her dark eyes were shadowed, her beautiful face grew sullen and determined.

"You are going to spoil my life," she said. "Hitherto it has been a glorious life—free, gladsome, and bright; now you are going to parcel it out. There will be no more sunshiny hours; you are going to reduce me to a kind of machine, to cut off all my beautiful dreams, my lofty thoughts. You want to make me a formal, precise young lady, who will laugh, speak, and think by rule."

"I want to make you a sensible woman, my dear Pauline," corrected Miss Hastings, gravely.

"Who is the better or the happier for being so sensible?" demanded Pauline.

She paused for a few minutes, and then added suddenly:

"Darrell Court and all the wealth of the Darrells are not worth it, Miss Hastings."

"Not worth what, Pauline?"

"Not worth the price I must pay."

"What is the price?" asked Miss Hastings, calmly.

"My independence, my freedom of action and thought, my liberty of speech."

"Do you seriously value these things more highly than all that Sir Oswald could leave you?"

"I do—a thousand times more highly," she replied.

Miss Hastings was silent for some few minutes, and then said:

"We must do our best; suppose we make a compromise? I will give you all the liberty that I honestly can, in every way, and you shall give your attention to the studies I propose. I will make your task as easy as I can for you. Darrell Court is worth a struggle."

"Yes," was the half-reluctant reply, "it is worth a struggle, and I will make it."

But there was not much hope in the heart of the governess when she commenced her task.

CHAPTER V.

THE PROGRESS MADE BY THE PUPIL.

It was a beautiful afternoon in June. May, with it lilac and hawthorn, had passed away; the roses were in fairest bloom, lilies looked like great white stars; the fulness and beauty, the warmth and fragrance of summer were on the face of the land, and everything living rejoiced in it.

Pauline had begged that the daily readings might take place under the great cedar tree on the lawn.

"If I must be bored by dry historical facts," she said, "let me at least have the lights and shadows on the lawn to look at. The shadow of the trees on the grass is beautiful beyond everything else. Oh, Miss Hastings, why will people write dull histories? I like to fancy all kings heroes, and all queens heroines. History leaves us no illusions."

"Still," replied the governess, "it teaches us plenty of what you love so much—truth."

(To be Continued.)

"Shortness of breath Caused my death,"

is inscribed on a tombstone in an English grave-yard. In all probability it would never have been necessary, if only the poor unfortunate victim of some disease of the respratory organs had known of Dr Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a Panacea for all diseases of the throat and lungs. For consumption it is believed to be the only real specific yet known. For all scorfulous and blood diseases it is unfailing.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Fluid Lightning does not take a day or an hour to remove Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Lumbago or Rheumatism, but will do it instantly, and without carrying your head in a poultice for a day or using greasy liniments. Try a 25c. bottle from J. McKee, druggist. d147-eod-w24

To the victim of pains and aches no tidings can give greater pleasure than the means of relief. Polson's Nerviline exactly fills the bill. FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.35 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other dealers and millers, a good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retailed at $2.50 per hundred.

"BAKERS"

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to baths in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it, for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. RIMS.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child it ever fits. Sent to all parts of Canada. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's Sabbath School pic-nic will be held on the 15th July, at Millbrook.

A Loyal Canadian Francois.

Thursday morning about lark time, a young French Canadian first saw the light on Stewart street. The father and mother, with graceful loyalty, gave the little stranger the very appropriate name of "Dominion."

Reynolds vs. Roxburgh.

In the case of Reynolds vs. Roxburgh, et al., in the Court of Appeal, the plaintiff's motion for leave to appeal was dismissed with costs; and the defendant's motion to quash the appeal, made without such leave, allowed with costs. G. H. Watson for plaintiff (appellant), and B. B. Osler, Q.C., and G. Edmison for defendants (respondents).

The Scott Act Appeal Cases.

As frequent inquiries are made respecting the effect of the recent High Court decisions, it may be explained that in the cases of Queen vs. Halpin, in which Mr. O'Meara was counsel, and in Queen vs. Daly, in which Mr. W. H. Moore was counsel, the decision was that defendants in Scott Act cases, were not required to give evidence that would incriminate themselves and that no conviction, made on the evidence of the defendant, as a compellable witness, was valid. On the other point submitted it was decided that the Scott Act was in force in Peterborough and county.

The Riverside Lacrosse Club.

The Riverside Lacrosse Club held practice on the park last night. The turnout was fair and the game lively. The Hon. President, who was on the field, played a lively game—for a short time. A monster meet of every person who owns or can beg, borrow or buy a stick, besides those interested in the game, is called for Monday evening. The club has already several matches under consideration. The Hastings club will likely be the first accommodated.

Davidson, strawberries; Mrs. Wallis, milk and fruit; Mrs. Hammond, clothing; Mrs. Wm. Walsh, drugs; Mrs. Foussette, books; "A Friend," preserves and clothing; Miss Keil, S.S. papers; W. C. T. U., flowers every week.

Severed His Connection.

To George W. Hatton, Esq., President of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club, Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to tender my resignation as vice-president of Ward No. 3. I have already given you my reasons for this action on my part.

Yours, etc.,

(Signed) JOHN O'MEARA.

It will be seen by the above that Mr. O'Meara has severed his connection with the Conservative party. Unless the president furnishes a copy of the reasons "already given," no further authentic information on the subject is available.

Barns Burned.

About two o'clock this morning P. C. McGinty noticing a blaze at the south end of the town, sounded the fire alarm. It was ascertained that several buildings owned by Mr. W. Yelland, in Monaghan, just south of the Driving Park, were in flames. The fire brigade turned out promptly, but before they arrived on the scene the fire was beyond their control. Two barns, a stable and driving shed with contents were burnt to the ground. The contents consisted of several tons of hay and straw, plows, harrows, a reaper and mower, and one cutter, also a quantity of hubs, spokes, and other raw materials used in the manufacture of vehicles. The loss by the fire will amount to $1,500, partly covered by insurance. Mr. Yelland had the whole insured for $1,000, $300 of which was on vehicles, which had since been removed from the buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Cause and See.

Just received at Hall, Innes & Co's., Two Thousand Pairs of Best French Button Kid Gloves, to be slaughtered at 25 cents a pair. Great bargains.

Under and Above Thirty.

A cricket match between members of the club under and above 30 years of age was in progress on the P. A. A. A. grounds this afternoon.

Unjust Judges.

Messrs. J. J. Daly and Ed. Brown, whose horses competed in the Port Hope races on the 1st, complain of the gross injustice of the judges.

Correction.

The EXAMINER is requested to correct a statement in its report of the Sons of England excursion. It was the Fire Brigade Band orchestra that furnished music on that occasion.

Morrow, Tierney & Co.

Have a large and varied stock of the choicest family groceries which they are selling at the closest prices. It will be to the interest of housekeepers to give them a call.

Drowning Accident.

A telegraphic despatch announces that Stewart Field, aged 12, son of Mr. C. C. Field, mayor of Cobourg, while in bathing with several other young lads, yesterday, got into deep water, and before assistance could reach him, he was drowned.

Y. M. C. A. Open Air Meetings.

The open air meetings conducted by the Association, will be begun again to-morrow in the Court House Park. A male choir will lead the singing. The usual meeting will be held in the rooms on Saturday night at 8 and Sunday night at 8.30 o'clock.

Sacred Oratorio.

Prof. Parker and a select choir will render Stainer's beautiful oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Monday evening, the 5th inst., at 8 p.m. Admission free. The public cordially invited.

Sanitary Inspection.

Dr. Clark, town physician and Chief Cooper, yesterday completed a thorough inspection of the town, to ascertain its sanitary condition, and to have any defects rectified. They report the town in a very cleanly condition. Several parties were ordered to remove what were considered as nuisances, which orders will be acted on immediately.

Passed in Its Checks.

That the wearing of a tag does not necessarily prolong the life of a dog is apparent. This morning a dog wearing the emblem of liberty, undertook to cross the C. P. R. bridge. It was run down by an engine and train, which killed it and mangled its corpse. The Chief of Police was notified of the accident and was presented with the dog's check and collar. These he handed to P.C. Pidgeon who after ascertaining the deceased dog's owner, returned the appendages.

Market Means.

The market this morning was unusually active, produce being freely offered and bought up quickly. New potatoes of large size were offered in large quantities and sold at from 40c. to 50c. per peck. Old potatoes sold at from 75c. to $1 per bag. Other commodities were about the same as last week and were quoted at:—Butter, 13c. to 16c.; eggs, for shipment, 10c.; for local use 12c. to 13c.; chickens, 50c. to 60c. per pair; turkeys, $1; veal, 5c. to 6c.; lamb 9c. to 10c.; onions, lettuce, beets, radishes, carrots, rhubarb, etc., 5c. per bunch; green peas, 20c. per peck; green gooseberries, 10c. per quart. Hay, $8 to $9 per ton, and small porkers $3 to $4 per pair.

The Horticultural Society.

Yesterday afternoon the directors of the Peterborough Horticultural Society held a meeting in the manager's office, in the Bank of Toronto. The prize list was revised and ordered to be printed, and the date was fixed for the next exhibition—Tuesday, September 7th. It was decided that this year market gardeners would not be allowed to compete with amateur gardeners, and therefore a special class was made for them and florists. The special prizes are of the amounts of $6 and $4. It was also decided that the entries must positively be made the day previous to the exhibition. Mr. J. D. Collins, secretary, will be at the Roller Rink, Water street, on Wednesday, September 6th, from 2 till 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of receiving entries.

A Great Investment.

The value of an investment is measured by the profits it secures; just think of an investment of $2.15 in a ticket for the Forester's excursion on July 13th and reflect on the enjoyment it will bring. It will take you to Toronto in a first class coach on a fast train on the G. T. R., and will return you home after allowing you eight days to see the list of great attractions the Queen City will present on July 13th and the week following. There will be 20,000 Knights of Pythias, the most splendid non-military uniformed organization in the world, present in the city, and the public will be permitted to see the magnificent reception ceremony, the grand prize drill tournament and band competition and unparalleled programme of grand spectacles in connection with the occasion. Those thus inclined can witness the great International League game of baseball, between the Torontos and Rochesters, which will be played on the afternoon of the day of the excursion. Don't fail to make your arrangements to attend this excursion. Read every item concerning it. It is to be and will be the best excursion ever run out of Peterborough and you cannot afford to miss it. Make a note of the date—July 13th and of the low price of tickets—only $2.15, good for eight days.

No. 1 Company.

No. 1 Company, 57th Battalion, will meet at the drill shed for drill on Monday evening at 7.30. All members are requested to attend.

The Great Original Mikado.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings the operatic masterpiece of Gilbert & Sullivan the original Mikado, will be presented in Bradburn's Opera House, by a powerful company, including the principal artists who first produced the opera in New York. This will be the greatest musical and operatic treat ever presented to the people of Peterborough. Scale of prices: reserved seats, $1.00; admission 50c. and 35c. Gough's Summer Fitting.

Though Gough, the Wonderful Cheap Man, is out holidaying in Muskoka, he has left behind his big stock of cheap men's, boy's and children's clothing, at the Arcade store, Opera House block, where the greatest bargains in Canada in clothing can be secured. Gough is out in Muskoka gathering strength for his struggle with the wholesale merchants in which he will secure the cheapest and best goods on the continent, for the benefit of his customers. His stock of fall and winter clothing, to be bought at this time, will be immense in extent and cheapness.
